BULGARIA'S WELFARE.

Russia's Extreme Solicitude—Prince Ferdinand a "Robber of Power."

ST. PETERSBURG, Feb. 23.—The Official Messenger says that recent foreign private telegrams have asserted that Count von Schouvaloff, the Russian Ambassador at Berlin, has submitted proposals to Germany regarding Bulgaria. The Berlin treaty forms the basis of the order of things established in the Balkans in pursuance of the powers' understanding and constitutes the only international guarantee against convulsions dangerous to the future of the young Balkans. From this point of view Russia regarded the events that have occurred in Bulgaria since Prince Alexander abdicated the throne. Prince Ferdinand's arrival and his forcible assumption of princely power infringed upon the Berlin treaty. In accordance with a unanimous desire to terminate the existing alarming condition of affairs, whose root is more especially traceable to the ambiguous situation in Bulgaria, Russia considered it her duty to again try to obtain from the powers an affirmation of the inviolability of the treaty and the necessity of restoring the legal status to Bulgaria. The natural consequences of such a declaration by the powers must be the making of representations at Constantinople to induce the Sultan to convince the Bulgarian people that the person now bearing the title of Prince is not their legal ruler, but merely a robber of power.

Bulgaria owes her existence to Russia's sacrifices and efforts. Russia therefore alone continues to sympathize with her and grieve at her trials. Russia solely desires Bulgaria's welfare and will after the usurper's removal await the first sincere declarations of the Bulgarians through their representative, in order to consign the past to oblivion and provide for the re-establishment of relations based upon mutual confidence. In this Russia has no intention to prejudice in any way the liberty of the Bulgarians which the treaty secured to them in all internal affairs.

The above considerations have guided Russia from the beginning of the Bulgarian crisis and have induced her from the outset to reject the idea of eventually restoring the legal status of force. At the same time it is a matter of course that until the removal of the usurper Russia will continue to regard the situation as illegal.

Salisbury Frowns on a Conference.

LONDON, Feb. 23.—In the House of Lords this evening Lord Stratheden (Liberal) moved that the Government produce the latest papers regarding events in Bulgaria. He suggested that Great Britain initiate a conference to consider the Bulgarian question.

Lord Salisbury promised to place the papers on the table but did not think the proposed conference would be desirable.

THE GERMAN CROWN PRINCE.

A Satisfactory Day in all Respects—The Midnight Bulletin.

SAN REMO, Feb. 23.—The Crown Prince appeared this afternoon on the balcony of his villa for the first time since the operation was performed.

MIDNIGHT.—The Crown Prince has passed a satisfactory day in all respects and is considerably better. Dr. Mackenzie expresses himself as being exceedingly hopeful about his patient.

The Canula Didn't Fit.

LONDON, Feb. 23.—The British Medical Journal says it has the highest authority for stating that the German Crown Prince begins to progress satisfactorily. The cause of the recent unfavorable symptoms was mainly mechanical. The first tube used after the performance of tracheotomy did not fit, and there was some delay in obtaining a second one.

The Imperial Parliament.

LONDON, Feb. 23.—The debate on the address in reply to the Queen's speech was resumed in the House of Commons to-night.

Mr. Shaw-Lefevre (Liberal) moved an amendment affirming the necessity of a measure dealing with arrears of excessive rents in Ireland.

Mr. Healy and other Parnellites continued the debate.

Mr. Shaw Lefevre's amendment was rejected by a vote of 261 to 136.

The report on the address in reply to the Queen's speech was then adopted.

France and Russia.

PARIS, Feb. 23.—An article in The Revue des Deux Mondes, attributed to the Ducde Broglie, is exciting much attention in France and Germany. The writer argues that the political status of France is not calculated to tempt foreign powers to court an alliance with her, and that the absence of any community of interests is an insuperable obstacle to a Franco-Russian alliance.

La Justice endorses these views, and pronounces strongly against an alliance with Russia.

Large Supplies But No Transportation.

WARSAW, Feb. 23.—Large quantites of biscuits are being manufactured at Daybro.

The railway depots between Volocsk and Odessa contain 10,000,000 pounds of corn and 7,000,000 pounds of sugar, which it is impossible to forward because the troops are using the transport service.

Royal Betrothals.

LONDON, Feb. 23.—It is reported that the Prince of Wales, on the occasion of his silver wedding banquet, will announce the betrothal of Prince Albert Victor to his cousin, Princess Alexandra of Greece, and the betrothal of Princess Victoria to the Duke of Sparta, the Crown Prince of Greece.

Legacies for Parnellites.

LONDON, Feb. 23.—The late Mr. Blake, who represented Waterford in parliament for several years, left a legacy of £300 to Mr. Parnell and legacies to several of Mr. Parnell's supporters.

Dr. Mackenzie Honored.

LONDON, Feb. 23.—Dr. Mackenzie has been appointed successor to the late Sir George MacFarren, in the Royal Academy.

DOMINION PARLIAMENT.

LORD LANSDOWNE'S LAST OPENING DAY AT OTTAWA.

The Second Session of Canada's Sixth Parliament Begun Amid the Customary Brilliant Surroundings.

OTTAWA, Feb. 23.—With the opening of the second session of the sixth Parliament of Canada this afternoon Lord Lansdowne performed what will probably be his last official act in public. It is said His Excellency's successor, Lord Stanley of Preston, will arrive in Ottawa ere the present session closes, unless it should be very short.

It was just 3.10 when the gentlemanly Usher of the Black Rod was despatched to the buzzing Chamber of the Commoners, who had already assembled under the presidency of their Speaker, Col. Ouimet, and with his three grotesque bows informed them that their presence was required by His Excellency in the Senate Chamber.

Sergeant-at-Arms Macdonell, he of the able body and strong arms, shouldered the mace and then there was a scurry via the reading-room and the back hallways for the red-carpeted abods of the senators, where His Excellency and the anxious onlookers awaited their arrival.

Just before they reached the rooms Hon. John Macdonald of Toronto was sworn in as Senator and introduced to Speaker Plumb by Hon. Mr. Scott and Hon. Mr. Pelletier, the former leader of the Opposition and the latter a faithful colleague. Thus the great dry goods man of the Queen City was called to the Upper House by the Conservative Government and introduced by two of Mr. Mackenzie's Cabinet Ministers. This would naturally suggest the question: "What are the present politics of the Hon. Senator of 'Oaklands'?" Mr. Macdonald's great strength in the Methodist body may be an easy answer to this query.

When the noisy and turbulent Commoners had crowded themselves outside the bar of the chamber and had got their straining their necks to get a good view of the rows of snowy and shapely shoulders, His Excellency read in English and French this speech:

The Speech From the Throne.

Honorable Gentlemen of the Senate:
Gentlemen of the House of Commons:

It affords me much gratification to meet you once more at the commencement of the Parliamentary session, and to congratulate you upon the general prosperity of the country. Although the labors of the husbandman have not been rewarded in some portions of the Dominion by an adequate return, the harvest of last year has, on the whole, been plenteous, while in Manitoba and the Northwest Territories it was one of remarkable abundance.

The negotiations between Her Majesty's Government and that of the United States for the adjustment of what is known as "The Fishery Question" have, I am pleased to inform you, resulted in a treaty which will, I venture to hope, be considered by you as honorable and satisfactory to both nations. The treaty, with the papers and correspondence relating thereto, will be laid before you, and you will be invited to adopt a measure to give effect to its provisions.

The extension and development of our system of railways have not only rendered necessary additional safeguards for life and property, but have given greater frequency to questions in which the interests of rival companies are found to be in conflict, and to require authoritative adjustment. As further legislation appears to be needed for these purposes, a measure will be submitted to you for the consolidation and improvement of "The Railway Act."

Experience having shown that amendments are required to make the provisions of the act respecting elections of members of the House of Commons more effective and more convenient in operation, you will be asked to consider a measure for the amendment of that statute.

The act respecting controverted elections may likewise require attention with a view to the removal of certain questions of interpretation which have arisen and which should be set at rest.

My Government has availed itself of the opportunity afforded by the recess to consider the numerous suggestions which have been made for improving the details of the act respecting the election franchise, and a measure will be submitted to you for the purpose of simplifying the law and greatly lessening the cost of its operation.

The growth of the Northwest Territories renders expedient an improvement in the system of government and legislation affecting these portions of the Dominion, and a bill for that purpose will be laid before you.

A bill will be submitted to you to make a larger portion of the modern laws of England applicable to the Province of Manitoba and to the Northwest Territories in regard to matters which are within the control of the Parliament of Canada, but which have not as yet been made the subject of Canadian legislation.

Among other measures bills will be presented to you relating to the judiciary, to the Civil Service Act and to the audit of the Public Accounts.

Gentlemen of the House of Commons:

The accounts for the past year will be laid before you, as well as the estimates for the ensuing year. They have been prepared with a due regard to economy and the requirements of the public service.

Honorable Gentlemen of the Senate:
Gentlemen of the House of Commons:

I commend these important subjects and all matters affecting the public interests which may be brought before you to your best consideration, and I feel assured that you will address yourselves to them with earnestness and assiduity.

Then there was another scurry back to the Commons Chamber, and the House went into session and sat till 5.30.

The most important feature of the sitting was the introduction of the eight new members, some of whom were unseated and re-elected and others who sit in Parliament for the first time.

Dr. Montague, who has had such a desperate battle for his spurs in Haldimand, was the lion of the afternoon. When he walked into the chamber between Sir John and Hon. Thos. White he received a perfect ovation from the Government benches.

Of the 212 members 190 were present. This is an unusually large attendance on opening day.

Richard Cartwright, Hon. Mr. Laurier and Mr. Paterson of Brant, J. D. Edgar, Mr. Casgrain and other leading members of the Liberal party were there. So was Mr. Pat Purcell of Glengarry. In fact it may be said that Mr. Pat was there with both feet. This fact greatly shocked the Government supporters, and more particularly the Government whips. Mr. Purcell, by Mr. Justice Rose's decision, was not only unseated but disqualified, and his case is now before the Supreme Court on appeal. Pending the decision of this appeal, which will not probably be known for a week, it was thought that Mr. Purcell would not have the nerve to take his seat to-day, but he did so and stayed there until adjournment.

The introduction of the new members created a ripple of interest. First came Hon. A. W. McLelan, Postmaster-General, between Sir John and the Minister of Justice. Then there followed Mr. Cimon (Charlevoix) by Sir John and Sir Hector Langevin, Mr. Dickenson (Carleton) by Sir John and Mr. Walter Shanly, Mr. John Ferguson (South Renfrew) by Mr. Bowell and Mr. J. J. Curran, Dr. Montague (Haldimand) by Sir John and Hon. Thos. White, Mr. Cochrane (Northumberland) by Mr. Bowell and Mr. Guillet, Mr. Chouinard (Dorchester) by Mr. Laurier and Mr. Amyot, Mr. Henderson (Halton) by Hon. Thos. White and Adam Brown, Mr. Lovitt (Yarmouth) by Mr. Laurier and Mr. Flynn, Mr. Rowand (West Bruce) by Sir Richard Cartwright and Mr. Armstrong, Mr. Jones (Digby) by Mr. McLelan and Mr. Mills (Annapolis), Mr. John A. Macdonald (Victoria, N.S.) by the Minister of Justice and Mr. Cameron, Mr. Prior (Victoria, B.C.) by Sir John and Mr. Daly. As each one was presented he advanced and shook the white gloved hand of Mr. Speaker and took his seat.

After Sir John had made the usual motions regarding the appointment of the standing committees and that the address be considered to-morrow the House rose.

Then there was a general handshaking. Sir John stepped nimbly across the chamber and shook hands with Mr. Laurier and had a brief conference about the personnel of the standing committees. Sir John looked well and spent fifteen minutes receiving the congratulations of his followers. Mr. Laurier looks strong and smiles frequently. There seems to be little doubt but that he will be the leader of the Opposition for the present session at least.

The well known and stalwart presence of Hon. Edward Blake was missing from the side of his French colleague. This fact, coupled with the absence of Mr. Mackenzie, gave a barren aspect to the front row of the Opposition benches.

THE FISHERIES TREATY.

To Be Laid on the Table When the Address is Disposed of.

There was a meeting of the Privy Council right after the adjournment.

The Fisheries Treaty, together with all the papers and correspondence relating thereto, will be laid on the table as soon as the address is disposed of.

Dr. Montague will move the address, and Mr. Joncas of Gaspe will second it. Mr. Joncas will speak in French. His name has been substituted for that of Mr. Cimon, who it was originally arranged would be the seconder.

Senator Rolland of Montreal, and Senator Sanford of Hamilton will, it is understood, be the mover and seconder in the Upper House.

The writ for Russell is still dangling among the uncertainties. It may not be issued for a week yet. But Charley Mackintosh has about made up his mind that he will be the Conservative candidate.

Never since Confederation has there been such an influx of pressmen as were on hand to-day. There were about forty of them, nearly all of the active kind. Of this number half came from Toronto. Mr. Fred Cook of The Empire was elected secretary, in place of Mr. John Lewis of The Globe, who is not in the gallery this year. Two new names were put on the Executive Committee. They are Mr. A. B. Wood of The Winnipeg Call, and Mr. J. I. Tarte of Le Canadien of Quebec.

It was thought that there would be a lively time over the allotment of seats, but the Executive Committee disposed of the matter in a very speedy and just manner. The first seats on the Speaker's right are evenly divided between The Empire, The Montreal Gazette and The World, and on the left between The Globe, The Mail and The Montreal Herald. The other daily papers of the Dominion radiate from these points according to their importance.

Mr. Davin, M. P., had an interview with the Minister of the Interior to-day with reference to Northwest matters. He presented a petition from certain settlers homesteaded north of Moosejaw, praying for the extension of the privilege of second homestead to all who made entry for land prior to the act of 1886 abolishing the practice, and asking further that such settlers should be permitted to make second entry for cancelled homesteads without reference to their distance from the place of first entry. The minister did not hold out much hope that any further extension of this privilege than that granted last session could be given.

TORONTO TOPICS.

Mr. W. A. Foster, Q.C., appeared before the Master yesterday morning and explained that, owing to the large number of claims filed, 5000 in all, the liquidators were unable to lay before him a complete list of creditors of the Central Bank and the amounts due them. He accordingly asked for an extension of the time fixed by the advertisement, and the Master named Monday afternoon, at 2 o'clock, for the handing over by the liquidators of the completed list. Messrs. Howland and Gooderham have now full charge, Mr. Campbell having handed over the keys of the treasury, and they say a dividend of 25 per cent. next month may be considered assured, with a probable further dividend of the same amount in the near future.

Sergt. Milsom of the Grenadiers, who was wounded badly at Batoche, appeared before the recent Board of Enquiry for further allowance owing to his continued bad health, and was granted 50 cents a day for one year.

Yesterday morning a carpenter named Thomas Murray, lately arrived from Orangeville, was working on the roof of a building on Brock-avenue, when some of the stays gave way, and he was precipitated to the ground. The ambulance was summoned and the injured man placed in it for conveyance to the Hospital, but he died before the journey was finished. The remains will be sent to Orangeville for interment.

CONFLICTING OPINIONS.

WIDELY DIVERGENT VIEWS OF THE FISHERIES TREATY.

Excerpts From United States and British Journals—Will the Senate Reject the Convention?—The Fishermen Delighted.

NEW YORK, Feb. 23.—The Tribune's Washington despatch says: The Fishery Treaty will be rejected by an overwhelming vote. The only question is by how large a majority it will be beaten.

The Herald has the following from Washington: Luther Maddocks, Secretary of the National Fishery Association, said last evening: The treaty is a great disappointment to me. The headland question has been complicated and not improved. There have not been any commercial privileges granted to us. The last section is a bid for our free markets, which means the utter destruction of the American fisheries. As to the protocol, it seems unreasonable to demand of our fishermen $1.50 per ton for trade which is of more value to the Canadians than ourselves, and in view of this fact it seems one-sided to require us to pay for privileges in Canadian ports which Canadians have in our ports without charge. Many telegrams received from different parts of the country to-day show me that there is but one opinion in this regard, and that is that it makes a bad matter worse. The pressions of the Canadian press that the Canadians have been worsted in the matter is too ridiculous to be commented upon. I don't believe the Senate will for a moment entertain any ratification of this treaty, and I believe also that the only medicine that can help our case lies in the authority given the Executive under the Retaliation Act.

The Times Washington despatch says: Democrats and Republicans here differ in their opinion of the merits of the fisheries treaty, but they are generally agreed that the Senate is likely to reject it by a party vote. Particular indignation is levelled at the protocol providing a modus vivendi which goes into operation at once without the approval of the Senate. The Secretary of State did not expect to have the treaty approved without question.

The World says: It is natural that the Republican politicians should find no good in the Fisheries treaty. They are no more anxious that a Democratic Administration should acceptably settle a dispute which Republican Administrations have so long wrestled with in vain than they are for the success of the Democratic policy of tax reduction and revenue reform. It is also natural that Democratic partisans should be disposed to claim for the treaty more than it really accomplishes. In a compromise between two contending parties each must yield something. If the treaty had been made one-sided it would necessarily fail.

The Sun says: The question involved in these negotiations is one of patriotism and national interests, not of partisan politics. The Administration has done what it believed to be its duty, and it has done the best it could under the circumstances. The question is between the United States and Canada, not between Mr. Cleveland's Cabinet and the Republicans of the Senate. The question likewise is not whether the treaty should have, for political reasons, the united support of the Democratic party, but whether it counts for us or for Canada. No settlement of the material and all-important American claims throughout this controversy is reached by the treaty. In the protocol they provide an arrangement good for two years, by which, while we are getting ready to give Canada free trade in fish, we may purchase, at an exorbitant and prohibitory rate, the trading facilities which we have claimed as a right. In other words the treaty says to the American fishermen: Wait till the glorious day when your American industry dies for lack of protection, and then we will grant you all that you claim. But this is precisely what Canada's position has been all along, and therefore the treaty does not settle the main point of controversy, but merely postpones it, and it postpones it in the interest of the Free Trade movement. There is no doubt, finally, but that the ratification of the treaty would remove friction between the two Governments. But it must be remembered that in international relations peace can always be had at the price of surrender.

London Comments.

LONDON, Feb. 23.—The Chronicle, commenting on the fisheries treaty, says it is an amicable bargain. In the nature of things Canada's concessions appear to be larger than America's but it would be useless for Mr. Chamberlain to extort such terms from America as would lead to the rejection of the treaty by the Senate.

The Daily News says: We still think it would have been better to have chosen a commissioner less obnoxious to a powerful section of the American public.

NOVA SCOTIA'S PARLIAMENT.

The Opening Yesterday—No Important Legislation Foreshadowed in the Speech.

HALIFAX, N.S., Feb. 23.—The Provincial Parliament was opened at 3 o'clock this afternoon by Lieut.-Governor Richey. The Speech from the Throne alluded to the activity in mining and general improvement in business, and foreshadowed measures for the amendment and consolidation of the municipal assessment law, for providing a tribunal of arbitration in certain cases, and for the improvement of the administration of justice.

D. C. Fraser of New Glasgow has been appointed to the Legislative Council and will be leader of the Government in that body.

Lord Howard de Walden's Assailants.

LONDON, Feb. 23.—In the case of Lord Howard De Walden against Major Burrows for assault to-day, the magistrate stated that the case must be sent to the jury.

THE FISHERIES TREATY.

The question in dispute between Canada and the United States has been the proper interpretation of the Treaty of 1818 and how far it was modified by agreements or commercial customs since that time. The dispute did not turn on claims made by Canadian fishermen, but altogether on the claims of the fishermen of the United States and the privileges to which they had a right or should be allowed.

The questions at issue were (1) as to what waters were common to fishermen of both countries and what were exclusively Canadian waters, and (2) what privileges United States fishing vessels had in Canadian ports and harbors.

On behalf of the United States fishermen the claim was made that all bays ten miles wide at the mouth were common waters until within three miles of a point where the shores were ten mile apart. This has been allowed, with notable exceptions, the bays excepted being described by name and the line separating the common from the exclusive waters being laid down. Among the exceptions are waters which were claimed by name in the correspondence as being common waters, but which are now admitted to be solely Canadian.

It was also claimed that the United States fishermen had the right to enter Canadian ports for the "purpose of shipping supplies of every nature, making repairs, the shipment of crews in whole or in part, and the purchase of ice and bait for use in deep sea fishing." Senator Frye, more emphatic than Secretary Bayard, declared in the Senate that they "had a perfect right to enter Canadian ports for any purpose they pleased, except piracy." Another privilege claimed was that of landing fish in Canadian ports and transhipping them in bond to the United States. The Canadian Government admitted only the right of these vessels to enter "for the purpose of shelter, and of repairing damages therein, of purchasing wood and obtaining water." The new Treaty, signed on the fifteenth of this month, exempts the United States fishing vessels from reporting at the customs and from dues when they enter bays or harbors outside of the established ports of entry, for the purposes which the Canadian Government admitted they had a right to enter, but if they remain more than twenty-four hours or communicate with the shore they may be required to report, make entry or clear from the customs. It is also provided that in cases of distress, they can tranship cargoes when necessary to make repairs, and may replenish outfits and supplies damaged or lost, and also in cases of sickness and death may ship crews. They can also procure license when on the homeward voyage to purchase casual or needful provisions or supplies.

All the privileges granted to the United States fishing vessels by Canada are granted to Canadian vessels on the Atlantic coast of the United States.

Is will be noticed that the Canadian interpretation of the Treaty of 1818 has not been strictly adhered to, as vessels in distress may obtain relief in Canadian ports and others obtain supplies, and the United States claim has not been allowed, as their vessels cannot purchase bait or tranship cargoes. Humane provisions have been made to prevent distress, but as the transhipping and bait purchasing privileges are not allowed the United States vessels cannot make Canadian ports a base of their fishing operations, but must return to their own ports for these purposes.

It is further provided that when the United States shall remove the duty from Canadian fish oil, whale oil, seal oil and fish of all kinds (except when preserved in oil), the United States fishermen may purchase bait, provisions and supplies, transship cargoes and ship crews in Canadian ports.

The latter provision is one for a reciprocal arrangement, and is not an interpretation of the original treaty. Concessions have been made on both sides—where the claims were so much opposed to each other no arrangement could otherwise be come to—but a candid review of the provisions will convince anyone that the arrangement is as fair and honorable a one as could well be made, and is one that secures to Canada her rights in her fisheries, and preserves for the Canadian fishermen the advantages of their position as being near the fishing grounds, while at the same time it settles an international dispute that at one time threatened serious trouble.

It now remains for the treaty to be ratified by the United States Senate, the Dominion Parliament and the Newfoundland Legislature.

ANNIVERSARY SERMON.—The Foresters anniversary sermon will be preached in the Methodist Church on Sunday, 25th inst., by the Rev. Mr. McFarlane, instead of, as announced, in the Presbyterian Church by the Rev. Mr. McEwen. The change was made on account of the continued illness of Mrs. McEwen.

FOUND AGAIN.—Mrs. Captain Fort has found her gold watch.

POSTPONED.—The Chautauqua class was to have met at the Methodist Parsonage on Thursday last, but had to be postponed on account of the death of Mrs. McEwen.

CONCERT.—Monday night last was a big time for the Forester's band. The bumper house your correspondent asked for the band in last week's REVIEW, was all that could be desired, in fact was beyond my expectations. The band must have been very much gratified with the interest displayed by the inhabitants of the village and surrounding country, and it proved beyond a doubt that the efforts of the band to please, are appreciated. The orchestra opened the entertainment. The orchestra consists of Prof. Scrimger and Messrs. Cotton and Griffin, and for the short time they have been together, they play very well. The programmee was as follows:—Overture, "Little Giant," (Atkisson) by the band; song, by Miss Norah Phelan; recitation, "How we Tried to Whip the Teacher," by Mr. W. McDonald; song by Miss. Norah Phelan; recitation, "Guilty or not Guilty," by Mr. G. Scrimger; song, in character, by Mr. H. Kearney, which was encored. After an interval of ten minutes the side-splitting farce entitled, "Turn Him Out" was produced. The following is a synopis of the play:—Moke is absent. Roseleaf persecutes Mrs. M. with attention. He entered the house by a ladder. Susan locks him in the closet under pretence of concealing him. Nobbs, her former lover, appears as a peddlar of toys, and Susan asks him to turn Moke out. While Nobbs is getting ready Moke appears and is pitched out by mistake. Roseleaf apreare; Moke returns and forms an alliance with R. to pitch out Nobbs. R. proves a coward and Moke is again pitched out. Roseleaf reappears and again alarms the ladies and hides in the closet. Moke hires two porters to carry him back in a chest. Nobbs carries him away, box and all. At last he returns in disguise, and Roseleaf is detected. The character of "Nobbs" was well represented by Mr. W. Arnott. Mr. G. Baptie, as "Roseleaf," played the dude well. "Moke" was represented by Mr. G. Scrimger in his usual manner, and "Mrs. Moke" was well portrayed by Mrs. R. G. Cotton. Miss Norah Phelan, who had the part of "Susie," was quite at home on the stage, and Messrs. R. G. Cotton and J. Scrimger, as "1st porter" and "2nd porter," respectively, sustained their parts acceptably. The following won the prizes:—Mr. David Arnott drew the first prize, 100 lbs. of Nelson's flour; Mr. Ed. McKee, Selwyn, 2nd prize, 4 lbs. best Japan tea; Mr. J. Chapin, 3rd prize, 1 set of dishes; Mr. Wm. Mooney, 4th prize, 1 set glassware. God Save the Queen by the Forester Band brought the entertainment to a close.

When Baby was sick, we gave her Castoria,
When she was a Child, she cried for Castoria,
When she became Miss, she clung to Castoria,
When she had Children, she gave them Castoria.

A SUCCESS.—The anniversary tea meeting held in the Presbyterian Church on Feb. 20th, was in every respect a success, notwithstanding a counter attraction in the shape of a jubilee of the Salvation Army held in the Methodist Church on the same evening and wet weather. Tea was served from 6 to 7.30 o'clock, after which short address were delivered by the Presbyterian ministers of Campbellford, Hastings and Warsaw, interspersed with selections by the choir. The Rev. James Carmichael occupied the chair. The total proceeds of the tea meeting and the children's social the following night amounted to about $135.

NEW FIRE BRIGADE.—Mr. Jas McLaughlan, the recently appointed Chief, has instructions from the Council to form a new fire brigade. It is to be hoped the new company will make a better showing than the last one, the engine never having been taken out for practice since its first trial, twelve months ago. A more suitable place should also also be found for the engine, as in case of fire much valuable time would be lost getting it down the town hall steps.

NEW INDUSTRIES.—A communication received by the Reeve from a Michigan firm asking what prospects and what encouragement could be given to a tannery if established here. Our citizens concluded to offer any such industry a free site not to exceed one acre and exemption from taxation for ten years.

NEW FLOUR MILL.—Two meetings of the wealthy men of our village have been held during the winter for the purpose of forming a joint-stock company to build a first-class grist mill. The matter is expected to take definite shape at a meeting to be held on the first of March.

SECRET SOCIETIES.—We have no less than five different kind of secret societies flourishing in our midst. If we had a few more some enterprising citizen might start a goat factory, provided the Reeve allowed them to run at large.

Everybody needs a spring medicine. By using Ayer's Sarsaparilla, the blood is thoroughly cleansed and invigorated, the appetite stimulated, and the system prepared to resist the diseases peculiar to the summer months. Ask for Ayer's Sarsaparilla. Take no other.

SOUTH DUMMER.

Correspod ce of the Review.

WEDDING BELLS.—A wedding took place in this vicinity on the eve of Feb. 15th, at the residence of Mr. Thomas McMaster. His second daughter Jane was married to Mr. Cuff, of Dummer. A pleasant evening was agreeably spent, after which the bride and groom proceeded home.

SPECIAL SERVICES.—Revival meetings have been in progress for the past two weeks, and are still continued. They have been a great benefit to the neighborhood, being the means of leading many to see the error of their way.

YOUNG MEN'S MEETING.—One of the benefits accruing from these services is the establishment of a Young Men's Prayer Meeting which meets every Sunday evening. It is to be hoped that they will go on in the good way and do much good in the community.

MEASLES.—The measles are still running their course in this part. Nearly all the young people have had them.

RETURNED.—Messrs. W. G. Spence and Joshua Allen have returned from Ritchie's shanty at Stoney Lake.

Right now is the time to use a good Blood Purifying Medicine. Lose no time in getting a bottle of Dr. Carson's Stomach Bitters. It will do you good. Sold by all druggists, 50 cents.

ONTARIO'S NEW PORTFOLIO

MR. MOWAT'S REASONS FOR A DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE.

How the Work of the Province Has Increased—Attention will be Paid to the Mining Interests—Opposition Leader Meredith Objects—Echoes in the Lobby.

TORONTO, Feb. 23.—The leader of the Opposition was in his seat this afternoon for the first time this week. A host of petitions were presented, chief among the subjects dealt with being the abolition of the property qualifications for municipal office, the abolition of the bonus system, the bill relating to friendly societies, Waters' bill to give widows and unmarried women the right to vote, manhood suffrage, Garson's bill relating to inspection of boilers, and Nairn's bill respecting the conditional sale of chattels.

The following bills were introduced and read a first time: An act to amend the act respecting the Parry Sound Colonization Railway Company; an act to amend the Municipal act; an act to incorporate the City of Woodstock; an act to incorporate the Port Arthur Water and Light Company; an act to amend the act incorporating the Irondale and Ottawa Railway Company; an act defining the boundaries between the Town of Sandwich and the Township of Sandwich West; an act to amend the Municipal Act; an act relating to the payment of the expenses of the enforcement of the Canada Temperance Act; an act to amend the law respecting the salaries and expenses of Police Magistrates.

The following bills were read a third time and passed: Respecting Trinity Church, Toronto; to legalize a certain bylaw of the Town of Sault Ste. Marie; respecting arbitration with the Province of Quebec.

Wednesday, March 1, was set aside for the discussion of the motion approving the resolutions of the Inter-Provincial Conference.

The second reading of Bill No. 77, respecting the Department of Agriculture and other industries, was then taken up.

The Attorney-General, in moving the second reading of the bill, dilated on the importance of the agricultural interest, and threw forward several arguments why more encouragement should be given in order to further that interest. He sketched the history of the Agricultural College at Guelph, showing how it had grown in usefulness since its establishment by Sandfield Macdonald. He spoke of the bulk of the population being farmers, and the product of their industry forming the best part of the exports of Canada. The great change in the mode of successful farming made it a matter of necessity that a head for the Department of Agriculture should be appointed, so that the undivided attention of a competent man might be given to collecting and disseminating information for the farming community. Reference was made to the inauguration of the farmers' institute system, and to the good that was being done. Up to the present they had, in fact, the same number of Ministers as composed the first Government since Confederation, for though a Minister of Education had been created the duties performed by him were performed by a general superintendent receiving the same salary as the Minister received.

It was because of the importance of the interest over which the new Minister would preside, and in consequence of the immense augmentation of the public business since Confederation, that the new portfolio was to be created. It might be argued that, by readjustment of the duties devolving upon the members of the Government, the new portfolio could be created and still not increase the number of the Ministers, but that, he said, was a sheer impossibility.

The number of letters written in the Attorney-General's office during 1887 was nearly 7000, while during the first four years after Confederation their number was only a few hundred. As to the Commissioner of Crown Lands it was not possible for him to undertake new duties, as he had to look after the settlement of 100,000 acres of land in what was known as the disputed territory.

"The Commissioner," said the Premier, "will also have to devote attention to the mining interests. The mining interests are very important and demand close attention—[hear, hear],—and, while the Government has never lost sight of the importance of developing the mines, yet as time goes on they will receive larger attention."

Mr. Meredith replied. He did not know, he said, whether the Attorney-General was saying a valedictory or preaching a trial sermon. But certainly the hon. gentleman's remarks were not characterised with much modesty. While the hon. gentleman was giving his lurid description of the work done by the members of the Cabinet the speaker saw modest Cabinet members blush, and even now he thought he saw the warm glow on the handsome face of the Provincial Secretary. [Mr. Hardy laughs.] The Attorney-General had proved a little too much. He had proved how hard the subordinates in the departments worked for their miserable pittance. It was a wonder that good men could be got to do the work they did for the salaries they received. The comparisons made were altogether unfair.

Everyone knew that after Confederation the Macdonald Government had to lay the foundations of the institutions which were now flourishing. They also had to participate personally in the arduous duties connected with the Quebec arbitration. But the hon. gentleman was retreating from the position he took a few years ago. Then the arguments were that the members of the Cabinet controlling the affairs of this great Dominion were too numerous. Now the hon. gentleman wanted an equal number to do the business of this province. He (the speaker) was not there to detract from the importance of agriculture or to say a word to oppose greater attention being paid to it. But he did protest, and protest strongly, against further cost being added to the charge for government. [Opposition applause.] Over-government was a source of much discontent now.

Quebec, which the hon. gentlemen opposite were delighted to set forth as a place where reckless government reigned, was setting the example in regard to retrenchment in the cost of government by reducing the number of members composing the Provincial Cabinet, while Ontario was setting an opposite example. He held that the duties of the departments should be distributed, or that the new Minister should be given the duties of the Treasurer, which were largely a matter of routine. Surely the hon. gentleman did not think that the practical farmer who, he understood, was to be appointed, would be incapable of taking the duties of the Treasurer.

In conclusion Mr. Meredith simply put in his protest against the bill; at a later stage he would have more to say.

The motion was put and the bill was read a second time.

High Art Nowhere.

Patti—How did you do in Bristol?

Sims Reeves—Very well, indeed; but I should have done better but for the opposition.

Patti—What was against you then?

Sims Reeves—Jem Smith. (A pause.) When are you going to Manchester?

Patti—Next week.

Sims Reeves—I thought you were to be there this week?

Patti—So I was, but I altered the date.

Sims Reeves—Why?

Patti—I found my date clashed with Jake Kilrain's, and it wouldn't do for us both to be in the town together.—London Referee.

At The Baptist Church.

On Thursday evening an entertainment under the auspices of the Mission Band, in connection with the Murray-st. Baptist Church, was held in the basement of the church. The attendance was large, the building being crowded to the door by a delighted audience. The Rev. P. Clifton Parker, pastor, presided. The proceedings opened with an address from the chairman, who in the course of his remarks gave a short account of the good work being accomplished by Baptist Missionaries, in India and on the African coast. It may be here remarked that the Peterborough Mission Band, assisted by the Sunday School, support Thrus Ulic Isaac, a native Christian studying for the ministry at the Baptist College at Simulcotta, India. The programme was of considerable length and consisted of songs, readings, recitations and dialogues by the children of the Sunday school. Among those who took part were Misses Kincaid, Grandy, Hall, Hutchinson, Rossiter, Stratton, Crowley, Aldridge, and Masters McGee, Matthews and Duff. Great credit is due to Miss Gilmour and Miss Nicholls for the success of the entertainment. The proceeds amount to a handsome sum and will be used for missionary purposes.

It is a good rule to accept only such medicines as are known to be worthy of confidence. It has been the experience of thousands that Ayer's Cherry Pectoral is the best medicine ever used for throat and lung diseases.

At Norwood.

County Police Magistrate Edmison held court at Norwood, yesterday afternoon, when Mr. Glynn, of Havelock, was fined $100 and costs for a second offence against the Scott Act.

Cricket Notes.

A meeting of the banquet committee of the cricket club will be held on Saturday evening.....The Rev. P. Clifton Parker will play with our cricket club during the coming season. The rev. gentleman was formerly captain of the Simcoe club and he is said to be a fine player.

Street Numbering.

A meeting of Councillor Langford's Special Committee regarding numbering the houses is called for this evening. We understand that all the members are in favor of the idea and as the estimated cost is not over $200, it is expected that the Council will endorse the scheme.

"Monte Christo."

Day's company played "Monte Christo" at the Opera House last evening to a slim audience. The play was fairly put on and it appeared to give satisfaction. Mr. Day assumed five characters and with Miss Josie Robinson, he divided the honors. The support was good.

At the "Soo."

Mr. Wm. Kennealy, who for a number of years conducted the well known Commercial House here, has purchased a large hotel and livery stable business at Sault Ste. Marie, on the Canadian side of the line, and he will take possession in the course of a few weeks. We have no doubt that he will succeed in his new venture, as he thoroughly understands his business.

In Demand.

Small dwelling houses, at reasonable rents, appear to be in demand. We have heard several persons enquiring for such during the last few of days. There are some vacant houses but they are too large and too high priced for persons of moderate means, while no small ones can be obtained within a reasonable distance of the centre of the town. Builders should note this fact when planning operations for the coming season.

Home Knowledge Atlas.

Mr. W. H. Brownlee is delivering the Home Knowledge Atlas to subscribers in Peterborough. The work is a large one, and contains a large amount of valuable information, geographical, astronomical and historical. It contains finely executed maps of the different countries of the world, special prominence being given to Canada, and embraces a gazetteer showing all the cities, towns, villages and post offices of the Dominion and of the United States. The maps of cities and the statistical information presented will make the work a complete book of reference for useful information. Lists of the names of professional men, and information about the legislative and judicial departments of the country are fully given. There is an historical account of the Dominion, in which, however, there is one slip, where it is said that there is a growing feeling that commercial union might benefit both countries—but perhaps it means the feeling is "growing" smaller. Altogether the work is a handsome one, comprehensive and useful.

Local Legal.

The following case was heard at Toronto on Wednesday, and is thus reported in the Empire:—Re Colliton and Landergan.—Petition under V. and P. Act for the construction of the will of the late John Colliton, of the township of Otonabee, county of Peterborough. The will gives a life estate to the wife in lot 32 and 20 acres of lot 31, "in the——concession of the said township" and proceeds: "I leave and bequeath aforesaid estate to my son John, and said estate is not to be sold or mortgaged by my said son, but is to belong to his heirs. Should my said son die without heirs the said estate is to be divided between my daughters (then living), their heirs, etc. My daughters are to get their maintenance off the estate till married, and also $80 to each on marriage, which marriage portions are to be paid out of the said estate by my said son." In substance, has the vendor an estate in fee-tail, or a life estate in certain lands? Moore (Peterborough) for the petitioner, the vendor, contended that the restraint on alienation is void; that the concession meant can be shown, and that the devisee has a fee simple or fee-tail in the lands, and cited Wood v. Barron, 1 East, 259, and the cases in Theobald on Wills, p. 324. Hayes (Peterborough), contra. Judgment reserved.

Curling Notes.

A rink of juniors went up to Lindsay yesterday morning to play a game with the juveniles of that town. During the forenoon a practice match was played, and in the afternoon the tug-of-war took place. The result was a victory for the Lindsay players, but our boys are not at all satisfied. In the first place the ice was in a bad condition. "It was like playing on a lacrosse field," as one of the contestants put it and in the second place the Peterborough boys expected to meet boys, but they were disappointed. They found pitted against them one genuine junior and three who should be properly classed as seniors. One of them played last year at Ottawa for the Governor-General's medal, playing vice for the celebrated skip Mr. J. D. Flavelle. Two of the others have also played in first-class games and it was hardly fair to array them against four genuine juniors from Peteaborough. Although they were beaten our boys are not downcast, and they are prepared to meet their victors on good ice and think they can give their foes a better game than they did at Lindsay. The following were the scores:

PETERBOROUGH.		LINDSAY.
J. Connal		E. Pearson
F. Kingan		F. McBurney
D. Davidson		C. Corneil
R. T. Hartley, s'k. 15		J. McLennan, s'k. 22

Lindsay wins by 7 shots.

The two rinks to play against Truro, Nova Scoti, for the Governor-General's medal, left for Ottawa by the Canadian Pacific railway, last evening. The rinks were composed of the players named by as a few days ago and if the ice is in good condition they expect to give a good account of themselves. They play for the medal this afternoon and will meet Ottawa to-night.

IN BLUE LODGE AND CHAPTER ROOM.

The Masonic Conversazione a Brilliant Success.

One of the happiest social events of the season was the conversazione held on Thursday evening, under the auspices of the Masonic bodies of the town, in the Hall on Water-st. Although the attendance was limited by invitation to members of the order and immediate friends the capacity of the hall was taxed to the utmost to accommodate the gathering. The occasion was particularly one of social enjoyment, and guests were delighted with the arrangements made for their comfort and amusement. The handsome Blue Lodge and Chapter Room were decorated in excellent taste and well merited the complimentary remarks passed by visitors. Brethern of the order came early in the evening, and brought many friends. An active committee were assidious in contributing to the comforts of guests, and the evening passed off under the happiest possible circumstances. That the ladies take the liviest interest in matters pertaining to Masonry is well known, and it was remarked that stalwart and well skilled members of the order, took especial delight in imparting information relative to certain of the secrets and mysteries of the craft. The committee had arranged for refreshments which were served in the dining room and of which all partook. The furniture of the chapter room, was—to some extent—removed, and a cloth laid over the carpet and at the close of the programme dancing was indulged in for an hour or two to the excellent music furnished by Prof. Doucet's orchestra. During the evening, the Peterborough Amateur Orchestra contributed several fine selections to the programme and enhanced the pleasure of all present.

W. Bro. Rev. W. C. Bradshaw, took the chair a few minutes after eight o'clock and made a few pleasant introductory remarks. The following programme was then commenced and successfully carried out, the ladies and gentlemen particapating being heartily applauded:—

1 Selection.....My Native Hills.....
Peterborough Amateur Orchestra
2 Piano Duet ..Overture to "Zampa".....
Messrs. Jacques and Parker.
3 Song....."Jack's Yarn."....
Mr. Baguley.
4 Violin Solo "(Air Marie) Home Sweet Home"
Miss L. Yokome.
5 Song.."When We went a Gleaning".....
Miss Cameron.
6 Selection .....
Peterborough Amateur Orchestra.
7 Song....."Love is a dream."....
Miss Brundrett.
8 Song....."White Wings."....
Miss Hamilton.
9 Legerdermain.....
Mr. R. M. Roy.

The committee who deserve great praise, and who expended much time and work in perfecting arrangements were W. Bros. A. Dawson, H. Rush, W. Brundrette and Bro. W. Menzies. Mr. F. Hall served the refreshments in excellent style. The fine piano was kindly loaned for the occasion Messrs. Jackson & Co.

MEMBERS SOCIAL AT THE Y.M.C.A.

The Delegates to Toronto Convention Report—An Impromtu Debate.

About seventy-five young men gathered in the Association Rooms on Thursday evening. Mr. O. C. Rowse occupied the chair and the meeting was opened by singing and prayer, after which propositions for membership were received, and nine young men were received. Messrs. Henderson and Stevens sang the "Larboard Watch." The chairman then referred to the General Convention of Associations recently held in Toronto and called on different delegates from the local Association. Brief addresses were made by Messrs. Geo. M. Roger, President, C. W. Beal, R. H. Henderson and W. H. Stevens, Secretary. The following points were made:—Peterborough stood third higest in representation; the convention was the largest yet held; every topic and discussion had for its theme or ultimation the object for which the Association existed, viz:—to reach and benefit young men; the reports from various Associations showed the work to be in a flourishing condtion throughout the Dominion; the necessity for Associations in small towns, etc.

An impromptu debate followed these addresses, on the question, "Is Married Life Preferable to Single?" The affirmative was supported by Messrs. Arthur Tebb, W. Dee and Geo. A. Schofield, and the negative by Messrs. R. H. Henderson, Felix Brownscombe and G. M. Roger. The affirmative won by an overwhelming majority.

Messrs. Stevens, Miller, Henderson and Dundas sang a negro melody entitled "Steal Away." The Secretary announced that the Association had arranged for a coming vocal concert in the Opera House for Thursday evening, March 8th, with the Harmony Male Quartette of Toronto, assisted by Miss Annie Howden.

The ladies of the Charlotte-st. Church were present in goodly numbers and served refreshments in the reading room at the close of the meeting.

The great match for the Governor-General's trophy commenced at Ottawa this morning, on the Vice-Regal rink, the contestants being Truro, N. S., and Peterborough, two rinks a side.

As there is but one rink at Rideau Hall, the match had to be played in the morning and afternoon.

In the morning Skip W. G. Ferguson polished off his blue nose opponents by a majority of 14 shots.

After luncheon with His Excellency, Skip Ray commenced operations and play is in progress as we go to press.

Correspondence of the Review.

CORRECTION.—A varied entertainment was given in the Town Hall on Wednesday to a small house. We were mistaken as to the object for which it was given and therefore apologize, more particularly to those who attended. We will exercise greater care in the future.

SALE.—Mr. O. M. Kindred has posters out for an extensive credit sale of farm stock and implements, on Thursday next, at one o'clock, p. m., sharp.

DEATH.—We regret to report the death of Mrs. E. B. Harrison, mother of Dr. W. T. Harrison, of this place, at the age of 63 years. She had been almost confined to her bed for the last five months. The body was taken from here to Ridgetown, where the funeral was held on Wednesday afternoon.

MISSIONARY MEETING.—The annual missionary meeting of the Presbyterian Church was held on Monday evening last, when the Rev. Mr. Torrance, of Peterborough, was the chief speaker. There was a fair audience.

CARNIVAL.—The prospects for the carnival (Friday night, Feb. 24th,) are very good and if the weather only is propitious it will without doubt be the largest ever held in Keene.

CURLIANA.—Our curlers were very much put out by Belleville not coming to time on Wednesday last as per arrangement. The ice was in grand condition and the dinner provided. It seems very hard to get on a mated with outside clubs to play in Keene. However a rink is expected down from Peterborough to play on Saturday p.m. The 13 point medal has been won at last by Mr. Miller defeating Mr. H. J. English, in a hard fought game by a scoore of 13 to 11, having played 17 ends. Messrs. W. C. McCrea and M. Kennealy, together with Messrs. Miller and English, composed the second to last draw. Two other medals are to be played for at once.

ADVICE ON IMPROVEMENT.—We would suggest to our township fathers the advisibility of refrosting the lower half at least of the Town Hall windows, also providing a few dozen chairs or seats with backs..... We would advise a certain person who has a great deal to say about our game laws being violated to be quiet, as the parties who have been doing the lake a good turn by removing the "cat fish" and "bull necks," never yet cut open rat houses and set traps in them....Our tinsmith is in working order and ready for business.

QUESTIONS.—Where are the Campbellford curlers? Have they shut down for the season?

Insurance Catechism.

—:o:—

Why should I insure my life?

Many men insure their property but neglect to insure their lives. The property insured may never burn, but death is sure to occur. To a family a man's life is its property. It represents food, shelter, clothing, education for the children, and all the necessaries and comforts of life. A small investment in life insurance makes it possible for every man to leave his family above want. This certain provision cannot be obtained in any other institution. No man who is physically able to obtain the indemnity which life insurance gives is free from reproach if he neglects the important duty.

With whom should I insure?

Answer—With E. E. HENDERSON, General Agent, Peterborough.

Why?—Because you will be insured in a thoroughly reliable, safe and honorable Company, at lowest rates.

The First Symptoms

Of all Lung diseases are much the same: feverishness, loss of appetite, sore throat, pains in the chest and back, headache, etc. In a few days you may be well, or, on the other hand, you may be down with Pneumonia or "galloping Consumption." Run no risks, but begin immediately to take Ayer's Cherry Pectoral.

Several years ago, James Birchard, of Darien, Conn., was severely ill. The doctors said he was in Consumption, and that they could do nothing for him, but advised him, as a last resort, to try Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. After taking this medicine, two or three months, he was pronounced a well man. His health remains good to the present day.

J. S. Bradley, Malden, Mass., writes: "Three winters ago I took a severe cold, which rapidly developed into Bronchitis and Consumption. I was so weak that I could not sit up, was much emaciated, and coughed incessantly. I consulted several doctors, but they were powerless, and all agreed that I was in Consumption. At last, a friend brought me a bottle of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. From the first dose, I found relief. Two bottles cured me, and my health has since been perfect."

THE DISTANCES SUPPLIED.

The Department of Marine Furnishes Explicit Information Concerning Article IV.

OTTAWA, Feb. 23.—In the Fisheries Treaty it is stipulated that whenever a bay or inlet narrows down to a width of not more than ten miles Canadians shall have exclusive rights in the bay inside that line and also for three marine miles outside that line. There are, however, a number of exceptions specified to this in Article IV of the treaty. These exceptions are bays to which Canada's right is acknowledged to a greater extent. Points are named between which lines are drawn, inside of which Canadian jurisdiction shall be exclusive. The distances between the respective points in marine miles are thus supplied by the Department of Marine:

At or near the following bays the limits and exclusion under Article I of the convention of Oct. 20, 1888, at points more than three marine miles from low water mark, shall be established by the following lines, namely: At the Baie des Chaleurs the line from the light at Birch Point at Miscou Island to Mequereau Point light, 16 miles; at the Bay of Miramichi the line from the light at Point Escuminac to the light on the eastern point of Tabusintac Gully, 14½ miles; at Egmont Bay in Prince Edward Island the line from the cape at Egmont to the light at West Point and off St. Anne's Bay in the Province of Nova Scotia the line from Cape Smoke to the light at Point Aconal, 17 and 17½ miles, respectively; at Port Fortune Bay in Newfoundland, the line from Connaigre Head to the light on the southeasterly end of Brunet Island, thence to Fortune Head, 22 miles; at Sir Charles Hamilton Sound the line from the southeast point of Cape Fogo to White Island, thence to the north end of Peckford Island and from the south end of Peckford Island to the east headland of Ragged Harbor, 14 marine miles.

At or near the following bays the limits of exclusion shall be three marine miles seaward from the following lines, namely: At or near Barrington Bay in Nova Scotia the line from the light on Stoddard Island to the light on the south point of Cape Sable, thence to the light at Baccaro Point, a total of 14 miles; at Chedabucto and St. Peter's Bay the line from Cranberry Island light to Green Island light, thence Point Rouge, a total of 18 miles; at Mira Bay the line from the light on the east point of Scatari Island to the northeasterly point of Cape Morien, 7½ miles; at Placentia Bay in Newfoundland the line from Latine Point on the eastern mainland shore to the most southerly point of Merasheen Island to the mainland, 18½ miles.

MONA SCULLY;

—OR—

The Bride of an Englishman.

A STORY OF THESE TIMES.

Then she knows she is speaking to "the Australian" (as she has heard him called), and, lifting her head, examines his face with renewed interest. Not a pleasant face, by any means, yet not altogether bad, as she tells herself in the generosity of her heart.

"I am a stranger; I know nothing," she says, again, hardly knowing what to say, and moving a little as though she would depart.

"I suppose I am speaking to Mrs. Rodney," he says, guessing wildly, yet correctly, as it turns out, having heard, as all the country has besides, that the bride is expected at the Towers during the week. He has never all this time removed his black eyes from the perfect face before him with its crimson headgear. He is as one fascinated, who cannot yet explain where the fascination lies.

"Yes, I am Mrs. Rodney," says Mona, feeling some pride in her wedded name, in spite of the fact that two whole months have gone by since first she heard it.

"You haven't asked me who I am," says the stranger, as though eager to detain her at any cost, still without a smile, and always with his eyes fixed upon her face. It seems as though he positively cannot remove them, so riveted are they.

"No;" she might in all truth have added, "because I did not care to know," but what she does say (for incivility to an enemy would be impossible to Mona) is, "I thought perhaps you would not like it."

Even this is a small, if unconscious, cut, considering what objectionable curiosity he evinced about her name. But the Australian is above small cuts, for the good reason that he seldom sees them.

"I am Paul Rodney," he now volunteers,—"your husband's cousin, you know. I suppose," with a darkening of his whole face, "now I have told you who I am, it will not sweeten your liking for me."

"I have heard of you," says Mona, quietly. Then, pointing to that part of the wood whither he would go, she says, coldly, "I regret that I cannot tell you where this path leads to. Good-morning."

With this she inclines her head, and without another word goes back by the way she has come.

When she is quite gone, he pulls himself together with a jerk, draws a heavy sigh, and, thrusting his hands deep into his pockets, continues his walk.

At breakfast Mona betrays the fact that she has met Paul Rodney during her morning ramble, and tells all that has passed between him and her,—on being closely questioned,—which news has the effect of bringing a cloud to the brow of Sir Nicholas and a frown to that of his mother.

"Such presumption, walking in our wood without permission," she says, haughtily.

"My dear mother, you forget the path leading from the southern gate to Plumston road has been open to the public for generations. He was at perfect liberty to walk there."

"Nevertheless, it is very bad taste his taking advantage of that absurd permission, considering how he is circumstanced with regard to us," says Lady Rodney. "You wouldn't do it yourself, Nicholas, though you find excuses for him."

"Oh, no, I shouldn't," he says, gently; and then the subject drops.

And here perhaps it will be as well to explain the trouble that at this time weighs heavily upon the Rodney family.

Old Sir George Rodney, grandfather of the present baronet, had two sons, Geoffrey and George. He loved Geoffrey and hated George. The entail having been broken during the last generation, he made a will disinheriting the elder son. But before this George, unable to bear longer the ignominy of his position, left home. None knew where he had gone, save Elspeth, the old nurse, who had loved Sir Launcelot, the grandfather of Geoffrey and George, when she herself was a young, rosy-cheeked lass.

When the dark, wayward, handsome young man went away, the heart of Elspeth went with him, and she alone perhaps knew anything of his departure. To his father his absence was a relief, and the old man made his will, leaving all he possessed—save the title and some outside property which he did not possess—to his younger son.

But when, after his death, they came to look for the will, lo! it was nowhere to be found. Each drawer and desk and cabinet was searched to no avail, and when there came, one morning, news of the lost George's demise in Australia, the search grew languid and the will was forgotten, and Nicholas, accepting the rightful heir's death as a happy fact, ascended the throne and reigned peacefully for many years.

But again news came from Australia that the former tidings had been false, George Rodney had died only a twelve month since, and his son was coming to dispute Sir Nicholas's right to house and home and title.

And now where was the missing will? Old Elspeth was dead—and none of the old servants were alive—only the second nephew of old Elspeth, who had lived with her for many years, who had gone to Australia on her death and had not been heard from since.

And now the young man had come and they saw that he was very dark, and very morose, and very objectionable. But he seemed to have plenty of money, and when he took a shooting-box near the Towers their indignation knew no bounds.

Sir Nicholas declared his intention of being civil to him. He was his father's brother's child, and as he had committed no sin, and was only trying to reclaim his own, he would have him recognized at least with common politeness.

And so matters stood when Mona came to the Towers.

CHAPTER XVII.

To gain Lady Rodney's friendship is a more difficult thing than Mona in her ignorance had imagined, and she is determined to be ice itself to her poor little guest. As for her love, when first Mona's eyes lit upon her she abandoned all hope of ever gaining that.

With Captain Rodney and Sir Nicholas she makes way at once, though she is a little nervous and depressed, and not altogether like her usual gay insouciant self. She is thrown back upon herself, and, like a timid snail, recoils sadly into her shell.

In Brief and to the Point.

Dyspepsia is dreadful. Disordered liver s misery. Indigestion is a foe to good nature.

The human digestive apparatus is one of the most complicated and wonderful things in existance. It is easily put out of order.

Greasy food, tough food, sloppy food, bad cookery, mental worry, late hours, irregular habits, and many other things which ought not to be, have made the American people a nation of dyspeptics.

But Green's August Flower has done a wonderful work in reforming this sad business and making the American people so healthy that they can enjoy their meals and be happy.

Remember:—No happiness without health. But Green's August Flower brings health and happiness to the dyspeptic. Ask your druggist for a bottle. Seventy-five cents

THE LATEST MARKETS.

TORONTO, Feb. 23.

The grain and produce market show quite a change since Tuesday. A dullness prevails in all the markets and in Chicago the market is weaker, while at home and in Europe there is no demand, though the market was steady.

At the Corn Exchange to-day the usual bid of 95c for No. 1 red winter was made.

The car lots received at Chicago on Tuesday were: Winter wheat 2, spring 23, corn 322, oats 105, rye 4 and barley 34. This includes inspection of grain on Galena div. for yesterday.

LOCAL STREET MARKET.

The local market to-day was quiet and prices steady. Only two loads of wheat offered, which were spring, and they sold at 78½c to 79c, fall nominal at 80c to 81c, and goose at 72c to 74c. Barley dull, three loads selling at 73c to 77c. Oats are quoted at 47c to 48c. Hay in fair supply and firm; 20 loads sold at $13 to $14 for clover, and $14 to $17.50 for timothy. Straw quoted at $10 to $11.50. Dressed hogs are quoted at $7.25. Beef $3 to $5 for forequarters and $5 to $7.50 for hindquarters. Mutton $6.50 to $8; lamb at $9 to $10; veal $5.50 to $8.50.

ST. LAWRENCE MARKET.

The retail market to-day was dull, and prices are without change.

DEBATING THE ADDRESS.

A DAY OF GOOD-NATURED TALK AT THE DOMINION CAPITAL.

The House of Commons, in a Three Hours' Session, Adopts the Address—Dry Talk in the Red Chamber—The Two Dromios—Gossip of the Lobbies.

OTTAWA, Feb. 24.—This was eminently a day of talk in both Houses of Parliament, and a great deal of it was good natured talk, too.

The House of Commons sat from 3 o'clock until 6 and succeeded in those three hours in adopting the address and passing the usual routine resolutions incident to opening day.

The Senate, on the other hand, was not so lively. The old gentlemen had a three hours' talk until the dinner hour, but were not then through debating the address and will go on again on Monday.

The speaking in the Commons was listened to by almost a full house and crowded galleries. There were few absentees. Hon. Alex. Mackenzie has arrived in the city but was not in his seat. He will be in his place on Monday, it is expected. Sir Charles Tupper was also absent, he having not yet recovered from his illness. Mr. Robertson of West Hastings, who has been an invalid for many months, is also among the absentees. Mr. Robertson is lying quite ill at his home in Belleville, and is not expected here at all this session.

W. H. MONTAGUE.

When Dr. Montague rose to move the address he received an ovation that fairly eclipsed his reception on being introduced the day previous. The doctor is suffering somewhat from cold, and did not make a lengthy speech or touch on tiresome subjects. He steered almost entirely away from statistics, and was content to give voice to well rounded sentences regarding the leading paragraphs in the speech. The House listened with much attention, as it did also to the gentlemen who followed Dr. Montague.

They were Mr. L. Z. Joncas, the seconder of the address, Mr. Laurier, Sir John and Sir Richard Cartwright and Peter Mitchell who closed the show in a ten-minute talk in which he said he was with the Government in its Pacific Railway policy, and with the Government on its National Policy of 1879, but not with them on their N.P. of 1888. Peter also took good care to assure the House that he was with himself on all subjects.

L. Z. JONCAS.

Of course the mover and seconder were specially instructed as to how far they should go in informing the House as to the Government's policy on the contents of the address. All of the speakers referred to the fisheries treaty, but nothing that is not already known was dropped by any of them. Sir John said he did not propose to more than merely mention the matter until the treaty itself and all the correspondence thereon was placed before the House.

All of the speakers referred to Lord Lansdowne's near departure in terms of affection. Dr. Montague, Mr. Joncas, Mr. Laurier and the Premier were particularly pleasant in their allusions to His Excellency's success in administering the government of Canada during the past five years. On this point Sir John said:

"As the chief adviser of His Excellency during his sojourn in the Dominion, I can sincerely attest to his ability and intelligence in dealing with the affairs of the country."

Kindly mention was made by Mr. Laurier and Sir John of the absence of Mr. Blake, and in saying that Mr. Blake was a man of whom any country in the world should be proud, the Old Man at the same time congratulated Mr. Laurier on his elevation to the leadership of the Opposition. This certainly puts at rest, for the present at least, any disquieting rumors as to who the Liberal leader really is. Sir John certainly looks to Mr. Laurier as the responsible head of the opposing forces, and he promised to have an "unofficial conference" with the gentleman from Arthabaskaville in arranging the diagram of debate on the fisheries treaty. This, of course, will be the big event of the session.

Dr. Montague's and Mr. Joncas' speeches (the latter dictated in French) were full of praise for the fostering care with which Sir John and his Government looked after the interests of Canada.

The doctor's main points were that the building of the Canadian Pacific Railway would prove the mainspring of the country's development and progress, that Canada is prosperous, that her farmers were not living on heavily mortgaged farms as had been charged, that her climate is healthful, its soil productive, that she owns thousands upon thousands of miles of territory that is rich in minerals and productiveness, that the Government of the day was doing all in its power to extend her commerce to the teeming countries of the Orient and South America, and finally that her future greatness would depend upon cultivating a national sentiment and binding more closely into one solid sisterhood her various provinces, a dissipation of sectionalism and a passion and love for our common country.

Mr. Joncas, who, by the way, is a gentleman farmer in Dr. Fortin's constituency of Gaspe, was equally eloquent in his hope for Canada's future. Gaspe being a constituency which is particularly interested in the fisheries, Mr. Joncas had a good deal to say on this subject, and he took occasion to compliment Peter Mitchell on his efforts to secure the treaty of 1871.

Mr. Laurier was good natured in reply, and he sighed frequently as he gazed at the vacant seat of Mr. Blake beside himself. His main points were that the Government had failed eminently to carry out their promises made in the speech of last year. The Department of Justice had not been reformed or improved, the proposed portfolio of Trade and Commerce had not been created, the Franchise Act was for the especial benefit of maintaining the Government's majority, the Controverted Election Act was a legal enigma which the judges of Ontario, Quebec and New Brunswick could not interpret, and the country was steeped hopelessly in debt by reason of its unrighteous compact with the Canadian Pacific Railway corporation. "The vicious economical policy of the Government," said Mr. Laurier, "has handed our country over to rings, combinations and monopolies. Our boasted prosperity is mythical. If the alleged prosperity existed, why were thousands upon thousands of our citizens turning their back upon Canada and that prosperity!"

Sir John was very happy in his reply to Mr. Laurier. The Chieftain's supporters rallied around the Old Man and listened to his frequent outbursts of taffy and funny stories with eyes and ears all open. He spoke particularly about the proposed portfolio of Trade and Commerce, and reminded the leader of the Opposition that there was a clause at the end of the act which prescribed that the office would only be created when His Excellency deemed that it was necessary. The affairs of the Customs and Inland Revenue departments had been so ably managed that there was no need of decapitating the heads of these institutions, and there had not been a single petition from a chamber of commerce in the country, from a mechanics' institute or from an organized labor union for the creation of the aforesaid new portfolio.

As for the re-arrangement of the Department of Justice by the appointment of a Solicitor-general, he would trust his able colleague who presided over that department to say when the new officer was necessary.

Sir John then drifted into a humorous defence of his Government's fiscal policy. He said he remembered when Mr. Laurier put himself on record as a protectionist of the pure breed.

"As for myself, continued Sir John, "I merely went in for a re-arrangement of the tariff, an imposition of duties on those articles which we could manufacture ourselves and the free admission of those which we could not make. If my good friend opposite were not a French Canadian and a good Liberal I would have to class him as a Bourbon—one who remembers nothing and forgets nothing." [Laughter.]

Sir John admitted that the Franchise Act and the Controverted Election Act needed some mending, spoke of the fisheries treaty only very briefly, and wound by asking his friends opposite how it was that if the country was going to the devil the people would persist in returning him and his colleagues to power, and thus almost swearing by them. The Old Man was in good voice and better humor during his remarks.

Sir Richard Cartwright laughed at the so-called prosperity of the country, and said the people of Canada were not leaving their homes by the thousands but by the millions. This remark seemed to create a great deal of fun for the Ministerialists.

Sir Richard then devoted himself to claiming that Ontario at least grew and prospered six times as rapidly when Mr. Mackenzie was in power as it had since, but he ran foul of the wrath of the members from the Prairie Province when he said that millions of bushels of grain were rotting in Manitoba for want of transportation facilities to the markets of the East.

Mr. Daly of Selkirk, by-the-way the handsome brother of Mr. Peter Daly, formerly of Toronto, was so indignant at this remark that he hissed across the floor at Sir Richard that it was utterly false. So said Mr. Davin to The World after the House adjourned. Mr. Davin said further that there was some grain piled up in bags, but so long as the frost lasts it is as safe as in the barn.

This ended the debate and the address was ordered to be engrossed and presented to His Excellency.

The committee that superintended the publication of the debates of the House last session was reappointed.

In the Senate Mr. Richard Hardisty, the new senator from Edmonton, Alberta, was introduced by Senators Frank Smith and Abbott and took his seat. Senator Ross of Quebec, in the absence of Senator-elect Rolland of Montreal through illness, moved the address and Senator Sanford of Hamilton was the seconder. The other speakers of the afternoon were Senators Power of Halifax and Armand. The debate was not closed when the Senate rose at 6 o'clock.

THE FISHERIES TREATY.

Premier Blair of New Brunswick Objects to Being Misrepresented.

OTTAWA, Feb. 24.—Premier Blair of New Brunswick writes this letter to The Citizen this morning:

The statement in The Mail that I have been quite outspoken in my opposition to the Fisheries Treaty, is wholly unauthorized and incorrect. I decidedly object to having views attributed to me which I do not entertain and have not expressed.

The Thunderer's View of the Treaty.

LONDON, Feb. 23.—The Times says: "There is nothing in the new treaty inconsistent with the principles of the convention of 1818. Canada makes certain concessions of no substantial importance to herself, and obtains in return a clear recognition of her rights under that convention. American opinions of the treaty are of course influenced by party lines; in British eyes, however, the success of the treaty depends upon the reception it may meet in Canada. Care must be taken not to judge Canadian opinion from the adverse comments of one or two prominent Toronto journals which may not have got mastered the treaty, and were certainly not predisposed to regard it with favor. We shall be surprised if the majority of Canadians do not highly appreciate the settlement."

A DISTRESSING SUICIDE.

A GUEST AT THE ROSSIN HOUSE SHOOTS HIMSELF.

J. B. Lawlor, Until Lately Inspector for the London and Lancashire Insurance Company of Montreal, Prefers Death to Disgrace—Financial Difficulties the Cause.

TORONTO, Feb. 25.—J. B. Lawlor, an inspector for the London and Lancashire Insurance Company of Montreal, committed suicide in his room at the Rossin House yesterday morning, by shooting himself in the left side of the breast, the bullet penetrating his heart and causing instant death. Mr. Thomas Murray, M.P.P. for North Renfrew, who occupies a room on the third floor directly opposite to the one in which the terrible tragedy was enacted, fancied he heard the report of a revolver, but hearing no outcry he dismissed the thought from his mind peremptorily and went to sleep. However on going in to breakfast he spoke to Mr Irish on the subject, who immediately went upstairs to institute inquiries. He tried the door of the room occupied by Mr. Lawlor, but finding it locked, knocked loudly for admittance. Receiving no response from the occupant to his repeated blows on the door, Mr. Irish called out his name several times, but still no response came forth. A step-ladder was then procured and placed against the door. One of the bell-boys climbed the ladder, and on looking through the transom beheld a sight that almost froze the blood in his veins. Lying on the bed was the dead body of Mr. Lawlor, fully clothed. A large silver-plated revolver on the bed at the right hand side of the body bore silent but terribly convincing testimony to the cause of death. The transom was immediately taken out to admit the boy, who climbed over the frame and dropped into the room and unlocked the door. An examination of the remains at once disclosed the manner by which the wretched man had taken his own life. He had deliberately sent a bullet crashing into his heart. The pistol must have been held very close to the breast, as the clothing around the place where the bullet entered was burnt and the white shirt front blackened with the powder.

Dr. Thorburn was called, and found that a bullet had entered the heart, and that death must have been instantaneous. On a table were eight letters addressed to Mark H. Irish, Rossin House, Toronto; Mrs. Arkle, care of W. Armstrong, 7 Esther-street, city; Mrs. J. B. Lawlor, Vankleek Hill, Ont.; Mrs. Lawlor, care of L. S. Pariseau, civil engineer, St. John's, Que.; C. W. Young, Merchants' Bank, Stratford, Ont.; B. Hal Brown, Standard Building, St. James-street, Montreal; Lewis W. Shannon, Kingston, Ont., and London & Lancashire Life Assurance Co., 157 St. James-street, Montreal.

The letter to Mr. Irish reads:

TORONTO, Feb. 23, 1888: Dear Sir,—I owe you a few words of explanation for what I am about to do. I have been in financial difficulties for some time past. I have been endeavoring to negotiate a loan here in Toronto to carry me over my difficulties, but have failed in doing so. To-day I received letters from the east stating that several of my creditors have entered suit against me. I am powerless to meet their demands, so prefer death to disgrace. I rely on your honor as a gentleman to respect my confidence. Tell the reporters simply that financial embarrassment is my sole reason for this. Send the bill for my board to my private address at Vankleek Hill, Ontario, as I am not here this time in my official capacity as I led you to suppose. The amount will be sent you in due course.

Please mail the letters I leave on my table with the exception of the one to Mrs. Arkle, which you will kindly have delivered at once by a messenger, as I wish her to break the news to my wife.

Please do this and you will confer a favor on a heartbroken, miserable man. Yours, J. B. LAWLOR.

Coroner Duncan was notified, but on learning the circumstances decided that an inquest was not necessary and gave a certificate to that effect. Mr. Irish sent by messenger the letter to Mrs. Arkle, who visited the hotel. She had not known Lawlor, but was intimately acquainted with his wife who is a sister of Judge Dartnell of Whitby.

Undertaker W. H. Stone was called in and prepared the body for interment. Mr. Irish telegraphed to Mrs. Lawlor, Judge Dartnell, the London and Lancashire Life Assurance Co., and the Dominion Commercial Travelers' Association, Montreal, one of whose 1887 tickets was found on the body. The replies he received intimated that Judge Dartnell would arrive to take charge of the body, and that the deceased was not a member of the Travelers' Association. The London and Lancashire Assurance people wired:

Regret we cannot do anything. Has not been working for us for over a month.

Judge Dartnell arrived by the 10.40 G.T.R. train last night from Whitby and took charge of the dead man's remains, which were removed to Undertaker Stone's establishment in Yonge-street. Judge Dartnell was undecided as to the burial place, not having received instructions from Mrs. Lawlor. The body, however, will probably be placed in a vault in St. James' Cemetery temporarily, and then taken to Whitby or Vankleek Hill for final interment.

Judge Dartnell was not accessible to reporters. It is said he was not well acquainted with his brother-in-law, having met him for the first time in Whitby a month ago. He again met him at the Rossin on Sunday last, when Lawlor made but a slight reference to his financial troubles.

Mr. George Wardell of 175 Sherbourne-street was well acquainted with the deceased, who was born in Hawkesbury, Prescott County, Ont. His father was for years in the employ of Hamilton Bros., the lumbermen. He married Miss Louisa Dartnell of that place about four years ago and has one child. During the construction of the Grenville Canal he was employed thereon as an engineer under Mr. Periseau, his brother-in-law.

Mr. Lawlor was about 35 years old, of good business abilities and address. Of late he has been engaged in two or three lines of business, but he never succeeded. The letter which he wrote the night before to Mr. Irish will show that he was in a cool and collected state of mind. It was written on the paper of the London & Lancashire Company in a steady business hand that displayed not the slightest evidence of nervousness.

THE RULES OF PROCEDURE.

Yesterday's Proceedings in the Imperial House—The Doncaster Election.

LONDON, Feb. 24.—In the House of Commons to-night Mr. Wm. H. Smith, the Government leader, moved that the consideration of rules of procedure have precedence over other business.

Mr. Gladstone said he regretted the proposal for urgency, but would give the Government assistance in expediting the discussion.

Mr. Bradlaugh moved an amendment excluding Wednesday from the operation of the rules.

The amendment was defeated, 247 to 150.

The Doncaster Election.

LONDON, Feb. 24.—The parliamentary election in the Doncaster division of the West Riding of Yorkshire, to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Walter S. Shirley (Liberal), was held to-day and resulted in a victory for the Liberal-Unionists, their candidate, W. H. Fitzwilliam, receiving 5634 votes against 5423 for Spencer Balfour (Gladstonian). In the previous election the vote was Shirley (Liberal) 5060, Fitzwilliam (Liberal-Unionist) 4792.

The Queen's Drawing Room.

LONDON, Feb. 24.—The Queen had her first drawing room of the season to-day. The attendance was thin, a keen wind was blowing hard, and snow fell at intervals. The Queen was accompanied by the Princess of Wales and her daughters, Princesses Louise Victoria and Maud, and Princess Beatrice, the Duke of Cambridge and Prince and Princess Christian. During the reception to the diplomatic corps the Queen had a long conversation with Count Von Hatzfeldt, the German Ambassador, regarding Crown Prince Frederick William.

A Poacher Acquitted.

LONDON, Feb. 24.—Justice Denman of the Queen's Bench Division, High Court of Justice, sitting at Ipswich, in the case of a poacher who had severely wounded a gamekeeper, held that the keeper had no right to arrest and hunt poachers as he would wild beasts. He said that poaching was only a misdemeanor. The jury acquitted the poacher on the ground of self-defence.

The Russian Loan.

VIENNA, Feb. 24.—It is reported that a syndicate of French, Belgian and Dutch bankers has advanced to Russia the sum of 30,000,000 roubles, refusing to grant a larger loan unless the Bulgarian question is settled peaceably.

Dropped Dead on 'Change.

NEW YORK, Feb. 24.—Charles Green, a member of the Cotton Exchange, dropped dead on the floor of the Exchange this afternoon.

The Factory Act in Quebec Province.

MONTREAL, Feb. 24.—The evidence adduced before the Labor Commission has stimulated the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Women and Children to take immediate action, and at a recent meeting of the organization a very influential committee was appointed to wait upon the Provincial Government for the purpose of representing the immediate necessity of enforcing the Factory Act.

The San Remo Bulletin.

SAN REMO, Feb. 24.—During the first part of last night the Crown Prince's rest was disturbed by coughing, but afterwards he slept well. He is depressed by the death of his nephew, Prince Louis of Baden. He appeared twice on the balcony of his residence to-day and was greeted with enthusiastic cheers by the crowd outside, which included many Germans.

The Prince of Wales has gone to Cannes.

An Official Denial.

PARIS, Feb. 24.—The statement that after the budget is passed M. Tirard will propose the issue of a large loan to restore the financial equilibrium, has been officially denied. The Bourse consequently closed firm.

Protection of Foreigners in Morocco.

ROME, Feb. 24.—The envoy of the Sultan of Morocco, in an interview to-day with the Papal Secretary of State, asked for mediation of the Pope in the question of the protection of foreigners in Morocco.

Gen. Boulanger Not a Candidate.

PARIS, Feb. 24.—Gen. Boulanger has telegraphed to the War Office, denying that he is connected with any electoral candidacy.

The Canadian Club Banquet.

NEW YORK, Feb. 24.—Preparations for the Canadian Club banquet to Mr. Chamberlain and his associates are going forward rapidly. Application for tickets outside of the membership of the club is unusually large. James Russell Lowell, late American Minister to Great Britain, is expected to be present, together with other distinguished American personages. Sir Charles Tupper telegraphs that owing to a severe illness he is afraid that he will have to decline attendance.

SATURDAY, FEBRUARY 25, 1888.

THE DOMINION PARLIAMENT.

The Speech from the Throne delivered at the opening of the second session of the sixth Parliament of Canada on Thursday was not a long one, the subjects mentioned being dealt with in a brief and pointed manner.

There was reason for the pleasure expressed on account of the treaty in reference to the fishery dispute being signed. It was a troublesome question and one that threatened an interruption of the friendly relations existing between this country and the United States, and as the adjustment is one that is fair and honorable to both nations—retaining for Canada her fishing grounds and allowing the United States fishermen all the privileges in Canadian ports they could justly claim—the treaty should be sanctioned by the Legislative bodies.

The measure to improve the system of Government in the Northwest Territory calls attention to the continued growth of this country. New settlements are being followed by new provinces, and the development of the Dominion progresses steadily.

The other bills promised are of considerable importance. Additional protection for life and property on railways is required by the extention and development of the systems of railways, and the wonderful progress of railway construction also renders necessary the adjustment of questions relating to the interests of rival companies, which matters will be dealt with in an amendment to the Railway Act. During the hearing of petitions in controverted election cases diverse views have been held by judges regarding parts of the law and these portions will no doubt be made clear in the amendments proposed to be made in the Controverted Election Act. The law regarding the franchise will be simplified and the cost of its operation lessened, a move that will be commended.

The legislation outlined, while it will benefit the country, is not of a character that should lead to a protracted session. There will probably be a debate on the fisheries treaty, as the Opposition has shown from the first that it would attack the Government no matter what might be done; but as it will only be a partisan opposition without a real grievance, the treaty will no doubt be ratified so far as Canada is concerned.

CAMPBELLFORD.

LAUDANUM INSTEAD OF CORDIAL.—A case of poisoning which might have resulted fatally occurred in a family in the village, a few days ago. The mother took from a bottle a large dose of laudanum and gave it to her little boy in mistake for cordial which she had been administering to check a cold. Fortunately the child noticed the difference between the taste of the dose and that previously given and made it known to his mother. The mistake was soon discovered by the mother who hastily administered a strong emetic and sent for a physician. Before he had arrived, however, the emetic had done good work, and the little fellow vomited the laudanum, and escaped none the worse of wear.

BURNED TO DEATH.—A very sad occurrence took place near Healey Falls, a few miles north of Campbellford, on Saturday last, by which the little child of Mr. Levi Plumpton, eleven months old, was burned to death. The child was ailing somewhat, and Mrs. Plumpton went off to a neighbour's about half a mile distant to procure some medicine, leaving it, another child older, and one about five years old, alone in the house. During her absence, Mrs. Hugh McArthur, who lives near the Plumptons, heard the children screaming, and running hastily into the house, found the poor little creature in the kitchen with its clothes burned off, and its head, face and body terribly burned also. It had been left near the stove, and after its clothes took fire it crawled into the kitchen through an open door and was found upon some ice. Death released the dear little sufferer a minute or two after Mrs. McArthur took it up in her arms.—Herald.

LINES BY REQUEST.

UPON THE EARLY DEATH OF MARY A. MOLONEY.

Wife of Eugene James Moloney, and only Daughter of William Orough, Reeve of Ennismore, who died February 2nd, 1888, aged 19 years and 8 months:—

O what is beauty, what is youth, mere shadows of a day,
One touch of death's cold, icy hand transfigures them to clay.
The dearest form that ever bound husband's or father's love,
One sharp blast of death's chilling breath that loved one will remove,
Grief stricken friends, I know my lines no soothing balm imparts
To heel the wounds which cruel death inflicted on your hearts:
Your only daughter was by you loved, idolized I know—
Alas! Death came so premature, and laid your Mary low.

True centre of your family joys, kind-hearted, cheerful, bright,
Her pleasing smiles, her winning ways, her brothers' chief delight;
Likewise her father's truest joy, from youth to womanhood years,
Well might her death unlock and burst the flood gates of his tears.
One more endeared by tenderer ties, more keenly feels the smart;
The blow has filled her cup of grief and crushed her mother heart,
The babe she nursed, the girl she loved, still haunts her night and day,
It is but fancy, caused by grief, for her Mary has passed away.

And still another drops his head and strives to hide the tear,
Free bursting from his manly eyes—he was her husband dear.
How transitory was their bliss, how short their married life!
But two short years was Mary spared to be his loving wife.
A young wife's love, a young wife's cares, were soon brought to an end,
Too soon affliction laid on her its heavy, fatal hand.
Scarce two weeks old, a babe beside its dying mother lay,
Unconscious of its loss, it smiled as its ma passed away.

She felt her life's blood ebbing fast, she knew her end was nigh,
She kissed her mother, saying, "That is the last before I die.
"I leave my impress on your lips, for father and brothers three,
"My husband and my tender babe—kiss them, likewise, for me.
"And tell them not to mourn too much for me; although I die,
"This life I calmly do resign for a better life on high,
"My last request, dear mother, is show kindness every day
"Unto my husband, and my babe, when I have passed away."

How short her pilgrimage on earth! How brief her sojourn here!
Few years allowed her to prepare for a far brighter sphere.
Well she improved each passing hour, on heavenward paths she trod,
Her chiefest aim, her soul's delight—Religion, Church and God.
Her earthly life was but a glimpse, with friends how short she stayed,
The flush of youth had scarcely time from her young cheeks to fade.
When youth, health, joy and hope held forth their sweetest, brightest ray,
Before her twentieth year had closed, young Mary passed away.

Yes, she has gone, her presence here seemed but a passing wave,
Like yesterday in cradle smiled, to-day she fills a grave.
Not Mary, only Mary's dust, in death's cold chamber lies;
We hope her youthful soul embasks in bliss beyond the skies.
Grieved, weeping friends, dry up your tears, your burden cast on God,
He but afflicts you for your good, now kiss his chastening rod.
His greatest trials are sent through love, with meek submission say:
Not ours, O Lord, thy will be done—our Mary take away.

MEASLES.—Measles is all the rage here at present, scarcely a family escaping.

ENTERTAINMENT.—Last week the Agricultural Society had a good entertainment in their hall at Centreville. The hall was well filled. The entertainment consisted of readings, recitations, instrumental and vocal music and dialogues, all by home talant. The parties, one and all, who promised to assist from Peterborough, Port Hope and Millbrook failed to put in an appearance. The proceeds, which amounted to something like $23, will be applied to building account.

MOVING.—Mr. R. Tippet is having a sale on the 1st March next, and will take up his quarters near Lakefield.

SALE.—E. Ball, of Centreville, is advertising an auction sale of dry goods, &c., on the 24th inst. We expect a lot of good bargains. He has a good tailor. I want a suit of clothes and I expect to get it at such a price as will leave town dealers in the back ground.

SOCIAL GATHERING.—One of the most successful social gatherings of the season was held at the residence of Mr. Robert Emmerson on the evening of February 17th. The evening was all that could be desired and by 8 o'clock the guests began to arrive and by 9 o'clock the house was filled to overflowing, about seventy-five being present. Of course, dancing formed the principal attraction, and was well sustained till early in the morning. Many a blushing maiden and blooming youth swept through the mazy dance. Other amusements were provided for those who did not indulge in the dancing, and he who did not thoroughly enjoy himself must have been hard to please indeed. Music was furnished by Messrs. McLelland, Pullybank and Bennett. Mr. and Mrs. Emmerson are to be congratulated on the success of their party.

MISCELLANEOUS.—We understand our popular patriarch, Mr. J. Smithson, entertained his brother and sister patriarchs the other evening, but as your correspondent had not the honor of being present (not being a patriarch) he is unable to go into detail but may venture to say they had a very pleasant time.... Miss Minnie Kindred is ill again.... Miss Mary Emmerson, who has been very ill, is recovering.... Mr. and Mrs. Cross, who have been guests at Mr. Jackson's, have returned to their home in Fenelln.

REVIVAL SERVICES.—Our pastor, the Rev. Mr. Johnston, has commenced a series of revival services and we trust success may crown his earnest endeavors to raise the religious element to a higher level.

ONTARIO'S CRIMINAL LIST.

ANNUAL REPORT OF THE INSPECTOR OF JAILS AND PRISONS.

A Bad Record for Toronto—Inspection of Steam Services—Other Business in the Local Legislature Yesterday—A Cane for Whip Freeman.

TORONTO, Feb. 24.—As usual on Fridays, the Legislature this afternoon began business with a number of empty seats, and the members attacked the order paper in a manner which appeared to foreshadow an early adjournment, a practice which is now generally recognized, in order to permit of the legislators leaving for their homes on early trains and spending Saturday and Sunday with their families.

The following bills were introduced and read a first time: An act to amend the Voters' List Act; an act to amend the act respecting innkeepers.

Hon. Mr. Hardy presented a return of copies of Orders-in-Council relative to the investment of sinking funds of municipalities, and the report of the Inspectors of Prisons and Charities on common jails and reformatories.

Mr. Garson moved the second reading of his bill respecting the examination of engineers and inspectors of boilers. He explained the measure involved somewhat radical changes, and he would not press its passage unless he was assured every clause of it would receive serious consideration. For this reason he would ask to have it read a second time, and referred to a select committee. He quoted figures to show that in all probability 700 boilers in Ontario were in a dangerous condition, and pointed to the number of boiler explosions occurring annually as evidence of the necessity which exists for the enactment of further safeguards. The working of a similar act, passed by the Dominion, governing marine engines and boilers, led to the conclusion that the enactment of a law governing stationary machinery would be equally successful in preventing the loss of life and destruction of property which are the results of neglect of proper precautions in this matter. In reply to the argument that manufacturers would be seriously affected by the passage of the measure, he pointed out that this class, who were always keenly alive to their own interests, had not presented a single petition against the bill.

Hon. Mr. Fraser said there could be no objection to reading the bill a second time and referring it to a select committee, with the understanding that the matter should not be finally dealt with this session, but only fully inquired into with the intention of having the Government dealing with it at some future session.

Mr. Phelps made a speech against the bill, and said he would give the introducer a chance to withdraw it, and if he did not avail himself of it, he would move an amendment. He sat down, however, without moving his amendment, and when at a later stage he rose to move it, the Speaker ruled him out of order. He then moved the adjournment of the House, which was lost.

The bill was read a second time, and Mr. Garson moved that it be referred to a select committee.

Mr. Phelps moved that it be not now referred, but that it be referred this day three months, but he consented to withdraw this on the Commissioner of Public Works pointing out that it was not intended to press the passage of the measure this session.

The motion to refer to a select committee was adopted.

One of the features of yesterday's session of the Legislature was the bringing down of the criminal statistics of the province for the year ending Sept. 30, 1887, as compiled by Mr. R. Christie, Inspector of Jails, Prisons and Reformatories. The morality of the people, if this is a fair guide, stands at about the same height as it did the previous year, and when compared with that of a few years back the comparison is still more favorable.

St. Catharines, according to its record, can wave the plume for either having a very moral town or a very good natured police force. Toronto's record looks blue. Inspector Christie says that in the whole province there has been an increase of 372 in commitments for crime. If Toronto were left out there would be a decrease of 219, as in this city there had been the large increase of 591. The total number of commitments for the year is 11,017. In seven separate years since 1876 the number of commitments have been considerably larger. In 1877 the number was 12,030.

In perusing the report it is interesting to note the number contributed by each of the cities. The moral barometer of these places reads as follows:

St. Catharines	86	Brantford	202
Guelph	105	Ottawa	623
St. Thomas	171	Hamilton	841
Belleville	214	Toronto	6791
Kingston	216

The crimes against the person show a remarkable diminution. In 1886 there were only 833, the smallest number on record since Confederation. Crimes against property number 2183, as compared with 2314. On the other hand, offences against public morals and decency number 401, the largest since 1882, and offences against public order and peace 6396, the largest since 1884. The number convicted of these crimes during the year was:

Common assault	420	Fraud	89
Criminal assault	31	Larceny	1320
Murder	19	Bigamy	15
Manslaughter	13	Keeping houses of ill-fame	99
Arson	31	Frequenting do. do	146
Burglary	35	Drunkenness	4130
Embezzlement	26	Vagrancy	2182
Forgery	30

There were 6134 Canadians convicted, 1904 Englishmen, 2397 Irishmen, 598 Scotchmen, 723 United States men, and 261 other foreigners. Of these 3929 were Roman Catholics, 3675 English Churchmen, 1385 Presbyterians, 1366 Methodists, and 662 belonging to other denominations.

The number of married people suffering the disgrace of conviction for crime was only 3995, as compared with 7022 bachelors and spinsters; 3277 of the criminals were of temperate habits; 7740 were intemperate. Those incarcerated who could read and write were 8536 in number; those who could not, 2481. It cost $126,000 to maintain the common jails of the province during 1887. In 1886 it cost $123,000.

THE LATEST IN JEWELS.

Barbaric jewels are very much the fashion this season, the more crude the more effective.

One of the newest things is Russian jewelry, which had quite a boom in this city during the holiday season.

Necklaces of many styles are now seen in the show cases. These ornaments are no longer confined to the costly gem set affairs, but are fashionable in gold, silver and enamel.

Counted among decidedly expensive practical objects, designed for man's use, are miniature brushes with gold handles and tiny pocket combs with gold tops, with which to keep the beard in order.

Quite new and very effective is tortoise shell jewelry set with diamonds. Brooches, cuff buttons and earrings are all represented in designs that follow more or less closely the patterns seen in gold and silver jewelry.

There is little to be said that is new on the subject of finger rings. Small seal rings are much affected by men, who are also wearing two or more rings on one hand, as a gem set ring and a fancy ring in gold or gold and platinum.

REAL ESTATE BARGAINS

Retiring farmers, active men of any class, speculators or investors. I wish to call your attention to a piece of property which I have for sale on the second best street in town, over which hundreds of conveyances and thousands of people pass daily and where the property is rapidly increasing in value. I refer to that old established stand on Hunter-st. east of the New Post Office where Agricultural Implements of all kinds are sold and to which a harness shop has recently been added. I am instructed to sell this property for less than the value of the land, and the buildings on it will pay good interest on the whole purchase price.

50 acres choice land two miles from town at less than the price at which land is sold fifteen miles distant.

Also a great bargain of a choice of about 200 acres with first-class Buildings close to town.

The many friends of Mr. J. W. Flavelle will be glad to learn of his advancement in the Queen City and that the energy and ability that has always characterized Mr. Flavelle is well appreciated. A partnership has been formed under the firm name of Dunn & Flavelle, pork packers and provision merchants. The business is an old established one and for the last 12 years has been carried on by D. Dunn & Co'y, who have made an excellent name in the trade for square dealing and promptness. Mr. Flavelle's excellent business ability is is well known and his tact and geniality cannot but tend to increase the firm's business. He will still retain his connection with the Peterborough branch. Peterborough men are uniformly successful at home and invariably so when they go abroad and Mr. Flavelle's advancement is not an exception to the rule.

A meeting of the local Board of Health was called for last evening, but Messrs. Dr. Fife and R. W. Errett and Councillor Moore were the only members that turned up, so that no meeting was held. Several Councillors and the Mayor were in Ottawa and of course they could not be present.

The Condition Holds.

The Lindsay Post says:—"The advisory committee of the county council met at the court house last Friday to consider a point in connection with the Trent Valley canal grant. That grant was conditional, and as Northumberland and Hastings have not voted their shares the committee decided that in accordance with the terms of the resolution the Victoria part could not be paid over."

Preparing for the Fray.

Says the Lindsay Post:—"The Peterborough Y.M.C.A. have notified the Lindsay branch that they will send a contingent of their picked and tried debaters to Lindsay in the course of a couple of weeks to discuss the question of 'Woman Suffrage.' The communication has caused a flutter in the Y.M.C.A. debating circles, and the champions are already over-looking their armour and preparing for the fray. A large audience will no doubt be attracted by the interesting character of the subject selected. The Peterborough Y.M.C.A. male quartette club will accompany the party."

The Parcel Post.

An arrangement has been affected between the postal authorities of the United Kingdom and Canada for an extension of weight of parcels to be carried by mail in the future. The maximum heretofore has been three pounds; by the new arrangement this has been increased to four pounds. As the postage is rated so much per pound no change in the tariff will be necessary, which will be as follows: From Ontario, 35 cents per pound; Quebec and Maritime Provinces, 30 cents; Manitoba, 40 cents; British Columbia, 45 cents.

The Scott Limit Suit.

In the Court of Queens Bench, before the Hon. Mr. Justice Street on Friday, February 24th, the following decision was given in reference to an injuction applied for in the case of Thomas Henry Alexander Scott versus the Benedicts, the Rathburn Co. and others:—

"Upon motion made unto this Court, this day on behalf of the plaintiff for an order restraining the defendants, the Rathburn Co., from cutting or removing timber, trees or logs upon the timber limits in the statement of claim herein referred to (the Scott limits) until the hearing herein, upon hearing read affidavits of T. H. A. Scott, John B. McWilliams, W. R. Aylesworth, Thomas Callaghan (and others) and upon hearing what was alleged by counsel for the applicant and for the defendant Company; and the defendant Company, by their counsel voluntarily offering to keep an account in the ordinary couse of business, of the logs cut, without in any way admitting any right on the part of the plaintiff to require such account and without prejudice in any way to the rights of the defendants,

"It is ordered that the said application be and the same is hereby dismissed and that the costs thereof be reserved, to be disposed of at the trial of this action.

"On the motion of Mr. Moss, Q. C., of counsel for the defendant company."

Militia Report.

From the report of the Minister of Militia for 1887 we take the following reference to the 57th Battalion, Peterborough Rangers, made in the report of Col. Villiers, D.A.G.:—

"This Corps paraded for my inspection at Peterborough, on the 17th November, under the command of Lieut.-Col. Rogers. I cannot speak too highly of the improvement this Battalion has made in their drill since last year.

"The Corps mustered nearly its full strength, and their appearance was clean and soldierlike, and very steady while in the ranks. Their marching and wheeling would have done credit to regulars. I called out several of the Companies for drill under their officers, all of which was well done, and proved that an interest was taken in the efficiency of the Corps, both by officers and men. The physique of the men was splendid, the average age being 25 years.

"The Regimental Band is very good."

Col. Villiers also refers to the lamented death of Capt. H. B. Weller, son of His Hon. Judge Weller, as follows:—

"I much regret to report that the District has lost by death a most zealous and efficient officer in Captain Weller, 3rd Regiment of Cavalry. He was buried with military honors at Peterborough, his late Troop (No. 2) turning out to a man to do honour to their late much respected Captain; the volunteers at Peterborough also attended, all under the command of Lieut.-Colonel H. Rogers, 3rd Cavalry."

From the report of Col. Cotton, Assistant Inspector of Artillery, the following reference to the Durham Field Battery is taken:—

"Major McLean commanding. Inspected by me in Brigade Camp. Efficient and in good order.

"This Battery was unfortunate enough to lose a horse by accident during the camp.

"They made excellent time in the competition for Gzowski Cup, and lost only by the fraction of a second."

CHAMPION CURLERS

PETERBOROUGH WINS THE GOVERNOR GENERAL'S TROPHY.

Our Representatives Defeat the Truro Blue Noses to the Tune of 48 to 25—They Win on Both Rinks and are Justly Proud of Their Victory.

On Thursday night, two rinks from our curling club left for Ottawa to play a match there with the Truro, Nova Scotia, club, for the trophy offered each year by His Excellency the Governor-General. These two club stood the highest in their respective Province, and the club that wins the prize is certainly entitled to the championship of Canada.

Peterborough sent down two strong rinks, perhaps two of the strongest that the club ever sent out, and it was fully expected that they would give a good account of themselves and they did, too. They won the trophy, and to-day, eight better pleased men cannot be found in the country.

In 1887 the same two clubs were drawn, but owing to the fact that the Nova Scotians were snowed up, Lindsay and Peterborough played, the former club winning.

When our contingent arrived at the capital they found their opponents on hand and ready and anxious for the fray.

The game was played on the Vice Regal rink at Rideau Hall, and as only one rink could play at a time, one game was played in the morning and the other in the afternoon.

The ice was in splendid condition and the play all around was good. Skip Ferguson played first and he had very little difficulty in polishing off his opponents by a score of 26 to 12, a majority of 14 shots.

Lunch was next in order and the sixteen stone pushers had the pleasure of dining with His Excellency and staff. It was a purely informal affair.

After luncheon, Skip Ray started in with 14 shots to his credit. Of course the Peterborough men were jubilant, but the blue noses were not discouraged and they started in to win, but the lads from the "hub" knew too much for the men from the side of the sea, and Skip Ray had 9 shots to the good, without calling upon his partner for any of the 14 he offered to him. Peterborough thus won the match and the trophy by 23 shots.

The play throughout was good. In the morning the Peterborough men had the advantage from the start and at one time the score stood 11 to 2 in their favor. The Truros were outplayed at every point although they are really excellent curlers. In the afternoon the second rink of blue-noses started in desperately and for some time they had a strong lead, but towards the end they weakened and Peterborough had a walk over.

During the games His Excellency was present nearly all the time and evinced great interest in the match. He circulated freely among the players and chatted pleasantly with them.

The Nova Scotians are keen, enthusiastic curlers, as may be gathered from the fact that they travelled over one thousand miles to play, while Peterborough only travelled one hundred and seventy-six. They took their defeat good naturedly and handed over their badges and brooms to the victors.

The visiting curlers were most hospitably entertained and our representatives speak in high terms of praise of His Excellency and staff and in fact of every person they came in contact with.

Among those present at the match were a large number of M. P's from the maritime provinces and Messrs. Barron, M. P., Ward M. P. and Mr. T. M. D. Croly.

The defeated rinks contained four or five players over six feet tall. They are nearly all Canadians of Scotch descent.

The following was the score:—

TRURO		PETERBOROUGH
	Rink No. 1.
Geo Campbell		Adam Hall
W B Alley		R S Davidson
D H Muir		C McGill
Geo Gunn sk.,	12	W G Ferguson sk.,	26
	Rink No. 2.
D C Blair		D Belleghem
G P Nelson		Geo Walker
Jas Dover		T E Bradburn
Donald Gunn sk.,	12	Sam Ray sk.,	22
Total.....	25	Total.....	48

Peterborough thus wins by 23 shots.

AT HALIFAX.

Mr. G. D. Edwards Presented With a Gold Chain and an Address.

The Halifax Herald of Feb. 21st contains the following in reference to a gentleman well known here:—"A committee representing the business men of Halifax waited on Mr. Geo. D. Edwards, the retiring manager of the Halifax agency of the Bell telephone company, and presented him with the following address:—

"To George D. Edwards:

"DEAR SIR,—It is with great regret that the business community of Halifax, telephonically connected, learn of your intended early departure for another field of labor. During the time you have been in charge of this telephone district the courtesy, diligence and anxiety to meet public and private requirements in that line have been most marked and have evoked general appreciation. You have done much to popularize the system by making every subscriber feel you are to bring about the greatest facility and effectiveness of operation. A number of telephone subscribers request your acceptance (simply as a sight token of their regard for you both in the above capacity and personally) of the accompanying, which they trust may serve to recall pleasant recollections of your stay in the city of Halifax. I have great pleasure in being the medium for conveying to you this tribute of esteem, and friendship. (Sgd.) C. C. BLACKADAR."

"February 20th, 1888."

"Accompanying the address was a massive gold chain. In reply Mr. Edwards said the presentation was an entire surprise to him, so unexpected indeed that he could not adequately thank the gentlemen who had so kindly remembered him. Though his stay in Halifax had been short, it had been an enjoyable one. The above and the address, accompanied by a diamond scarf pin, presented him last week by the operators, are evidence that Mr. Edwards has made some warm friends during his stay amongst us."

Forestry.

By order of the Chief Ranger the members of Court Peterborough, No. 29, Canadian Order of Foresters, are requested to assemble at the court room to-morrow at 2.30 p.m. for the purpose of attending Divine service at St. Luke's Church, Ashburnham, at 3.30 p.m. Members of Court Little John are respectfully invited to attend.—A. D. RUSSELL, Rec. Sec'y.

Wrong You Are.

The Cobourg Sentinel-Star does not relish having farmers from that vicinity come to Peterborough to sell on this market. Referring to a case mentioned in the REVIEW of a gentleman who came here from within two miles of Cobourg it says:—"We have been informed who he is, and suppose he belongs to the same class as those who drive through here to attend the market at Port Hope to escape paying a little fee imposed for the privilege of doing business at our town." The Sentinel is out there, as the market fee here is higher than at Cobourg, but as our market is better sellers profit by coming long distances and paying it.

A GEORGEOUS GROCERY.

The Refitted Premises of the Metropolitan Grocery.

Mr. T. W. Robinson re-opened the Metropolitan Grocery in the old stand this morning. The stand is the same one—in the same place—but the change made in it since Mr. Robinson moved across to Water-st. has been great and the Metropolitan has now premises of unrivalled magnificence in the handsome block belonging to Mrs. R. Nicholls.

The front of the store has been entirely altered. Plate glass has been put in the windows, with side lights, and more space for show room provided. The lower half of the inside window frames slide up, and while there is more space there is also more convenience in getting into the windows. A new door, with glass panels and glass above it, has also been put in. There are also ventilators, which will prevent the glass in the windows from frosting. A handsome ornament in the form of a cornice has been added to the top of the building, and the front presents an exceedingly fine appearance.

Inside the store a new oiled hardwood floor has been laid, and new counters have been added with mahogany tops. The shelving and fittings of the store are all new, and the whole interior has a mahogany finish. The ceiling is ornamented with rich cream and gold paper and the sides with paper of bronze and gold. An office, with frosted glass windows, has been fitted up in the rear of the store, and from the office door steps lead up to the raised cash desk. From the desk three cash railway lines lead out to the different stations. The stairs have been moved to the side, and an elevator for raising goods has been has been added, which runs from the cellar to the third storey at the top of the building. The refrigerator has been placed at the side of the building in the wall. A new archway from the rear door of the store to the storehouse has been built, so that it will not be necessary to go outside to reach the storehouse.

The changes have all added to the appearance and convenience of the store, and in the fittings beauty and handiness have been kept in view. Under the counters—there are four counters, three 19½ feet long and one 24 feet—on each side there are racks for paper bags, which can be arranged for any size, and apartments for wrapping paper. There are also large rolling drawers for sugar, a very convenient arrangement.

The shelving is new and has turned spindle supports, which look neat. There are four recesses for glass cases, three on the right and one on the left. The first one on the right is used for fancy potted meats and is next to the canned meat department; the second is for delicacies, preserved fruits, etc., and the third for the invalid department, including such articles as beef tea and milk foods, while the fourth one on the left side is for sauces and all goods relating to sauces. The cases have sliding glass doors. The tea cans and bins are from the establishment of Henry Tromner, of Philadelphia. They are ornamented with Japanese figures of lacquered work in gold and silver on a rich black background, and are an array of cans and bins that are not surpassed in the Dominion. There are also twenty-four spice tins, also ornamented with gold tracings, neatly set in shelves the size of the tins. The biscuit case is a novelty. It is a rack upon which boxes of biscuits are set, covered with glass lids on hinges, and the biscuits, while protected, are in full view. Two new show cases have been added, of heavy glass with silver casings, one for fancy soaps and the other for candies. A handsome counter scale of a new design is another addition, and three silver twine holders also ornament the counters. Four beautiful chandeliers have also been added to the fittings.

Mr. A. Douglas had charge of the work and attended to the carpentering. Steam heating has been added, having been put in by Messrs. McAndrew & Noble. Mr. Lilly did the papering and painting, while Mr. D. Belleghem put in the counters and drawers and Mr. A. Clegg the biscuit case. The chandeliers were procured from Mr. J. Stevenson.

Not only are the fittings and furnishings new and handsome, but the goods are tastily arranged in such a manner as to enhance greatly the beautiful effect. In this work the good taste and judgment of the head clerk, Mr. J. T. Emmerson, is shown.

The Metropolitan Grocery has now a beautiful place of business, and one which Mr. Robinson can take pleasure in greeting his customers.

D. & D.

At the Police Court this morning William Johnston, a finisher, was charged by Officer Adams with being drunk and disorderly in a public place, on Friday afternoon. He was fined $2 and costs or four days in gaol. "How many days?" inquired the prisoner. "Four," said the P. M., "that will be long enough for you to straighten up." "Thank your honor," said the prisoner. "As soon as I get out I will leave town." He went up to the castle.

THE AGRICULTURAL SOCIETY.

The Business Transacted at the Adjourned Annual Meeting.

Owing to the fact that some of the directors of the West Riding Agricultural Society elected at the annual meeting, held on the day appointed by law, were not qualified another meeting became necessary.

It took place at the old music hall this afternoon.

There were present Messrs. Rutherford, President, J. Davidson, Garbutt, J. Moore, Baptie, Tully, W. Stothart, Forster, Daubez, McWilliams, Doharty and others.

The reading of the annual reports and minutes were dispensed with.

Messrs. J. Stevenson M. P., and John Muncey were elected Directors.

The meeting then adjourned.

Brevities.

—The Town Council will meet on Monday evening.

—Shingles are shingles these days and prices rule higher.

—A horse changed hands this morning for $5. It was not "Sleepy Dan."

—Millbrook and Port Hope curled on Thursday. The latter won by 15 shots.

—"Casey House" is the way a sale bill puts it. The bill was printed in Toronto.

—The services of the snow ploughs were required this morning to clear the sidewalks.

—Inspector Pope is getting ready to resume operations on the streets. He anticipates a busy season.

—Skip Fegruson got left at Ottawa. The other curlers reached home at 5 o'clock this morning, tired, but satisfied.

—There are ten members of the Board of Health. The law only allows nine, eight ratepayers and the mayor.

—The market this morning was the smallest that Clerk Doherty ever had on a Saturday. The bad roads accounted for it.

—The name printed as Miss Hamilton in the report of the Masonic Conversazione should have been Mrs. R. A. Hamilton.

—The four clarionets required by the band will cost about $150. There should be no difficulty in raising that amount.

—Although the band did not play at the rink last night, as is usual on Friday evening, there was a large crowd present.

—The Blythe mills grocery has changed hands, the new proprietor being Mr. And. Allison. Customers will note the change.

—The Rev. D. F. Gee, of Millbrook, has received and accepted an invitation to the pastorate of the West Trenton Methodist Church.

—The Grand Trunk Railway Company, it is said, will run a passenger and freight steamer between Midland and Duluth next summer.

—Police officer Mortom and Private Burnham, of Belleville, who were in the Northwest in 1885, have patented an accroutrement supporter for military tents.

—The members of Court Peterborough, C. O. F. will meet at their hall to-morrow afternoon and attend service at St. Luke's Church, Ashburnham. Court Little John members are invited to attend.

Insurance Catechism.

Why should I insure my life?

Many men insure their property but neglect to insure their lives. The property insured may never burn, but death is sure to occur. To a family a man's life is its property. It represents food, shelter, clothing, education for the children, and all the necessaries and comforts of life. A small investment in life insurance makes it possible for every man to leave his family above want. This certain provision cannot be obtained in any other institution. No man who is physically able to obtain the indemnity which life insurance gives is free from reproach if he neglects the important duty.

With whom should I insure?

Answer—With E. E. HENDERSON, General Agent, Peterborough.

Why?—Because you will be insured in a thoroughly reliable, safe and honorable Company, at lowest rates.

The First Symptoms

Of all Lung diseases are much the same: feverishness, loss of appetite, sore throat, pains in the chest and back, headache, etc. In a few days you may be well, or, on the other hand, you may be down with Pneumonia or "galloping Consumption." Run no risks, but begin immediately to take Ayer's Cherry Pectoral.

Several years ago, James Birchard, of Darien, Conn., was severely ill. The doctors said he was in Consumption, and that they could do nothing for him, but advised him, as a last resort, to try Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. After taking this medicine, two or three months, he was pronounced a well man. His health remains good to the present day.

J. S. Bradley, Malden, Mass., writes: "Three winters ago I took a severe cold, which rapidly developed into Bronchitis and Consumption. I was so weak that I could not sit up, was much emaciated, and coughed incessantly. I consulted several doctors, but they were powerless, and all agreed that I was in Consumption. At last, a friend brought me a bottle of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. From the first dose, I found relief. Two bottles cured me, and my health has since been perfect."

THE TORONTO BOARD OF TRADE.

They Will Aid Manitoba in the Matter of Railway Accommodation.

TORONTO, Feb. 25.

An important meeting was that of the Board of Trade yesterday afternoon, when, after nearly two hours' discussion they placed themselves on record regarding the request of the Winnipeg Board for aid in securing accommodation for the carrying of grain eastwards.

The Board unanimously adopted the following resolution:

That this Board will co-operate with the Winnipeg Board of Trade in pressing upon the Government the necessity of speedily appointing a court of railway commissioners, with power to determining controversies between the public and the railway companies, to adjudicate on the fairness of freight rates, to prevent unjust discrimination, and to grant charters to railway companies, with other powers that may be thought necessary, believing this to be the only means of satisfactorily settling all differences that may arise between the public and the railway corporations.

The Board adopted the resolutions of the wholesale dry goods section regarding abeconders and insolvents, published a few days ago.

This resolution affecting rebate on canal tolls was adopted on motion of Capt. J. R. Hall and Mr. A. M. Smith:

That this Board is of the opinion that the rebate of canal tolls paid on grain passing through to Montreal, either in Canadian or American bottoms, from the great lakes during the past two seasons of navigation was a beneficial one in the interests of the commerce of the Dominion, and would hereby ask the Government for its continuance till such time as the St. Lawrence route is made available for vessels drawing fourteen feet of water; and that a deputation to be named by the President be appointed to urge upon the Government at Ottawa the prayer of this Board in confunction with the deputation from the Boards of Trade from Hamilton, Montreal, Winnipeg, and other points, and the deputation appointed by the Canadian Marine Association; and that the Secretary is hereby instructed to arrange for a joint meeting at Ottawa at as early a date as possible.

The Board adjourned after electing Mr. L. A. Tilley as a member of the Board of Arbitration, vice Mr. E. Gurney, resigned.

THE WRIT FOR RUSSELL.

Not Likely to be Issued Immediately—Postoffice Savings Bank Balances.

OTTAWA, Feb. 24.—The writ for an election in Russell will not be issued, so it is said, until the Conservatives of those parts have decided upon their man, and that may take a few days, or even a few weeks.

The nominations in West Middlesex and Prince Edward are on March 3 and the election on March 10.

The balance at the credit of depositors in the Post Office Savings Bank on Jan. 3 was $19,954,695; deposits during that month $738,779, withdrawals $691,686.

The Keystone Fire Insurance Company of St. John, N.B., are applying for a charter to transact fire insurance business in Canada.

A despatch will be published in The Canada Gazette to-morrow covering the Imperial Superannuated Civil Servants Act. Although an Imperial act it refers to persons taking service in the colonies.

A supplement to The Canada Gazette contains an amended set of regulations governing the sale of timber on Indian lands in the Provinces of Ontario and Quebec, approved of by order-in-council.

The Dominion Alliance.

OTTAWA, Feb. 24.—The Dominion Alliance meets here on March 6 and 7. In speaking about the action the alliance is likely to take with regard to the liquor legislation, Rev. John Wood, secretary, said to-day that as yet it was impossible to define the policy the alliance would pursue, but the Legislative Committee, which is made up of members of Parliament, will look after all matters pertaining to the liquor traffic.

A Terrible Fall.

MONTREAL, Feb. 24.—Yesterday a man named Theodore Richard was crossing the Canadian Pacific Railway bridge at Hochelaga when he tripped on a beam and fell through on to the track, a distance of thirty feet. The unfortunate man was removed to his home where, on medical attendance being obtained, it was found that he had fractured one of his legs, besides sustaining serious injuries to his head.

MONA SCULLY;

—OR—

The Bride of an Englishman.

A STORY OF THESE TIMES.

As Nature, sooner or later, must assert itself; and after a day or two a ringing laugh breaks from her, or a merry jest, that does Geoffrey's heart good, and brings an answering laugh and jest to the lips of her new brothers.

Of Violet Mansergh—who is still at the Towers, her father being abroad and Lady Rodney being very desirous of having her with her—she knows little. Violet is cold, but quite civil, as Englishwomen will be until they know you. She is, besides, somewhat prejudiced against Mona, because—being honest herself—she has believed all the false tales told her of the Irish girl.

Of Lady Rodney's studied dislike Mona's sensitive nature could not long remain in ignorance; yet, having a clear conscience, and not knowing in what she has offended,—save in cleaving to the man she loved, even to the extent of marrying him,—she keeps a calm countenance, and bravely waits what time may bring.

One day, speaking of Sir Nicholas to Lady Rodney, she had—as was most natural—called him "Nicholas." But she had been cast back upon herself and humiliated to the earth by his mother's look of cold disapproval and the emphasis she had laid upon the "Sir" Nicholas when next speaking of him.

This had widened the breach more than all the rest, though Nicholas himself, being quite fascinated by her, tries earnestly to make her happy and at home with him.

About a week after her arrival—she having expressed her admiration of ferns the night before—he draws her hand through his arm and takes her to his own private sanctum,—off which a fernery has been thrown, he being an enthusiastic grower of that lovely weed.

Mona is enchanted with the many varieties she sees that are unknown to her, and, being very much not of the world, is not ashamed to express her delight. Looking carefully through all she yet notices that a tiny one, dear to her, because common to her sweet Killarney, is not among his collection.

She tells him of it, and he is deeply interested; and when she proposes to write and get him one from her native soil, he is as glad as a school-boy promised a new bat, and her conquest of Sir Nicholas is complete.

And indeed the thought of this distant fern is as dear to Mona as to him. For to her comes a rush of tender joy, as she tells herself she may soon be growing in this alien earth a green plant torn from her fatherland.

"But I hope you will not be disappointed when you see it," she says, gently. "You have the real Killarney fern, Sir Nicholas, I can see; the other I speak of, though to me almost as lovely, is not a bit like it."

She is very careful to give him his title ever since that encounter with his mother.

"I shall not be disappointed. I have read all about it," returns he, enthusiastically. Then, as though the thought has just struck him, he says,—

"Why don't you call me Nicholas, as Geoffrey does?"

Mona hesitates, then says, shyly, with downcast eyes.—

"Perhaps Lady Rodney would not like it."

Her face betrays more than she knows.

"It doesn't matter in the least what any one thinks on this subject," says Nicholas, with a slight frown. "I shall esteem it a very great honor if you will call me by my Christian name. And, besides, Mona, I want you to try to care for me,—to love me, as I am your brother."

The ready tears spring into Mona's eyes. She is more deeply, passionately grateful to him for this small speech than he will ever know.

"Now that is very kind of you," she says, lifting her eyes, humid with tears, to his. "And I think it will take only a very little time to love you!"

After this, she and Sir Nicholas are even better friends than they have been before,—a silent bond of sympathy seeming to exist between them.

Of course everybody that is anybody has called on the new Mrs. Rodney.—The Duchess of Lauderdale, who is an old friend of Lady Rodney's, and who is spending the winter at her country house to please her son the young duke, who is entertaining a houseful of friends, is almost the first to come.—And Lady Lilias Eaton, the serious and earnest-minded young æsthetic,—than whom nothing can be more artistically correct according to her own school,—is perhaps the second, but to both, unfortunately, Mona is "not at home."

And very honestly, too, because at the time of their visits, when Lady Rodney was entertaining them in the big drawing-room and uttering platitudes and pretty lies by the score, she was deep in the recesses of the bare brown wood, roaming hither and thither in search of such few flowers as braved the wintry blasts.

For all this Lady Rodney is devoutly thankful. She is glad of the girl's absence. She has no desire to exhibit her, prejudice making Mona's few small defects look monstrous in her eyes. Yet these same defects might perhaps be counted on the fingers of one hand.

And by degrees, beneath her influence, Mona grows pale and distrait, and in many respects unlike her old joyous self. Each cold reproving glance and sneering word—however carefully concealed—falls like a touch of ice upon her heart, chilling and withering her glad youth. Up to this she has led a bird's life, gay, insouciant, free, and careless. Now her song seems checked, her sweetest notes are dying fast away through lack of sympathy. She is "cribbed, cabined, and confined," through no fault of her own, and grows listless and dispirited in her captivity.

And Geoffrey, who is blind to nothing that concerns her, notices all this, and secretly determines on taking her away from all this foolish persecution, to London or else where, until such time as their own home will be ready to receive them.

But at this break in my history, almost as he forms this resolution, an event occurs that brings friends to Mona, and changes in toto the aspect of affairs.

NEIL'S LAST DAY ON EARTH.

Making Preparations at the Jail for To-Morrow's Execution.

TORONTO, Feb. 27.

Condemned Murderer Robert Neil continues to sleep, eat and talk with the utmost unconcern, notwithstanding the fact that to-morrow's sun will be the last he will see on earth. He claims to be prepared to die, but still seems to hope that something will turn up to prevent his taking off. His old viciousness has left him, and, although apparently not yet grasping the awfulness of his impending doom, he shows a tractableness of spirit entirely foreign to his former nature.

Neil after his condemnation let out hints to the men guarding him of certain knowledge that he possessed affecting several people in the city. There conversations were reported to Governor Green, and when asked by him to tell what he knew Neil flatly denied ever having mentioned to anyone anything of the character claimed. It is an undoubted fact, however, that Neil has important knowledge which would materially aid the ends of justice, but up to date he keeps his mouth closed. Governor Green made an attempt yesterday to get him to divulge but it was unsuccessful, and now, so thinks the Governor, Neil will carry what he knows to the grave. Meagre as the few facts are that he has let drop, they will be the subject of investigation after the law has dealt with him. The condemned man expresses a lively interest in the fate of his fellow-in-misfortune Gamble, and eagerly asks every day whether he has had a reprieve or not. This, evidently, is the last straw on which his hopes rest, thinking if the law spares Gamble it is just possible it will spare him, too.

Active preparations for the execution will be commenced to-day. The executioner will not be a prisoner, but further than this the Governor would not say anything concerning him. He will be thoroughly drilled in his part. The scaffold itself is an improvement on the old drop plan. The execution will take place on the level of the jail yard, the condemned man standing between two stout oaken beams. Above him will be the cross-beam, also made of stout oak. A weight, tipping the scale at 300 lbs., is attached to the rope running in a groove in the cross-beam. When the noose is placed on the neck of the condemned, and the signal is given, the executioner cuts a smaller rope which checks the weight. When the smaller rope is parted the weight is displaced, and runs down the upright jerking the man up fully four feet, the rebound leaving the body swinging within perhaps 10 inches of the earth. This is looked upon as a more merciful method of execution than the drop, being almost certain to cause instantaneous dislocation of the vertebræ.

The fatal act will take place at 9 o'clock to-morrow morning. Only those holding tickets issued by Sheriff Mowat will be admitted. Prayers were offered up in several churches yesterday for Neil. Several gentlemen interested in his spiritual welfare visited him.

MANHOOD SUFFRAGE.

Drafting of a Franchise Measure by Premier Mowat.

TORONTO, Feb. 27.

An order will soon be given by the Mowat Government to the effect that every man, mentally eligible, within the fair Province of Ontario, shall have the right to pronounce his opinion of provincial politics at the ballot box. The little enfranchising instrument was revised on Saturday, and is by this time finally framed. Mr. Mowat himself drew up the bill.

The exact provisions of the bill are not known to anyone but the Attorney-General, and he will keep his secret wondrously dark till he moves a first reading, which event will probably be to-morrow.

"I don't know precisely what the provisions of the bill are," said Mr. Ross, on being asked his opinion of the reason, "but it will be as full and broad as conditions will admit. We shall debar those who are wrong in the upper story from the use of the franchise, but the other restrictions will be slight."

Hon. A. S. Hardy said, in reference to the bill: "The restriction will be light. There will be provisions to exclude lunatics, criminals and so forth, and there will also be some residential limitations. I have not seen the bill, but these, I think, will be the only restrictions."

The Abyssinians' Advance.

ROME, Feb. 26.—Gen. San Marzano, commanding the Italian army in Abyssinia, telegraphs that King John and his army arrived at Godofilassi on Feb. 22. They are now encamped at Masigar and have stored provisions at Debaros. It is reported that Ras Alula will meet King John and that he will advise the latter to march in the direction of Gonas, owing to the scarcity of provisions in the Province of Hamaren.

BUFFALO, Feb. 26.—Great excitement was caused on Washington-street yesterday morning by a series of explosions in the unfinished conduits of the Bell Telephone Company, caused by an accumulation of gas. Five manholes blew out almost simultaneously, with loud reports, and pieces of iron covers were hurled high in the air. Two workmen named Fred Zott and William Vood were terribly burned about the face and hands. The excitement soon subsided.

THE CHANCELLOR'S GUILE.

BISMARCK'S HIDDEN PITFALL FOR RUSSIAN DIPLOMACY.

It is Said that a Protracted Comedy of Negotiations Will Now Precede the Tragedy of War—The Russo-French Alliance—The Massing of Troops.

BERLIN, Feb. 26.—Prince Bismarck's formal invitation to the Czar to demand the restitution of Russian preponderance in Bulgaria concealed beneath its apparent frankness a pitfall for Russian diplomacy. If the Czar had interpreted the invitation to mean that Russia was free to restore her status in Bulgaria by force, a crisis would have been precipated and Russia would have been drawn into the fighting allies' trap. This has been avoided and a protracted comedy of negotiations will now precede the tragedy of war.

The Porte may condescend to the mockery of denouncing Prince Ferdinand, if the Powers decide to declare that the order of things in Bulgaria is not quite in accordance with the Berlin treaty, but it will not amount to anything. Prince Ferdinand will not succumb till he is ousted by force. The central Powers will accept no Russian candidate nor any settlement the Czar can propose. Meanwhile Russia has taken advantage of the delay to complete the negotiations for a French alliance, to extend the mobilization of her forces, which is now practically progressing, and to make other preparations.

Regarding the Russo-French alliance it is reported that the treaty advances to a conciliation. M. Floquet has written a letter to a high St. Petersburg official affirming the desire of the Republican majority to obtain a perfect entente cordiale with Russia. The letter was shown to the Czar, and elicited instructions to Baron von Mohrenheim, the Russian Ambassador at Paris, to negotiate a treaty if M. Floquet's representations were accurate.

The war offices at Berlin and Vienna find great obstacles in the way of obtaining accurate information regarding the displacements of the Russian troops. The bulk of reliable advices show unabated internal activity in Russia directed to the massing of a second line of troops behind the frontier army.

A despatch to The National Zeitung from Sofia says if the Powers declare that Ferdinand's rule is illegal and demand that he shall abdicate the Prince will relinquish his power but will remain in Bulgaria to await the result of an election, expecting to be returned to the throne.

The depreciation in Russian paper roubles is absorbing the interest in financial circles. They closed to-day at 168. Many private families whose whole fortunes are invested in Russian securities are in a state of great anxiety. At the end of the Turco-Russian war rouble notes were quoted at 180, then thought to be an extremely low figure. In October last when the Boerse was panicky owing to the Czar's abandoning his visit the quotations stood at 180.25. Bankers state that the decline is due to the growth of distrust in the Russian financial position, combined with constant sale of notes under orders from St. Petersburg.

Gen. von Werder will return from St. Petersburg on March 20. It is denied that he took an autograph letter from the Emperor to the Czar.

The Emperor will be present at the coming manœuvres in the Province of Brandenburg. The plans include operations around the fortress of Graudenz, including the building of pontoon bridges across the Vistula, which the War Office states will have no hostile meaning.

A Note to the Porte.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Feb. 26.—M. Nelidoff, the Russian Ambassador, handed to the Porte yesterday a note on the illegal position of Prince Ferdinand of Bulgaria. The Count of Montebello and Herr von Radowitz, the French and German Ambassadors, also visited the Porte. It is supposed the object of their visit was to support M. Nelidoff.

Bond Swindlers Held For Trial.

LONDON, Feb. 26.—The five men who were recently arrested on the charge of attempting to obtain £30,000 from the Bank of England on forged or stolen bonds of the Hamilton and Northwestern Railroad, were committed for trial in the Marylebone Police Court yesterday.

Montreal's Usual Sunday Fire.

MONTREAL, Feb. 26.—A fire in James Shearer's lumber yard and factory this morning did $14,000 damage, covered by insurance.

THERE WILL BE A STRIKE.

What Chief Arthur Says About the C.B. & Q. Trouble—The Reading Engineers.

CHICAGO, Feb. 26.—"Now I will be plain with you," said Chief Arthur of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers to a reporter yesterday. "There will be a strike. Nothing can avoid it except the yielding of the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy authorities, and that we do not for a moment expect. They have taken one stand; we have taken another, and the strike must come."

"When will the men quit work?"

"On Monday morning, and early Monday morning at that. I cannot say the hour, but no trains will go out Monday in charge of brotherhood men."

Between 11 and 12 o'clock this morning Chairman Hage of the Grievance Committee of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers on the Burlington system, and Chairman Murphy of the Grievance Committee of the firemen called on General Manager Stone of the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy at the company's office and gave him verbal notice that unless their demands were acquiesced in the men would strike at 4 o'clock to-morrow morning.

Ready to Take the Strikers' Places.

READING, Pa., Feb. 26.—The impending strike of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers on the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy Road is an event of considerable interest to the 200 engineers on the 200 engines on the Reading Railroad who lost their positions during the recent trainmen's troubles. These engineers were Knights of Labor and most of their positions were obtained by Brotherhood men, whom they supplanted ten years before. They now propose to retaliate, and a movement to this effect was started to-day along the line of the Reading Road wherever these Knights of Labor engineers are now located. In case of a strike on the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy Road they propose offering themselves for the places of the striking Brotherhood men. A delegation will probably leave for Chicago early next week, with more to follow.

THEIR LAST RECEPTION.

Lord Lansdowne and the Marchioness' Final Public Drawing Room at Ottawa.

OTTAWA, Feb. 25.—The drawing room given in the Senate Chamber this evening by Their Excellencies was probably the largest held during the present regime. The weather was very disagreeable, but about four hundred persons were presented to Lord Lansdowne and the Marchioness. The Senators and their lady friends were presented first, then the members and the invited guests. The scene was a gay one, the dresses of the ladies being rich and elaborate. This being the last public drawing room that Their Excellencies will hold, additional interest was lent to the affair. The reception lasted from 8.30 till 10 o'clock and the Foot Guards' band furnished the music.

Sir John and Lady Macdonald and Lady Florence Streatfield were the prominent figures in attendance. The Cabinet was represented by Sir Hector Langevin, Sir Adolphe Coron, Hon. Thos. White, Hon. John Costigan, Hon. Mackenzie Bowell and Hon. A. W. McLelan, all of whom wore the Windsor uniform. Sir David Macpherson and Hon. R. S. Scott also wore the Windsor. Mr. and Mrs. Cockburn, and Mr. and Mrs. Col. Fred Denison were present, the Colonel in his uniform.

BIG BLAZE AT BUFFALO.

An Early Sunday Fire in the Empire City—The Loss Estimated at $370,500.

BUFFALO, Feb. 26.—At 2.45 this morning a compositor on The Buffalo Express looked out of the composing room and discovered flames bursting from the second story of the building opposite on Exchange-street, occupied by Mr. J. E. Curtiss, manufacturer of gloves and mittens; Wm. H. Barnett, ticket agent, and Bickford & Frances, leather manufacturers. The flames climbed upward through the building with amazing rapidity, burst from the roof and reached across Exchange-street for The Express building. Adjoining the Curtiss building to the west was an old story-and-a-half cottage occupied on the ground floor by Julius R. Fleischman, ticket broker, and upstairs by the family of Henry Brown, including six children. They had a narrow escape. The cottage was destroyed. The five-story brick building of C. Gilbert, next adjoining was damaged by fire and water. To the east the Vanderbilt building, a four-story brick, caught fire and was soon reduced to ashes. The fire caught in the cornices of The Express Block, and in the adjoining building to the east, the Williams Block, and the windows burst with the heat. The firemen succeeded in saving the buildings on the north side, but in a somewhat demoralized condition. The ground floor of the eastern or new part of the Washington Block, which was the only part seriously damaged, was occupied by the Empire Fast Freight Line, the office of the Buffalo Upholstering Company, and the paper warerooms of Richard H. Thompson, the Queen City Shirt Manufacturing Company, and the job composing room of Matthews, Northrup & Co. Here the danger was over by 3.30, though all the departments were considerably damaged.

The total loss is placed at $370,500, divided as follows: Bickford & Frances, building and stock, $100,000, insurance $60,000; J. E. Curtiss, stock, $20,000; Geo. L. Williams, building and stock, $90,000, insurance $42,500; Einsfield & Emig, stock, $30,000, insurance $20,000; Queen City Shirt Company, stock, $70,000, insurance $61,500; Robt. H. Thompson, stock, $30,000, insurance $29,500; New York Central Railroad, $20,000 on building; J. H. Baum, $5000, insurance $1500; Gilbert Starch Works, $500, insured; Matthews, Northrup & Co., $5000, insured.

The Sugar Combine.

MONTREAL, Feb. 26.—Before the Labor Commission yesterday J. A. Mathewson, wholesale grocer, who is fighting the sugar combine single-handed here, said the combine was a conspiracy and outrage upon the personal and civil rights of the citizens. The price of granulated sugar, he said, was much higher than the increase in raw material warranted.

Municipal Election at Oshawa.

OSHAWA, Feb. 26.—In the municipal bye election held here yesterday Walter Coulthard was elected second deputy-reeve by 59 majority over Alex. Mackie, and C. W. Scott was elected councillor by 23 majority over George Hodder.

Incendiary Fire at Ingersoll.

INGERSOLL, Feb. 26.—A fire occurred at 7.30 to-night in a frame barn owned by Mr. Thos. Seldon in which two valuable horses were burned as well as carriages, cutters, etc. Loss about $1000, insurance on building light. During the fire Mr. Short, a neighbor, had $110 stolen from his house and it is strongly suspected that the fire was originated for the purpose of getting Mr. Short's attention while the theft was perpetrated.

Furnaces to Shut Down.

PITTSBURG, Feb. 26.—It is probable that all the furnaces at the Edgar Thomson steel works will be shut down next Tuesday on account of the failure to settle the wages differences.

DESPONDENCY IN BERLIN.

THE CRITICAL STATE OF THE GERMAN CROWN PRINCE.

It is Said that Medical Experts Concur in the Belief that a Fatal Termination is Inevitable Within Three Months, and Probably Much Sooner.

BERLIN, Jan. 25.—Advices from San Remo state that the Crown Prince reappeared at the window of his villa to-day, but did not venture out on the balcony on account of the cold weather. An official bulletin says that last night he had a refreshing sleep of several hours, but that in consequence of the continuance of his cough he is troubled with an abundance of mucus.

Prof. Kussmaul of Strasburg was telegraphed for on the suggestion of Drs. Bergmann and Krause. Prof. Kussmaul, who is recognized as an expert in lung diseases, arrived to-night and immediately saw the Crown Prince, but nothing of an official character was made known. Private advices, however, state that the Prince's bronchial irritation appears to be complicated with a lung disorder, partly arising from pus secretions on the bronchia which have affected the lungs.

Official opinion in Berlin has become utterly despairing. No weight attaches to the bulletins issued by the doctors in face of the known facts. Advices received at the Palace do not conceal the critical state of the Crown Prince. Berlin medical experts concur in the belief that a fatal termination is inevitable within three months and probably much sooner.

The feeling in Germany is growing strong that Prince William ought to display greater interest in his father's state. The court circle knows that the Prince's anxiety and sympathy are intense, but that he has been prevented from going to San Remo by state exigencies.

Allusions to the regency continue to appear, but the papers have not the smallest basis for their statements in anything that has occurred officially. A doubt has arisen as to what would happen if the Crown Prince should continue ill and incapable of discharging the functions of Emperor when the throne became vacant and refused to consent to a regency. The dilemma would undoubtedly be attended with serious official troubles but would end in the Landtag supporting Prince Bismarck's initiative in confirming Prince William as regent.

The Emperor keeps in vigorous health. During the week he has several times while saluting the crowd from his window in the palace been accompanied by the Crown Prince's three sons. Once, the whole family, the Princess William and the aged Empress were seen grouped around the Emperor. This made the spectators wild with enthusiasm.

The Midnight Reports.

SAN REMO, Feb. 25.—Midnight.—The Crown Prince passed a very good day. It is stated that Dr. Mackenzie saw no reason to consult with Dr. Kussmaul, but raised no objection to the latter being summoned.

An Alarming Indication.

LONDON, Feb. 26.—A despatch from San Remo says that the German physicians in attendance on the Crown Prince have discovered with the miscroope cancerous matter in the phelgm couched up by the patient.

Sunday's Official Bulletin.

BERLIN, Feb. 26.—The official bulletin from San Remo to-day says that the Crown Prince slept well last night, that his cough and expectoration are less, and that an examination of his chest disclosed no traces of affection of the lungs. The bulletin bears the additional signature of Dr. Kussmaul. Other telegrams say that Dr. Kussmaul considers the patient's condition capital, and that all the German doctors believe that the Prince has cancer of the throat. Dr. Bergmann will leave San Remo to-day or to-morrow.

A Fool and a Knave.

PIERRE, Dak., Feb. 26.—This town has a social sensation growing out of the approaching marriage of Belle Cora Fellows, who recently came to the Cheyenne agency from Washington where she is highly connected, the bridegroom elect being Chaska, a worthless full blood Sioux who has spent much time in the guard house for stealing. Miss Fellows makes no secret of her intention and the day is set for March 16.

Six Thousand Deaths From Smallpox.

NEW YORK, Feb. 26.—A letter dated Havana, Feb. 16, says that between May last and January, 1888, 2000 persons died of smallpox in Havana, and that 4000 persons died in other parts of the island. In Santiago de Cuba there were over 1000 deaths. The authorities are doing nothing.

Tornado in Indiana.

EVANSVILLE, Ind., Feb. 26.—A tornado which passed over Vanderburg and adjoining counties late yesterday afternoon did great damage in the country.

Collieries Flooded.

MOUNT CARMEL, Pa., Feb. 25.—Last night's rain drowned out several collieries in this district, entailing heavy losses.

OPENED FOR BUSINESS.

Postmaster Rogers Greets His Customers at the New Stand.

"It is not necessary for me to advertise my business. My old customers have all found me out already," remarked Postmaster Rogers this morning as he sat down in his luxurious quarters at the new post office.

He was right, too. The people did find him out and that in quick order. Many called at the old place, but finding the doors locked they suddenly turned around and started for the new and handsome structure at Hunter and Water-sts. There they found everything prepared for their reception and nothing but words of praise were heard.

The Postmaster and his assistants were smiling and prepared to do business with promptness and despatch, and during the greater portion of the day they were all kept busy.

The Postmaster himself stood at the registered letter department and box holders in the old building and those desirous of engaging boxes in the new premises were obliged to call on him. When a gentleman who held a box at the old place appeared at the wicket the Colonel inquired, "Where are your keys?" Each had been supplied with three and for any lacking the demand was for 25 cents for each missing opener. Next came a demand for $2 for the new box and upon that sum being paid two keys were handed over, the third being retained as a pattern.

The stamp counter is a great convenience and Miss Mowry, who presides, is prepared to supply all comers with pictures of the Queen in different colors.

Assistant Post Office Inspector Jones, of Kingston, was on hand this morning and he says that our office is one of the best arranged for convenience in the Dominion. He is much pleased with everything and when the bag-racks are placed in position, the facilities for handling mail matter will be unsurpassed.

The old time crush in front of the general delivery was noticeable this morning and the glass fronts stood a great risk of being smashed. Architect Belcher was on the outlook, however, and he has taken steps to have a polished brass railing placed around the front so as to keep back the crowd.

It is a good rule to accept only such medicines as are known to be worthy of confidence. It has been the experience of thousands that Ayer's Cherry Pectoral is the best medicine ever used for throat and lung diseases.

OMEMEE.

ACCIDENT.—While driving to Omemee on Wednesday last we are sorry to report that Mr. Thos. Cullen, of Fenelon Falls, had the misfortune to have one of his shoulders dislocated by the sleigh upsetting. On arriving in the village medical aid was at once procured and the injury attended to. Mr. Cullen will no doubt be laid up for some weeks.

OBITUARY.—It is with regret we chronicle the death of Mr. John Guthrie, which sad event took place at his residence in the township of Emily on Saturday last. Deceased has been a resident of Emily for fifty-seven years where he was respected by all who were acquainted with him. He was father of thirteen children, ten of whom are still alive, five sons and five daughters. The bereaved family have the sympathy of all their neighbors in all their affliction.—Herald.

When Baby was sick, we gave her Castoria,
When she was a Child, she cried for Castoria,
When she became Miss, she clung to Castoria,
When she had Children, she gave them Castoria,

MISCELLANEOUS.

Bankers are generally people of note.

The greatest draw back to tobogganing is the draw back.

Carpenters should always be given to speaking the plane truth.

Browning is said to be the favorite English author of Germany's Crown Prince.

The family that is without a musical prodigy in these days does not amount to much.

When a woman loses anything she cries. Even is this so when it is her temper which she has lost.

George Gould is said to give $500 a year to a Catholic priest whose salary is too small to keep him comfortably.

Right now is the time to use a good Blood Purifying Medicine. Lose no time in getting a bottle of Dr. Carson's Stomach Bitters. It will do you good. Sold by all druggists' 50 cents.

The woman who put her head in the lion's mouth may never recover. This is a warning to venturesome girls during leap year.

Advice to Mothers.

Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup should always be used when children are cutting teeth It relieves the little suffer at once; it produces natural quiet sleep by relieving the child from pain, and the little cherub awakes as bright as a button." It is very pleasant to taste. It soothes the child, softens the gums, allays all pain; relieves wind, regulates the bowels, and is the best known remedy for diarrhœa whether arising from teething or other causes 25 cents a bottle. Be sure and ask for "Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup," and take no other kind.

SIR JOHN'S CONVERSION.

HOW THE PREMIER AND LADY MACDONALD SOUGHT RELIGION.

A Great Revival Fervor Engrossing the Dominion Capital—What Is Said About the First Minister's Change of Heart—A Large Number of Conversions.

OTTAWA, Feb. 25.—Almost the sole topic at the Capital during the past few days has been what people are pleased to call Sir John Macdonald's conversion to religion or a change of heart. Even the Fisheries Treaty has been relegated to a back seat, and the First Minister's devotion to the great revival services now going on at the handsome and commodious Dominion Methodist Church have been the talk of the fireside, the hotel and club dinner tables and the lobbies of the Parliament Buildings.

Many of the Premier's political opponents look upon the matter, although of the most sacred nature, as a good joke, and some of them are wont to speak lightly of it. Sir John and Lady Macdonald are members of St. Alban's Episcopal Church, in Daly-street, of which Rev. J. J. Bogert is rector, but since Rev. Messrs. W. H. Crossley and J. E. Hunter opened their revival services here on Jan. 8 last, they have attended on an average three nights per week. The only exception to this attendance was the week that the Prime Minister was absent in Quebec a guest at the banquet to Sir Adolphe Caron, Minister of Militia. Apart from any connection Sir John and Lady Macdonald may have had with these revivals, they have created a very considerable interest in the city.

It may be truly said that the Capital is experiencing a general religious fervor hitherto unknown within its ample limits. Since the opening of Parliament last Thursday the members and senators and their wives and daughters, who are here with them, have freely joined in the fervor. Hon. S. H. Blake of Toronto, who has been engaged all week in arguing the case of Mr. Pat Purcell before the Supreme Court, was so anxious to secure a seat at the church the other evening that he sent around and had one reserved, but his subsequent engagements precluded attendance.

While Sir Richard Cartwright was debating the address in the House last evening, he referred to Sir John as a "changed man." This gave rise to considerable adverse criticism outside the halls of Parliament, some saying that it was bad taste on the part of the Kingston knight, who, by the way, is a constituent of Sir John, to make thus lightly of religion. Sir Richard used these words:

Now, I have heard that the hon. gentleman is a changed man. I sincerely trust that is so, and I sincerely trust that in regard to these several measures for the improvement of our Election Act, and for the improvement of the trial of controverted elections and other things which are promised us here, we are going at length and at last to have some substantial tokens of the right hon. gentleman's penitence.

At the revival services last evening, this letter was read from Mr. William Gooderham of Toronto:

Please ask the prayers of God's people in behalf of poor Neil sentenced to be executed Tuesday morning. He was thrown upon the world an orphan when only 5 years of age and is now only 18; he seems truly penitent. God bless you. WILLIAM GOODERHAM.

CAPITAL CHIT-CHAT.

The Arguments in the Glengarry Election Case Closed—Gossip of the Lobbies.

OTTAWA, Feb. 25.—The arguments in the Purcell case were concluded this afternoon in the Supreme Court, and judgment was reserved. Mr. Blake and Mr. Cassels left for Toronto this evening. It is said judgment will not be handed down for some time.

Hon. John Macdonald left for Toronto tonight. It is understood that when the Senate adopts the address on Monday it will adjourn for two weeks.

Hon. Alex. Mackenzie is expected to be in his place in the House on Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. Small are guests at the Russell House. Mr. and Mrs. Cockburn have engaged a house for the session.

The Opposition will probably hold its first caucus on Tuesday next.

Senator Gowan will move on Monday for a select committee to frame new rules, orders and forms to be used in divorce proceedings and to regulate the application for the same.

His Worship Mayor McLeod Stewart is the chairman of the committee which will give a farewell demonstration to His Excellency the Governor-General. Mr. Stewart said to The World this evening that the Governor would prefer a banquet to any other demonstration. It is intended to make the affair strictly national in its scope. The mayors of all the cities and important towns of the Dominion, also the governors of provinces, will be invited. An effort will be made to obtain the use of the Senate Chamber for the banquet, the date of which will be announced just as soon as His Excellency informs Mayor Stewart when he will leave for India. It is understood that His Excellency's departure will not be later than March.

Madame Ouimet will hold receptions in the Speaker's apartments every Thursday afternoon. The Speaker will entertain the Catholic members of the House on Saturdays and Sundays.

Until after Lent the Capital will be quiet socially. Small dinners are about the extent of the present revelries.

Hon. Frank Smith has still to walk with a cane, but his recent mishap is rapidly disappearing.

It is stated to-night that His Excellency is desirous of closing the present session of Parliament ere his departure for India, if the sitting does not extend beyond two and a half or three months.

There does not seem to be much truth in the rumors that the Liberals are in any way decided about their leadership. Mr. Laurier will general the party until Mr. Blake returns. Mr. Blake will, I am informed, be in his place at the next meeting of Parliament. Letters have been received by his friends here that his health is greatly improved.

Jack Wannop, the heavy weight wrestler and boxer, leaves England early next month for the United States, where he will wrestle Evan Lewis, of Chicago. Wannop says he will fight or wrestle any man in America, and he can be accommodated if he has any money.

The light weight champions of America are thicker than hollyberries before a cold winter. There are only five of them, as follows: Jack McAuliffe, Billy Dacey, W. Myers, Mike Daly and Harry Gilmore. And Daly, who holds the belt, has seen the least service of any of the five.

L. E. Myers writes from Australia that he is doing well and foot racing is so popular in that country that a sprinter, if he feels so inclined, can run twice a week in handicaps. Myers concludes his letter by stating that Australia knocks the spots out of England or America as a foot and horse racing center.

WHAT THEY WEAR.

Liberty silks are the fashion par excellence for young English girls.

Pink tulle is a favorite shade for young society buds this season.

Shrimp pink with tan color is a pretty combination in an evening gown.

Chaplets of fine flowers are worn by young girls on their simple evening coiffures.

Mouflon fur is seen on some imported dinner costumes from celebrated modistes.

In England the fashionable tea gown is of brilliant red, whatever the fabric may be.

Handkerchiefs are daintier and more filmy than ever and embroidered with nuns' work.

The classic peplum is worn again and is particularly well adapted to a graceful figure.

Still one sees the corsage ornament of ostrich tips in one or two colors, as the case may be.

Gold galloons are particularly effective on evening costumes, and are now being made the most of.

Corals are worn by the buds, and should only be worn by them, for the pink is a very trying color.

The toque composed entirely of velvet is very stylish, and for regular faces it is most becoming.

The draping of the soft crapes used in evening gowns gives an opportunity for very artistic effects.

The osprey or aigrette is worn with a high coiffure, and is always dressy and effective as well as simple.

The Directoire bodice is one which is most becoming, and at the same time suited to almost any figure.

Real silver hooks and eyes are used on handsome evening corsages, serving the double purpose of ornament and use.

The good taste of the empress of Japan in choosing the colors of the chrysanthemum flowers is worthy of an artistic following.

A Russian mode of making one-half the corsage of a visiting costume of fur is one which does not appeal to an artistic eye.

Appropriate and very pretty are the long silk mittens worn by young girls with their evening gowns. This is an English fancy.

The Tam O'Shanter bonnet is both very pretty and very becoming to youthful faces, and is made less severely plain than hitherto.

The long gloves are so apt to slip off the arm when dancing that a pretty fashion of tying them up with ribbons has been adopted.

There is a decided growth in the sleeves of evening gowns, and no longer is the simple shoulder strap tolerated in debutantes' costumes.

Peau d'Espagne is a sachet powder which is said to be the most durable of any choice perfume. It is at once refreshing and strong.

It is not the very prettiest length for an evening dress for dancing parties, but fashion dictates that the skirt shall just touch the floor.

Flowers and watered ribbon are the popular decorations for evening costumes, ostrich tips being more appropriate to dinner costumes.

The Russian apron is now the chic thing for the young girl who presides over the samovar and brews the 5 o'clock cup of steaming Pekoe.

Blue and green leather and morocco are seen in some imported sandal shaped shoes without heels, which are to be worn with esthetic tea gowns.

No wedding trousseau is now complete without a fan to correspond with every evening toilet, and with an extensive wardrobe this item is no small one.

The girdle is the most graceful thing a slight figure is capable of wearing, and is always artistic. It should, however, be of pliant silk or Indian mull.

Openwork hose are in bright red and other new and fashionable colors to match evening dress fabrics. Spun silk or raw silk are equally well liked, and the only real difference is in the price.

HOME DECORATIONS.

Wall banners are hopelessly passe.

Burnt orange is the shade of yellow that should be chosen for the fittings of a brunette's boudoir.

Drapery is more than ever in favor, but must be well chosen or the effect will be that of a color shop run mad.

It is lawful, but not advisable, now to use more than six yards of ribbon in the ornamentation of one wicker chair.

The bullrush and the stork, like the poor, we have always with us—but they grow happily less frequent as the seasons roll.

January is the month of "great clearing out sales"—and they are very much needed in one-half at least of the parlors of today

The big tufted quilted sachets that make a perfumed lining for one's drawer are about the most tempting things a woman can put her hand to.

Elaborate frilled covers of silk and lace for cushions, toilet bottles, etc., are gorgeous, but far from cleanly, as they catch and hold dust world without end.

Knit rugs, tufted with zephyr, are handsome and rich looking, but so tedious that unless one has a young eternity of leisure the game is hardly worth the candle.

It is now high fashion to let both holiday and wedding gifts body forth somewhat of your own handiwork, but as you love us, spare the plaque with golden rod or autumn leaves.

A table cover brought home by a traveler in India, of dull olive, stiff, with dead gold embroidery, is both the admiration and the despair of all beholders save its lucky possessor.

Now that passementerie is so much the rage, ladies may spend their leisure economically, if not profitably, in crocheting handsome ornaments for their spring gowns and wraps.

Clusters of acorns, gilt, silvered or bronzed, and wired to a light chain, are pretty to hang below a bracket or picture, or to entertwine with the ribbon looping back draperies of Madras muslin.

Effective portieres can be crocheted or knit of rags, if sufficient care is given to their preparation. Of course the coarsest needles of wood or bone should be used, and due regard shown to harmony or contrast of color.

In art embroidery the tendency is to go away from painfully short and close stitches to those long slant ones that give much the effect of brush strokes, with the further advantage of being much more quickly executed.

Crocheted sash curtains in heavy unbleached linen thread can be made by skillful working to be as handsome as costly lace. A bold pattern—close work upon a clear ground—should be chosen, and worked firmly and evenly.

The Birmingham club is reported as having signed a deaf mute battery—James Lynch and Fred Hargraves. Both hail from Danville, Ills.

The Louisville team will go to the Hot Springs on March 10 and play there two weeks with the Chicago team. Manager Kelly has perfected all arrangements.

MADAM RUMOR.

When Dame Rumor speaks she's always
Sure of an attentive ear,
Things least likely to be true
What some most delight to hear.

That which brings an exclamation
To the lips in loud surprise,
Pleases this old Dame, who's guilty
Some affirm of telling lies.

Stating what herself imagines
As events that's sure to be;
Having no assur'd beginning,
None their end shall ever see.

As the man who heard the rumor,
He was dead and buried, knew
'Twas a falsehood, so some know that Certain rumors are not true.

B's take comfort, though they'd rather
From her notice he excus'd,
While they're falsified the A's and
D's and C's are not abus'd.

Passeth this Dame never any
Of the Alpha Beta clan,
And the sole of her foot never Rests from Beersheba to Dan.

To her mind no theme so fertile
As a certain untried state,
Where untold of golden treasures
Its fair entrants sure await.

Architect of fabrications
Tow'ring proudly to the sky,
Wreck'd because of false foundation,
In the dust they're doom'd to lie.

Season'd is her speech with naught of Grace, reveal'd in Paul's Divine,
Who did no man's gold or silver
Covet, or apparel fine.

Strange that in an age with science,
Art and literature replete,
Many persons talk of little
Else, than gossip of the street.

If this watchword were adopted,
"Slow to speak," with resolute mind,
With relief we'd see Dame Rumor
Swift to banishment consign'd.

The Lindsay Debate.

The fifteenth of March has been fixed as the date on which three members of the Peterborough Y. M. C A. will go to Lindsay to discuss woman's right to vote with three members of the Association of that town. They will be accompanied by the Harmony Club and probably by an accomplished ventriloquist.

Correct English.

The New York Sun has the following notice of a valuable little work by Mr. J. H. Long, M.A., LL.B., Principal of the Collegiate Institute:—"A little volume by J. H. Long, entitled 'Slips of Tongue and Pen' (Appletons), contains a great deal of good advice on the subject of writing and speaking correct English. Practised writers, as well as beginners in composition, can derive much advantage from its pages. If the author errs at all, it is on the side of over-preciseness. Some of his distinctions seem too fine for every-day use. But this is a fault, if such it be, on the right side."

Gospel Temperance.

A Gospel temperance meeting was held on Sunday afternoon in the Womans' Christian Temperance Union Hall, George-st. There was a very good attendance. Mr. Wm. Cumming presided and the meeting was opened with singing and prayer. The chairman made a short address, and then introduced the Rev. J. S. Thompson. Mr. Thompson made a spirited speech, dwelling on the importance of temperance and the alliance between temperance and the Gospel. Short speeches were also made by Messrs. R. Holland, S. J. Griffin and H. Bossiter, interspersed with singing by the audience. Mrs. A. Johnston presided at the piano and led the singing. It was decided to continue the meetings on Sunday afternoons and to procure a pledge book and pledge cards. A meeting will also be held on Tuesday evening from 7.30 to 8.30 o'clock.

Building Bridges.

Mr. W. H. Law, of the Central Iron Bridge Works, is keeping things moving and the establishment is taxed to its utmost capacity to keep up with the orders. On Friday, the firm received the contract for the erection of a swing bridge, with masonry, over the narrows near Orillia, from the Counties of Simcoe and Ontario. In addition to this the concern now has contracts for a bridge of two spans, with iron piers, for the township of Euphiemia, Lambton County; two spans for Wingham, Huron County; two spans for Warsaw, two for Allendale and one at the Locks, in this county. The Euphiemia bridge has been in hand for some time and will be shipped next week, while the contracts for all the others have been taken since January 1st of this year. New machinery is on the way from England and as soon as it is placed in position, much more work can be turned out. A hydraulic riveting machine is the latest addition and in future all riveting will be done by it, instead of by hand. A machine for sawing iron and steel bars, cold, is the only one of the kind on the continent. It cuts through iron bars eight inches thick and twenty-four inches wide, as easily as an ordinary saw will cut through soap.

CHRISTIANTY IN JAPAN

METHODIST MISSIONS AND THEIR GREAT SUCCESS.

Annual Services and Interesting Addresses by Rev. Y. Hairaiwa and Rev. Dr. McDonald.

It is a question if larger audiences ever came together in the Methodist churchees of the town than on Sunday last, the occasion being the annual missionary services. Additional interest was given to the event by the presence of Rev. Mr. Hairaiwa, a Japanese clergyman, and the Rev. Dr. McDonald, the latter the first—the pioneer missionary sent out to Japan by the Methodist body, fifteen years ago. From a small beginning the work has now reached large proportions and the brightest possible prospect exists for a noble and christianizing influence spreading over the empire. From the statements made by both of the rev. gentlemen it is apparent that a wide field is opening up in that distant land not only in the direction of christianizing the people but in matters relating to their secular welfare and progress.

MORNING SERVICE, GEORGE-ST.

There was a large congregation at the George-st. Church at the morning service. The Rev. J. S. Thompson, associate pastor, assisted in the services. The pulpit was occupied by the Rev. Dr. McDonald, who spoke of "Phases of Mission Work in Japan."

DR. MCDONALD said that there were religious feelings and impulses in the heart of human race that led them towards God. While some tribes were so low that they had no established form of religious worship, there were none so low that they had not the religious faculty which might be quickened. There was soil in every heart in which the seed of truth would grow if sown. There were three forms of religion in Japan, Confucianism among the educated classes, and Shintooism and Buddhism, established religions with elaborate ceremonies. The keystone of Shintooism was the divinity of the Emperor, a belief that was dying out, and it had no moral code, the good Shintoo being only bound to obey the law. Yet they had prayers, showing a desire for something more. He referred to the origin of Buddhism, and said that if Buddha had live in the light of these times he might have been a great reformer. In practical life they did did not find the Buddhism of Arnold's "Light of Asia." The system had done good by its moral code, yet no people were more in need of Christianity, as it was really a system of atheism. It failed in giving any true notion of immortality and in making men pure and holy. Not that every poor Buddhist would be lost, for without doubt many were looking earnestly for God and in the day of judgment these might be a testimony against those who had better light. They wish to carry them the light of the Gospel that they might be delivered. It took nine centuries for Buddhism to spread over Japan, but they were inspired with the hope that it would soon come to Christ. The Japanese had civilization, but it could not lift them any higher. It was only thirty years since the country was opened to western civilization. He referred to the pleasant climate and resources of Japan and its travelling facilities. It had a population of 38,000,000 and was one quarter larger than Great Britain and Ireland. There were immense cities and towns easy of access to any who would carry the message of Christianity. It took a mighty force to move a nation, but the forces were at work. Bible and Tract societies were preparing the people to receive the preachers. Fifteen years ago when he went there, Christianity was feared by the people and distrusted by the Government. Laws forbidding Christians to come there were not repealed, but they were not enforced. He spoke of their early efforts and said that Christianity had won its way by the change produced in the hearts of the people. The whole land was open to native preachers, though missionaries had to get permission to go inland. It should be a source of joy to the Methodist Church that it was taking part in such a work. The power of the Gospel was in the Holy Spirit that accompanied it. They were building up churches on the line of self-support, and a church there was organizing to aid the missionaries. The true policy was to raise up native preachers to propogate the truth carried to them by missionaries. He believed the Japanese would be able to carry on their own work in a very few years and as it not far distant period, foreign missionaries would not be needed. Their mission field had a population of 2,500,000 and they had agencies at work that with the blessing of God would carry the Gospel to all. They had a school organized by the Woman's Foreign Missionary Society and a boys' school for training a native Christian ministry with an average attendance of 380 or 400. The work was going on encouragingly and he believed they would see the speedy conversion of the nation. Times and seasons belonged to Christ and it was their duty to labor at His command.

CHARLOTTE-ST. CHURCH.

At the morning service Charlotte-st. Church was crowded and the capacity of the building well taxed. Rev. Mr. Tovell introduced Rev. Mr. Hairaiwa who asked the indulgence of the congregation for his imperfect English. The Rev. gentleman is of short statue with a strong, intelligent face and speaks with a pleasant, though foreign accent. He made an earnest address and impressed his hearers with the conviction that a great work is at hand in the country in which he lives. He is an educated man of much thought and in the way of knowing thoroughly the circumstances surrounding mission work, and previous to his conversion to Christianity was Professor of Natural Science in the University, Tokio.

Rev. Mr. Hairaiwa briefly stated the circumstances under which he found himself in Canada, and mentioned that he had recently travelled more than 12 000 miles from home. He should speak more particularly of the work in Japan and speak to the congregation as a brother in Christ. The text selected was the last verse, chapter 28th of Matthew and the first verse of the first chapter of Acts.

"Go ye forth and preach the Gospel to all nations," and "Ye shall receive power after the Holy Spirit is come upon you."

The power of God, said Rev. Mr. Hairaiwa, follows the worker into the mission field. Good and great results invariably followed. It was human to fail, but it was God's province to ensure success. In Japan large results had followed. For centuries Japan was a closed country against the outside world. Less than thirty years ago the first Protestant missionary came to Japan. The work was one of great privation if not danger. Difficulties and hindrances cropped up at every hand. Nothing less than Divine assistance could have achieved the success obtained. There was the national prejudices to overcome. It called for patient and persistent work. Three hundred years ago Christian missionaries found their way to Japan. They were Jesuites—not Christians. They made many proselytes in a short time, as many as 3,000,000. Then they began, unfortunately—to interfere in the political and national affairs of Japan. The result followed that for years cruel persecution followed and an edict against Christianity was issued and all its adherents expelled from the country.

(Rev. Mr. Hairaiwa here exhibited a facsimile of the edict issued, written in the Japanese characters). The date of the suspension of this edict was singularly enough about 15 years ago, just at the time the Methodist Church of Canada began its missionary work in the country. So successful had been the results achieved in spite of opposition and suspicion, that at present there are 30,000 Protestant Christians living in the empire of Japan. All prejudices against the Christian religion and its preachers have been removed and the utmost assistance is given by the government to aid the spread of Christianity. So abundant is the work offered that the workers are in number inadequate to do it.

Rev. Mr. Hairaiwa than briefly ran over some statistics relative to the work. Three Bible societies had been established. Mission churches and schools were springing up everywhere, and Rev. Dr. McDonald had succeeded in establishing a church in the very castle from which the famous edict expelling the Christians had been issued nearly three hundred years ago.

A noticeable feature of the mission work was the almost total breaking up of the idea that the Emperor was a sacred person, a living God. The sacredness of the person of the Emperor was now not believed in and royalty mingled with the people freely where years ago it was a crime if detected gazing at the monarch.

Buddhism is the national religion of Japan—a gross and sensual idolatry. The moral system of Confucius was generally adopted, and the speaker stated that he had been a follower of the system. His eyes had been opened and he now proclaimed himself a Christian. It was creditable to the intelligence of the country to say that education was fast abolishing idolatry, but—and the facts were plain—preparing the way for the spread of infidelity if Christianity did not step in and seize the opportunity. Here lay the responsibility for the Church of God. Circumstances were never more favourable. What is needed is teachers and preachers who will lead earnest, faithful lives, and by example and action extend the territory under the influence of the Gospel. Sectarianism had no foot-hold in Japan. All Christians were united as one church with the sole aim of spreading the Gospel and gathering in converts to swell their number and influence.

He fully believed that within the next 25 years that Christianity would become the national religion in Japan, and it rested with the Christian people of the world to largely bring about this much to be desired result.

THE EVENING SERVICE.

The evening service in the George-st. Church was of the nature of a platform meeting. There was a very large attendance, the congregation filling every available seat in the large edifice, and some temporary arrangements were made for further accommodation. Rev. Mr. Hairaiwa delivered an able an interesting address, occupying half an hours' time. He rapidly sketched the operations of the Methodist missionaries in Japan and outlined the work done and achieved, and made an earnest appeal for further assistance to carry on the work.

REV. DR. MCDONALD spoke for half an hour and rapidly ran over some strong points in support of the contention that the mission work should be well sustained. Thoroughly familiar with his subject, having a large experience, and the familiarity that comes from a practical acquaintance with the work. Dr. McDonald's appeal was a convincing statement of the grand opportunities laying open in Japan.

The choir of the church sang selections of sacred music appropriate to the occasion, Miss Butcher taking the solo in "What Shall the Harvest Be?" with good feeling and expression.

CHARLOTTE STREET CHURCH.

The service at Charlotte-st. Church was much the same as that noted above. Both of the rev. gentlemen spoke for a short time and the attendance was even larger than at the morning services.

A Will Case.

Judgment in the case of Colliton vs. Landergan was given in Toronto on Saturday and is thus reported in the Empire:—'Re Colliton v. Landergan.—Judgment. This was a petition to declare the proper construction to be put upon a devise in the will of the late John Colliton, of the township of Otonabee, in the county of Peterborough, which is as follows: "I leave and bequeath to my lawful wedded wife, Margaret Colgan, all my personal property, and also the sole control and management of my real estate (during her widowhood), the said estate being composed of . . I leave and bequeath the aforesaid estate to my son, John Colgan, after my wife's death, or on the day of her marriage, should she marry again, and the said estate is not be sold or mortgaged by my son J. C., but is to belong to his heirs. Should my son J. C. die without heirs, then this estate is to be equally divided between my daughters (then living), their heirs, executors, administrators and assigns. . . My daughters shall get their maintenance off said estate during their minority, or until they get married." Will dated 5 April, 1863; testator died 20 April, 1863. At the date of the will and at the death of testator J. C. was a bachelor, but since married and has children. The word "heirs" here means "heirs of the body." Tyrwhitt v. Dawson, 28 Gr. 112. As John could not die without heirs general while his sisters were alive, and he had at the time of the testator's death several sisters living, and therefore the heirs will be restricted to the heirs of the body, J. C. therefore took a fee-tail in remainder after an implied estate for life in his mother. There is a future restriction, "and said estate is not to be sold or mortgaged by my son, but is to belong to his heirs." This restraint or alienation is void. There is a charge on "said estate." "I also bequeath the sum of $80 to each of my daughters at the time of their marriage, each marriage portion to be paid out of the said estate by my son J. C." The words "said estate" mean real estate, viz., the land in question. This is a charge on the particular estate devised to John, which goes to strengthen his position as owner in fee-tail. Doe d. Sams v. Garlick, 14 M. & W. 708. J. C. took an estate tail and can make a good title under the will, subject to the charges referred to. Moore (Peterborough) for the petitoner, the vendor. Hayes (Peterborough) for the purchaser."

Note It.

The prize list for the carnival on March 9th is now ready and in the printer's hands. The public will learn all about it to-morrow, and if they are not surprised we will be much mistaken. The idea of holding an afternoon carnival for children alone is a good one and meets with much favor. The chevaliers of the Canton claim to have made special arrangements with the clerk of the weather and on the afternoon and evening of Friday, March 9th, old probs. will stand by them and give them the finest weather in town.

All Ready.

Councillor Langford has had prepared a neat little plan for his house numbering scheme and the details will be presented to the Council at the meeting this evening. On George-st and in the other portions of the town 17½ feet will be taken for a number and outside 24 feet will rule. Doorways, etc., will be given half numbers so that the shops will all be full numbers. Hunter-st. will probably be taken as the dividing line between north and south. The district between Lake and Smith-sts. will be numbered first.

Curling Notes.

Owing to the fact that there was no ice at Keene, on Saturday, the junior curlers did not go down, as expected.

Three rinks from the Peterborough club will play at Campbellford on Wednesday next.

The prize won by our curlers at Ottawa is a handsome gold silver cup, gold lined, of English manufacture. The names of the winners are engraved on it. It will be on exhibition here in the course of a few days.

THEIR ANNIVERSARY.

THE MEMBERS OF COURT PETERBOROUGH ATTEND DIVINE SERVICE.

A Sermon in St. Luke's Church by the Rev. W. C. Bradshaw, the Rector—Benevolence and Charity Commended.

Yesterday was the ninth anniversary of the formation of Court Peterborough, No. 29, Canadian Order of Foresters, and the members listened to a sermon by the Rev. Mr. Bradshaw, at St. Luke's Church, Ashburnham.

About half-past three o'clock about one hundred members of Courts Peterborough and Little John marched over and took seats in the body of the church, which was reserved for them.

After the usual service, the Rev. Mr. Bradshaw ascended to the pulpit and chose as his text the 34th, 35th and 36th verses of the XXV chapter of St. Matthew, as follows:—"Then shall the King say unto them on his right hand, Come, ye blessed of my Father, inherit the kingdom prepared for you from the foundation of the world:

"For I was an hungered, and ye gave me meat: I was thirsty, and ye gave me drink: I was a stranger, and ye took me in:

"Naked, and ye clothed me: I was sick, and ye visited me: I was a prisoner, and ye came unto me."

In opening he referred to the occasion of the gathering, to offer prayers upon the occasion of the ninth anniversary of the formation of Court Peterborough, Canadian Order of Foresters, and he welcomed them as members of a beneficial benevolent order, that was doing much good. On such an occasion he said it was natural that they would look back and see those that were gone, those they had cared for when sick and those they had relieved when in distress, and the part they had taken in carrying out the work of the order. At such a time all should think of the end. All must take part in it and all should be deeply interested. He pictured the scene in a court of justice where a man was on trial for his life, describing how the spectators were deeply interested in everything that transpired, from the time the first witness was examined until the jury returned into court with the verdict, but the person who was most interested was the criminal. Referring to his text he said that all were deeply interested and on the day of the final trial all will be as criminals before the bar of justice. There are many who do not even take a passing interest in this important matter and all were advised to throw off their apathy and indifference or on the day of trial they may find themselves condemned. He described how on the day of judgment, the Lord will appear with His retinue of angels without giving a moment's notice. How the active hum of business on land and sea will suddenly stand still, and how all mankind will stand with blanched faces in fear and trembling. How the exchanges will stop business, how bargains will be left unmade, how fighting armies will quit, how ships on the ocean will suddenly become becalmed, how the bridegroom and his blushing bride will stand apart, for another Bridegroom comes and all might go forth to meet Him. How all the graves will open and give forth the bodies of the patriarchs and of the little child who was only buried on the preceding day. How the oceans will give up their dead. How the cry will go over Australian plains, Canadian forests and Arabian sands. It will be heard all over the world in every land. The throne will be white and all will be able to see it. The day of judgment will come like a thief in the night, no man knows when and blessed is the man who is prepared and can say, "Come, I am ready." Who is to be the judge? is always an important question in earthly trials. The Son of Man will be the judge at the final court and He will maintain the Deity and sympathize with mortals. The judge is God and man. God is invisible, but in His twofold nature He will be seen by every person. He will be accompanied by myriads of angels who will act as His ministers and carry out His instructions. No power but God's can take dust and make men again. Each man will be the same as when he walked on earth. Greatness of station will not avail anything and none will be let go for meanness. It will be a great spectacle. The great test of judgment will be the love of God. Warm hearted benevolence, such as is inculcated by Forestry, will count, but the great centre point will be the love of God. If your faith is not of the right kind you will fail and be condemned. He found that there are too many lukewarm Christians and if the injunctions contained in the text he be had chosen, were carried out there would be no need for Foresters or any other similar societies, but the public are not educated to that point yet. A practical test of the love of God was to carry out his injunctions in a proper spirit, to succor the sick and relieve the distressed. It is the sin of omission, not of commission, that will condemn many. The churches are filled with people who pass as Christians, who lead exemplary lives, but to suffer nothing and do nothing for Christ and His church. Each one might ask the question, how stands the case with me? As a society the Foresters believe in God and if the members are true disciples of Christ, they will relieve distress, reprove the erring in a mild manner, aid and encourage all, visit the sick, talk with the dying and if they do these things they will evince true religion and their practical sympathy will be rewarded when the proper time comes He congratulated the Foresters upon the great advancement they had made since the foundation of the order, nine years ago. He referred to it as a purely Canadian institution and thought that our motto should be Canada for the Canadians. The order now is one of the formost national societies, having a membership of about 7,000. The sum of $143,000 for deaths and $70,000 for sick and funeral benefits has been paid out in nine years, an average of about $2,000 per month. It provides life insurance at reasonable rates, by means of a small monthly assessment. The institution is managed with thrift and economy. There are no shareholders, no palatial offices and no paid agents, each member being an agent himself. They visited the sick, buried the dead and relieved distress in time of need. No work of this kind, done from proper motives, will be left unrewarded. The sum of $10,350 had been paid to the heirs of eleven deceased members in Peterborough. The record of the society is a noble one. He knew of the good work they are doing and he regarded it as the duty of every man to provide for his dependents. Benevolence to a society he regarded as self love to an individual. As long as honest men work together, the aims and objects of the society are good and as they had Christianity at the bottom he wished them success.

Personal.

Miss Hattie Wilson, of Toronto, is in town visiting friends.

Mr. Edwin R. Rogers, merchant, of Calgary, formerly of Peterborough, is visiting relatives in town and is the guest of his brother, Col. J. Z Rogers. Mr. Rogers' many friends are pleased to see him.

Who Can Skate?

Mr. Sheppard, of London, a gentleman who has the reputation of being somewhat fleet on skates, is in town. He lays down the gauntlet and offers to skate against any five Peterborough men, for five or ten miles, a fresh man on every mile and he will e en go one better and allow his opponent a start of half a la' on each mile.

Brevities.

—Several district M.P.'s were in town this morning en route to Ottawa.

—Wood and hay were the commodities offered on the market to-day.

—Two tramps lodged at the Police Station on Saturday night and Sunday.

—Slip perysidewalks are now the rule and in consequence falls are numerous.

—The Assessors have finished their labor as far as number one ward is concerned.

—Mr. Edward Green has the contract for furnishing the blinds for the new post office.

—Lindsay wants legislation to enable the town to construct sewers. We need something of the same kind.

—Postmaster Rogers must have made considerable of a pot to-day, from boxholders who lost their keys.

—The sidewalk on the north side of the market house is too low. After every thaw it is covered with water and slush.

—The ice harvest is just about ended. The quantity stored this year must be largely in excess of any former season.

—An adjourned regular meeting of the Town Council will take place this evening, for the transaction of general business.

—The Fire, Water and Light and Market Committees met on Saturday evening. They will report to the Council to-night.

—The Ontario says that it is reported that a Belleville business man, whose firm owes large sums, has levanted with $25,000.

—"Sleepy Dan" is being fitted to take part in the races at Cobourg. It is not likely that other local horses will compete there.

—Mr. A. H. Cobb, an old Peterborough boy, now on the road for a Montreal wholesale drug house, is here in the interests of his firm.

—The output of cord wood from the Bobcaygeon lakes will this year, the Independent says, be less than usual. It will not exceed 3,000 cords.

—Inspector Pope had a man scattering salt around on the slippery sidewalks and crossings this morning. It is a good idea and the public appreciate it.

—It is said that there is boy in Peterborough, only fifteen years old, who can give most players pointers as to how the game of fifteen ball pool should be played.

—At the Charlotte-st Church missionary meetings on Sunday the subscriptions and collection amounted to $210, which will be increased by the work of the collectors.

—Uxbridge Council threatened to have the names of delinquents on the collector's roll read at a council meeting and published, and there was a rush to leave in the money.

—Mr. J. B. Sheppard, a Loldon skater, is in town. He proposes to compete in the Ottawa tournament and is anxious to get on a match here. We never heard of any fast skaters who reside here.

—The collections and subscriptions at the missionary meeting in the Georg-st. Church on Sunday amounted to $367.92. This will receive a considerable addition when a personal canvass is made by the lady collectors.

—Otonabee Lodge of Oddfellows meets to-night, and it is expected there will be an interesting time as the by-laws are up for amendment, and the change affects every members position as regards the financial affairs of the society.

—"We understand," says the Uxbridge Times, "a new district of the Knights of Labour will shortly be formed, embracing the counties of Ontario, Durham, Victoria, Peterborough and Northumberland. The first meeting for organization will be held in Uxbridge in a couple of weeks or so."

Insurance Catechism.

—:o:—

Why should I insure my life?

Many men insure their property but neglect to insure their lives. The property insured may never burn, but death is sure to occur. To a family a man's life is its property. It represents food, shelter, clothing, education for the children, and all the necessaries and comforts of life. A small investment in life insurance makes it possible for every man to leave his family above want. This certain provision cannot be obtained in any other institution. No man who is physically able to obtain the indemnity which life insurance gives is free from reproach if he neglects the important duty.

With whom should I insure?

Answer—With E. E. HENDERSON, General Agent, Peterborough.

Why?—Because you will be insured in a thoroughly reliable, safe and honorable Company, at lowest rates.

In the matter of Joseph Griffin, of the Town of Peterborough in the County of Peterborough, Merchant.

NOTICE is hereby given that the above named Joseph Griffin has made an assignment to me, under the provisions of chapter 26 of 48 Victoria, Ontario Statutes, of all his Estate and effects in trust for the benefit of all his creditors.

A meeting of the creditors of the said Estate is hereby convened and will be held at the law office of Gibbons, McNab & Mulkern, London, on TUESDAY, the 6th day of March A. D. 1888, at 2.30 o'clock in the afternoon, for the appointment of Inspectors and the giving of directions with reference to the disposal of the said Estate.

All creditors of the said Estate are hereby required to file their claims with my Solicitors, Gibbons, McNab & Mulkern, London, (as directed by the said Statute) on or before the day of such meeting. After April 10, 1888, I shall proceed to distribute the said Estate, having regard only to such claims as I shall have notice of, and I shall not be responsible for the assets of the said Estate or any part thereof to any person or persons whose claim or claims shall not have been filed.

Dated February 23rd A. D. 1888.

It is Absurd

For people to expect a cure for Indigestion, unless they refrain from eating what is unwholesome; but if anything will sharpen the appetite and give tone to the digestive organs, it is Ayer's Sarsaparilla. Thousands all over the land testify to the merits of this medicine.

Mrs. Sarah Burroughs, of 248 Eighth street, South Boston, writes: "My husband has taken Ayer's Sarsaparilla, for Dyspepsia and torpid liver, and has been greatly benefited."

A Confirmed Dyspeptic.

C. Canterbury, of 141 Franklin st., Boston, Mass., writes, that, suffering for years from Indigestion, he was at last induced to try Ayer's Sarsaparilla and, by its use, was entirely cured.

Mrs. Joseph Aubin, of High street, Holyoke, Mass., suffered for over a year from Dyspepsia, so that she could not eat substantial food, became very weak, and was unable to care for her family. Neither the medicines prescribed by physicians, nor any of the remedies advertised for the cure of Dyspepsia, helped her, until she commenced the use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla. "Three bottles of this medicine," she writes, "cured me."

Ayer's Sarsaparilla,

PREPARED BY

Dr. J. C. Ayer & Co., Lowell, Mass.

Price $1; six bottles, $5. Worth $5 a bottle.

MR. GLADSTONE'S APPEAL.

The G.O.M. Again Pleads With the Conservatives—The Irish in America.

LONDON, Feb. 26.—Mr. Gladstone, in an article in the last issue of The Contemporary Review, makes another appeal to the Conservative party. He says the Home Rule question is one in which both parties can co-operate. Enlarging upon the arguments advanced in a former article, he observes that the vast tribute paid for many years by America to the landlords in Ireland had not shocked the most sensitive, yet for the sums America has contributed recently she has been fiercely denounced. Mr. Gladstone thinks that America suffers in her internal politics from the unsettled state of the Irish question, the action of the Irish in America being directed not by American but by Irish motives.

Referring to the position of the union of Conservatives and Dissidents, he admits its continued strength, but he says he cannot detect a rift in the lute, even when left to deal with English matters, it having already stood the greatest strain; but he contends that a union maintained by military and police is not a union of strength.

Criticizing Lord Salisbury's references to other European countries, he says the Prime Minister omitted Germany, which stands in almost the highest place, and yet has subordinate parliaments for local purposes.

Nothing Sensational to Offer.

LONDON, Feb. 26.—Lord Salisbury, in a speech at the Constitutional Club last night, urged thorough organization on the part of Conservatives as a means of hitting their enemy. He regarded bye-elections as mere outpost skirmishes which were in no wise indicative of the result of a regular election campaign. The Conservatives, he said, had nothing sensational to offer to Ireland, but could and did offer her advice based upon scientific principles.

Hempstead to Be Contested.

LONDON, Feb. 26.—The Radicals have decided to contest Hempstead, where an election is to be held for a parliamentary successor to Sir Henry Holland who was recently raised to the peerage.

The Moroccan Mission at the Vatican.

ROME, Feb. 26.—The Pope received the Moroccan mission yesterday. Cardinal Simeoni and other cardinals were present. The chief envoy presented the Sultan's autograph letter and read an address, to which the Pope made a gracious reply. His Holiness afterwards conversed with the delegates and inspected the presents sent to him by the Sultan. Instructions were given by the Pope that the visitors be afforded every facility to see the sights in Rome.

A Would-be Suicide's Dangerous Wounds.

ST. PETERSBURG, Feb. 26.—Later reports say that Prince Hohenlohe-Ehringer, the third secretary of the German Embassy here, who was reported to have committed suicide yesterday, is not dead but dangerously wounded.

Projected City on the Straits of Canso.

HALIFAX, Feb. 25.—A party of Boston capitalists, who purpose building up a city and summer resort near Port Mulgrave on the Straits of Canso, have purchased five miles of land for $30,000 cash. They have also purchased a coal mine. As this port is the only certain winter port of Cape Breton, they hope to build up a large city. The company are trying, it is said, to have the Atlantic terminus of the railway system of Canada located there, and also have all Atlantic steamers call there. The company will apply to the present Legislature for incorporation.

Honesty Appreciated.

Kansas City Agent—That man who bought a suburban tract for an orange grove last August has not been in to make his quarterly payment.

Assistant—No; he was by the paper that he started [illegible] last week, but he froze to death on the way.

"Oh! He really tried to get here then? Noble fellow! If there is anything in this world that I admire it is honesty."—Omaha World.

Everybody needs a spring medicine. By using Ayer's Sarsaparilla, the blood is thoroughly cleansed and invigorated, the appetite stimulated, and the system prepared to resist the diseases peculiar to the summer months. Ask for Ayer's Sarsaparilla. Take no other.

MONA SCULLY;

—OR—

The Bride of an Englishman.

A STORY OF THESE TIMES.

CHAPTER XVIII.

"I hope you have had a nice walk?" says Violet, politely, drawing her skirts aside to make room for Mona, who has just come in.

It is quite half-past six; and though there is no light in the room, save the glorious flames given forth by the pine logs that lie on the top of the coals, still one can see that the occupants of the apartment are dressed for dinner.

Miss Darling—Sir Nicholas's fiancee—and her brother are expected to-night; and so the household generally has dressed itself earlier than usual to be in full readiness to receive them.

"Very nice," she says, in answer to Violet's question, sinking into the chair that Miss Mansergh, by a small gesture, half languid, half kindly, has pushed towards her, and which is close to Violet's own. "I went up the avenue, and then out upon the road for about a half a mile."

"It is a very late hour for any one to be on a public road," says Lady Rodney, unpleasantly, quite forgetting that people, as a rule, do not go abroad in pale-blue satin gowns, and that therefore some time must have elapsed between Mona's return from her walk and the donning of her present attire. And so she over-reaches herself, as clever people will do sometimes.

"It was two hours ago," says Mona, gently. "And then it was quite daylight, or at least,"—truthfully—"only the beginning of dusk."

"I think the days are lengthening," says Violet, quietly, defending Mona unconsciously, and almost without knowing why. Yet in her heart—against her will as it were—she is making room for this Irish girl, who, with her great appealing eyes and tender ways, is not to be resisted.

"I had a small adventure," says Mona, presently, with suppressed gayety. All her gayety of late has been suppressed. "Just as I came back to the gate here, some one came riding by, and I turned to see who it was, at which his horse—as though frightened by my sudden movement—shied viciously, and then reared so near me as to almost strike me with his fore-paws. I was frightened rather, because it was all so sudden, and sprang to one side. Then the gentleman got down, and, coming to me, begged my pardon. I said it didn't matter, because I was really uninjured and it was all my fault. But he seemed very sorry, and (it was dusk as I told you, and I believe he is short-sighted) stared at me a great deal."

"Well?" says Violet, who is smiling, and seems to see a joke where Mona fails to see anything amusing.

"When he was tired of staring, he said, 'I suppose I am speaking to—' and then he stopped. 'Mrs. Rodney,' replied I; and then he raised his hat, and bowed, and gave me his card. After that he mounted again, and rode away."

"But who was this gentleman?" says Lady Rodney, superciliously. "No doubt some draper from the town."

"No; he was not a draper," says Mona, gently, and without haste.

"Whoever he was, he hardly excelled in breeding," says Lady Rodney; "to ask your name without an introduction! I never heard of such a thing. Very execrable form, indeed. In your place I should not have given it. And to manage his horse so badly that he nearly ran you down. He could hardly be any one we know. Some petty squire, no doubt."

"No; not a petty squire," says Mona; "and I think you do know him. And why should I be ashamed to tell my name to any one?"

"The question was strictly in bad taste," says Lady Rodney, again. "No well-bred man would ask it. I can hardly believe I know him. He must have been some impossible person."

"He was the Duke of Lauderdale," says Mona, simply. "Here is his card." A pause.

Lady Rodney is plainly disconcerted, but says nothing. Violet follows suit, but more because she is thoroughly amused and on the point of laughter, than from a desire to make matters worse.

"I hope you had your hat on," says Lady Rodney, presently, in a severe tone, meant to cover her defeat. She had once seen Mona with the crimson silk handkerchief on her head,—Irish fashion,—and had expressed her disapproval of all such uncivilized head-dresses.

"Yes; I wore my big Rubens hat, the one with——"

"I don't care to hear about the contents of your wardrobe," interrupts Lady Rodney, with a slight but unkind shrug. "I am glad, at least, you were not seen in that objectionable head-dress you so often affect."

"Was it the Rubens hat with the long brown feather?" asks Violet, sweetly, turning to Mona, as though compelled by some unknown force to say anything that shall restore the girl to evenness of mind once more.

"Yes, the one with the brown feather," returns Mona, quickly, and with a smile radiant and grateful, that sinks into Violet's heart and rests there.

"You told the duke who you were?" breaks in Lady Rodney at this moment, who is in one of her worst moods.

"Yes; I said I was Mrs. Rodney."

"Mrs. Geoffrey Rodney, would have been more correct. You forget your husband is the youngest son. When Captain Rodney marries, his wife will be Mrs. Rodney."

"But surely until then Mona may lay claim to the title," says Violet quickly.

"I do not wish to lay claim to anything," says Mona, throwing up her head with a little proud gesture,—"least of all to what does not by right belong to me. To be Mrs. Geoffrey is all I ask."

She leans back in her chair, and brings her fingers together, clasping them so closely that her very nails grow white. Her thin nostrils dilate a little, and her breath comes quickly, but no angry word escapes her. How can her lips give utterance to a speech that may wound the mother of the man she loves?

Violet, watching her, notes the tumult in her mind, and seeing how her will gains mastery over her desire, honors her for her self-control.

Then Jack comes in, and Sir Nicholas, and later on Geoffrey.

"No one can say we are not in time," says Jack, gayly. "It is exactly"—examining closely the ormolu-clock upon the mantel-piece—"one hour before we can reasonably expect dinner."

"And three-quarters. Don't deceive yourself, my dear fellow; they can't be here one moment before a quarter to eight."

In Brief and to the Point.

Dyspepsia is dreadful. Disordered liver is misery. Indigestion is a foe to good nature.

The human digestive apparatus is one of the most complicated and wonderful things in existance. It is easily put out of order.

Greasy food, tough food, sloppy food, bad cookery, mental worry, late hours, irregular habits, and many other things which ought not to be, have made the American people a nation of dyspeptics.

But Green's August Flower has done a wonderful work in reforming this sad business and making the American people so healthy that they can enjoy their meals and be happy.

Remember:—No happiness without health. But Green's August Flower brings health and happiness to the dyspeptic. Ask your druggist for a bottle. Seventy-five cents

CAPITAL NOTES AND GOSSIP.

Shorthanders' Annual Meeting—Election Appeals Dismissed.

OTTAWA, Feb. 27.—The annual meeting of the Canadian Shorthand Writers' Association was held in the debates office to-day. Arthur F. Wallis of The Toronto Mail was chosen president.

The Supreme Court to-day dismissed with costs the appeals to unseat Messrs. Coulombe (Con., Maskinonge), Gauthier (Lib., L'Assomption), Casgrain (Lib., L'Islet) and Langelier (Lib. Montmorency). The court held that it had no jurisdiction. The appeals were against the six months' hoist.

Mr. Adam Brown (Hamilton) will ask this session for changes in the act for the prevention of cruelty to animals. He wants to have pigeon shooting at tournaments made a punishable offence.

Those who are supposed to know Government intentions assert that the Atlantic mail contract is to be treated as an open question, removed from the field of party politics. So it ought to be. It is said that resolutions will be introduced asserting the necessity for a faster ocean mail service, and reciting the advantages of such a scheme from a national as well as a commercial point of view, and leaving the amount of subsidy blank. The Canadian Pacific Railway people are pressing a twenty-knot speed, while the partisans of the existing steamship lines deride the chances of such a business being attracted as will justify the needed expenditure on the part of the contracting company, or the granting of a Government subsidy, likely to prove a reasonable supplement to actual earnings, taking the most sanguine view of the latter. These place the subsidy for ships the equal of the Umbria and Etruria at very little less than a million of dollars a year; or four thousand pounds sterling a trip. It is not likely, they claim, that Parliament will sanction any such outlay; while a company undertaking the speed for less money would find speedy ruin, or be constantly embroiled in disputes arising out of breach of their contract. If it be true that the Orient tender was based on the acquisition of the Arizona, Alaska and Austral, there is certainly reason to suppose that these ships would not attain the sea-going speed required, which at present is only shown by the Umbria and Etruria. The Canadian Pacific Railway people insist that if the twenty knot speed be guaranteed they can divert from New York such a share of the traveling public as will pay the expense. Their opponents doubt this and allege that no vessel to-day running to Halifax would carry a paying number of first-class passengers; while admitting that for two months in the year such ships running to Quebec might pay. Certainly a visit to New York is among the principal considerations affecting travelers either from the Western States to Europe or from Europe to America and trans-Pacific countries.

Remi Tremblay, Ernest Tremblay and H. E. Poirier, translators of the debates of Parliament, though dismissed by the Internal Economy Committee, refuse to lay down their "oars" and are still at work. The charges against these three robust fogines is that they took the stump and spoke slanderously against the Secretary of State and Mr. Ives of Richmond during the last election campaign. Their dismissal came through A. McMahon, Speaker Ouimet's secretary. The defence of the impeached translators is that they did not slander Mr. Chapleau and Mr. Ives, and that as they were appointed by the Debates Committee the former committee have no power to dismiss them. This question may involve a parliamentary investigation.

Robert Sedgwick, Q.C., City Solicitor of Halifax, has been appointed Deputy Minister of Justice, succeeding Mr. Justice Burbidge, elevated to the bench. Mr. Sedgwick studied law with the late John Sandfield Macdonald and returned to Nova Scotia to practice. He is Professor of Equity in Dalhousie College.

Mr. E. Boivin, shoe manufacturer of Montreal, has been appointed a member of the Labor Commission, succeeding Mr. Cote, who is in ill health.

TORONTO TOPICS.

On Saturday a complaint reached Police Headquarters to the effect that on Feb. 8 a middle-aged man named Robert Lidington, residing on Walton-street, had forged the firm name of P. W. Ellis & Co., jewelers, to a check for $600, which he got cashed at the Traders' Bank. On inquiry the detectives heard that Lidington had fled from the city. They tracked him to New York City, where Inspector Stark had him arrested by telegraph this morning. He will be held until extradition proceedings can be instituted.

It was expected that the Central Bank liquidators would report to the Master yesterday on the claims against the bank, about 1500 of which are disputed. But owing to the death of Mr. Foster's mother and the fact that the liquidators want a little more time, the matter was postponed till Wednesday.

Mayor Clarke last night read to the Council draft petitions from the city to the Dominion Government and the Ontario Rifle Association, asking for the removal of the rifle butts from Garrison Common.

A Blue Prospect.

PITTSBURG, Feb. 27.—In an interview last night Andrew Carnegie stated that, notwithstanding the natural facilities of Pittsburg the iron and steel manufacturers were unable to compete with Chicago and the Northwest. The steel rail trade, he said, was unusually dull. There is not a steel rail mill in the country that has orders to run them for sixty days and many could not continue in operation a month.

THE LEGISLATIVE LOBBIES

A DRY DEBATE ON THE REMOVAL OF A CONSERVATIVE J.P.

Bad Drainage at the London Insane Asylum—Municipal Fire Insurance—The Hunting of Deer—Progress of Bills A Deputation From Shanis.

TORONTO, Feb. 28.

The usual Monday quiet reigned at the Legislature yesterday. The lobbies were next to deserted, and when the House sat about half the leather seated chairs were unoccupied. The proceedings were as spiritless at the opening, but a little warmth was developed later on. The two features of yesterday's business were the discussion of the Municipal Fire Insurance plan, and the Government's policy in appointing county magistrates.

Opposition Leader Meredith applied for a return of the writ of supersedeas issued for the removal of James Golbourne from the Commission of the Peace for the county of Peterborough; also, all information in the hands of the Government connected with it. He understood that Mr. Golbourne had been removed, not because he was incompetent or unmindful of his duties, but on the petition of political opponents. He understood that it was the policy of the Government to appoint their supporters to these offices. This was the reason why the best men did not fill the offices. [Laughter.]

The Attorney-General said representations had been made that Mr. Golbourne had done certain things not consistent with the dignity of the office which he filled. A commission was appointed and it was found that Mr. Golbourne had not the necessary property qualifications. This being the case they did not go into the charges. The Government had no policy to exclude Conservatives. Politics had nothing whatever to do with Mr. Golbourne's removal.

Mr. Gibson (North Huron) said several Conservatives had been appointed justices of the peace in his county.

Mr. Balfour said nine Conservatives had been appointed in Essex during the last few years.

Hon. Mr. Hardy—They will charge us with bribery if you're not careful. [Laughter.]

Mr. Wood (Hastings) announced that he would test the hon. gentlemen's sincerity in this respect before long.

The motion passed.

Mr. Meredith moved for copies of all petitions and correspondence with reference to the drainage of the asylum for the insane at London, and the disposal of the sewage therefrom; also copies of all reports of the Board of Health, or any officer thereof, or any officer of the Government with reference to the same, or the disposal of the sewage of the asylum. His description of the sewage nuisance in connection with the institution showed a serious state of things. He charged the Government with having prosecuted the city of London for the pollution of the River Thames by allowing the city sewage to flow into it, while at the same time they, who were not amenable to the law, permitted the river to be polluted and the people had no way of getting redress. Much as he wanted to destroy this Government, he did not want to destroy it on such an issue as this would lead to. An epidemic might at any time break out, and he gave this timely warning and urged that the matter be attended to at once.

Hon. Mr. Fraser said the selection of the site of the asylum was the primary cause of the trouble, and with its selection the Government had nothing to do. The Government had earnestly endeavored to overcome the difficulty and were considering a scheme now by which they hoped to abate the nuisance.

Mr. Meredith said no better site could be got for twenty miles around. The people of London had just cause to complain. The London people were compelled to spend $150,000 to prevent the city sewage contaminating the Thames, while the city's prosecutors were themselves guilty of allowing it to be contaminated.

The motion passed.

Mr. Meredith moved for a return of all correspondence with reference to the claims of Mr. F. B. Wilkes to be placed on the list of superannuated teachers. He understood that Mr. Wilkes had paid his fee till he was 57 years of age and then was affected with deafness. When applying for his pension his fees and interest only was tendered him.

The Minister of Education replied that Mr. Wilkes had gone to Quebec and had there become incapacitated. He therefore placed himself beyond the jurisdiction of the Department of Education of Ontario.

The motion passed.

Mr. Snider's bill respecting municipal fire insurance was discussed. Some of its provisions are: Any municipality could by bylaw, on being petitioned by 100 ratepayers, establish a municipal fire insurance company; the officers would be the municipal officers; no larger risk than $6000 could be taken; the assessors would be the valuators. Mr. Snider made a half-hour's speech elaborating the bill and giving statistics in favor of mutual insurance companies in comparison with stock companies. It was a new idea and needed utilization. He asked to have the bill referred to a special committee.

Hon. A. M. Ross congratulated Mr. Snider on the thorough manner in which he had gone into the subject, and the figures given seemed to indicate that some such system would be beneficial. There were many difficulties in the way, however. The classification of risks would be found a different thing in the hands of assessors. As the hon. gentleman said, it was a new idea, and needed utilization. He advised the withdrawal of the bill for the present so that municipal councils might be consulted and their views obtained. From the hon. gentleman's remarks he presumed that this was all that was desired.

Mr. Meredith pointed out that a similar bill was introduced twelve years ago. He gave Mr. Snider credit for much thought in connection with the bill, however, and favored a second reading.

Mr. Gibson (North Huron) took no stock in the project. He had no faith whatever in these mutual insurance companies. He had had experience.

Mr. Craig said the insurance business required special training, such as municipal councils were not likely to have. Improper selection of risks, he thought, would militate against the system. Compulsory insurance would also tend to increase incendiarism.

Mr. Wood (Hastings) viewed the scheme as impracticable, and while he did not cast any reflection on Mr. Snider's labor, he did not think it was worth considering at all.

Mr. O'Connor favored the bill, and Mr. Waters pointed out some objections to it.

The bill was withdrawn.

Mr. Phelps' Act to further protect deer was read a second time and referred to a select committee. The bill will make still hunting illegal, and will give only one month in the year, November, to deer hunting. Only two weeks in the year, from Nov. 15 to Nov. 30, will hunting with hounds be permitted.

Hon. Mr. Hardy said still hunting was a practice very undesirable, as it more than anything else, was the cause of thinning out the deer. He knew of a man who went to the back country and brought in between 80 and 90 deer, while a large party brought only a deer.

A Voice: Did the party have anything with them? [Laughter.]

Hon. Mr. Fraser: It was a purely cold water party.

Mr. O'Connor's bill to amend the Assessment Act secured a second reading, as also did Mr. Phelps' bill to amend the Assessment Act. Mr. Awrey's bill to amend the Municipal Act, and Mr. Clancy's bill to amend the Registry Act.

All News from San Remo Transmitted to the Emperor Through Bismarck.

BERLIN, Feb. 27.—Frequent interviews occur between Prince Bismarck and Emperor William. This is due to the fact that all news from San Remo concerning the Crown Prince is transmitted to the Emperor through the Chancellor.

Dr. Kussmaul has sent by telegraph to Prince Bismarck a special report on the Crown Prince's case. The doctor takes an unfavorable view of the patient's condition. The Emperor has been informed that some of the matter expectorated by the Prince has been sent to Prof. Waldeyer of Berlin for examination.

A special service of prayer in behalf of the Crown Prince was held at the palace yesterday. The Emperor and all the members of the royal family now in Berlin attended.

The San Remo Bulletin.

SAN REMO, Feb. 27.—A bulletin issued this afternoon, the signatures to which include Dr. Kussmaul's, says: "The Crown Prince's sleep last night was good, his coughing was reduced and the mucus expectorated was less colored. The general condition of the Prince is satisfactory." The Crown Prince appeared on the balcony of his villa early this afternoon and remained there ten minutes.

The Candidates in Shoal Lake.

WINNIPEG, Feb. 27.—At a meeting of the Reformers of Shoal Lake to-day it was decided to run Provincial Treasurer Jones. There will be a convention at Beulah on Thursday to nominate a Conservative candidate.

A Montreal special to The Call states that J. McTavish has resigned the Land Commissionership of the Canadian Pacific Railway, and that L. A. Hamilton has been appointed in his place.

Russian Garrisons Reinforced.

BUCHAREST, Feb. 27.—It is reported that the Russian garrisons on the Prussian frontier have been reinforced within the past fortnight by several brigades, which are on a war footing. There are four cavalry regiments for Pinczow, which directly menaces Cracow.

Appropriation for a Military Post.

ST. PETERSBURG, Feb. 27.—The Novoe Vremya says 2,000,000 roubles have been appropriated for the construction of a military post at Libau.

Five Hundred Houses Burnt.

LONDON, Feb. 27.—Advices from Hanoi Tonquin, state that the public stores, a warehouse, a factory, several lumber yards and 500 houses have been burnt in the artisan quarter of the city. Five natives and one European were killed.

DEATH OF A JOURNALIST.

Foul Play Suspected in the Case of Mr. George Eyvel, the Hansard Reporter.

TORONTO, Feb. 27.—Mr. George Eyvel, of the Hansard reporting staff, died at his residence, No. 16 Sussex-avenue, this morning, leaving behind him a mystery that the detectives should make a strong effort to unravel. He had been engaged in taking a shorthand report of the evidence taken by the Labor Commission in this city, and three weeks ago last Friday night, after spending a couple of hours with some friends, started for home. At an early hour in the morning a citizen residing on Huron, north of College-street, was awakened by hearing a loud knocking at the door, followed by a crash of glass. He hurriedly ran down stairs, thinking that burglars were on the premises, and upon opening the door beheld a young man with hands held out in front of him and blood streaming from a wound in the face. The young man's hands were frozen solid, and the frost had taken such an effect on his limbs that he was hardly able to stand. The night was bitterly cold, and as the stranger could not give his name, a policeman was called. A doctor was summoned also, and on his arrival it was seen that suffering had made the young man delirious. In the morning he was recognized as George Eyvel by a fellow reporter and was taken to his home where he received all the care and treatment that human skill could devise. Ten days ago it was found necessary to amputate three of the fingers of the left hand. He revived momentarily after this, but gradually sank again until the middle of last week, when three of the fingers of the right hand were amputated. Fears were then entertained that his physical strength would not hold out, and these fears were realized this morning when the young man passed away, surrounded by his wife and three young children.

On the morning that he was found Mr. Eyvel said he thought he must have been attacked by footpads while going home up Huron-street, but that he did not remember seeing any one. His gold watch and chain having disappeared, it is but too evident that he was attacked and robbed, and that after the scoundrels had knocked their victim senseless they left him lying on the ground to freeze to death. During his delirium of the past week he spoke several times, although incoherently, of men who had attacked him, but during his lucid moments he could tell very little or nothing about the affair. Mr. Eyvel was one of the most popular newspaper men in the province, being a clever writer and a steady, hard-working reporter.

READY FOR THE GALLOWS.

THE CONDEMNED NEIL SPENDS HIS LAST HOURS IN PRAYER.

Gloom Around the Jail—The Executioner Keeps Sheriff Mowat in Suspense—Testing the Scaffold—The Papers From Lurgan of No Importance.

TORONTO, Feb. 28.

Robert Neil, the condemned murderer, is spending the few short hours which intervene between him and eternity in prayer and reading. On Sunday night he slept well with the exception of a few fitful starts. Yesterday he appeared more thoughtful than usual, and seemed to listen with even greater attention than before to the spiritual consolations offered him.

In the morning, and again in the afternoon, Mr. William Gooderham visited Neil, who listened to his exhortations with deep interest.

In the jail itself a more than usually gloomy air pervades everything. The guards even seem affected by the impending execution, and speak in whispers, and walk gingerly along the flagged corridors as it unwilling to awake the echoes. In the eastern yard all afternoon men were engaged in erecting the ghastly engine of death, the job being got through with at 5 o'clock. It was tested, a wooden block weighing 230 lbs. taking the place of the man. It worked to perfection, and if the executioner does everything right the dreadful scene will be over in a short time.

Neil's weight was placed at 130 pounds, but he has gained considerable flesh since his incarceration, having eaten heartily. The guards on the death-watch describe his appetite as positively ravenous. The prison fare is meagre, but the Governor made up for it from his own private table.

Sheriff Mowat spent a good deal of yesterday down at the jail. It is safe to say that he never spent a more uncomfortable hour in his life than between 4 and 5. The executioner had arranged to be on hand at 4 o'clock but did not keep his appointment, and it was feared his heart had failed him at the last moment. But it was not so. About 5 he came strolling into the jail and relieved the Sheriff, who was beginning to think that perhaps he might be compelled to perform the disagreeable office of hanging himself. The executioner was instructed in what he had to do and was locked up for the night. He gets $50 for the work.

Neil continues obstinately to divulge the information which it is claimed he is in possession of. Governor Green made another vain attempt on him last night.

An Ottawa correspondent sends the following: "I saw the Minister of Justice to-day about Neil. The papers from Lurgan are of no importance and the Minister will not interfere."

Warden Massie of the Central Prison sent a letter to the Minister of Justice regarding Neil. It is practically a refutation of the statements contained in Mr. W. H. Howland's open letter, and reviews Neil's criminal record in an unfavorable light.

THE FISHERIES TREATY.

The United States Senate Likely to Consider it in Open Session.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27.—It is understood that the Senate Committee on Rules has got so far in its consideration of the proposed open executive session proposition as to agree to report an amendment to the present rules, making it in order by a majority vote to remove the injunction of secrecy from a treaty or to consider and act upon a treaty in public. It is inferred that this is to prepare a way for the consideration of the fisheries treaty in open session. The action of the committee was not unanimous. The Foreign Relations Committee has not yet taken up the fisheries treaty, but it is expected to do so at its regular meeting on Wednesday. It has sent for maps and documents thought to be necessary to an understanding of the subject.

A Diplomatist's View of the Treaty.

NEW YORK, Feb. 27.—Mr. W. H. Trescot, who was the counsel of the United States before the Halifax Commission, prints a long letter in The Herald criticising the fisheries treaty. Mr. Trescot's understanding of the treaty may be thus epitomized:

1. We are bound not to fish within the three-mile limit.

2. That this limit must be measured along shore and not across headlands.

3. That every vessel bearing the flag of the United States has the right, no matter what her business, to enter any British port, and subject to the same charges and obligations exacted from all other vessels, to buy or sell freely, to land and tranship cargo, and to do whatever any other vessel of any other friendly nation may do.

4. That, therefore, Canada cannot justly make a distinction between our fishing vessels and other merchant ships bearing our flag.

Canadian Live Stock Association.

MONTREAL, Feb. 27.—The Canadian Live Stock Association was formed here this morning by a number of gentlemen interested in the live stock trade. It is proposed to hold an annual fat stock show in Montreal, open for entries to the entire Dominion. The first exhibition takes place on March 23 and 24, at the Canadian Pacific stock yards here.

A Pious Western City.

Winnipeg is an exception to the saying that there is no Sabbath west of Chicago. The streets are empty and the churches full. Indeed, there is said to be church accommodation for 15,000 in a population of 23,000, and it is all utilized.

The Daily Review.

TUESDAY, FEBRUARY 28, 1888.

A FACETIOUS CONTEMPORARY.

Our esteemed contemporary the Lindsay Post can be extremely facetious at times. It recently assailed the Globe in a lively fashion and its straight blows, its sarcasm and its humor played upon the old organ of the Reformers and held it up to derision. Other Liberal papers quoted its article and Conservative journals gave it the benefit of their circulation. But the Post had better things in store. Its resources were not exhausted and the fishery treaty gave it another opportunity to display its powers of rivalling Eli Perkins.

The Post professes to be very sad on account of the treaty. Of course the Globe, Mail and other leading organs of the party have attacked the terms of the bargain and assailed Sir Charles Tupper. But the Post, as before, makes them ridiculous. Its admirable burlesque criticism of the treaty is rich.

"An invaluable heritage has been thrown away," wails the Post, affecting tears. Of course, the fishing grounds are still ours; the United States fishermen have no right to use them; but that is where the humor comés in. If they had been thrown away the indignation of the Toronto and Montreal organs would have been righteous, and by pretending to mourn over what might have been, but is not, our Lindsay contemporary exposes the hollowness of the Opposition criticisms.

"The Americans have obtained more than they at first wanted," says the Sougog humorist. That is a fine touch. It calls attention to what the United States claimed and did not obtain. They demanded the right to purchase all supplies, and did not get it; the privilege of transhipping fish and sending them home in bond, and it was not allowed; the use of all our fisheries except within three miles of the shore, and it was not given. Contrasting what they claimed and what they obtained shows the extreme foolishness of the Opposition's bitter attacks.

"Canada must go. Canada is sacrficed." That is good—it is rich. It is what would have happened had others—commercial unionists, for instance—had charge of the matter. Then our fisheries would have been given up, our markets thrown away, our factories sacrificed and our right to make our own tariff handed over to the United States. "Canada would have gone. Canada would have been sacrificed." But Canada is here, she still owns her fisheries, has her markets and factories and makes her own laws. Stating, in the way it has, what might have been as though it had really occurred is a trick in humor worthy of Bill Nye.

But the climax is reached when the Post, depressed (seemingly) with the weight of all these woes, exclaims "Canso is no longer ours." The United States fishermen have been guaranteed a privilege that they have exercised—that of passing through the strait of Canso. Canada still owns it as much as ever, and the privilege acknowledged, even the Mail says "is of no importance." Summing up the "sacrifices" with Canso as the climax reduces the criticism to an absurdity and completes the discomfiture of the leading organs the Post is ridiculing.

The article is humorous—it is funny. Reading it the very fish in the bay of Fun-dy would laugh. The Post is not a super-fish-al humorist. It can be really humorous when it tries. It can-so.

Don't use any more nauseous purgatives such as Pills, Salts, &c., when you can get in Dr. Carson's Stomach Bitters, a medicine that moves the Bowels gently, cleansing all impurities from the system and rendering the Blood pure and cool. Sold by all Druggists.

DUNSFORD.

Successful Tea.—The tea meeting, on Wednesday evening, in aid of the fund for rebuilding the shed to the Presbyterian Church, was the most tremendous affair ever held in this [illegible]. Between $90 and $100 was realized, and nearly 400 persons were present, six sleigh loads came from Bobcaygeon and many persons from Lindsay and Peterborough, and intermediate places. The Bobcaygeon choir was present in great force and sung splendidly. Mr. Murdock was in the Chair. Mr. Fairbairn made a speech. Everything was first rate.

It is a good rule to accept only such medicines as are known to be worthy of confidence. It has been the experience of thousands that Ayer's Cherry Pectoral is the best medicine ever used for throat and lung diseases.

THEIR EIGHTH ANNIVERSARY.

A Capital Entertainment and Social Evening in the Forester's Hall.

On Monday night Court Peterborough No. 29, celebrated the eighth anniversary of the institution of that branch of the order in Peterborough. It was a successful evening, and the affair redounds to the credit of the court and the court's committees who worked energetically in carrying out all details. Court Peterborough is the banner court of the Dominion. It has the largest membership; it contributes the largest amount to the exchequer of the order, and all over the Province where Forestry is the subject of discussion No. 29 is held up as a brilliant example of what zeal, energy and enthusiasm can, and does, accomplish.

Monday night found the handsome hall filled with jolly Foresters, their wives and sweethearts. The horns that hung from the chandeliers mouth downward were veritable horns of plenty, forbeneath were well laden tables. The spread was ample and appetizing, and for forty minutes the clatter of cup and saucer filled the room. After all had taken tea the floor was cleared and seats arranged.

Mr. J. R. Stratton, M. P. P., took the chair and gave a brief address of a congratulatory character.

Mr. Jacques gave a comic song relating in verse the entanglements of a "Muddled, Puddled Porter," which created no end of fun.

Rev. Mr. Bradshaw gave, what he stoutly averred was meant to be a five minute's talk, not a speech, and sensibly took the position that while societies were good and desirable they should not be so multiplied as to interfere with home duties and obligations.

A vocal duet by the Misses Rickey was well received and the young ladies made a very fair impression.

A reading by Mr. Chas. Brown followed. Mr. Brown—in colloquial style—described the woes of Mrs. Smart in endeavoring to skate. Elderly ladies who heard the reading decided to let the pastime alone.

Mr. W. Burdick gave very cleverly several familiar airs on the mouth organ and displayed a deal of taste and skill in his playing. Mr. Burdick is an excellent performer and was well received. It was rather imposing on good nature to have to play five selections but the audience called for Mr. Burdick again and again.

Miss A. Millar sang clearly and with excellent taste a vocal solo. Mr. W. Bonnett gave a comic song with a funny chorus. The broken Dutch phrases were well given and the "swing" of the song was pleasing. He was encored and responded.

The Chairman gave an address on the objects and aims of Forestry and stated—to some extent—what had been accomplished by the order in Peterborough since the institution of the local Courts. Over $10,000 had been paid out to the friends of members who had died and a large sum in sick benefits.

Two very pleasing violin solos were were rendered by Miss Yokome, the accompaniments being played by Miss Hughes. Miss Yokome is developing great skill as a violiniste for one so young and promises to become a brilliant and finished performer.

Mr. F. Miller gave a big, bold song, with the hearty refrain of "steady, boys, steady," coming in at the finish of each verse. A capital reading was given by Dr. Clarke, which illustrated the difficulties encountered by a Frenchman in finding "No. 5 Colic-st.," New York City.

Mr. Jacques followed and with a song in praise of "The Foresters' Bended Bow," and Miss Rickey and Mr. J. Rickey gave very acceptably a familiar vocal duet.

The usual votes of thanks were tendered and the National Anthem closed the programme. After the audience dispersed some time was spent by those who wished to dance. Prof. Doucett's orchestra furnishing the music.

When Baby was sick, we gave her Castoria,
When she was a Child, she cried for Castoria,
When she became Miss, she clung to Castoria,
When she had Children, she gave them Castoria.

PORT HOPE.

Man Killed.—On Friday Wm. Dixon, who lived on the old Ramsey farm near Newtonville, Clarke, had a "bee" to draw wood to Mr. B. Heaslip, his landlord, Port Hope. There were six teams in all. It seems they did not start for home until towards night. A message was received Saturday morning by Mr. Heaslip, that Dixon had been killed. No particulars were given.

Sale Register.

Thursday, March 1st.—By Chas. Stapleton, Auctioneer, sale of Farm Stock and Implements, the property of Mr. O. M. Kindred. Sale to take place on the premises, Lot 13, on 7, Otonabee, and to commence at one o'clock p. m.

PAT PURCELL STILL COQUETTING WITH HIS SEAT.

Routine Proceedings in the Dominion Commons—Sir Charles Tupper and Gen. Laurie Presented to the Speaker—Hon. Alex. Mackenzie Welcomed.

Ottawa, Feb. 27.—The House of Commons got through with its business in less than an hour to-day. The proceedings were principally of a routine nature.

Before Speaker Ouimet came into the chamber Sir Charles Tupper spent ten minutes in the corridors shaking hands with members and friends. Sir Charles has almost completely recovered from his illness and now looks robust. He came and left the Parliament Buildings muffled up to the eyes, the weather being somewhat crisp and cold. Sir Charles had to go through the form of being presented to the Speaker, this being his first appearance since his election in Cumberland. When he came into the chamber between Sir John Macdonald and the Minister of Justice he was warmly applauded. After adjournment Sir Charles spent about a quarter of an hour in handshaking and receiving congratulations from both leaders of the House.

Gen. John Wilburn Laurie, the member-elect for Shelburne, was introduced by Sir John and Sir Charles. The General is a large, handsome-looking man who lives on an experimental farm down in Nova Scotia. He only arrived in the Capital this afternoon, but has already made many friends.

Mr. Pat Purcell is still playing hide-and-seek with his seat. The lord of palatial and stately Fairview, past the feet of whose broad acres flows the majestic St. Lawrence, dropped into the chamber about fifteen minutes before adjournment. The gentleman from Glengarry looks as if he owned the seat and was going to stop there until the Supreme Court bounces him, if it ever does.

Everyone was glad to see and applaud Hon. Alex. Mackenzie when he entered the House and took his seat beside the unterrified knight from Kingston, Sir Richard Cartwright. Mr. Mackenzie, the grand old ex-leader of the Reform party, is a person whom we all miss when he is absent, and all regret his impaired health. The old gentleman, however, looks as if he could do some good work for his constituents this session.

A number of blue books were laid on the table. They were the annual report on penitentiaries by the Minister of Justice, the report from the Militia and Defence Department, the Public Works report, the Public Accounts, the report of the Auditor-General, the report of the Interior Department and the Trade and Navigation returns; also a large number of Governor-General's warrants.

Mr. Amyot reintrodnced his bill of last session to amend the Dominion Controverted Elections Act. The little member from Bellechasse explained that this bill would make the publication of all members elected to Parliament after a general election uniform in The Canada Gazette. The measure is directed against the present practice of gazetting members elect whenever it suits the purposes of the Government. The bill was read a first time.

Mr. J. C. Patterson sent up a bill for the incorporation of the Canada and Michigan Tunnel Company, after Sir John Macdonald had been assured on the quiet that the bill was not an "underground proceeding." It was read a first time.

Mr. Edgar has a notice of enquiry on the paper concerning the liability of Canadian fisheries vessels for harbor and other dues while in port or harbor for shelter or repairing damages. The Minister of Marine said he was not prepared to answer Mr. Edgar, and the question stands.

Mr. Dawson moved for a return, which he supplemented with a fifteen-minute speech, showing the number of Canadian vessels lost or wrecked on the Great Lakes during the season of 1887. Mr. Dawson said the loss of life and property on these water stretches was appalling. He advocated more stringent navigation laws providing especially against overloading and for a hydrographic survey. The Minister of Marine said he believed that all the information which Mr. Dawson sought would be found in his report, which would be presented to the House in a day or two. If not, he would bring it down.

Sir John Macdonald made a motion referring the report of Mr. Justice Osler, dated Nov. 17, 1887, voiding the election of Archibald Campbell (Liberal) for Kent, Ont., to the Committee on Privileges and Elections. The judge says in his report that no corrupt practice was proven to have been actually committed by either Mr. Campbell or C. W. Buel, the relator, but that Frank Hadley and James McGoldrich were guilty of direct bribery, and on these grounds the election was voided.

Sir John read two clauses from the Controverted Election Act and said there was considerable doubt in face of these clauses whether the Speaker had the power to issue a writ for a new election without a direct reference to the House, which might see it prudent to issue a royal commission to investigate the charges. It was to decide these points that Sir John wished the matter sent to the committee.

Mr. Laurier said this was the second time in his recollection that this question had been raised in the House, and asked that the motion stand till to-morrow. Sir John agreed to this.

It may be mentioned that Hadley was punished for his corrupt acts and McGoldrich's case stands for trial.

Mr. Laurier asked the Prime Minister when the House might expect the papers in connection with the Fisheries Treaty to be laid before it.

Sir John replied that all the papers had not been received from Washington, and that it would be a few days before he could bring down all the documents. They certainly would not be brought down to-morrow. [Laughter.]

Sir Richard Cartwright: I see by the American papers that the treaty and all the protocols have been submitted to the United States Senate.

Sir Charles Tupper: This is incorrect. I have just received a telegram from Mr. Bayard, Secretary of State, saying that by to-morrow the treaty itself and the whole of the protocols would be submitted to their Senate.

The Senate sat till 6 o'clock this evening and succeeded in disposing of the address. The old gentlemen had quite a lively afternoon of it and some of them kicked up their heels in real coltish fashion in referring to the great public question of the day. All of the speakers referred in words of kindness and emotion to the near departure of the Governor-General. The fisheries treaty was freely talked of, but in the absence of correspondence and papers their points were very obscure. The talkers were: Senators Kaulbach, Alexander, Dickey, McInnes, Girard, Almon, Bellerose, Haythorne and Abbott, the Government leader of the House.

Senator Macdonald of British Columbia handed in a notice of motion enquiring whether any answer had been received to questions submitted in 1886 by the Imperial and Dominion Governments to the United States, whether British vessels fishing in the open seas beyond the territorial waters of Alaska would be exposed to seizure. Her Majesty's Government at the same time would be glad of the assurance that pending a settlement of the question no seizures of British vessels be made in Behring Sea. Also for correspondence subsequent to May, 1887, between the three Governments relating to international rights in Bearing Sea and to seizure of British ships therein by armed vessels of the United States.

Laying Out the Land.

The trustees of the Nicholls Hospital took a trip north yesterday for the purpose of laying out the site of the new building. A suitable place was chosen and staked out. Work will be commenced at the foundation as soon as the weather will permit, and the premises are to be ready for occupation by the first day of May, 1889. As has already been intimated Mr. Arthur Rutherford has been awarded the contract.

The Farmers Institute.

The second convention of the West Peterborough Farmers' Institute will begin at the Court House at 10.30 to-morrow forenoon. Special papers will be read by Mr. John Carnegie, on "Best means of Obtaining a Market for Farmer's Produce;" Mr. Wm. Cluxton, on "Commercial Union;" Mr. Joseph Barnard, on "General Farming," and Mr. John McClelland, on "Profits of Poultry Breeding." It is understood that Mr. Carnegie's paper will be read in the forenoon and Mr. Cluxton will speak on "Commercial Union" at 2 o'clock. At a public meeting in the evening Mr. J. Dryden, M. P. Altogether Unfounded.

Rumor has been making free with the names of business firms in town for some days past, and this sort of random talk should cease. It does injury to the firms and to the town. One of the houses whose solvency was in this manner taken up by street rumor was the large establishment of the Golden Lion. Meeting Mr. Fair, a reporter of the REVIEW mentioned it to him. Mr. Fair replied that he had first heard of the rumor about fifteen minutes before and that there was not the least foundation for it. "We have had a good year," he said "and the result of the year's business was a handsome balance on the right side of the ledger." It is almost impossible to tell how those rumors originated, but people should be careful about assisting to circulate them.

Honored by His Friends.

Mr. Jas. Ellis of the C. P. R., upon the occasion of his approaching marriage, was on Monday evening, presented with a solid silver tea service, by a number of his friends. The following address was read, to which the recipient made a short, but appropriate reply:

To J. Ellis, Esq.

SIR,—We, the undersigned, representing a small number of your many friends in Peterborough, taking advantage of the coming event of your marriage, beg to present you with this tea service, and at the same time tender you our most hearty congratulations, as expressing, in a slight measure, our appreciation of your geniality and good fellowship, which in all occasions, and under all circumstances, have no variance. You will please accept this slight token of our great regard and esteem in the spirit in which it is tendered, with the full assurance that we sincerely wish that your married life may be one of longevity, prosperity and happiness.

FOR STEALING TOOLS.

Two Boys Tried Before Police Magistrate Dumble.

On Saturday last and on several previous occasions carpenters tools were stolen from the unfinished house on Water-st., just north of Mr. Thomas Menzies' residence. The place is owned by Mr. Henry Stabler and it has been used as a workshop by different carpenters.

On the day in question Mr. Wm. Speer found that a plane, a brace, half a dozen bits, a saw and some other tools owned by him had been removed. Messrs. Westlake and Stabler also lost some.

Mr. Speer observed the tracks of two boys and found out that Albert Valois, 16, and Charles McMartin, 13, were seen about the premises. He went to their houses and succeeded by scaring the youths in recovering the most of the tools stolen. Valois had some hidden in a hen house, some up-stairs in his father's house, some in a shed and some under the floor of Stabler's shop, while McMartin had nothing but the brace, which he had hidden in the woodshed.

At first the boys stoutly denied that they knew anything about the stolen goods, but they were given to understand that Mr. Speer knew all about it and at last they disgorged.

As all the tools were not found, a search warrant was issued and after the boys were taken into custody, Officers Adams and McGinty thoroughly searched the premises of Valois, sr., but nothing more was found

The above facts were given in evidence and the prisoners were remanded to gaol until Thursday next, when judgment will be given.

A Pleasant Entertainment.

The Young People's Association of the George-st. Church gave another pleasant entertainment in the basement of the church on Monday evening. The Rev. J. S. Thompson presided, and after the transaction of some business the programme was taken up. It was opened with a duet by two little girls, Misses May and Eva Martin, Master F. Benton playing the accompaniment. The little singers were loudly applauded. Miss Louise Yokome gave a violin solo, and played so nicely that she received an encore, to which she responded. Master Benton, a small boy, then sang a solo, playing his own accompaniment, and was encored. Mr. Harrison gave a reading, and Miss Gwens sang a solo very sweetly. A reading by Miss Ritchie closed the first part of the programme. The first number in the second part was a reading in Scotch dialect, admirably given by Miss Cameron. The Chairman gave a short address on "How to Talk." A quartette, by Misses May and Eva Martin, Edith Evans and Aggie Wills, was nicely given and warmly applauded. An impromptu debate followed, Messrs Dixon, Armstrong, Scott and Harrison taking part. A duet was given by Mr. Taylor and Miss Greer, a recitation by Master Benton and an excellent cornet solo by Mr Miller, and the entertainment closed with the National Anthem.

Grand Trunk Improvements.

The Belleville Intelligencer says:—"The amalgamation recently effected by the Grand Trunk Railway and Northern and Northwestern railways has resulted in Belleville being made the point from which the square timber, formerly shipped from Hamilton, Toronto, and Port Hope and other lake ports, will be rafted and sent down the St. Lawrence. This change will cheapen the expense of rafting, as the timbers will not be required to be bound so tightly as for navigating the lake, and shorten the water route of the timber. To that end the Grand Trunk Company are now repairing, in fact almost rebuilding, the dock at this city. It will be greatly improved over the old dock which was condemned last summer, since which time no locomotives have ventured upon it. The piers are being filled with stone; 300,000 feet of three inch lumber will be required to floor the dock and a large quantity of other timber will be used in track laying. The track and dock will wear a new appearance when the work which is now progressing is finished."

The Harmony Male Quartette and Miss Howden.

An opportunity will be offered of hearing,—on Thursday evening, March 8th, in the Opera House, some of the finest vocal music ever placed on a local programme. The Y.M.C.A. have arranged with the Harmony Male Quartette, of Toronto, to sing at a concert in Peterborough on the above date. Miss Annie Howden, of Millbrook, will also sing and the whole programme will be one of rare merit. Plan of hall at Hartley's. Tickets 25c. and 35c. 3deod49

Fast Skating.

Mr. J. B. Sheppard, of London, the less, met four local skaters at the Lansdowne rink, on Monday evening, in a four mile race, a fresh man at the end of each mile, who was also given half a lap start. The Londoner beat each man by about one lap. The local representatives were Messrs. A. Mooney, John Canning, Jas Henderson and W. Logan. Peterborough does not boast of any fast skaters, but we have some who are hard to beat in the fancy line.

Dead.

Word has been received of the death of Robert Sproule, M. D., son of Mr. Joseph Sproule, of Peterborough. He died at Gainsborough, England, on Saturday last, aged 36 years. The cause of death was consumption. The deceased gentleman was well known here, where he practiced for some years. He left Peterborough for England about one year ago. Mr. Alex. H. R. Sproule, J. P., took charge of the body which will be interred in Ireland.

Incorrect.

A story was in circulation to-day that the old post office building is to be fitted up for the use of a bank agency, but we learn from the owner of the premises, Mr. R. A. Morrow, that he has not heard anything of the matter and is unaware how it gained currency.

STREET NUMBERING.

Councillor, LANGFORD, Chairman, read and submitted the following report regarding numbering the streets:—

To the Mayor and Town Council.

GENTLEMEN,—Your special Committee appointed to consider the advisability of numbering the houses, beg leave to report that in their opinion it should be carried out at once, as the cost will be small and the benefit to the citizens considerable. Your committee has had a map of a small portion of the Town prepared to show the manner in which the work would be done. According to this plan we commence to number at Lake-st from the South and from the Otonabee river on the east. The probable cost to the Town will be about $150. being the price of maps, street corner signs, etc. The numbers are to be paid for by the owners of property. Your committee recommend that they be empowered to carry out the report.

All which is respectfully submitted.

WM. LANGFORD, CHAIRMAN.

Feb 27th, 1888.

Councillor MOORE suggested that the numbering be done north and south of Hunter-st.

Councillor CAHILL thought that the work was a necessity, and that the numbering should commence at the southern boundary.

Councillor LANGFORD had named Lake-st. as the base line as only one street ran south of it.

Councillor KELLY favored taking Hunter-st. as the starting point.

Councillor DOUGLAS desired to see the whole town numbered, as the outskirts were not treated fairly, although they were heavily taxed, and he thought the people living outside should be considered.

Councillor LANGFORD, in answer to Councillor Moore, said a map going as far west as Park-st. would cost about $75 and a map for the whole town would cost about $100.

The report was referred back to the committee giving them power to procure the necessary map for the whole town and to consider which plan of numbering should be adopted.

THE MARKET.

Councillor MCNEIL, Chairman, read and submitted the following report:—

To the Mayor and Town Council.

GENTLEMEN,—Your Market Committee have had under consideration the question of market tolls and beg leave to report and recommend that the same be awarded to Mr. John Doharty, the present lessee, at the same figure as last year, namely eight hundred dollars per annum, from the 1st of April 1888 to the 1st of April, 1889.

That the Treasurer be and is hereby instructed to refund Mr. J. Doharty one hundred dollars on account of loss on market tolls last year.

Your Committee recommend that the Clerk be instructed to make a demand upon the Town Trust Commissioners for all the moneys received by them from the ground rents and butcher's stalls on the market square, for the purpose of improving the market.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

A. MCNEIL, Chairman.

February 27th, 1888.

The report was adopted.

THE CARTERS.

The Council went into Committee of the whole on the second reading of Councillor MOORE'S by-law relating to carters and truckmen, Councillor DOUGLAS being in the chair.

The by-law was given its second and third readings and passed. It provides that the carters must be 21 years old and own a horse, harness and truck. The town must provide numbers and the carters are to pay $10 per year for two horses and $5 for one horse and $1 for each transfer of a license. They must carry a copy of the tariff and produce it when required so to do. They must not solicit trade on the street, and obey the orders of the Mayor and police and the latter are to act as arbitrators, when a customer complains that he is being charged too much. The drivers must be tidy and punctual and not charge more than 75 cents per hour for two horses and 50 cents per hour for one horse. For two horses half an hour 50 cents and for one horse half an hour 25 cents. For work done between 7 p. m. and 7 a. m. fifty per cent shall be added to the above rates.

Councillor MCNEIL said that persons doing business near the present carter's stand complained loudly of the nuisance caused by the horses and he suggested that the stand be moved to the north side of the market square.

Councillor DAVIDSON suggested that they stand on Simcoe-st. near the Snowden House.

Councillor KELLY objected at once. He could stand a few, but he drew the line at a whole crowd.

Mayor STEVENSON thought that Water-st., near the town offices, could be utilized.

Councillor MOORE favored the vicinity of the new post office, or that stands be made at Charlotte, Simcoe and Hunter-sts., distributing them and dividing up the nuisance if any existed.

After spending more than an hour in discussing this question, it was finally decided to fix stands, at the north end of the market square, north of the new post office and on the west side of Water-st. between Hunter and Simcoe-sts., with the understanding that if any carter got the consent of the occupant of any store, he could stand in the street in front of the premises.

A BAD BRIDGE.

Moved by Councillor CAHILL, seconded by Councillor DAVIDSON,—That the Street and Bridge Inspector be instructed to do any necessary repairs to the Smith-st. bridge.—Carried.

IMPROVEMENT.

Moved by Councillor MCNEIL, seconded by Councillor HALL,—That the Market Committee take into consideration the best means of improving the present market and report to this Council, giving particulars as to the changes deemed necessary and the probable cost.—Carried.

FIXING UP.

Moved by Councillor MCNEIL, seconded by Councillor KELLY,—That the Chairman of the Property Committee have the Council Chamber chairs fixed and the door lock repaired.—Carried.

The meeting adjourned for three weeks, shortly before 11 o'clock.

THE FIRE DEPARTMENT.

The Annual Report of Chief Engineer Rutherford.

At the Council meeting on Monday evening, the following report from the Chief Engineer of the fire department was read:—

To the Mayor and Town Council.

GENTLEMEN,—During the last year the firemen attended 20 fires and 3 alarms.

The loss on property, by fire, according to the estimates of the owners, was $26,400. The amount of insurance received was $17,280, leaving the loss to property owners $9,120. This includes the loss by all fires in town and Ashburnham.

We have now on hand 1600 feet of good reliable hose and about 350 feet of unreliable, one hook and ladder truck got last year and first-class in all its appointments, and also one hose waggon, complete in its appointment, one hose reel and a steam fire engine, two sets of harness for waggons and two sets of sleighs for the waggons, for winter use.

In regard to the efficiency of the department I must say that I am well pleased, and must say that I have great pleasure in stating such to your honorable body.

In regard to the caretaker of the engine and the other property, I have the same old complaint to make. The rooms and engine have not been kept in the order that they should be. The engine at the present time is in a very dirty condition, I mean the working part of it. I am sorry that my duty compels me to make these complaints, but I have been very much annoyed at the disorder and dirt at times during the year. In regard to the horses used in the department I hope there will be a great improvement in getting horses suitable for the purpose.

All of which is respectfully submitted,

THOS. RUTHERFORD, Chief Engineer.

Is He the Same?

A man named Argue, who was scalded at the steam dye works, St. Catharines, some time ago, died in the hospital there, on Saturday night. It is supposed that he was the same man who carried on business as a dyer, on Hunter-st. here, for some years and who left for Toronto some time ago.

Curling Notes.

This morning a rink from Perborough left for Lindsay to play an educational rink at that place. Peterborough will play Messrs. Baptie, Belleghem, Adam Hall and and Attrill, skip. Three rinks will leave for Campbellford to-morrow morning composed as follows:—Geo. Edmison, G. W. Hatton, A. McNeil, Judge Weller, Sk.; Ed. Brown, Geo. Brown, W. H. Cluxton, T. E. Bradburn, Sk.; Wm. Croft, S. Clegg, R. S. Davidson, T. Rutherford, Sk.

We understand that the Strickland rink, of Lakefield, will soon play another flour game here.

Brevities.

—The thermometer registered 9 degrees below zero at the residence of the Rev. Mr. Clementi.

—The banquet committee of the cricket club are arranging for the annual dinner on March 23rd.

—Luminous street numbers are proposed so that the members of the Council may find the way home.

—In thirty-eight years, since incorporation, the Town Council of Peterborough have passed 536 by-laws.

—Sun dogs were plainly observable yesterday and the weather prophets predict a snowstorm before many days.

—As will be seen by reference to our Council meeting report the new carters tariff will come into force on March 1st.

—Mr. Alex. Robertson, M.P., of Belleville is lying at the point of death and his demise is look on as likely to occur at any moment.

—All local licenses, except those of the butcher's expire on the last day of February. Butcher's licenses expire on the last day of April.

—Mr. James Henry, plasterer, left for British Columbia on Saturday. Mr. Herbert Charman will leave for the same place in a day or two.

—"Carters must not needlessly snap their whips," reads the by-law and a Councillor suggested that the works "nor spit on the street" be added.

—"No carters hall gallop his horse," reads the by-law. "Will that prevent them from taking part in a race?" inquired Councillor Davidson amid laughter.

—The slippery sidewalks at Belleville were responsible for two accidents on Monday. Mrs. A. Ponton broke a leg in two places and Mrs. Grace fractured her arm.

—The recently organized I.O.O.F. lodge, at Norwood, will give an entertainment in that village on Tuesday, March 13th. Several amateurs from Peterborough will assist.

—"I don't believe in commencing to number the houses at Lakefield" remarked Councillor Cahill. "Neither do I," said Councillor Langford, "but I do believe in commencing at Lake st."

—A gentleman was in town yesterday looking for some bars, picks and drills stolen from a building, near the village of Lakefield. He did not get any trace of them here.

—It is reported that the Rev. E. J. Stobo, formerly of Peterborough and Belleville, has tendered his resignation as pastor of the Baptist church at Quebec, to take place on the 1st of May next.

—Port Hope is working up a scheme to run the Central Ontario railway from that place to Kincardine. The municipalities will not be asked for bonuses, but the Government will be petitioned to grant $2,000 per mile. The counties interested are Durham, Ontario, York, Simcoe, Grey and Bruce.

Advice to Mothers.

Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup should always be used when children are cutting teeth It relieves the little suffer at once; it produces natural, quiet sleep by relieving the child from pain, and the little cherub awakes as bright as a button." It is very pleasant to taste. It soothes the child, softens the gums, allays all pain, relieves wind, regulates the bowels, and is the best known remedy for diarrhœa whether rising from teething or other causes 25 cents a bottle. Be sure and ask for "Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup," and take no other kind.

FORFEITED HIS LIFE.

ROBERT NEIL DIES ON THE SCAFFOLD AT TORONTO.

The Murderer of Guard Rutledge, of the Central Prison, Hanged—A Restless Night—The Execution.

By Telegraph to the Review.

TORONTO, Feb. 28.—Robert Neil, the murderer of guard John Rutledge, forfeited his life on the gallows in the east yard of the gaol this morning. The doomed man reading his Bible and repeating hymns to himself in a subdued tone of voice till a quarter to two o'clock. He paced his cell a while and then would rest a few minutes, sitting on his bed, but he was too restless to remain there and again began his weary walk, and so it kept up until the time named. Then he laid himself upon his bed and slept soundly until a quarter to seven o'clock. At that hour he rose and had his breakfast, brought him by Governor Green, but he was unable to eat and it was taken away. Ex-Mayor Howland and Mr. Wm. Gooderham were admitted to Neil's cell at 7.05 and spent the time for his rapidly approaching doom. Sheriff Frederick Mowat arrived at the gaol at 8.50 o'clock. The procession left the cell at 8.56 and he reached the gallows at 8.57 a.m. At 9.05 Neil was hanged.

SPENT THE NIGHT

IN PREPARING HIM

CAVAN.

WEDDING BELLS.—Mr. John McArthur, of Ops, has at last joined the benedict ranks, having been united in marrige to Miss Sue M. Sharpe, of Cavan. The ceremony took place at the residence of the bride's parents in the presence of a large gathering of relatives and friends. The bridesmaid was Miss Laura Sharpe, sister of the bride, and both were charmingly attired, it is needless to say. The groom was supported by his brother, Mr. W. McArthur, while Rev. D. N. McCamus tied the knot. The guests partook of a sumptuous wedding breakfast, and then a large number accompanied the happy couple to their new home in Ops, across from the homestead. All will join with us in wishing them much happiness and prosperity.

—When Mr. Geo. Belford was reciting the "Midnight Charge at Kassassin," at Belleville an old veteran stood it as long as he could and shouted at the finish, "Hurrah! that's it, young fellow."

Insurance Catechism.

Why should I insure my life?

Many men insure their property but neglect to insure their lives. The property insured may never burn, but death is sure to occur. To a family a man's life is its property. It represents food, shelter, clothing, education for the children, and all the necessaries and comforts of life. A small investment in life insurance makes it possible for every man to leave his family above want. This certain provision cannot be obtained in any other institution. No man who is physically able to obtain the indemnity which life insurance gives is free from reproach if he neglects the important duty.

With whom should I insure?

Answer—With E. E. HENDERSON, General Agent, Peterborough.

Why?—Because you will be insured in a thoroughly reliable, safe and honorable Company, at lowest rates.

It is Absurd

For people to expect a cure for Indigestion, unless they refrain from eating what is unwholesome; but if anything will sharpen the appetite and give tone to the digestive organs, it is Ayer's Sarsaparilla. Thousands all over the land testify to the merits of this medicine.

Mrs. Sarah Burroughs, of 248 Eighth street, South Boston, writes: "My husband has taken Ayer's Sarsaparilla, for Dyspepsia and torpid liver, and has been greatly benefited."

A Confirmed Dyspeptic.

C. Canterbury, of 141 Franklin st., Boston, Mass., writes, that, suffering for years from Indigestion, he was at last induced to try Ayer's Sarsaparilla and, by its use, was entirely cured.

Mrs. Joseph Aubin, of High street, Holyoke, Mass., suffered for over a year from Dyspepsia, so that she could not eat substantial food, became very weak, and was unable to care for her family. Neither the medicines prescribed by physicians, nor any of the remedies advertised for the cure of Dyspepsia, helped her, until she commenced the use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla. "Three bottles of this medicine," she writes, "cured me."

A STORY OF THESE TIMES.

"Then, in the meantime, Violet, I shall eat you," says Captain Rodney, amiably, "just to take the edge off my appetite. You would be hardly sufficient for a good meal!" He laughs and glances significantly at her slight but charming figure, which is petite but perfect, and then sinks into a low chair near her.

"I hear this dance at the Chetwoodes' is to be rather a large affair," says Geoffrey, indifferently. "I met Gore to-day, and he says the duchess is going, and half the county."

"You dance, of course," says Lady Rodney, turning to Mona.

"Oh, yes," says Mona, brightening even under this small touch of friendliness. "I'm very fond of it, too. I can get through all the steps without a mistake."

At this extraordinary speech Lady Rodney stares in bewilderment.

"Ah, waltzes and polkas you mean?" she says, in a puzzled tone.

"Eh?" says Mrs. Geoffrey.

"You can waltz?"

"Oh, no!" shaking her lovely head emphatically, with a smile. "It's country dances I mean. Up the middle and down again, and all that," moving her hand in a soft undulating way as though keeping it in accord with some music that is ringing in her brain. Then, sweetly, "Did you ever dance a country dance?"

"Never!" says Lady Rodney, in a stony fashion. "I don't even know what you mean."

"No?" arching her brows, and looking really sorry for her. "What a pity. They all come quite naturally to me. I don't remember ever being taught them. The music seemed to inspire me, and I really dance them very well. Don't I, Geoff?"

"I never saw your equal," says Geoffrey, who, with Sir Nicholas, has been listening to the last half of the conversation, and who is plainly suppressing a strong desire to laugh.

"Do you remember the evening you taught me the country dance that I said was like an old-fashioned minuet? And what an apt pupil I proved! I really think I could dance it now. By the bye, my mother never saw one danced.—She"—apologetically—"has not been out much. Let us go through one now for her benefit."

"Yes, let us," says Mona, gayly.

"Pray do not give yourselves so much trouble on my account," says Lady Rodney, with intense but subdued indignation.

"It won't trouble us, not a bit," says Mrs. Geoffrey, rising with alacrity. "I shall love it, the floor is so nice and slippery. Can any one whistle?"

At this Sir Nicholas gives way and laughs out loud, whereon Mona laughs too, though she reddens slightly, and says, "Well, of course, the piano will do, though the fiddle is best of all."

"Violet, play us something," says Geoffrey, who has quite entered into the spirit of the thing, and who doesn't mind his mother's "horrors" in the least, but remembers how sweet Mona used to look when going slowly and with that quaint solemn dignity of hers "through her steps."

"I shall be charmed," says Violet; "but what is a country dance? Will 'Sir Roger' do?"

"No. Play anything monotonous, that is slow and dignified besides, and it will answer; in fact, anything at all," says Geoffrey, largely, at which Violet smiles and seats herself at the piano.

"Well, just wait till I tuck up the tail of my gown," says Mrs. Geoffrey, airily flinging her pale blue skirt over her white bare arm.

"You may as well call it a train; people like it better," says Geoffrey. "I'm sure I don't know why, but perhaps it sounds better."

"There can scarcely be any question about that," says Lady Rodney, unwilling to let any occasion pass that may permit a slap at Mona.

"Yet the Princess D—— always calls her train a 'tail,'" says Violet, turning on her piano-stool to make this remark, which is balm to Mona's soul; after which she once more concentrates her thoughts on the instrument before her, and plays some odd old-fashioned air that suits well the dance of which they have been speaking.

Then Geoffrey offers Mona his hand, and leads her to the center of the polished floor. There they salute each other in a rather Grandisonian fashion, and then separate.

The light from the great pine fire streams over all the room, throwing a rich glow upon the scene, upon the girl's flushed and earnest face, and large happy eyes, and graceful rounded figure, betraying also the grace and poetry of her every movement.

She stands well back from Geoffrey, and then, without any of the foolish, unlovely bashfulness that degenerates so often into awkwardness in the young, begins her dance.

It is a very curious and obsolete, if singularly charming, performance, full of strange bows and unexpected turnings, and courtesies dignified and deep.

As she advances and retreats, with her svelte figure drawn to its fullest height, and her face eager and intent upon the business in hand, and with her whole heart thrown apparently into the successful accomplishment of her task, she is looking far lovelier than she herself is at all aware.

Even Lady Rodney for the moment has fallen a prey to her unpremeditated charms, and is leaning forward anxiously watching her. Jack and Sir Nicholas are enchanted.

The shadows close them in on every side. Only the fire-light illumines the room, casting its most brilliant and ruddy rays upon its central figures, until they look like beings conjured up from the olden times, as they flit to and fro in the slow mysterious mazes of the dance.

Mona's naked arms gleam like snow in the uncertain light. Each movement of hers is full of grace and verve. Her entire action is grace.

The music, soft and almost mournful, echoes through the room; the feet keep time upon the oaken floor; weird-like the two forms move through the settled gloom.

The door at the farthest end of the room has been opened, and two people who are as yet invisible stand upon the threshold too surprised to advance, too enthralled, indeed, by the sight before them to wish to do so.

Only as Mrs. Geoffrey makes her final courtesy, and Geoffrey, with a laugh, stoops forward to kiss her lips instead of her hand, as acknowledgment of her earnest and very sweet performance, thereby declaring the same to have come to a timely end, do the new-comers dare to show themselves.

For Children and Pulmonary Troubles.

Dr. W. S. Hoy, Point Pleasant, W.Va., says: "I have made a thorough test with Scott's Emulsion in Pulmonary Troubles and General Debility, and have been astonished at the good results; for children with Rickets or Marasmus it is unequalled." Put up in 50c. and $1 sizes.

PRICES FOR THIS MONTH!

Do you want a FUR COAT, Sheppard has a few left; he has no intention to carry them over to '89, hence your opportunity to secure the cheapest coat in Canada.

Choice Black Day Coats $16.00, usual price $25.00.
Corsican Lamb, very fine, $20.00, usual price $30.00.

Now, then, about Cheap Pants. Well, as far as price goes, Pants might be quoted at 50c. and 75c., but these are not Sheppard's prices. What Sheppard will do to-day is this—he will sell you a Fine Tweed PANT in all sizes made right here in the Town of Peterborough

FOR $1.25.

And what's your opinion of this, a Fine WOOL TWEED SUIT in pure Wool Canadian Tweed, Men's in all sizes and

ONLY $4.95.

For Good Honest Goods, free from Shoddy, go to Sheppard's, ou get value and no humbugging.

Give them a Chance.

That is to say, your lungs. Also all your breathing machinery. Very wonderful machinery it is. Not only the larger air-passages, but the thousands of little tubes and cavities leading from them.

When these are clogged and choked with matter which ought not to be there, your lungs cannot half do their work. And what they do, they cannot do well.

Call it cold, cough, pneumonia, catarrh, consumption or any of the family of throat and nose and head and lung obstructions, all are bad. All ought to be got rid of. There is just one sure way to get rid of them. That is to take Boschee's German Syrup which any druggist will sell you at 75 cents a bottle. Even if everything else has failed you you may depend upon this for certain.

THE LATEST MARKET REVIEW.

TORONTO, Feb. 27.—The posted rates at New York are ¼ higher than last week.

The leading money markets are easy with a tendency, perhaps, towards greater business. The rates of discount remain practically unchanged.

Locally the rates of discount may be considered as unchanged. The tendency of money is certainly towards greater ease, while the tone in financial and commercial circles is more cheerful and a feeling of confidence is on the increase.

The total transactions on the local stock market last week were 2055 shares as compared with a total of 3088 shares in the corresponding week of last year.

The local money market continues quiet with no change of rates.

On call to-day, at the Board of Trade: No. 1 fall, 90c bid; No. 1 red winter offered at 90c a year, 95c on the track bid; No. 2 red winter offered at 87c, 84c bid; No. 1 hard Manitoba 88c bid.

Business was very flat on the Local Stock Board, the only transactions being 110 of Commerce at 111 and 139, Western Assurance at 130½.

ST. LAWRENCE MARKET.

Another quiet day was experienced on St. Lawrence market this morning. One load of barley was sold at 71c a bushel. There was a lot of beef in but the market for it was weak and dull. On the hay market there was a little more doing; some five loads of timothy sold for $17. Fresh eggs were offered and found a ready sale at 20 cents per doz.

The following figures were quoted: Beef, hindquarters, per lb., 4c to 8c; beef, forequarters, per lb., 3c to 5c; mutton, per carcase, 7c to 8c; lamb, per carcase, 9c to 15c; veal, 7c to 9c; pork, $7.10 to $7.50; chickens, per pair, 45c to 65c; ducks, per pair, 60c to $1; geese, per lb., 8c to 10c; turkeys, per lb., 12c to 14c; wheat, fall, per bushel, 79c to 81c; wheat, spring, per bush., 77c to 80c; wheat, goose, per bush, 72c to 73c; barley, 72 to 76c; oats, per bush, 46c to 48c; timothy, $13 to $17; clover, $11 to $13; straw, $9 to $10; butter, pound rolls, 20c to 24c; butter, tub, 18c to 20c; cheese, per lb., 12c to 14c.

LIVERPOOL GRAIN MARKET.

Liverpool—Spring wheat 6s 5d to 6s 8d, red winter 6s 7d to 6s 8d; No. 1 Cal. 6s 8d to 6s 9d, corn 4s 8½d, peas 5s 4½d, pork 68s 9d, lard 39s 6d, bacon 38s 6d, cheese 58s 0d, consols 102¾.

Princeton's class of '79 was the wealthiest ever at the institution. Its members are now considering the project of presenting the college with an elegant bronze statue of Dr. McCosh, to be made by H. Gaudens. The cost will be about $35,000.

James Whitcomb Riley began his career as a sign painter, and for a time traveled through Indiana with a patent medicine man. He looks more like a comic actor than a poet, and he adds many of the qualities of the former to those of the latter.

Capt. Smith Cook, who is a candidate for doorkeeper of the Kentucky house of representatives, is supposed to be the tallest native born American. He is seven feet eight inches tall, and only stopped growing seven years ago, when he was 22 years old.

HOW NEIL MET HIS FATE.

THE MURDERER OF GUARD RUTLEDGE EXECUTED AT THE JAIL.

Calm and Sensible—His Last Night—Eggs and Toast for Breakfast—The Instrument of Death—A Large and Well Developed Brain.

TORONTO Feb. 29.

At 9 o'clock yesterday morning, in cold yet bright weather, under the gaze of officials and officials' friends, Robert Neil paid in Toronto Jail the last penalty of the law for the murder of Central Prison Guard Rutledge. He never winced a muscle in the last dread scene, and in his dying words disclaimed he ever had any murderous intent and forgave all as he hoped for forgiveness himself.

The new scaffold was an experiment and a success. Instead of the normal "drop" the culprit had a "hoist." All worked well under the supervision of the anonymous hangman. Death was apparently painless and instantaneous. The neck was not dislocated nor were there any revolting incidents. Calmly Neil stood on the platform, calmly he died and in due course was buried immediately beneath where he was executed.

From 9 o'clock Monday night until 1.30, Neil sat and chatted with his guards, mostly on religious topics. He spent much of the time in prayer, but would sometimes revert to the Central Prison tragedy, and the crime he had committed. "I had nothing against Guard Rutledge," he told Death Watch Wilson. "He never hurt me, but Guards Water and Hartley did treat me bad." He included Warden Massie with the other two, and said the three had treated him like a dog. As for Rutledge he again and again reiterated the assertion that he did not mean to kill him. From 1.30 until 7 o'clock yesterday morning Neil slept soundly, so soundly that John Armstrong, the prisoner who was looking after his wants, had to shake him to get him out of bed.

At 7.15 Inspector Breckenreid and six men marched to the jail from the Wilton-avenue station. They were needed to patrol the outside of the jail wall and keep the small boys and their elders from climbing the brick defences and looking down at the execution. Sheriff's Officer Sherman was stationed at the jail door to take up the tickets, Turnkey T. H. Wilson acting as inner guard. At 8.20 Undertaker McCabe arrived with a coffin, a plain pine affair, painted black.

As the hour of execution approached a feeling of unrest began to be felt, and watches were consulted to see how many minutes were to elapse before Neil would meet his doom. In order to prevent the crowd pushing in on the officers of justice a temporary fence about three feet high and extending outwardly from the wall about fifty feet had been erected, and no spectator was allowed to come within these bounds.

At last the appearance of County Crown Attorney Badgerow in the yard, heading the march to the gallows, indicated to the waiters that the hour of Neil's death had come and silence fell upon the crowd.

The hangman entered the condemned man's cell at 8.45. He carried with him the hempen cord for the purpose of pinioning Neil's arms. The prisoner was not in any way taken aback and patiently submitted to the operation. This was not of an entensive or elaborate character. The new cord was double-fold, passed from arm to arm just above the elbow joint and securely tied sailor-fashion in the middle of the back.

The operation occupied but a few minutes, and then the She iff, looking at his watch said, "The time is up."

The prisoner replied, "I am ready to die," and forthwith the procession, the last on earth for Neil, was formed.

Solemnly they paced, the least anxious of the party being Neil. He was a little pale, but looked healthy; his eyes were not bright, for he had been weeping in the cell, but he wore no downcast look, did not apparently take special notice of anybody or anything, and the first sight which met his eyes on mounting the dozen steps into the yard was the upreared gallows. This he looked at for a few moments intently but apparently unnerved and unconcerned.

Across the frozen snow the procession, which was the cynosure of all eyes, passed and entered the railed off enclosure. Inspector Breckenreed and his constables were on duty, and with the exception of officials and one or two representative visitors allowed no one to pass the precincts. Neil was at once conducted to the centre of the platform by his custodians, the fatal noose being immediately behind his head. In front of the scaffold his spiritual advisers disposed themselves, the Sheriff and Governor occupying positions close to the man who in the midst of life was so shortly to be in death.

The hangman at once drew the ominous black cap from his pocket, and was advancing to place it on the head of the culprit, when Governor Green asked Neil if he wished to say anything.

In response the murderer said in a low voice which was only imperfectly heard by the spectators:

I am here although I ought not to be here. I would not have been here but for that man at the Central Prison. I never meant to kill that man any more than I wish to kill any man here. They used me up there so bad that I didn't know what I was doing. They used me like a brute. It is not my fault that I am here. It is pretty hard to be hanged; but I forgive everyone, and I hope to be forgiven.

The hangmen then adjusted the noose at Neil's neck, when the culprit was heard to complain and the knot was readjusted.

Neil then said in a clear, firm voice: "May the Lord have mercy on my soul," to which Governor Green and well nigh every one present responded "Amen!"

The hangman hereupon adjusted the black cap, and chisel in hand, took his post close to the detaching rope. Then, in clear tones on the frosty air, arose the prayer which is earliest learned and never forgotten in every civilized land: "Our Father Who Art in Heaven." Thus rang out the death-knell of Robert Neil, for the pastor had not proceeded further in the well-known prayer than "Deliver us—," when the hangman cut the rope, and Neil was swung into the air and was in the throes of death.

It should be added that before cutting the rope the hangman asked Neil, "Have you any hard feelings against me?" "No, I have not," replied Neil, and it was on receiving this answer that the executioner reached up with his right hand and secured the rope. The executioner whispered a wish to Neil to shake hands and allowed his own to touch Neil's, but met with no responsive clasp.

With a blow of the chisel the executioner cut the check rope, the 300 pound weight struck the ground, and Neil shot up in the air fully four feet, came down again with a jerk, and hung apparently lifeless a foot from the earth. After hanging a second, he made an ineffectual attempt to raise his pinioned arms to his head, his legs gave a slight twitch, and the body lost motion.

The body was allowed to remain hanging for 15 minutes, when Undertaker McCabe appeared with the coffin. The jail officials cut the body down and carried it into the condemned cell, which was in process of being swept and cleaned for Gamble, who dies next Tuesday unless reprieved.

The Executioner.

The executioner did his work mechanically, without any show of nervousness, and looked boldly back at the curious eyes bent upon him. The only disguise he wore was a false moustache and hair dye. His height was fully six feet, and he had the appearance of having been a British soldier. It was said he had had similar experience in the United States and that he hails from Buffalo.

NEIL'S MYSTERIOUS HINTS.

What is Thought About Them in Official Circles.

TORONTO, Feb. 29.

The alleged confessions of Neil are creating considerable speculation in the city. As already stated in The World, Neil had made some rambling statements to the guards employed to watch him. These were carried to Governor Green, who tried hard to get Neil to talk about the matter, but Neil closed his mouth and refused to say another word. Governor Green professed entire ignorance about the pretended confession. As far as he knew Neil had carried the secret, if he had one, with him to the grave.

According to general report, for now the man is dead everybody concerned seems to be as close mouthed as the dead man, Neil stated to Guard Wilson that an old man named John Cochrane, whose body was found in the Bay at the foot of Berkeley-street in 1886, had been murdered for his weekly wage ($8), and the body dumped into the water. He claimed to know the murderer. A few days later he supplemented this semi-confession with another and still more startling one.

This time it was Mr. George D. Morse who had been the victim of foul play. It will be remembered that Mr. Morse's body was found floating in the slip at the foot of Berkeley-street. Neil said that he had been sandbagged and mentioned the murderer's name, accounting for the fact that all the dead man's valuables were found on his person, by stating that after he had been sandbagged he fell into the water before the murderer could grab the body.

These stories were both plausible, and it is puzzling the minds of the jail officials how much credence could be placed in them.

The fear is expressed that Neil evolved all these circumstances out of his own brain, hoping if not finally to cheat the gallows, at least to obtain a longer lease of life. This would seem to be the real reason for Neil's statements when it is considered that even when the scaffold stared him in the face he remained silent. It is probable that had he seen the slightest chance of a reprieve he would have been more explicit.

Both Governor Green and Sheriff Mowat deny the existence of any confession. Detective Inspector Stark has received no notification of such a statement on the part of Neil, and looks upon his rambling statement with doubt.

Mr. Charles Morse and his brother John, sons of the late George D. Morse, had a long conference with Governor Green in the jail immediately after the execution, and on leaving declared that as far as they knew there was no foundation for Neil's story.

Gamble's Chances.

During the execution of Neil, John Gamble, sentenced to die next Tuesday for the murder of Lizzie Bray, was terribly excited, and showed great nervousness. He paced up and down his cell for over an hour, and finally threw himself on his bed and wept bitterly. He enquired eagerly of the death watch how Neil stood the ordeal, and drank in with avidity every detail of the execution. Yesterday afternoon he was placed in Neil's cell, where he will remain until either reprieved or executed. Lawyer Murdoch, who was seen in the afternoon, said: "I have received no news from Ottawa yet," he said; "but expect it every mail. I think that the Executive refrained from sending a reprieve earlier, so as not to leave any false hopes in the heart of Neil. Should no word come before to-morrow night I will go down to Ottawa again and have another interview with the Minister of Justice."

Farmer receives $1,000 for playing with the Pittsburgs. Quite a big jump from $4 per game with the West Chester club. The chances are that next season he will get over double that money, as he is an excellent player and will be able to hold any pitcher's delivery on the Pittsburg team.

MAINTENANCE OF BRIDGES

A LIVELY LITTLE DEBATE IN THE ONTARIO LEGISLATURE.

Duties of the Sheriff of York and the Sheriff of Toronto Defined—Mines and Forests to be Discussed on Tuesday—Talk in the Lobbies.

TORONTO, Feb. 29.

There was nothing particularly important done at the Legislature yesterday. The bills have begun to percolate through the last strata of procedure, quite a number passing the final reading yesterday and becoming the law of the province. Mr. Waters' bridge bill gave rise to a good deal of fun, though its defeat did not seem to be a joke the member for Middlesex enjoyed very heartily. The House adjourned at 5.15.

Mr. Waters' bill in regard to the maintenance of bridges came up for second reading. It was debated for half an hour or more. Mr. Drury's opinion was that this matter should be shelved till a new Parliament was elected, inasmuch as it was voted down last session. He did not think Mr. Waters considered the provisions of the bill thoroughly.

Mr. Waters ruffled up at once, and the way he defended himself from such a charge, and the way he strewed salt over the member from Simcoe put the House in uproar. Mr. Drury could go home as often as he liked and then come here and say he considered the provisions of the bill thoroughly, while the speaker, who never was out of the House but one day in nine sessions—[immense applause]—was, forsooth, told he did not consider the bill thoroughly. [Applause.]

Mr. Drury: The difference between myself and the member for Middlesex is that I go home on the Sabbath Day and he stays here—I presume for the purpose of reading up the municipal law. [Cheers and laughter.]

Mr. Waters (resentfully): I want the hon. gentleman to understand that on Sundays I never put my pen on paper or read the municipal law or any other law. [More laughter and applause.]

Mr. Meredith said Mr. Waters had made a damaging confession in saying he read neither the municipal nor any other law on Sundays. Surely he read the Good Book. [Laughter.] At the same time, Mr. Drury stood a not very good chance in this great race that was to come off if he had Mr. Waters after him.

Mr. Preston moved a three months' hoist, but it was withdrawn on Mr. Waters' consent to decide the fate of the bill at once.

The vote was taken and the bill was defeated by 51 to 37, the Government voting against it.

Mr. Stewart's bill to amend the act respecting coroners so as to dispense with useless coroners' inquests at jails, was brought up. The Attorney-General did not feel disposed to advise the House to adopt it. The present law was the law that had been in force from time immemorial almost. He would require strong reasons before he would support a change.

The bill was withdrawn.

Mr. Awrey's bill to amend the Municipal Act was read a second time.

Mr. Lees' bill to amend the Municipal Act regarding roads was discussed and withdrawn.

Mr. Balfour's bill to amend the Municipal Act, defining certain clauses, was read a second time.

Around the Lobbies.

The Railway Committee met yesterday forenoon and considered three bills. The bill respecting the South Norfolk Railway was amended so as to give townships power to vote bonuses. The St. Catharines, Thorold and Merriton Street Railway Bill was approved of on the addition of a bonded clause and the subtraction of the clause giving power to manufacture and distribute electricity for sale. The Manitoulin and North Shore Railway Bill was amended slightly and reported.

The names of Messrs. Murray, Cruess and Monk have been added to the committee appointed to consider Mr. Phelps' bill to amend the game law.

Mr. J. Cameron, Woodstock, president of the Jailers' Association of Ontario, and Mr. N. W. Moore, St. Thomas, the secretary, were introduced to the Attorney-General by Mr. Harcourt. They wanted the Government to compel county councils to provide jails with proper sanitary arrangements. Mr. Moore gave instances of where the county officials were actually driven from the county buildings on account of foulness escaping from the sewers connected with the building. The county councillors were generally elected on the score of economy, and they know, said Mr. Moore, "about as much about sanitary matters as I do about preaching a funeral sermon." Mr. Mowat invited them up to his house to talk the matter over fully.

THE PROCEDURE RULES.

A Change in the Closure Adopted by the British House.

LONDON, Feb. 28.—In the House of Commons to-day the second procedure rule, which reduces to 100 the majority necessary to enforce closure, was adopted by a vote of 256 to 134.

A motion for the adoption of a rule enabling the Speaker to order the withdrawal of disorderly members or to ask the House to decide upon the conduct of such members was adopted.

Party Conclaves.

LONDON, Feb. 28.—The Parnellites will meet on Wednesday to discuss their attitude in the debate on Mr. Parnell's Arrears Bill.

A Unionist conclave will be held on the return of Mr. Chamberlain to consider the Local Government Bill and Mr. Russell's Arrears Bill.

Martyr Cox Released.

LIMERICK, Feb. 28.—Mr. Cox, M.P., who was sentenced to a month's imprisonment for a speech inciting tenants to conspiracy, was released to-day. A crowd gathered to greet him on his release, and Mr. Cox made a speech denouncing Chief Secretary Balfour and maintaining that the National League was stronger than ever. He was afterwards presented with numerous addresses.

Is It a Demonstration Against France?

PARIS, Feb. 28.—The Gaulois and Figaro assert that the presence of a British squadron in the Gulf of Genoa is owing to the action of Signor Crispi, the Italian Premier and Foreign Minister, who wished to make a demonstration against France.

LONDON, Feb. 28.—Three of M. Pasteur's agents sailed from Naples for New South Wales to-day, taking with them a quantity of cholera microbes with which to inoculate and ultimately exterminate the rabbits in Australia.

THE MANHOOD SUFFRAGE BILL.

Principal Clauses of the Measure to be Shortly Introduced in the Legislature.

TORONTO, Feb. 29.—Although Mr. Mowat's Manhood Suffrage Bill was not brought down in the Legislature yesterday, the following will be found a very accurate wording of the principal clauses:

Property or income qualification for voters as respects the Legislative Assembly is abolished, except as hereinafter provided.

The following persons (and no others) being males of the full age of 21 years, and subjects of Her Majesty by birth or naturalization, and not being disqualified under sections 4 and 5 of the Ontario Election Act, or otherwise by law prevented from voting, shall, if duly entered on the list of voters proper to be used at the election then pending according to the provisions of the said act, or the Voters' Lists Act, be entitled to vote at elections to serve in the Legislative Assembly of this province, that is to say;

Every male person who, at the time fixed by statute, or by a bylaw authorized by statute, for the return of the assessment roll to the clerk, had resided in this province for twelve months next preceding the said time, and who at the said time was in good faith a resident of, and domiciled in, the municipality in the list of which he is entered, and who, at the time of tendering his vote, is a resident of and domiciled within the electoral district and had resided therein continuously from the time first aforesaid.

Occasional or temporary absence of any person in the prosecution of his occupation as a lumberman, mariner or fisherman, or in attendance as a student in an institution of learning in this province, shall not be construed to be a discontinuance of residence, within the meaning of this act, and shall not disentitle such person to be entered on the voters' list as a qualified voter, or to vote.

a. Enfranchised Indians, whether of whole or part Indian blood, shall, like other persons, be entitled to vote without having a property qualification.

b. Unenfranchised Indians of whole or part Indian blood residing among Indians, or on an Indian reserve, shall not be entitled ro vote.

c. Unenfranchised Indians, of whole or part Indian blood, not residing among Indians or on an Indian reserve, shall, in lieu of legal enfranchisement, be required to have the same property qualification as heretofore in order to entitle them to vote.

The same property qualification as heretofore shall be necessary in such of the municipalities, townships, and places in the Electoral Districts of Algoma East, Algoma West, East Victoria, East Peterboro, North Hastings, North Renfrew, South Renfrew, Muskoka and Parry Sound as may have no assessment roll or voters' list.

The assessor shall place on the roll the name of every male person who delivers or causes to be delivered to the assessor an affidavit signed by such person in the form or to the effect set forth in Form "B" appended hereto, if the facts stated are such as to entitle such person to be placed thereon.

The affidavit may be taken before any assessor or justice of the peace, commissioner for taking affidavits, or notary public, and every such officer shall, upon request administer an oath to any person wishing to make an affidavit in the form or to the effect aforesaid.

FARMERS' INSTITUTE.

SECOND MEETING OF THE WEST PETERBOROUGH ORGANIZATION.

Mr. Carnegie Opens With an Excellent Paper on "Buying and Selling"—Mr. Cluxton Discusses "Commercial Union"—Only a Fair Attendance at the Day Sessions.

A meeting of the West Peterborough Farmers' Institute was held at the Court House this morning.

Vice-President T. E. Bell, occupied the chair and among those present were Messrs. Secretary Bell, Jno. Carnegie, D. Kennedy, J. Coyle Brown, Dr. Caldwell, Simpson, W. Cluxton, Matthews, Garbutt, Rutherford, Johnston and Trennum, in addition to quite a number of others.

The CHAIRMAN in opening made a few appropriate remarks on the usefulness of Farmers' Institutes, and said that the farmers of West Peterborough were bound to get all the good out of the Institutes that there is in them, and in conclusion he called upon Mr. John Carnegie to read a paper.

BUYING AND SELLING.

Mr. JOHN CARNEGIE read a paper as follows:—In endeavouring to comply with the request that I should read, at this meeting, a paper on "The Best Means of Obtaining a Market for Farm Produce," I propose to begin by changing the title of my paper from that given me to that of "Buying and Selling," believing that the latter heading will be more in accordance with the points which I shall endeavour to make, than the one given me.

Ever since "Adam delve and Eve spun" the art of buying cheap and selling dear has troubled our race. Indeed, such transactions are the natural outcome of the sentence passed upon our first parents on their expulsion from Eden, and as a consequence we find Abel buying his living as a keeper of sheep and Cain selling his labour—the only common capital of mankind—for the fruits of the earth; and although we are not so informed, it requires little stretch of imagination to assume that these two had their "dickers" in which each sought to get the best of the bargain, and consequently the best of each other, just as man has done ever since, without much regard for the Divine injunction, that we should do unto others as we would have them do unto us.

But the art of buying and selling is not only ancient, but includes every kind of transaction into which the element of exchange enters. The farmer at his plough, the lawyer at his desk, the mechanic at his bench, the banker at his counter, the editor in his chair—yea, even the politician on the stump or in legislative halls—are all in one way or another just as much engaged in buying and selling as the merchant in his shop. True, the wares dealt in differ widely, but the same principle of exchange, and desire of gain—real or imaginery—runs through them all, and all of them are dependent—entirely dependent except in the case of the farmer—upon others for a market for their wares.

Cain would not have labored for the fruits of the earth had not Cain required these things for the sustenance of his body, any more than does his brother of to-day labour for the mere fun of the thing and without any ulterior object in view. And what, after all, are we here to-day for, but to aid each other in obtaining the largest possible share of earthly fruits for the sustenance of our bodies and the gratification of our desires in return for the smallest possible expenditure of labour?

The increase in kind and variety of the fruits of the earth since the days of Cain and the wondrous multiplication of appliances for the production and fitting for man's use of these fruits has brought about a division of labour and necessitated such a multiplication of exchanges that the question of "the best means of obtaining a market for farm produce" has become one of vital importance, not merely to those engaged in their production, but to mankind. Indeed, I do not think I should be far wrong in claiming that the proper solution of this question is of even more importance to the non-agricultural classes than to the farmers themselves, because the farmer, under a system of mixed husbandry, such as we have in Ontario, occupies this unique position that, so long as seed-time and harvest last, he is assured as the results of his labours—independent of the ebb and flow of markets—of not only the necessaries of life, but of many of its comforts, and not a few of the luxuries of even this luxurious age.

When therefore I am asked to discuss "the best means of obtaining a market for farm produce," I apprehend that I have only to deal with that portion of the products of our farms which is not consumed by its producers. So far as the flour, the meat, the vegetables, or anything else produced, is consumed by the producer, it matters not what the market price thereof may be. They at least are paid for in the same coin as Cain and Abel paid for theirs—and the price paid therefor, assuming reasonable diligence and judgment to have been exercised, depends not on worldly markets but upon the blessing of an allwise Providence. Not so, however, with the other classes of which the world is made up. The lawyer may be a second Blake, but without clients he must beg or starve; the banker may have tons of gold in his coffers, but without someone who will give him bread in exchange, all his gold will not appease a single craving, of hunger and so on with all the employments save that of agriculture. Cut off a market outside of themselves and they are reduced to want and must starve for the necessaries of life. Obviously, then, farmers being the only class in the community which produces the necessaries of life, all other classes must look to him for their supply of these and be to them for a market for his surplus. Their prosperity up to a certain point means an increased consumption of—a better market for—his products. I say up to a certain point, because no matter how wealthy a man may be, nature has placed a limit upon the consuming powers of even a glutton—a point beyond which he cannot go, no matter how great his treasures of gold, or how bountiful the harvest. Consequently the more numerous the non-agricultural population of a community the better will be the market for farm produce. When the demands of the non-agricultural classes exceed the available supplies, then farm produce becomes relatively dear, and when the position is reversed, then it becomes relatively cheap. The improvement of the farmer's market therefore resolves itself into one of and is dependent upon the number of well to-do people dependent upon him for their supplies. We hear a great deal now-a-days about the proper distribution of wealth, while we hear very little about what really lies at the foundation of true wealth: the proper distribution of opportunities for the disposal of the common capital of mankind, labor in one form or another.

Instead of promoting an equality in this respect, I venture to think that many things of modern date have contributed to multiplying inequalities in the labor market rather than removing them—to, in other words, making the rich richer and the poor poorer. Viewed from our present standpoint the Utopian community would be one in which every member of it contributed neither more nor less than his fair share of the labor necessary to supply the wants, the comforts and the reasonable luxuries of the same. I use the word "community," because whether as a free trader you would make this community the world, or as a protectionist you would make it your own country, or as a commercial unionist you would make it the continent, the arguments I have thus far advanced are equally applicable and equally true. But, unfortunately, we have not, and I fear will not, even in the generation of our children, reach that stage of the world's history in which the chief aim of the people of any community—small or large—will be a fair and just distribution of the labours necessary to the supply of its wants. And that being the case, in endeavouring to aid you in solving the question under consideration, I shall ask your attention to some things as they are and not as they should be.

From what has already been said I think the two following points may be accepted as having been placed beyond dispute:

1st. That the farmer's market being dependent upon the existence of a non-agricultural class, the larger and the more well-to do that class is the better his market, and

2nd. That the community of farmers having an advantage over all those not of their own community, in supplying relatively the largest number and best off of the non-agriculturists, will have the best market—will receive the largest return—not necessarily in dollars and cents, but of the products of the non-agricultural classes in exchange for their own.

And now let me ask you, in considering this matter, to obliterate from your minds, the measuring of everything by a mere money standard—money is only valuable as a medium of exchange, not as the object for which we labor. Wheat has not actually fallen in value, when it has declined, say, from $1 25 to a $1.00, if the things which you wish to buy for the money obtained for it have also fallen from $1.00 to 75c, but as a matter of fact has actually advanced, inasmuch as the purchasing power of 45 lbs of wheat is now as great as that of 48 lbs. when it was nominally 25 per cent. higher. Another thing which should not be overlooked in this connection is: that the amount of labour required to produce, say, a bushel of wheat ready for market has greatly diminished within recent years. The amount of labour involved in harvesting a bushel of wheat with a self-binder, or saving a ton of hay with a mower and horse-rake, compared with what it required in the days of cradles, sythes and hand-rakes, is almost infinitesimal, and the farmer has no more right to, if he could, ignore the effect of such things upon the cost of his production, than have the manufacturers of the fabrics with which we are clothed a right to ignore the invention of the spining jenny.

In looking back upon the wonderful development and application of machinery to almost every employment in recent years one is forced to ask, where is this thing going to stop? And how long can it continue without rendering an excess of production the rule—not the exception? Indeed, I think the present depressed state of our markets may, in not a few instances, be traced thereto. Look, for instance at our own North-west! Without the self-binder and thresher the millions of bushels of grain harvested there last season by a handful of people would have been an impossibility, while without the means provided for transporting it to the homes of the non-agricultural classes, it must, if produced, have gone to add to the stores which nature has for ages been laying up on these prairies for the production of food for man.

And this leads up to another fact, which must not be overlooked, in our looking for better markets, and that is that distances are no longer measured by miles, but by the facilities which exist for intercommunication. Apsley is in miles much nearer Peterborough than Toronto; but try to convey 1,000 bushels of wheat between these points and you will soon find that for the purposes of exchange Toronto is much the nearer of the two. Indeed I have been informed of a case in which, measured in this way, Chicago proved to be nearer Peterborough than Bethany.

Another point which I wish to emphasize is this:—That the nearer the producer and consumer can be brought to each other the better for both. Although I am not a Granger, yet if I understand one of the objects of that order rightly it is sound at bottom, although like many other good things it may be carried too far. The one I refer to is that of endeavouring to bring the actual producer as near as possible to actual consumer, so that these two may divide between them the profits of the middlemen. Now, while the middleman is a very useful gentleman, and one which we could not get along without, they are much like the lawers and doctors—the less necessity requires us to employ them the better for our pockets and bodies. While, therefore, middlemen are a necessity, their numbers, in our commercial Utopia, will be reduced to a minimum, and their reduction, not their multiplication, will be the object of all.

As not only the best, but only means of obtaining a market for the surplus products of the farm is by obtaining access to, and so far as possible control of, the supply of a non-agricultural population, whatever will best accomplish this will be the best means thereto.

Even the ultra "free trader," I believe, admits that the nearer the producer is brought to the consumer, other things being equal, the better for both; but that the other things not being equal, it is desirable that trade should be as unramelled as the air we breathe, in order that every one may sell in the dearest and buy in the cheapest market—overlooking, to my mind, the fact that every seller is a buyer in some form or another, and therefore that this hackneyed talk about always buying in the cheapest and selling in the dearest market reduces itself to an absurdity, except in those instances in which the producer is drawing upon the accumulated wealth of ages—as is now being done in the production of wheat in our own Northwest. Except under such special circumstances how Jones can sell wheat dear and Smith buy it cheap—especially when they live thousands of miles apart, and have to employ middlemen and carriers to effect the exchange—passes my comprehension. To me it would seem more like buying dear and selling cheap. To this, however, our free trade friend will doubtless reply. The saving of these intermediary charges ought to be sufficient and would be sufficient to bring Jones and Smith together if nature had not intended them to remain apart. It may be so, but I venture to think differently. Man in his early history—in a state of nature, if you will—was a self-sustaining animal, each family bring its own complete producer and consumer. True, the Almighty having created us with varying strengths, abilities, tastes and desires, the production of each member of the family varied among themselves, and as time went on, between different families and in different climates and countries; and as these developed, the middleman developed and history recounts how, not the majority of producers and consumers, but the middlemen—the merchant princes of great sea ports and commercial centres—reaped the chief rewards of an increased division of employments. And when we boast, as we are sometimes given to do, of the vast strides which manufacturing and its consequent division of employments has made, let us not forget that this multiplication of divisions of labour has been by no means an unmixed benefit; that it, in too many instances, reduces man to a part of a machine, and that when that machine for any cause is thrown out of employment he too is rendered useless, and made dependent upon others for his bread—a state of affairs certainly not in accordance with nature, however much it may be in accordance with the principle of always buying in the cheapest and selling in the dearest market.

But another reason why we cannot leave our trade relations to be controlled by the mere cost of exchange, especially

NOT TO BE TINKERED WITH

THE TARIFF WILL BE LET ALONE DURING THIS SESSION.

A Wink to a Blind Horse as Good as a Nod—No Deputations Need Apply—The Liberal Leadership—The Opposition and the Fisheries Treaty.

OTTAWA, Feb. 28.—Sir Charles Tupper made a statement in the House this afternoon which sets at rest ideas that may have been formed that there is to be any "tariff tinkering" during the present session of Parliament. It has been rumored around the lobbies that the Government had made up its mind to let the tariff alone for a time, and Sir Charles told the House in a word that this was correct.

What effect this announcement will have upon movements which have been started in several quarters to fight the modes and operations of various "combines" which are said to exist in Canada remains to be seen. Mr. Clarke Wallace's motion for a select committee is virtually in the direction of enquiring into the operation of what is popularly known as the "sugar combine."

Sir Charles intimated in his remarks that a wink was as good as a nod to a blind horse and that deputations and individuals who anticipated a journey to the Capital to obtain tariff modifications or increases might take a hint and save themselves time and expense. This announcement on the authority of the Minister of Finance will be of considerable interest to the importers and manufacturers of the country.

The Liberals held their first caucus this forenoon in Room 49, immediately under the big tower. There were about fifty of the seventy-seven followers of Mr. Laurier present. Various matters affecting the interests of the Liberal party were discussed in a two-hours' session but there was positively no discussion or misunderstanding about the leadership. The position of affairs is just this: Mr. Blake is still the leader of the party. Mr. Blake is recruiting his health in Italy. Mr. Laurier is Mr. Blake's first-lieutenant. In Mr. Blake's temporary absence his eminent French colleague leads the party. When Mr. Blake returns he will assume the leadership.

The caucus, of course, had a good deal to say about the Fisheries Treaty, and there is a pretty well defined understanding that the Liberals who live in parts of Canada where the coast fisheries are of no direct importance or interest will fall in line with their colleagues from salt water constituencies. Mr. Davies of Prince Edward Island, for instance, will probably have a good deal to say in shaping the course of the Opposition with reference to the treaty.

By-the-bye Mr. Edgar is going to take a prominent hand in this fisheries matter, and he is fortifying himself with data and information about the present laws which regulate imposts on Canadian fishing vessels in our own harbors and bays. Mr. Edgar had a lengthy question on the paper, which I telegraphed the other day, and in reply to this the Minister of Marine said:

"Canadian fishing vessels are required to report, enter or clear when they put into Canadian ports or harbors for shelter or repairing damages, provided they require to communicate with the shore or remain over twenty-four hours. When they merely run in and remain at anchor for a few hours they are not required to report. All fishing vessels are exempt from sick mariners' dues; they have, however, the option of paying them and securing the benefits of the fund. Harbormasters' dues are exacted at ports proclaimed under the act from all vessels entering and discharging or taking in cargoes, ballast, stores, wood and water. These would not therefore be legally required from Canadian fishing vessels in for shelter and repairs and in practice are seldom exacted from any Canadian vessel. In Halifax harbormasters' dues are not paid by any vessels under twenty tons nor by coasting vessels, which include fishing vessels. At Pictou and Sydney harbor dues are by Act of Parliament exacted from all vessels over forty tons register. Whether in practice fishing vessels are exempt when over forty tons cannot be stated without correspondence with the harbormasters of those ports. All vessels under eighty tons are exempted from compulsory pilotage dues by the general act. Pilotage authorities have in addition the power to make other exemptions with consent of the Governor-in-Council and have generally exempted fishing vessels. No tonnage, lighter or buoy dues are collected in Canada."

Pat Purcell is beginning to kick at the expense of politics. He does not really know whether he is a member of Parliament or not, and yet he said to-day that his fight in the election court up to date had cost him a cold $8000. Pat has now good reason to know what it costs to employ lawyers who are up in "g" in their profession.

Sir John Macdonald presented the report of the select committee appointing the standing committees of the House and it was adopted.

The Postmaster-General and the Secretary of State presented their annual reports.

GOSSIP FROM THE CAPITAL.

Premier Mercier's Return—Visitors From Hamilton and Toronto.

OTTAWA, Feb. 28.—Premier Mercier of Quebec has written friends in the Capital that he sails from Havre on March 4 or 11.

"The Federal Experiment in Canada: An Historical Study," is the title of a paper to be read by Dr. J. G. Bourinot, Clerk of the House of Commons, before the American Historical Association, which meets at Columbus this year.

A number of visitors from Hamilton and Toronto arrived here to-day. Among them were Mr. Geo. E. Hamilton and wife of the Ambitious City, and G. P. Magann and John Gowden of the Queen City. Mrs. Hamilton (Miss Hunter of Kincardine) sang sweetly this evening at the closing meeting of Crossley and Hunter's revival services. The attendance was immense. Mr. Hamilton left to-night for Japan, via the Canadian Pacific Railroad, where he goes in the interests of Senator Sanford.

Their Excellencies gave a tobogan and skating At Home at Rideau Hall to-night which was attended by 500 people. The grounds were beautifully illuminated. The fireworks were very pretty. The weather was clear and cold. Several accidents happened on the toboggan slide. Mr. Temple, M.P. for York, N.B., Mr. Masson of North Grey, Mr. Cruickshank, Deputy Inspector of the Finance Department, and Miss Wright of Hull all received painful injuries by being upset from a toborgan. Mr. Cruickshank's injuries are of a painful nature.

CHEESE FACTORY.—We learn from Mr. M. Brown that a letter has been received from Mr. John Read, the gentlemen with whom negotiations are being made for the establishment of a cheese factory here, stating as soon as a guaranteed list of 200 cows is furnished him, he will proceed with the work. Mr. Brown has sent for copy of agreement to be entered into between the owners of cows and the cheese manufacturer, and as soon as it arrives he intends taking immediate steps to procure the requisite number of cows. While in conversation with Mr. Brown on this important matter he said:—"Farmers who intend patronizing the factory can now make preparations as it will certainly be pushed forward to a successful issue."—Echo.

A Remarkable Story.

"Dr." Crosse, who it will be remembered was sent to the penetentiary for three years by Judge Armour, from Orillia, for shooting a man named Hamilton, has been liberated. To an acquaintance Crosse said that he had a revolver in his pocket at the time of his trial and that he fully intended to shoot Judge Armour, but his counsel standing between him and the Judge prevented him carrying out his object at the time.

The Great Event.

The large posters announcing and containing full particulars of the third grand carnival of the season, to take place at the Lansdowne rink, on Friday, March 9th, are about ready. The attractions embrace several new features. The prizes far surpass, in intrinsic value, those ever offered in Peterborough on any previous occasion, and keen competition may be expected for their possession. Many persons have already prepared handsome costumes and others are procuring dresses from a distance. Remember that there will be two separate and distinct carnivals, one in the afternoon for the children and that in the evening for the seniors. The date is Friday, March 9th.

A Test Case.

For some time ratepayers have been complaining that dealers have been permitted to go on the market and purchase, to sell again, apples, potatoes, tub butter and other articles, before the hour, eleven o'clock, a. m., allowed by the by-law. There appears to be some doubt as to exactly how far a dealer can go, especially as far as tub butter is concerned, but at any rate Officer Adams saw a dealer this morning who purchased a whole sleigh load of apples and he will be summoned before the Police Magistrate.

Serious Injury From Reckless Talk.

The public generally will regret to learn that two of our respectable young citizens who were born and brought up in Peterborough, and have constantly resided here, always known as sober, steady and industrious young men of careful habits, thrift and energy, have suffered serious injury or may suffer loss, possibly ruin, by the slanderous tongue of evil disposed persons who have industriously circulated damaging reports concerning the business firm we refer to, viz:—Messrs. Dawson Brothers, dry goods, Hunter-st., which are totally false, and we are authorized further to say there is not one shadow of foundation for such reports. We therefore ask the public in all fairness to do justice to these hard working young men by giving them fair play.

A Popular Society With Ladies.

We regret to chronicle the fact that a serious and sinster blow is to be struck at many of our existing institutions, a blow which, if not checked, will carry dismay into the heart of many a future husband and may trespass severely on the privileges of man. Rumor has it that a society is to be formed to be called "The Stay at Home." Its promoters make no secret that its object is to keep in the house at nights recreant and restive husbands, fathers and brothers who flie them off down town seven nights each week to spend the evening in the lodge or otherwise. As laid down the proposed rules are exceedingly simple—but, it is inferred expensive. The member pledges himself to trot down town only one night during each week. If detected on the public highway, on prohibited nights, after the hour of 7 o'clock, a fine is inflicted. Three consecutive fines chalked down against a member leaves him at the mercy of the Grand Principal Dictator who proceeds to inflict the extreme penalty of banishment to Port Hope for two weeks. The by-laws do not—it seems—provide for any severer punishment, but it will strike the unprejudiced thinker that banishment to P. H. is quite enough.

The Picton Farewell.

The Picton Times of last week contains the following letter in reference to the farewell banquet tendered to Dr. J. Earl Jenner, of Picton:—

"DEAR SIR:—I would like as a friend of the doctor's to add a few words to your eulogium of that dinner. I was there and in addition to the most kindly and congratulatory references to the doctor and his good wife, I heard guest after guest afterwards exult over the occasion as one brimful and overflowing with hearty fellow-feeling. And why should it have been otherwise? Those who know the doctor, know that as a student his record is simply par avance. Honors, medals and scholarships have become a plentiful prey to his spurredjabilities, the gold medal and an average of 95 per cent on all subjects in his final examinations at "Trinity" for example. We who know him do not wonder at the evidence of his determination to make his professional life studious and thorough when we think of his having been animated therein through the tutorship of and association with such men and places as Sir Andrew Clarke (physician extraordinary to Queen Victoria), Dr. Fenwick, of London hospital, Dr. Morell MacKenzie, Dr. Warren Tay, of Blackfriars, Moorfields and Soho Hospitals, being recommended to and securing a locum tenens in such a place as Norwich. And then three years of successful and widely extended practice, together with the positions of trust he held so worthily, leave the evidence that Picton loses a sober, industrious, Christian man with a most estimable wife, both of which Peterborough gains."

The Envy of her friend, a lady who uses "Lotus of the Nile" Perfume.

A DANGEROUS SLIDE.

Three Young Ladies and a Young Man Shaken up while Tobogganing.

Tobogganing must be classed among the dangerous sports especially when those who take part in it are not fully acquainted with the slide.

An instance of this occurred at Ashburnham on Tuesday evening when a rather serious accident occurred.

The boys of the village have fixed up a slide on Douro-st., near the residence of Col. J. Z. Rogers, and for sometime they have been using it. The affair is rather primitive and there are numerous stumps in the vicinity of the bottom of the chute. On one of these the youths placed a lantern and outsiders were directed exactly what direction to steer.

On Tuesday evening an atheletic young man while snowshoeing came across the slide and undertook to guide down three young ladies. He was directed to keep to the "right" of the lantern, but instead he turned to the "left" and an accident resulted. The young ladies were in front. The toboggan struck a stump with great force and was smashed to pieces. The four occupants were thrown to the hard, ice covered ground, one of the young ladies striking a stump. All four were more or less shaken up but fortunately none were severely injured.

Curling Notes.

Ottawa Citizen:—"During the regime of Lord Dufferin in Canada he inaugurated the practice of giving a cup for competition among the curling clubs of the Dominion. Two cups, one for iron playing clubs and one for granite clubs, are now given. Each competing club plays at points in their own rink, sending in to His Excellency the score made by the best eight men, the two clubs attaining the highest average per man. This position was this year attained by the Peterborough and Truro (Nova Scotia) granite playing clubs, and on Friday last they met on the Vice-Regal Rink, Ottawa, to measure stones for the much coveted prize. The Truro team seemed to be the favourites, and if betting was practiced by the fraternity, large odds would have been taken on their chances but all good curlers resolutely oppose anything approaching gambling. The men were not long on the ice, however, when the Peterborough men showed that they were keen, keen curlers, leading their opponents from the start, and winning handsomely by a score of 47 to 25. The Nova Scotians accepted their defeat good naturedly and gracefully, and at the close of the match asked some of the Ottawa curlers who were present to join them in cheers in response to a very hearty one given them by the victors. At the conclusion of the play by the first rink both clubs dined with His Excellency, and all enjoyed a most pleasant time. In the evening those of the Truro men who did not go home on Friday evening were invited to the Ottawa rink, where they tried the ice for a few minutes, and then adjourned for oysters, and were otherwise pleasantly entertained by the members of the Ottawa club."

Three strong rinks left for Campbellford this morning to play a game in that burg.

On Tuesday, a rink of Peterborough players and one composed of Lindsay educationa lists, played a game. It was close and exciting from start to finish, the teams tieing four times. Lindsay won by 2 shots as follows:—

OPENING MECHANICS' INSTITUTE.—Quite a number, both of the villagers and from the surrounding neighborhood, were present at the opening of the Mechanics' Institute which took place here on Tuesday night. The secretary's report showed that the Institute is in a prosperous condition now and it is to be hoped the reports of it in future will be of a like character. The library contains a number of the best standard works, written chiefly by the best authors of this period, all of which will have a tendency to create a taste in those who read them for the best class of literature. The chair was ably filled by Mr. Stewart, of the Independent, and altogether a pleasant time was spent for a couple of hours.

SHANTYING.—Numbers of men with their teams may be seen making their way home through this place every day, from the shanties, as the different firms have almost finished the winter's work.

CURLING.—The curlers here are quite enthusiastic on account of their gaining such a signal victory over the Lindsayites last week, and are no doubt eager to measure their skill with other clubs in any of the surrounding towns, in the manly game.

FARMERS' INSTITUTE.

in these latter days, when the facilities therefor have become so great and are controlled and fostered by the accumulated wealth of generations, and too often manipulated in the interests of the few, is, that the amount of labour required for a given production, as well as the food consumed and the clothes worn, vary as widely as the climates and fertility of the soil of the several countries inhabited by man. Moreover, in no country has or can permanent comfort and happiness be produced by limiting the people thereof to the production of a single commodity or a single occupation. The man who desires the greatest good for the greatest number will no more think of limiting the people of one community, and still less of a country, to one employment, even though the country has natural facilities of an unrivalled character therefor, than will the wise father of a family think of compelling all his sons to learn the same trade. Indeed, is there not a law in nature which teaches us that the most perfect man is he who has all, not some one, of his powers and faculties fully developed? And what would any one of you do if you had a child who was naturally deficient in any one attribute? Would you try to develop the already strong one and leave the weak one to take care of itself? I am sure you would not, but instead, you would devote particular attention to developing that which was weak so that your child might develop into a well balanced man or women, and not into a mere prodigy of strength without mind, or of mind without physical power to sustain it. And what are communities—nations—but an aggregate of individuals, in which if the individuals composing it are prosperous and happy the nations must be likewise. And, as the happiest family is the one in which each one, young or old, weak or strong, does his or her due share in contributing to the comfort of all—as the most independent household is the one least dependent upon others, either for its necessities, its comforts or its luxuries—so it is with the nation. Let us, then, not merely because we want to obtain the best possible prices for our products, but in the highest and best interest of ourselves, of our families and of our fellow man, develop by every legitimate means within our power the capabilities and resources of that particular part of God's earth which has been entrusted to our care, and thus render it a place wherein those of all capacities, abilities and tastes will not want an opportunity of performing that which they are best fitted to do, and in the doing of which they will not only earn an honest livelihood, but contribute to the common comfort and well-being of all.

But I am asked: how is this relative multiplication of the non-agricultural classes to be brought about? My answer is: by producing, so far as we can, all that we consume at home. And that this state of affairs can only be brought about by the agricultural classes selling more or less of their liberty to buy where they please for a like concession on the part of those engaged in other pursuits. Like every other transaction of life this resolves itself into one of buying and selling. The bargain we make may be a good or bad one, but that is a matter of detail, which must depend upon the circumstances under which it is made, and which will require revision as circumstances change—the only inflexible rule relating thereto, being that such bargains must have for the parties thereto persons of different occupations and productions, and who are each consumers of the productions of the other.

These bargains, too, are of two kinds. The first and best are those wherein the producer and consumer are brought into close contact, not only because in this case the share of the middleman is reduced to a minimum, but because when the non-agricultural producer is located in close proximity to the agriculturist it creates a market for many articles of the farm which are of a perishable nature and do not bear long transportation with advantage, and thus enables him to vary his crops to a much greater extent than would otherwise be possible. Moreover, by bringing his customer into the same community as himself he shifts a share of the general burdens from his own shoulders on to those of the new comer.

The second kind are those wherein we make bargains with those of other countries for an exchange of products on more favorable terms than we do with the rest of the world. In this case it must be obvious that two countries producing a surplus of the same articles, cannot better themselves by making a bargain for the exchange of products of which they both have enough and to spare. What we want to do, to develop what is usually called our foreign trade, and we should do so whenever opportunity offers, is to find out those who consume and do not produce that which we have to sell, and endeavour to develop our trade relations with these in the particular commodities for which there are such inducements for exchange, and in doing so we must take care that we make our bargains as far as possible with the actual consumer, and not fall into the mistake, as is too often done, of selling to a middleman, under the supposition that he is the actual consumer.

In concluding this too hastily prepared and therefore imperfect paper, permit me to say that in its preparation I have again and again been struck with the great advantage which the occupation of the agriculturist—especially in Ontario—possesses over that of every other. Were I asked to point out where the largest measure of health, comfort and solid unalloyed happiness, is to be found—and these things should be our first consideration—I would point to not a few of the homes of the farmers of this province—homes where the men and women, the boys and girls, even though somewhat wearied in body, can lay their heads on their pillows without a really anxious thought for the morrow, owing no man anything and knowing that the reward of their labours depends th not on the promises of man or the fluctuation of markets, but upon Him who hath promised that "he that tilleth his land shall be satisfied with bread;" homes in which, the day's work done, knowledge is cultivated, innocent recreations indulged in, and where above all and over all prevades a felling of reverent dependence on Him who has promised a seed time and harvest as long as the earth endureth.

MR. DAWSON KENNEDY asked Mr. Carnegie as to how much profit the farmers are making. He had read that the average profit of farmers is 18 to 25 per cent. He had read the reports of Prof. Brown and Mr. Beall carefully and he estimated from the figures of the latter, taking into consideration the money paid out, that the average farmer is not making 2 per cent. Some farmers, who came here years ago, are independent, but the majority are not making money. The production of wheat this year only averaged about 14 bushels per acre, about one-half of what it was twenty-five years ago.

MR. CARNEGIE had noticed Prof. Brown's letter, but did not pay much attention to it, as he considered that the average farmer is not making a great profit. He considered farming the best occupation in the Dominion to-day.

A VOICE.—If you have a good farm it is.

MR. CARNEGIE said that a good farm was a great help. One speaker had referred to the falling off in the amount of wheat grown. The reason was not far to seek. In the early days, even in the rich State of Illinois, wheat was planted year after year until the stores of fertilizers in the soil, for many years, were exhausted, on account of not returning to the land what was taken from it. A farmer cannot go on growing one crop successfully and we must have a large non-agricultural class, so that a variety of crops may be grown. The farmer's occupation is a steady one and he is assured of a good living, if he is blessed with good health, while the merchant may do a great business one year and the next year he may do nothing at all.

MR. KENNEDY said he had recently read that the farmers of the present age are living too luxuriously and that the equipments they use are too costly. As Mr. Carnegie is both a farmer and a manufacturer he would be pleased to learn from him which occupation he considered the best.

MR. CARNEGIE said that about four years ago he had sent his son to a farm and ever since, particularly on account of the great financial depression, he had thanked God that he had chosen farming instead of manufacturing. He believed that the farmer should have all the comforts of life, but he did not believe in luxuries.

MR. W. GRAHAM asked if commercial union would be good for the farmer?

MR. CARNEGIE said that the question would be discussed during the afternoon by Mr. Cluxton. His conclusion, after studying the matter, was that if the advantages were placed on one side of the ledger and the disadvantages on the other that the latter would more than counterbalance the former.

On motion of Mr. J. C. BROWN, seconded by Mr. D. KENNEDY,—A vote of thanks was tendered to Mr. Carnegie for his excellent paper.

The meeting then adjourned until two o'clock p.m.

At the afternoon session Mr. W. Cluxton read a long paper on Commercial Union, which we will publish to-morrow.

Insurance Catechism.

Why should I insure my life?

Many men insure their property but neglect to insure their lives. The property insured may never burn, but death is sure to occur. To a family a man's life is its property. It represents food, shelter, clothing, education for the children, and all the necessaries and comforts of life. A small investment in life insurance makes it possible for every man to leave his family above want. This certain provision cannot be obtained in any other institution. No man who is physically able to obtain the indemnity which life insurance gives is free from reproach if he neglects the important duty.

With whom should I insure?

Answer—With E. E. HENDERSON, General Agent, Peterborough.

Why?—Because you will be insured in a thoroughly reliable, safe and honorable Company, at lowest rates.

It is Absurd

For people to expect a cure for Indigestion, unless they refrain from eating what is unwholesome; but if anything will sharpen the appetite and give tone to the digestive organs, it is Ayer's Sarsaparilla. Thousands all over the land testify to the merits of this medicine.

Mrs. Sarah Burroughs, of 248 Eighth street, South Boston, writes: "My husband has taken Ayer's Sarsaparilla, for Dyspepsia and torpid liver, and has been greatly benefited."

A Confirmed Dyspeptic.

C. Canterbury, of 141 Franklin st., Boston, Mass., writes, that, suffering for years from Indigestion, he was at last induced to try Ayer's Sarsaparilla and, by its use, was entirely cured.

Mrs. Joseph Aubin, of High street, Holyoke, Mass., suffered for over a year from Dyspepsia, so that she could not eat substantial food, became very weak, and was unable to care for her family. Neither the medicines prescribed by physicians, nor any of the remedies advertised for the cure of Dyspepsia, helped her, until she commenced the use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla. "Three bottles of this medicine," she writes, "cured me."

THE CAMPAIGN IN HALTON.

How the Antis and the Scott Act People Are Working.

MILTON, Feb. 28.—Interest in the Scott Act campaign increases as the polling day draws near. The two parties are working hard but they are conducting the campaign on totally different lines. The Antis hold no public meetings and are designedly doing the still hunt act, which they think is the best policy. Their organization is complete. They have made a house to house canvass and are satisfied to let their exertions rest there. The campaign of 1884 was run on a principle which the Antis do not approve of and which they have decided not to adopt in this contest.

In 1884 E. King Dodds with a number of campaign experts came from Toronto and were let loose over the county. They took the management of affairs from the local men, and it is claimed this policy had much to do with the defeat of the Antis in that year. This year all outside experts have been religiously kept out of the territory. Everything is managed by local men, and the general committee think things look much more promising now than they did previous to the election of 1884. Yesterday was the day for the appointment of scrutineers. The Antis think there is demonstration of a strong organization in the fact that every polling district sent forward a respectable representative to be sworn in as scrutineer. These delegates were for the most part farmers, whereas in 1884 a good many of the scrutineers were exported for the occasion from Toronto. The Antis are much pleased with the manner in which their scrutineers rallied on Monday. Not a single man was wanting and everyone reported his district was ready for the polls.

The Scott Act people are working more openly. They depend largely on public meetings but are also working among individual voters. A visit was paid by the reporter to the basement of the Methodist Church, where he found the Scott Act committee busy in their work. The committee consisted of Rev. E. A. Russ, Milton; Rev. W. A. McKay, Woodstock; S. Dice, Milton; Rev. T. A. Moore, Princeton; C. R. Morrow, Milton, Rev. B. B. Keefer, Toronto; John Lark, Oshawa; Rev. D. Mackenzie, Milton; C. Preston, Esquesing; Geo. Cotteril, Trafalgar; Joshua Harrison and G. Hemstreet, Milton. The committee was just then writing a draft statement compiled from the late prison returns. The paper read as follows:

Scott Act Meeting.

GEORGETOWN, Feb. 28.—A Scott Act meeting was held to-night in the Town Hall. The building was crowded to the doors and great interest was taken in the proceedings. The meeting was called by the Scott Act people, but two members of the Liberal Temperance Union were allowed to speak.—These were Mr. J. G. Mowat and Dr. McMahon. The proceedings opened with prayer and a gospel hymn. Mr. Wm. McLeod, reeve of the village, was in the chair. Mr. Lark of Oshawa opened the fire in a 20 minutes speech against the petition for repeal. He was followed by Dr. McMahon, who supported the Liberal Temperance movement and claimed that alcohol, moderately used, was a food and tended to the wellbeing of the body. Mr. S. H. Blake, who had been announced as the speaker of the evening, was accorded an hour. He handled the liquor question without gloves, just as he handles the devil generally. Mr. J. G. Mowat was allowed forty minutes and Mr. Lark closed the debate. Both sides were well represented in the meeting. The speakers all received a good hearing. To-morrow night the Antis will hold a meeting of their own here, being the first one they have as yet announced. It is expected that Georgetown will give a majority of 50 in favor of the petition.

MONA SCULLY;

—OR—

The Bride of an Englishman.

A STORY OF THESE TIMES.

"Oh, how pretty!" cries one of them from the shadow, as though grieved the dance has come so quickly to an end.—"How lovely!"

At this voice every one starts! Mona, slipping her hand into Geoffrey's, draws him to one side; Lady Rodney rises from her sofa, and Sir Nicholas goes eagerly towards the door.

"You have come!" cries he, in a tone Mona has never heard before, and then—there is no mistake about the fact that he and the shadow have embraced each other heartily.

"Yes, we have indeed," says the same sweet voice again, which is the merriest and softest voice imaginable, "and in very good time too, as it seems. Nolly and I have been here for fully five minutes, and have been so delighted with what we have seen that we positively could not stir. Dear Lady Rodney, how d'ye do?"

She is a very little girl, quite half a head shorter than Mona, and, now that one can see her more plainly as she stands on the hearth-rug, something more than commonly pretty.

Her eyes are large and blue, with a shade of green in them; her lips are soft and mobile; her whole expression is debonnaire, yet full of tenderness. She is brightness itself; each inward thought, be it of grief or gladness, makes itself outwardly known in the constant changes of her face. Her hair is cut above her forehead, and is quite golden, yet perhaps it is a degree darker than the ordinary hair we hear described as yellow.

Such is Nicholas's betrothed, to whom as she gazes on her, all at once, in the first little moment, Mona's whole soul goes out.

She has shaken hands with everybody and kissed Lady Rodney, and is now being introduced to Mona.

"Your wife, Geoffrey?" she says, holding Mona's hand all the time, and gazing at her intently. Then, as though something in Mrs. Geoffrey's beautiful face attracts her strangely, she lifts her face and presses her soft lips to Mona's cheek.

A rush of hope and gladness thrills Mona's bosom at this gentle touch. It is the very first caress she has ever received from one of Geoffrey's friends or relatives.

"I think somebody might introduce me," says a plaintive voice from the background, and Dorothy's brother, putting Dorothy a little to one side, holds out his hand to Mona. "How d'ye do, Mrs. Rodney?" he says, pleasantly. "There's a dearth of etiquette about your husband that no doubt you have discovered before this. He has evidently forgotten that we are comparative strangers; but we shan't be long so, I hope."

"I hope not, indeed," says Mona, giving him her hand with a very flattering haste.

"You have come quite half an hour earlier than we expected you," says Sir Nicholas, looking with fond satisfaction into Miss Darling's eyes. "These trains are very uncertain."

"It wasn't the train so much," says Doatie, with a merry laugh, "as Nolly; we weren't any time coming, because he got out and took the reins from Hewson, and after that I rather think he took it out of your bays, Nicholas."

"Well, I never met with such a blab! I believe you'd peach on your grandmother," says her brother, with supreme contempt. "I didn't do 'em a bit of harm, Rodney, I give you my word."

"I'll take it," says Nicholas, "but, even if you did, I should still owe you a debt of gratitude for bringing Doatie here thirty minutes before we hoped for her."

"Now make him your best courtesy, Dolly," says Mr. Darling, seriously; "it isn't every day you will get such a pretty speech as that."

"And see what we gained by our haste," says Dorothy, smiling at Mona. "You can't think what a charming sight it was. Like an old legend or fairy-tale. Was it a minuet you were dancing?"

"Oh, no; only a country dance," says Mona, blushing.

"Well, it was perfect; wasn't it, Violet?"

"I wish I could have seen it better," says Violet, "but, you see, I was playing."

"I wish I could have seen it forever," says Mr. Darling, gallantly, addressing Mona; "but all good things have an end too soon. Do you remember some lines like these? they come to me just now.

"'When you do dance, I wish you
A wave o'er the sea, that you might ever do Nothing but that.'"

"Yes, I recollect; they are from the 'Winter's Tale,' I think," says Mona, shyly; "but you say too much for me."

"Not half enough," says Mr. Darling, enthusiastically.

"Don't you think, sir, you would like to get ready for dinner?" says Geoffrey, with mock severity. "You can continue your attentions to my wife later on,—at your peril."

"I accept the risk," says Nolly, with much stateliness, and forthwith retires to make himself presentable.

CHAPTER XIX.

Mr. Darling is a flaxen-haired young gentleman of about four-and-twenty, with an open and ingenious countenance, and a disposition to talk, so talk he does,—anywhere and everywhere, and under all circumstances.

He succeeds in taking Mona down to dinner, and shows himself particularly devoted through all the time they spend in the dining-room, and follows her afterwards to the drawing-room as soon as decency will permit. He has, in fact, fallen a hopeless victim to Mona's charms, and feels no shame in the thought that all the world must notice his subjugation. On the contrary, he seems to glory in it.

"I was in your country the other day," he says, pushing Mona's skirts a little to one side, and sinking on to the ottoman she has chosen as her own resting-place. "And a very nice country it is."

"Ah! were you really there!" says Mona, growing at once bright and excited at the bare mention of her native land.

"Yes, I was indeed. Down in a small place called Castle-Connell, near Limerick. Nice people in Limerick, but a trifle flighty, don't you think? Fond of the merry blunderbuss, and all that, and with a decided tendency towards midnight maraudings."

"I am afraid you went to almost the worst part of Ireland," says Mona, shaking her head. "New Pallas, and all round Limerick, is so dreadfully disloyal."

Some People Think

Because salerooms are handsome that selling prices must be high. They forget—o have never learned—that dingy quarters for the transaction of business are either evidence of a slow trade or of contempt for the public convenience, or of a fatal lack of enterprise. Such is not the case with us. We want our friends to call and look over our new and handsome store. We want them to notice the conveniences provided for their convenience, to facilitate business, to keep one waiting just as short a time as possible and to handle our trade with promptness.

But this is not all we wish our friends to notice. Success in any department of business is impossible if the prices are not right. Our business, as grocers, is to be successful because we have right prices You buy for value. You get good Goods. You receive honest weight and measure and prompt service.

Everything new, fresh and inviting.

GREAT DAY AT THE HOUSE.

LAST AUTUMN'S DECISION AT THE ANCIENT CAPITAL DEBATED.

The Attorney-General on the "Resolutions" and Mr. Meredith's Reply—The Minister of Education on the Floor—H. E. Clarke's Attack—Debate to be Continued.

TORONTO, March 1.

The Attorney-General on rising to move concurrence in the "Quebec resolutions" was received with Ministerial applause. He made the proposition that the motions should be considered separately, as they referred to a variety of matters. He then proceeded to sketch the conditions upon which Canada became a consolidated dominion, and then argued that legislation, regardless of how carefully it was made in the first instance, was open to valuable amendments at the dictation of experience. It was in view of the felt necessity that such amendments were needed to the British North America Act that the conference at Quebec was held. Most of the provinces sent deputies, some of these provinces being governed by Conservatives and some by Reformers.

There was nothing in the resolutions to offend Conservatives, and he ardently wished the Conservatives of this House would join in adopting them. They were so valuable that he was confident that they would be ultimately adopted. [Ministerial applause.] He would say a few words on each resolution, reserving the opportunity of fuller discussion upon each. The preamble, reciting how the British North America Act had been working with friction, grave omissions had been discovered in it, that Provincial autonomy was disregarded, and that amendment to it was needed, he fully concurred in. He strongly objected to the power given to the Dominion Government to disallow Provincial Acts. He did not see why the veto power should exist anywhere. [Ministerial applause.] The people's representatives should be allowed to exercise legislative functions freely. [Ministerial applause.]

At the time the Confederation Act was framed it was thought there was less damage in giving the veto power to the Dominion Government than to continue it in the hands of the Imperial Government; and it was understood that the Dominion Government would not exercise it with such freedom as it had been in the past. But it was well known that the Dominion Government, both Reform and Conservative, had used it much more freely. The veto power should be abolished, but if it were to remain it would be much to the advantage of the provinces to have it placed in the hands of the Imperial Government. Failing this, the courts should be called on to decide whether or not provincial legislatures were exceeding their powers. These resolutions went further; they proposed to give the courts power to decide whether or not the Dominion Government was exceeding its powers. He believed in keeping the provincial legislatures in their sphere and in keeping the Dominion Government in its sphere also. [Ministerial hear, hear's.] Private litigants should not be allowed to disturb legislation two years after enactment.

The Senate question next claimed his attention. The Senate was called into being to protect the provinces, but the Dominion Government appointed these very men who were to protect the provinces. It was like the plaintiff choosing the counsel for the defendant. It was the provinces that should have the power to appoint the Senators. Then it would be a body of power, as it ought to be, but which it was not now. He objected also to the British North America Act on account of its not defining the duties of the Lieutenant-Governors. Statesmen and politicians of both parties thought the Lieutenant-Governors were to exercise the prerogatives of the Crown's representative over all matters the legislatures deals with, and the Lieutenant-Governors had exercised such powers. But these powers had been called into question. Their duties should be exactly defined. Under the British North America Act the Dominion could assume control of all public works, constructed at the outlay of provincial or municipal money. The resolutions proposed a change in that respect. He contrasted the voters' lists and the system under which they were managed with the system introduced for the Dominion, and urged the abolition of one. The provincial system was fair, and there was no need for a second system, incurring great expense and trouble. The eighth resolution referred to magistrates. Heretofore the province had exercised appointing power, but their power had been called in question by private litigants, and it was not clear that the provinces had the power. Now that the question was raised the power in this respect should be settled. Some legal matters, of little public importance, were discussed. Several resolutions were passed over, and the question of the possession of lands occupied by Indians, he said, should be clearly set forth. The power of the Legislature as to insolvency and insurance acts should be also set forth by an Imperial Act. He hoped the hon. members opposite would deal with these resolutions with as little party spirit as they could entertain. They were necessary and important; they would remove friction, and would greatly strengthen the bonds of union of the provinces as a part of the Empire in which they all loved to live.

The Attorney-General seconded the motion.

Mr. Meredith arose amid Opposition applause. He believed that it was the intention of the Government, as soon as they received the assent of the House, to apply to the Imperial Parliament to make these resolutions amendments to the British North America Act. It was meet, therefore, that they should be fully discussed. It was the most important proposition ever presented to this House, involving as it did the determination of the Premier Province to alter the whole scheme of the unity of the provinces composing the Dominion. He desired to approach the consideration of the question with anything but a party spirit, but with mindfulness of the best interests of this great Dominion. [Applause.] But he was afraid it was with the spirit of a political partisan that the hon. gentlemen opposite approached it, for did not the resolutions on the table contain what was being agitated by the hon. gentleman opposite for years. [Opposition applause.] Before the hon. gentlemen could get the country to assent to such change as were proposed they must establish two things, first, that there is a defect in the constitution now in existence, and second, that what they propose to substitute is better than the constitution as it is. [Opposition applause and hear, hear.] But these resolutions were not what their advocate opposite claimed, the wishes of the people of the Provinces. He would call attention to the fact that two Provinces were not represented, and the Government of Quebec which introduced the scheme was not a Government chosen or party lines [Ministerial cheers] but it a party that went to power on an issue, which, if persisted in, would be destructive to our system of Confederation. [Loud Opposition applause and cheers.] He would also point out that some of the men that affixed their signatures to these resolutions were traitors to the Dominion. [Sensation and Opposition applause.] Attorney-General Longley publicly declared his belief in the instability of Confederation, and the Nova Scotia representatives reserved their right to secede from the Dominion no matter what decision the conference arrived at. What was the use of the hon. gentleman opposite talking about making arrangements for the bettering of the terms of the Constitution, when the very men he conferred with were traitors? [Opposition applause]. The Attorney-General said it was the intention that the Dominion Government should use the veto power but sparingly or not at all. The utterances of the framers of the act proved that the Attorney-General's statement was altogether unfounded. Conservatives and Reformers, Frenchmen and Englishmen, carefully considered the question and resolved to place it in the hands of the Central Government. Tache, Brown, Mackenzie, Rose and others discussed it. The Attorney-General complained of an over use of the power, but out of the whole 1400 bills passed by the legislatures less than fifty had been disallowed. But the hon. gentleman was not always the champion of Provincial rights. Why in 1873 he voted for two bills and then asked the Dominion Parliament what their policy was before he would give them effect. [Opposition laughter and applause.]

The Minister of Education, who was now itching to get up and defend Provincial rights, had a record when in the Dominion Parliament, in favoring the veto of the Brunswick School Act. [Opposition applause.] He then quoted the Hon. Edward Blake as to the propriety of the veto power. The power was given advisedly to the Central Power and he defied the Attorney-General to point out an act vetoed that should not have been vetoed unless it might be the Rivers and Streams bill and the Red River railway bill, and there was division of opinion on those He characterized the proposition of surrendering this veto power to the Imperial Parliament as base and unworthy. It was an acknowledgment that Canadians were not fit to govern themselves. The Dominion Franchise Bill, he said frankly, was not what was wanted. It was expensive and not what he could commend. [Applause.] It was not, however, unfair as the hon. gentleman opposite claimed. In dealing with Senate reform he pointed out the position taken by the Reform party on the stump. There it was held that the Senate was a useless appendage. Here the hon. gentleman wanted to spend hundreds of thousands of dollars to maintain it.

The financial aspect of the matter showed that one party wanted hard cash and the other wanted glory. Mr. Mercier got the cash and Mr. Mowat got the glory. [Laughter.] The polite Frenchman played on the Attorney-General's vanity—for the Attorney-General has vanity. [Laughter and Opposition applause.]

At 5.50 the House arose, Mr. Meredith having spoken an hour and twenty minutes. The debate was resumed at 7.45.

Mr. Meredith criticised the proposition to increase the Provincial subsidies, claiming that the inevitable result would be that Ontario would be more heavily taxed. He closed with a spirit-stirring peroration, eloquently describing the greatness of the Dominion and its promise in the future if Canadians one and all stood loyally to its institutions. [Prolonged applause.]

Mr. H. E. Clarke was the next to take a hand in the debate. He said he would speak about the Quebec conference from its beginning. [Mr. Blezard leaves the chamber.] He said it was a mistake for the hon. gentlemen opposite to have anything to do with a conference called together to ask outside interference in Canadian affairs. The deliberations there he looked upon as the second battle of the Plains of Abraham and the Frenchman this time had been victorious. [Opposition applause.] The terms of agreement as to to finances were peculiar. They were stated to be final, but unfortunately their finality had no end. The payments were to go on year after year, world without end.

Hon. Mr. Hardy: Say amen! [Laughter.]

Mr. Clarke replied that he could not say amen to such an unholy an agreement as that. The graduation of the subsidy according to the increase of population would produce startling results. When the Dominion doubled in population the subsidies, according to this arrangement, would amount to $7,000,000. A grand chance for the hon. gentlemen opposite to go shoulder deep into the Dominion treasury, and charge the Dominion Government with imposing high taxes. But this was not the worst. Ontario paying three-fifths of the taxes of the Dominion, would lose just $1,644,000 yearly over and above the subsidy coming back Besides these men had no right to do what they did. They organized themselves into a sort of committee of public safety and arrogated to themselves the right to commit their followers. Another objection which he had to the Conference was that before the representatives of the other provinces entered the Conference room they agreed to subscribe to Nova Scotian secession. Another objection was to the effect that as soon as this House concurred in the resolutions, with the usual Government majority of course, it would be heralded abroad that Ontario favored them by a large majority. The fact was that the hon. gentlemen opposite did not represent a large majority of the province. The votes cast for Conservative candidates at the last election was 48½ per cent.

Hon. Mr. Fraser—Say 49.

Mr. Clarke—No; I wish to be strictly accurate. [Laughter]. Now what does this mean, gentlemen?

Hon. Mr. Hardy—It means that we're going to stay in. [Uproar].

Mr. Clarke—It means that this province has been shamefully gerrymandered. Assuming he said that 154,455 votes were cast at the last election for the Government, or less than one-half the electorate. Therefore they didn't represent even half the people of Ontario. [Applause].

The House adjourned at half past ten o'clock, and according to the order paper will be resumed to-day. The debate will probably last till to-morrow night.

Two New Bishops.

ROME, Feb. 29.—Very Rev. M. Ryan has been appointed Bishop of Alton, Ills., and Very Rev. M. Janosen has been appointed Bishop of the new diocese of Belleville.

AUSTRO-HUNGARY'S ARMY.

The Empire to be Placed on a Better Military Footing.

PESTH, Feb. 29.—The Austro-Hungarian Government is arranging for a considerable increase of the army. The present military law, which expires in 1889, fixes the strength of the army at 800,000 men, exclusive of the Landwehr. The law was adopted in 1868, which time there have been only slight modifications in it. Austria Hungary is thus behind other powers in military strength, but intends to institute thorough and extensive reforms by which she will be placed on an equal military footing with Germany and France.

Decline to Interfere.

LONDON, Feb. 29.—The Italian, Austrian and English Governments have replied to Russia's proposals touching Bulgaria. They concur in the opinion that Prince Ferdinand's position is illegal, but they decline to take steps likely to disturb the peace of Bulgaria.

Will Ask for a Conference.

BERLIN, Feb. 29.—It is reported that Russia, owing to the failure of her proposals through Turkey, will ask the powers for a conference of ambassadors to decide what action shall be taken in regard to the position of Prince Ferdinand.

The Movement of Troops.

ST. PETERSBURG, Feb. 29.—A denial is given here to the statement that Russian troops are being withdrawn from the frontier. It is stated that recent movements were solely due to the unsanitary condition of the places formerly occupied by the troops.

Preparing for a Raid.

VIENNA, Feb. 29.—The Allgemeine Zeitung says the Cossack Ashinoff has stored a quantity of munitions in the Russian convent at Galata, preparatory to making a great raid into Bulgaria.

A DETERMINED SUICIDE.

Nathaniel Mallott of Ridgetown Drowns Himself in the River.

DETROIT, Feb. 29.—About 8 o'clock this morning the small crowd on the ferry dock in Windsor saw a man stand on the edge of the old Great Western wharf for a moment, then, throwing his hands high over his head, leap into the icy waters of the river. Planks, ropes and life-preservers were procured almost immediately by three or four men, who made strong efforts to save him. They would have been successful had not the man persisted in his efforts to drown himself. He fought to die, pushing away the ropes and other things handed to him, and finally went down in sight of his would-be preservers.

The determined suicide was Nathaniel Mallott, a grain dealer of Ridgetown, Ont. He had been in Windsor for three months, and had lately been boarding at the Great Western Hotel. His body was grappled for and recovered. Mallott had been in the commission business in Ridgetown and Leamington and has some property. He was 35 or 40 years old. His mother lives in Ridgetown.

J. W. Bucks, of Nixon, counted out $1,200 to pay a man he owed, then left the money on the desk, where a candle was burning, and stepped into another room to get a rubber ring to put on his pocketbook. When he returned he found that the candle had fallen over and every note was burned to a cinder.

THE PROCEDURE RULES.

A HOT DEBATE IN THE IMPERIAL HOUSE OF COMMONS.

Mr. W. H. Smith's Proposition that the Speaker Be Empowered at His Discretion to Take a "Rising Vote" Adopted—Mr. Blunt Defeated in Deptford.

LONDON, Feb. 29.—The discussion on the new procedure rules was resumed in the House of Commons to-day, and the rule proposed by Mr. W. H. Smith, empowering the Speaker or the chairman at his discretion to take the vote of the House by a simple rising of the members, was taken up.

After a hot debate the rule was adopted, 236 to 93, with a proviso that the names of those voting in the minority must always be recorded.

Mr. Blunt Defeated in Deptford.

LONDON, Feb. 29.—Wilfred Blunt (Liberal) was defeated in the parliamentary election at Deptford to-day. The vote was: Darling (Conservative) 4345, Blunt 4070. The election to-day was made necessary by the retirement of Mr. William J. Evelyn who was elected to Parliament as a Conservative. Mr. Evelyn recently announced himself as a convert to Home Rule, and resigned his seat in order to allow Mr. Blunt to stand as the advocate of that principle. At the last election the Conservative candidate had a majority of 627.

Admiralty Instructions.

LONDON, Feb. 29.—The Admiralty has issued to commanders of home squadrons full instructions regarding their positions for defence in time of war, including the mode of manning, victualling and coaling ships, and the method of communication. It is reported that the plan will be tried early in the spring. The instructions apply to the squadrons at Portsmouth, Devonport, Holyhead, Queenstown, Kingstown, Sheerness, Hull, Leith and in the Clyde. The Channel squadron has also received instructions, but its positions are kept secret.

Lord Wolseley made a speech at the Rifle Club last evening, in the course of which he deplored the fact that the Ministers had not asked Parliament for the supplies necessary to put the navy in proper condition. He said he was sure that the English Parliament would be as ready to vote supplies as the German Parliament had been.

A Pretext Wanted.

LONDON, Feb. 29.—The Chronicle states that in reply to a request of the Duke of Norfolk that the Pope use his influence with the Irish bishops to stop the agitation in Ireland. Mgr. Rampolla, the Papal Secretary, said that the British Government should, by some act or concession, grant a privilege to Irish Catholics which would form a pretext upon which to build a letter to the bishops.

Mr. Pyne Appeals.

DUBLIN, Feb. 29.—Mr. Pyne, M.P., was convicted to-day at Conmee of offences under the Crimes Act and sentenced to six weeks' imprisonment. He appealed and gave bail.

TORONTO TOPICS.

On Jan. 9 last a small bar of gold, weighing a pound and a quarter, and valued at $315, was stolen from the American Express Company's delivery wagon, and although several arrests were made no one was convicted. Yesterday afternoon one of the detectives arrested a man named Robert Gray, a street merchant, on a charge of having feloniously received the gold which the detective recovered. Gray says that a boy gave him the bar to keep for him, and that he hid it away in his cellar. The thief has not yet been captured.

A despatch from New York yesterday says: Extradition papers from Toronto for Robert Leddington, who is held here, are expected to-day. Leddington is charged with forging the name of Ellis & Co., Toronto, to a check for $600 and for obtaining jewelry from them on fraudulent memorandums. He was a bookkeeper for Ellis & Co. He claims he was robbed in Buffalo of the $600 obtained on the check.

Warlike King John.

ROME, Feb. 29.—King John of Abyssinia has issued a proclamation summoning all classes of his people to arms, and declaring that he hopes after exterminating the Italians to annihilate the Soudanese. It is reported that the Abyssinians intend to attack the Italians in two columns, which will advance from Asmara and Keren respectively. King John has probably reached Asmara by this time.

One Too Many.

LONDON, Feb. 29.—The British steamer Excellent, Capt. Taylor, from Messina for Philadelphia, was sunk at Gibraltar last evening by collision with the British steamer Memling. The crew were saved. The Memling was badly damaged, and was beached to prevent sinking. The Excellent had previously been in collision with and stove the bows of the British steamer St. Asaph, from Messina for New Orleans.

COMMERCIAL UNION.

MR. CLUXTON'S PAPER AT THE FARMERS' INSTITUTE MEETING.

A Special Plea for the Scheme—The Disadvantages not Considered—An Interesting Discussion on the Paper.

AFTERNOON.

At the afternoon meeting Vice-President Bell, in opening, urged all in attendance to become members of the Institute.

A letter was read from the President, Mr. T. E. Fitzgerald, explaining that he could not be present on account of illness.

The Chairman then introduced Mr. Wm. Cluxton.

COMMERCIAL UNION.

Mr. W. CLUXTON read a paper on "Commercial Union," as follows:—Commercial Union opens a wide field for discussion, but as this is a farmers' meeting I will confine myself to the agricultural aspect of the case. Commercial Union means unrestricted reciprocity, unrestricted commercial intercourse between Canada and the United States, or in other words the obliteration of the customs line between the two countries. In fact the abolition of all tariff and custom dues.

As I proceed I will reply to some of the objections of the opponents of Commercial Union.

WHO PAYS THE DUTY?—This topic has been discussed by economists of reputation from Adam, Smith, Mill, Ricardo, and other writers downwards, who argue that the burden of customs duties falls on the importing community and not on the community which sends the goods on which the duties are imposed. But they admit there are expections to the rule. I would not presume to say whether these eminent writes are right or wrong. They may be right from their standpoint, especially so far as England is concerned. After fifty years of an extensive business experience and reading, I will humbly submit the conclusions which I have arrived at in connection with our trade with the United States. When the supply exceeds the demand the price is equalized, and in that case, is regulated by the European or foreign markets. This is the case at the present time with wheat and cheese in Canada and the United States, and the price is governed, both in this country and in the States, by the price in England. And when combinations are formed to control the market, and put up the price, say of such a necessary article as coal, the consumer importing coal into Canada from the United States, in such abnormal case would pay the duty.

OATS.—A few years ago we had a magnificent crop of oats in Canada, and there was a good demand for them in the States. That year I shipped 180,000 bushels to Boston, which I bought at the several stations of the Midland Railway in the vicinity of Peterborough. When these shipments reached the boundary line at Island Pond, they were stopped by the American customs officer until I paid the duty of ten cents per bushel amounting to over $18,000, or I should have said the farmers from whom I bought the oats paid the duty to support the American Government.

A merchant residing at Rochester or Ogdensburg shipping 180,000 bushels to Boston from his side of the customs line, at the same time, and selling at the price at which I sold my oats, would receive $18,000 more than I received, and consequently could pay the American farmer ten cents per bushel more than I could pay the Canadian farmer.

WOOL.—Sheep raising in Canada should be a profitable business for farmers. Are flocks increasing? Have they not decreased since the termination of the reciprocity treaty in 1866? Why? Because the price of wool has been so low that farmers found it undesirable to keep large flocks of sheep. How would Commercial Union affect this property? The price of wool in Ontario for some years past has been from 18 to 20 cents, while the price in the States has been, for the some grades, 35 cents. Do away with the duty and the price in Ontario for fleece washed wool would be at least 35 cents per pound. The duty on wool imported into the United States is 10 cents per pound.

In confirmation of what I say, I submit a letter from my Boston agents—one of the largest wool houses in America.

BOSTON, August 31st, 1887.

W. Cluxton, Esq., Peterborough, Ontario.

DEAR SIR,—With your request for a posting in regard to Canadian wool in mind, we now take pleasure in quoting you 35½ cents as the price current here for C.nadian wools duty paid, and would further say in this connection that those wools when brought to our market come into direct competition with Kentucky and Maine wools; and, but for the heavy duty upon your class of stock, we should be able to use a large quantity of it in this country to good advantage, inasmuch as the class of wool with which it competes is in somewhat limited supply in the States.

Yours respectfully,
FENO BROS. & CHILDS.

Mr. Dryden, a farmer, a member of the Ontario Legislature, says, in his speech on this subject: "Last week I had a call from two American farmers, one from Pennsylvania and the other from Michigan. Both have large flocks of Shropshire grades, but the Pennsylvania farmer raised sheep for meat and the Michigan farmer for wool. Now, how do you suppose their prices compare with ours? We sell lambs dropped in March at $3½ to $3.50, and the Pennsylvania assured me that he got $6 to $6.50 for theirs. The Michigan farmer told me that the clips of his Shropshires sold for 35 cents unwashed." Mr. Dryden says: "Open the American markets and the revenue to the Canadian farmer from wool, as well as from mutton, will be enormously increased. I say this because no other portion of the American continent is so well adapted for raising sheep as this Ontario."

BARLEY.—I [illegible] selling 500 bushels of barley for the [illegible] market loses ten cents per bushel, or $50 00 on the 500 bushels—the American duty. There is something in the climate and soil of Ontario that produces a finer quality of barley than other parts of the continent for making the excellent pale lager beer which is consumed in such vast quantities in the States, and the brewers there cannot very well do without it.

HORSES.—Suppose you sold, to an American, a horse for $100; it would cost him, duty paid, in the States, not taking freight and expenses into account, $120. If you bought the horse back again in the States and brought it to Canada, it would cost, duty paid, on this side, $144. If you sold it again to the American at $100, which would still be the value in Canada, and bought back a second time in the United States at $120, the value of the horse there, and imported into Canada, you would have, after paying the American duty of $40 and the Canadian duty of $48, just $12 out of the price the horse was first sold for. And, as this would not probably pay the expenses of one trip to the States, it would have been better, the first time the Custom House officer said, "Stand and deliver," if you had said, "I will deliver the horse, take him, and I will go home and ponder the question as to whether the producer or the consumer pays the duty." If you follow these transactions, the illustration will show that on both sides of the line the shipper—the producer—paid the duty. And this rule works in the same way on every article which the Canadian farmer produces and sends to the United States—with the exception, perhaps, of wheat and cheese.

The opponents of Commercial Union say that as the United States produces the same articles that Canada produces they do not require our products, and that England is our natural market. Let us see. In 1886 we sent 15,786 horses to the United States. The stated price of these was $1,761,490—nearly $120 each. The duty paid on these was $352 298. The United States imported that year from Canada 33,165 head of cattle, valued at $443,430, on which the duty was $80,686. Canada sent to the markets of the United States 343,862 sheep, valued at $943,514, the duty paid was $188,702.

The latest report indicates that we sent 18,225 horses, 45,765 horned cattle and 363,046 sheep last year. Twenty per cent. of the duty on horses and cattle represents over $451,000. By the returns—June 1887—the value of imports from the United States to Canada was $34,958,110, while the value of exports to the United States was $39,523,685, or a balance in favor of Canada of $4,565,575, the total volume of trade in 1887 being $74 480,765.

Canada exported to the United States in 1876 between eight and nine million bushels of barley which paid a duty of ten cents per bushel, not taking into account malt which paid a higher duty than barley.

Canadian farmers exported in 1886 over thirteen million dozen eggs, worth in the neighborhood of one and three-quarter million dollars. Eggs are admitted free of duty into the United States. This accounts for the great impetus given to this great trade in eggs.

If we had unrestricted reciprocity with the United States, would it be unreasonable to suppose that our trade in horses, cattle, sheep, butter, wool, poultry and other products would not only be greatly increased? Farmers would get from $20 to $30 more for every horse, $10 more for every ox, $10 more for every $50 worth of sheep, lambs or poultry, ten cents more for every pound of wool and four cents per pound more for every pound of butter exported to our neighbors across the line. What a change it would make in the butter trade! At present Canadian butter has to be sent 3,000 miles to England to compete with German butterine and oleomargarine—imitations so perfectly manufactured that there is not one person out of a hundred who could distinguish these articles from genuine butter.

If the vast sums of money paid the American government for duties on Canadian produce exported to that country were distributed among Canadian farmers, giving them enchanced prices for the articles they produce, many of them would be able to remove incumbrances from their farms, and they would be enabled to buy land for their sons.

At the meeting of the Farmers' Union held at Port Hope last summer, Mr. Butterworth, of Ohio, said: "A farmer starts from Ontario with a carload of barley for New York. When he reaches the picket line, the United States government kindly takes one bushel out of every seven. He pays storage and commission and buys corn on the United States sides and starts home. His own government stops him at the picket line and the officers take one bushel in every four. Thus, after a season of unremitting toil, he is permitted to rejoice in the fact that in exchanging his produce for things necessary for his family, he has had wrested from him by two Christian governments one half of his goods." Indeed it is hard for the Canadian farmer to be in a very prosperous condition. He is taxed to support his own and the American Government, our protected manufacturers and monopolist combinations.

LUMBER AND FISH.—I will not take up your time in discussing these products, as farmers are not so much interested in them, more than to say that the duty on lumber imported in o the United States is $2 per thousand feet. If we had commercial union the lumbermen would get $2 more for every thousand feet of lumber they shipped to the States.

At a meeting of the lumbermen held the other day in Toronto, they passed a resolution unanimously in favor of commercial union. They should be the best judges of their own business.

FISH.—The condition of the fishermen is analagous to my case, as illustrated in the oats transactions. The fishermen of the great fishing port of Gloucester, near Boston, come to our coast, catch fish and sell free of duty in the American market, while our fishermen have to pay a duty of one cent per pound to the United States Government. Our fishermen want commercial union, and failing to get that they will go for annexation. Mr. Longley, the Attorney-General of Nova Scotia, says so.

THE DISLOYALTY CRY.—If commercial union would give us everything that political union could give, what object would there be in seeking annexation?

The man that is disloyal to himself, his family and his country, is the disloyal man. If the majority of the people believe and decide that commercial union would benefit the country, they will have it if the Americans are willing to give it to us. Does not this cry express a fear that the people would be so fascinated with commercial union that they would hunger after political union? A prosperous people are a contented people, and a contented people do not become disloyal. In 1847 there was a great commercial depression all over the world. In Canada it was severely felt, and business was demoralized. It continued to cling to the country, and the common cry at that time was "Ruin and Decay." In the United States, with its vast resources, they soon surmounted their difficulties, and the country advanced with leaps and bounds. Then, it was, that Canadians began to contrast their condition with the state of things across the line, and they began to grumble, and these grumblings soon broke into the cry of annexation. Associations were formed to promote peaceable separation from Great Britain and annexation to the United States. And these associations issued manifestoes which were numerously signed. The Montreal manifesto was signed by 326 of the principal men of the city, viz: Rose, Galt, Holton, Ferrier, Macpherson, Redpath, Molson, Torrance and others.* That manifesto stated what Commercial Unionists say to-day, viz:—"that reciprocity would render a field for American capital—render our rivers, canals and railways the highway for the business of the west, enhancing the value of property and agriculture, giving remunerative employment to the people. And Canadians could purchase articles at lower prices. All danger of war would cease and there would be perpetual peace and amity between the two countries."

The Reciprocity Treaty of 1854 fully proved the correctness of that forecast. When we got reciprocity Canada took a new start by sharing in the prosperity of our neighbors across the boundary, and the cry for annexation died a natural death. If this was the result of reciprocity from 1854 to 1886 would it not be the same under commercial union? These twelve years were golden years for Canada, and many of the foundations of the comfortable farm houses that we see to day on every side and other buildings were laid during that prosperous period.

Under the operations of the Reciprocity Treaty of 1854 the gross exchange of natural products between the Canadian provinces and the United States rose from $20,000,000 in 1853 to $84,000,000, 1886

THE BEST MARKET.—Our opponents say that England should be our market, and that we should loyally deal there. Commercial Unionists say we have a better market at our doors of sixty millions of the most prosperous, wealthy, and enterprising people on the face of the earth. I, and many others, have tried the English market, and if there is anything that would be likely to make a man "commit profanity," as Mark Twain says, it is consigning produce to England. I have no hesitation in saying that if a bank engaged largely in that business, if its charter permitted it to do so, the bank would become bankrupt. In Liverpool produce is sold at 4 months' credit—"Liverpool terms—and in London at two months.' The shipper pays 5% commission for selling and guaranteeing the debt. The commission and the other charges eat a man out of house and home. It takes nine cents a bushel to sell wheat and pay the charges after the vessel touches the dock in Liverpool. It takes 12 in Liverpool, including freight, to sell cheese, butter, clover seed, &c., and 10 in London. The only safe way to do business there is to sell c. i. f. if you can do so, which is not an easy matter. If one sends a thousand boxes of cheese, they weigh it, take full weight, and then take one pound for each cheese; so the shipper is docked 1,000 pounds. Last year I shipped 10 cars of clover seed, 2,000 bags, 5,600 bushels, and this winter nine cars to England. In England they weigh and deduct one pound for each bag, and then another pound per bag for the draft; so that on my 2 000 bags they docked me 2,000 pounds, and clover seed, with charges added there, is worth from 8 to 10 cents per pound. I mention these matters to show the old-fashioned way which they have of doing business.

The brightest business men they ever had in Montreal were large consigners of produce to England, and they all succumbed to the inevitable, with one exception; and they may be described as men appearing with their heads above a flood for a little while, and then disappearing out of sight for ever.

If a Canadian dealer sends produce to the United States he sells for cash, gets paid for what he sends without any docking, and gets quick returns with moderate charges. The farmers in Canada are three-fourths of the population and wealth of the country. If they will cling together, study their own interests, and not listen to politicians, and strive for commercial union, the country will reap the advantages, and their descendents will call them blessed.

*Some of these names have been familiar for years to the public as those of our most prominent public men under the following titular forms:—Sir Alex. Galt, Sir John Rose, Hon. Luther H. Holton, Hon. Senator Ferrier, Mr. Redpath, the sugar refiner, Mr. Molson, banker, and Mr. David Torrance, importer.

The remainder of the report is held over.

EXHIBITION BUILDING.—The contract for the building of an additional 50 feet to the present exhibition building, was let on Feb. 24th to Messrs. Malcolm & Pengelly, for the sum of $265. The proposed addition will add about two thirds to its present capacity.

CHANGED HANDS.—Mr. P. W. Reynolds has sold his stock, &c., to Mr. R. W. Waters & Co. The stock will be moved to the Roxburgh block in the course of a week or two.

IMPROVEMENTS.—The Town Hall is being put in a thorough state of repair. A new platform has been built, new chairs have been ordered and at present Mr. John Chandler is exercising his artistic ability on the walls and woodwork. The Oddfellows scored a point by securing it for their concert on its completion.

A MAD ENGLISHMAN.—A rather amusing incident occurred at the Hub factory during the recent cold snap. It seems that the whistle was frozen up and the proprietor asked for a volunteer during the dinner hour to take up some hot water and thaw it out. An English employee, remarkable for his quaint expressions and quick temper, undertook the job. Arriving at the frozen whistle, which is a powerful one, he proceeded to pour the hot water around it. Just then the firman, it being 1 o'clock, instinctively began to tug at the whistle string. It thawed and started unexpectedly, covering the Englishman at the other end with water, ice and spray. He at once concluded that a trick had been played on him, and was riled accordingly. Carefully husbanding the nearly full pail of half cooled water he crept down from the roof, and, with blood in his eye, carefully approached the unsuspecting proprietor (who was sitting down) and soused a whole pail of water over him, exclaiming, "I'll teach you to play tricks on me, you blooming ouse." The proprietor took in the situation at a glance, but was too convulsed with laughter to make any excuse. Explanations followed.

Y.M.C.A. ROOMS.—The Y.M.C.A. have secured the Templer's Hall for their meetings. The organization has started well, having secured first-class officers and managers. The Peterborough Secretary was down at Tuesday night's meeting and gave some pointers on how to successfully run a Y.M.C.A. They have regular meetings on Tuesday nights. There are now 57 members, twelve having joined on Tuesday night.

CONCERT.—Norwood Lodge, No. 262, I.O.O.F., will give a grand concert on March 13th, at the re-opening of the Town Hall. A number of ladies and gentlemen from Peterborough will assist in the musical part of the entertainment.

PRESBYTERIAN.—The Rev. Mr. Smith, of Knox College, preached in the Presbyterian church here on Sunday last, on behalf of the college. He spent a few days collecting.

DEATH.—Mrs. Jas. Bowie died on Tuesday last after about eight months of that dread disease consumption. She had only been married about eleven months and Mr. Bowie has the sympathy of all who know him. The funeral took place on Thursday morning to Douro.

ARRIVAL.—Mr. Geo. Kerr, lately of Norwood, but formerly of this place, has given up his wanderings and has at last come back to our pleasant village.

REMOVAL.—Mr. Jas. A. McCann has removed to the States, having sold out his shoemaking business to Mr. Jas. McFarlane, who, besides being a great favorite with the boys and others, is a first class workman.

CARNIVAL.—The last carnival will be held on or about the 13th of March. For particulars see posters, which will be out in a few days. A fuller notice will be given next week.

CURLING.—Keene curlers are very anxious to hear from Lakefield, Campbellford and Belleville, particularly as it appears that they are resting on past contests on their own ponds. They have arranged a series of matches with Peterborough, seniors, for Friday, and the juniors for Saturday. We here desire to correct a statement in your paper that there was no ice in Keene. The curlers have never been without ice since the season opened. The day was very soft, but the ice was all right. They are playing an inter-rink match for a medal and the score stands thus so far:—Dickson 13, vs. McIntyre, 17; Campbell 10, vs. McIntyre, 10. We will give fuller report next week.

CHURCH MATTERS.—Revival services are still in progress. The result so far has not been all that has been hoped for by ministers and people. We fear the trouble lies just in the fact that the number "of Christians and members" differ, the former being in the minority. Last Sabbath evening the Rev. R. J. Fallis (Pastor) preached an excellent sermon from John, iv chapter and the 13th and 14th verses.

THE "COMBINES" ROASTED.

MR. CLARKE WALLACE'S INVESTIGATING COMMITTEE.

A General Kick Against "Combines" and "Trusts" in the Dominion House of Commons — Recommendations of the Royal Commission on Railways.

OTTAWA, Feb. 29.—The "combines" and "trusts" which exist in Canada were hit in the eye in the House this afternoon when Mr. Clarke Wallace's motion for a select committee to investigate their working went through after a two hours' discussion. The committee will be composed of:

Bain, Soul (Con.).	Bechard (Con.)
Casgrain (Lib.).	Flynn (Lib.).
Guillet (Con.).	Landry (Con.).
McKay (Con.).	Wood, West (Con.).
Bain, West (Lib.).	Boyle (Con.).
Daly (Con.).	Gillmor (Lib.).
Grandbois (Con.).	McDougald, Pic(Con.).
Wallace (Con.).	Fisher (Lib.).

Mr. Edgar had on the paper a somewhat similar motion to Mr. Wallace's, and the member for South Ontario being somewhat late in putting it forth he got even by inducing Mr. Wallace and the House to accept an amendment to the effect that "manufacturing combinations" be included as well as "importing combines." Mr. Wallace explained that his motion was intended to include "combinations" of whatever sort, but Mr. Edgar's amendment was accepted to make it more plain.

Mr. Wallace, in his speech asking for the committee, gave many instances of the demoralizing effects those "combines" had upon the commercial freedom of the country. He said the people were crying out against them, and demands came from all over that they be suppressed. Mr. Wallace gave as an instance of his arguments that he had carefully gone into the cost of producing a ton of coal and he found that it could be sold at a profit of 25 per cent. in the city of Toronto for $4, whereas the people now paid no less than $7 per ton.

Mr. Edgar, in a twenty-minute speech, walked into the combines in a lively fashion. He held that the true remedy to eradicate the evil was to remove the duty from a variety of articles which the people of Canada used and paid dearly for. He asserted that combinations existed to an alarming extent among the highly protected manufactures of the country. He hoped Mr. Wallace's committee would not be merely a "smelling committee," but that in addition to smelling out the wrongs, it would suggest a remedy.

Mr. Wallace declined to accept the doctrine that if the duty were removed from the articles in which the "combines" dealt they would be cheaper. The duty was removed from coal but yet the "combines" ran up the price higher than ever.

Peter Mitchell made a general kick against "combines," but refused to serve on the committee because it was incompetent for the leader of a party to serve on a committee. [Laughter.] This was considered one of "Pete's" best afternoon jokes.

Hon. J. H. Pope laid on the table the report and recommendations of the Royal Commission on Railways which was appointed on Aug. 14, 1886, and finished its labors at Montreal Jan. 14, 1888, with the final preparation of its report. The commission was composed of Sir A. T. Galt (chairman), Collingwood Schreiber, Geo. Moberly and E. B. Burpee. One of the most important measures to be brought before the House this session by the Government is the Consolidated Railway Bill, which will probably be laid before the House on Friday. The bill will be based on the above report. The recommendations of the commission, which are practically the text of the bill, are as follows:

The commission recommends the establishment of a court or tribunal having power to settle all matters of inter-railway dispute, whose decision shall be final. They recommend that a uniform classification of freight be maintained by all railway companies subject to the adoption, if desired by them, of the American classification for through traffic to and from the United States.

2. That the railway companies may make and establish tariffs subject to the approval and revision of the maximum rates by such tribunal.

3. That it is expedient to adopt a rule of equal mileage rates, irrespective of distance and cost of service.

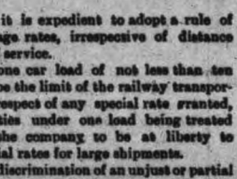
4. That one car load of not less than ten tons shall be the limit of the railway transportations in respect of any special rate granted, all quantities under one load being treated alike, but the company to be at liberty to make special rates for large shipments.

5. That discrimination of an unjust or partial character between individuals under like conditions be effectively prohibited and any infraction of such law punished by severe penalty.

6. That discrimination of an unjust or partial character between different localities under like conditions be effectively prohibited, and any infraction punished, after due cognizance having been taken of the effect of water and rail competition.

7. That all secret special rates, rebates, drawbacks or concessions to shippers be declared illegal, and that every special rate be made public on demand of every enquirer.

8. That complaints of extortionate rates or unjust discrimination may be referred to the authorized tribunal for settlement, whose decision shall be final.



9. That railway companies be not compelled to undertake express business, but must afford equal facilities to all express companies alike.

The commission also recommended that the system of granting free passes be prohibited, but this section of the report, the Minister of Railways states, will not be incorporated in the bill.

The Smallest Rate.

There is but one efficient way
To publish "WANTS" from day to day,
And that is through the REVIEW indeed,
That finds for every want and need
A prompt return and quick reply,
That never fails to satisfy,
And what is more its well to state
At very far from largest rate.

REAL ESTATE BARGAINS

Retiring farmers, active men of any class, speculators or investors. I wish to call your attention to a piece of property which I have for sale on the second best street in town, over which hundreds of conveyances and thousand of people pass daily and where the property is rapidly increasing in value. I refer to that old established stand on Hunter-st. east of the New Post Office where Agricultural Implements of all kinds are sold and to which a harness shop has recently been added. I am instructed to sell this property for less than the value of the land, and the buildings on it will pay good interest on the whole purchase price.

50 acres choice land two miles from town at less than the price at which land is sold fifteen miles distant.

Also a great bargain of a choice of about 200 acres with first-class Buildings close to town.

I CAN SUIT ANY PERSON IN TOWN PROPERTY.

THE CITY AND SUBURBS

The Probabilities

Partly cloudy or cloudy weather; somewhat higher temperature; light local falls of sleet or snow.

It all Depends, You Know

A caller at the post office yesterday remarked that "as a rule, hurrying is a sign of weakness, either of judgment or physique." This point is not well taken for the man or woman who is hurrying to the golden lion to buy spring goods exercises a judgment that is financially sound and bound to pay. On the other hand hurrying may be a sign that a bargain has been secured at fair's dry goods store and the pleased buyer is in a hurry to tell his wife of the fact.

Personal.

The Oshawa Vindicator, in an account of the missionary meeting in the Methodist church, Oshawa, has the following reference to the organist of the George-st. Church:—"One of the pleasant features of the evening was the presence of Mr. Will. H. Dingle, of Peterborough, who was asked to preside at the organ, and getting together a large number of his old choir, rendered several old time anthems which were highly appreciated by the large congregation." Mr. Dingle is a good musician and choir master and his services are always appreciated.

Vital Statistics.

During the month of February the registration law must have been well carried out in the town of Peterborough, as the return of vital statistics furnished by the Town Clerk show. The registrations made were as follows:—

Births.....28
Marriages.....12
Deaths.....7

It will be observed that the births keep on increasing steadily. The number of marriages is not extra large, considering the rush that usually takes place just before Lent sets in, while the deaths are just about the average.

He Walked Home.

Last evening a young man up street took his Sunday girl out for a cutter drive. For the occasion he borrowed a cutter and horse from a friend of his and started out towards the township of Smith. About two hours afterwards the owner of the horse was rather surprised to find the animal and rig in front of his premises. He investigated and found that everything was all right and thus all fears of a runaway accident were dispelled. Several hours afterwards the driver turned up, and after anxiously inquiring found that the horse was all right. He explained matters by stating that he left the horse standing in front of a farmers' house while he took his lady friend inside. When they came out the horse was gone, and after walking about two miles home was reached, and every person felt relieved.

Let Down Light.

The two boys Albert Valois and Charles McMartin, who pleaded guilty to stealing carpenter's tools from Mr. H. Stabler's shop, were up for sentence this morning. The magistrate took advantage of a clause in the act that permits him to do so, and instead of sending the boys to the Penetangulshene reformatory, or some other place of confinement for a long term, he imposed a fine of $20 each, with the alternative of two months in gaol. McMartin's fine was paid and Valois went up on the hill. In imposing sentence the magistrate warned the boys against the evils of bad company and instanced the case of young Neil, of Toronto, as one of the results that was almost sure to follow a life of crime begun at an early age. He advised them to keep their hands off the property of other people and asked them henceforth to try and do better for the sakes of their parents and themselves.

Almost miraculous are some of the cures accomplished by the use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla. In the case of R. L. King, Richmond, Va., who suffered for 17 years with and aggravated form of scrofula, Ayer's Sarsaparilla effected astonishing results.

Mr. W. H. Campbell, Chief Engineer of the Belleville Fire Department, is in Toronto, studying up the fire extinguishing system in use in that city. He is expected to visit Peterborough on his way home and if he does he will be able to learn a few wrinkles that will be found of great advantage to the citizens of the city by the bay, who have just introduced a system of waterworks.

Nicholls Hospital Report.

Number of patients in hospital, Feb. 29th, 1888, 3. Diseases:—Hip joint disease, 1; nervous debility, 1; measles, 1. Total number treated in February, 11. Discarged cured, 6; improved, 1; died, 1; cause of death, Bright's disease of the kidneys. Pay patients, 6; non-paying, 5. From Peterborough, 10; from the County, 1. Dr. Pigeon attending physician for February. Dr. Halliday in attendance on private ward patients.

More Room.

On account of the large number of prisoners at present confined in the gaol, the largest in the history of the institution, it has been found necessary to provide more room for their accommodation and accordingly several large tanks have been removed and two comfortable rooms made suitable for old men, who are not in for any crime, but simply because they have no home or friends. If this thing keeps on much longer, the county will have to erect an addition to the gaol buildings.

The Harmony Male Quartette and Miss Howden.

An opportunity will be offered of hearing,—on Thursday evening, March 8th, in the Opera House, some of the finest vocal music ever placed on a local programme. The Y.M.C.A. have arranged with the Harmony Male Quartette, of Toronto, to sing at a concert in Peterborough on the above date. Miss Annie Howden, of Millbrook, will also sing and the whole programme will be one of rare merit. Plan of hall at Hartley's. Tickets 25c. and 35c. 3dcod49

This is not a Sufficient Apology.

Dawson Bros., dry goods merchants of this town, wired the Toronto Empire, on Wednesday, to retract the statement made in a previous issue that the firm (Dawson Bros.) were in financial difficulties. Thursday's edition of the Empire states:—"Dawson Bro., Peterborough, wire the Empire that there is no truth in the report that has been circulated to the effect that they are in financial difficulties." The firm refuse to accept this as an apology and have instructed their solicitors to insist on a fuller and satisfactory retraction.

Robbed.

On the noon train on the Grand Trunk to-day, amoung the passengers was a respectable young married woman with her child. She was on her way from Muskoka to visit her mother, who is lying seriously ill in the vicinity of Ottawa. When leaving home she had a ticket for Peterborough and $36 in money. These she placed in a small, leather satchel. The satchel was stolen from her while asleep, and she has no idea as to who took them or where they were taken. The conductors passed her through as far Peterborough and directed her to seek the assistance of the police. Under the circumstances, of course the officers were not able to do anything. Mr. Henry Owens kindly gave the woman shelter and it is probable that the Chairman of the Charity Committee will provide her with a ticket as far as Ottawa. It is a pity that the wretch who robbed the poor woman could not be found and punished as he richly deserves.

Women's Christian Temperance Union

At the regular meeting of the W. C. T. U. held on Monday afternoon an interesting discussion took place on the different lines of work that the Union have already taken up, and several suggestions were made for extending our usefulness in new directions. The secretary reported having presented the petition from the Union to Mr. J. B. Stratton, M.P.P., and Mr. T. Blezard, M. P. P., praying them to use their vote and influence in favour of Mr. Waters' bill re the extension of the franchise to widows and spinsters for Legislative elections. Some interesting information was laid before the meeting about our Band of Hope, which showed it to be fairly prosperous considering the length of time it has been organized. The Secretary was instructed to petition the Mayor to give instruction to the Chief of Police to enforce the Sabbath laws as some places of business are kept open until long after midnight. It was resolved that the request for prayer for the success of the vote about to be taken on the Scott Act in the County of Halton be complied with, and that we earnestly implore our Heavenly Father to again crown with victory this third effort of the temperance workers of Halton, also that the message contained in Deuteronomy xx., 1-4, be wired to them for their encouragement and inspiration as they go to the struggle. It was resolved that this Union work in unison with the Royal Templars of Temperance in the Gospel temperance services. A short prayer service imploring help for ourselves and "victory for Halton" concluded this very interesting meeting. We would extend an urgent invitation to every woman who is interested in working "For God and Home and Native Land" to be present at our next meeting, which will be held on Monday afternoon, March 12th, in our Hall on George-st., E. E., Rec.-Sec.

PETERBOROUGH GAOL.

Information Regarding it from the Annual Report of the Inspector.

From the twentieth annual report of the Inspector of common gaols, etc., for Ontario, for the year 1887, we take the following regarding the local institution:—

	1885.	1886.	1887.
Prisoners committed during the year.....	120	106	100
Greatest number confined at any one time	19	28	22
Number of re-commitals.....	29	24	17
Total cost of maintaining gaol.....	$2,519.58	$2,899.40	$2,678.94

A copy of the report made to the Government by me upon this gaol is annexed:—

"I made an inspection of the Peterborough gaol on the 18th of May. There were then in custody fifteen male and five female prisoners, five of whom (four males and one female) had been commited as insane.

"One of the males had been committed for larceny, and one for doing wilful damage to property. One was on remand for threatening, and the others had been committed for minor offences.

"The five females had been committed as vagrants. One of them, and her three children who were with her, were imbecile and helpless mentally and physically.

"I found the corridors and cells neat and clean, and the gaol premises generally in excellent order. Since the date of my last visit the gaoler's quarters have been changed, the old original gaol building having been removed and entirely refitted for the occupation of the gaoler and the turnkey. The work has been well done, and a very great improvement effected. The books were in proper order."

I instructed Mr. Mann to make the second inspection; he reported as follows:—

"Acting under the instructions of the Inspector of prisons, I made an inspection of the Peterborough gaol on September 1st, 1887. The prisoners in custody numbered seventeen, there being twelve males and five females. The males were committed for the following offences: insane six, larceny one, drunk and disorderly two, vagrants three; and the five females were all held as vagrants.

"Some alterations were being made in the hanging of the bells, which had upset things somewhat, otherwise the gaol was in very good order.

"I also examined the books which were entered up to date and well kept."

Curlinng.

The return match with Campbellford will probably take place next week.

The two rinks that won the Governor-General's trophy, under skips Ferguson and Ray, will play a match for the oysters and cigars, to-night, with two rinks skipped by Messrs. Rutherford and Brown.

The Bowmanville curlers are endeavoring to arrange matches with Peterborough, Lindsay and Campbellford, to be played here next week.

Nothing is heard at all regarding the return match for the fat men's championship between Toronto and Eastern Ontario, It appears to have died out.

The Strickland rink, of Lakefield, have at last won a barrel of flour, but not with the same players as they met on previous occasions. The flour goes to the Protestant Home. The following was the score:—

LAKEFIELD.	LEGAL.
W H Casement	Geo Edmison
W D Strickland	G W Hatton
T J Bird	A McNeil
R C Strickland, Sk 19	Judge Weller, Sk 13

On Wednesday morning three rinks from the local club went down to try their luck with the Campbellford players. They found first rate ice and a jolly lot of competitors. They also won the match handsomely. The score was as follows:—

CAMPBELLFORD.	PETERBOROUGH.
Rink No. 1.
C. L. Owen	G. Edmison
F E. Gaudrie	G. W. Hatton
G. G. Eakins	A. McNeil
J. W. Dinwoodie, Sk 21	Judge Weller, Sk.....11
Rink No. 2.
R. Dinwoodie	Ed. Brown
C. Smith	W. H. Cluxton
E. Gaudrie	Geo. Brown
D. Kerr, Skip.....24	T. E. Bradburn, Sk...26
Rink No. 3.
J. Shannon	Wm. Croft
C. S. Gillespie	J. D. Baptie
R. H. Bonnycastle	R. S. Davidson
Jas. Whyte, Skip....12	T. Rutherford, Sk....25
Total.....57	82

Peterborough thus wins by 25 shots.

Watch March.

The month of March came in somewhat like a lion and if the old proverb holds good it will go out like a lamb. On Friday the 9th of March, the third and last carnival of the season will take place, and it will be a hummer without any mistake. Everything is ready and active preparations for the great event of the season will soon commence. During the carnival for the little folks, in the afternoon, the rink will be brilliantly illuminated, and in the evening those of a more adult age will have their fun. Watch for the bills giving full particulers and remember the date, Friday, March 9th, 1888.

A purgative medicine should possess tonic and curative as well as cathartic properties. The combinations of ingredients may be found in Ayer's Pills. They strengthen and stimulate the bowels, causing natural action.

In Town.

Mr. R. Elliott, of Listowel, Chief Ranger of the Grand Lodge of the Canadian Order of Foresters, was in town this morning on his way home from Ottawa. He left for Lakefield at noon, where he will visit the Foresters' Lodge. He expressed regret at not being able on account of want of time to visit the Peterborough lodges, which he regards as among the largest in membership and most progressive in the Order. He is much pleased with the appearance of our town and speaks well of us whenever he gets a chance.

Mr. Dixon, who studied in Mr. Edmison's office, is a young man of ability and one who is much respected. The firm commences with a long established business, and there is no doubt a bright future for it and for the new partner.

Advice to Mothers.

Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup should always be used when children are cutting teeth It relieves the little suffer at once; it produces natural, quiet sleep by relieving the child from pain, and the little cherub awakes as bright as a button." It is very pleasant to taste. It soothes the child, softens the gums, allays all pain, relieves wind, regulates the bowels, and is the best known remedy for diarrhœa whether arising from teething or other causes. 25 cents a bottle. Be sure and ask for "Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup," and take no other kind.

THE MARKET.

The British Live Stock Markets.

The Gazette's special market cables of Tuesday report the cattle markets weak, with values half a cent per pound lower, the advance cabled a week ago having been wiped out. The shipments, which were delayed too long to catch the market a week ago, added to the supply of States and Canadians, and weakened the market. Offerings of these were fair, and although the arrivals from other quarters have been light, they proved too much for the market, which declined, especially as the demand was dull and uncertain.

Montreal Live Stock Market.

At Montreal market receipts have been much large than the previous week, there being 631 head received. There has been a better demand for cattle and the market has ruled fairly active, and a good business has been done for this season of the year, but the supply still keeps in excess of the demand and 153 head were left over. Sales were 895 head. For export cattle there has been more enquiry, and mostly all the offerings were taken at firm prices, while medium and inferior grades of butchers' cattle were easier, but not quotably lower. There has been a fair demand, for butchers are only buying sufficient for actual wants as business is generally quiet in the Lenten season. There was a good demand for sheep and the market was stronger and prices advanced ¼ c. per pound on outside prices. The receipts were 170 head which were all taken at 3½c.@4¼c. per pound live weight.

Brevities.

—Several persons report having seen robins on the street this morning.

—"A chipmunk sat at the foot of a larch, and said it's a beautiful day for the first of March."

—Anchor ice is again coming down, but the factories are not effected by it to any extent.

—Mr. T. G. Hazlitt is able to drive about and will soon be restored to his usual health.

—Snow commenced to fall again this afternoon and for a time it came down quite heavily.

—Cobourg ice races, on Poe's pond, have been postponed until Tuesday and Wednesday, the 6th and 7th inst.

—The rumors prevalent for some days regarding local business men being in trouble have died a natural death.

—The water service at the gaol is the highest in town and the pressure is not, at all times, any stronger than is required.

—Some good Samaritan sprinkled sawdust on the sidewalk on Hunter-st., from the post office, and earned the thanks of pedestrians.

—Some of the ball players are again talking of forming an eastern league, taking in the towns from Peterborough to Ottawa. Will it pay?

—Messrs. Crossley and Hunter, the evangelists, have finished at Ottawa and they will open at Belleville on Sunday next, it is expected.

—Mr. Allan Huffman, a farmer well known resident of Peterborough, now proprietor of Stratford's leading hotel, is in town visiting old friends.

—A man named Forsyth, one of the gang arrested in Toronto, for burglarizing Hazlitt's office is again in the toils, this time for carrying and pointing a revolver.

—The young lad Sanders, committed for larceny, has not yet been removed to the Reformatory. There is no doubt that the boy is weak both mentally and physically.

NORTH MONAGHAN.

Correspondence of the Review.

PRESENTATION.—On Wednesday evening, Feb. 22nd, the friends and neighbors of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Fowler, to the number of over one hundred, called on him at his residence, North Monaghan, and presented Mr. Fowler with a silver ice pitcher and Mrs. Fowler with a silver spoonholder and sugar bowl combined and the following address, prior to their departure to reside in Peterborough:—

To MR. and MRS FOWLER.

DEAR FRIENDS.—Deep is our regret to learn of your contemplated departure from our midst, our pleasure in having this opportunity of meeting with you to say farewell and to give expression as far as in us lies to our sentiments of respect and esteem and also of our regret at losing as neighbors the most respected residents of this township. With many of us you had been associated in intimate relationship which exists in rural communities, we have had ample opportunity to learn of your good qualities as good neighbors, as sincere reliable friends. As such you have won our love and esteem. We cannot find words to adequately express our sense of regret at the prospect of being deprived of the association which has been a source of pleasure to us for so many years. It is true you are not going far from us, but you will form a part of a circle to which distance forbids us being associated. You will form new associations and friendships, but we can assure you no warmer nor more faithful friends than those you leave behind you in North Monaghan. On behalf of those interested in the success of the Union Sabath school it is only meet that we should take this occasion of acknowledging with gratitude and thankfulness your important and faithful services, and your efforts in this connection have only been consistent with your record as earnest and conscientious assistants in the promotion of every good work. We beg again to assure you that we will greatly miss your presence from our circle, and shall have our prayers for happiness in your new home in Peterborough. In slight token of our esteem and respect we ask your acceptance of the accompanying gifts, they may serve to remind you of friends by whom you are now surrounded, whose best wishes shall be for your welfare and a happy reunion when life is o'er.

Signed in behalf of North Monaghan friends,

JOHN MCINTOSH,
THOS. HUNTER.

Mr. Fowler replied, thanking his friends for the gifts, and their remembrance of Mrs. Fowler and himself, and expressing pleasure in being surrounded on that evening by so many of his friends and regret at leaving a neighborhood in which he had spent so many and happy days in good fellowship with his neigbors.

After partaking of the hospitality of Mr. and Mrs. Fowler the company occupied the evening with music, games and social conversation till the evening was spent and left none the worse of social intercourse and of seeing due respect paid to good neighbors and kind friends. The presents, which were very handsome, were procured at China Hall, Peterborough.

If you wish to please your family, flavor your Puddings, Pies, Jellies, &c., with the "Royal" Extracts.

FUNERAL NOTICE.

A SPECIAL MEETING of Otonabee Lodge of Oddfellows is called for this (Thursday) evening, at 7.30 o'clock (sharp) to make arrangements for attending the funeral of the late Bro. Wm. C. Poyner.

WANTED.

IMMEDIATELY, a NURSE, to take charge of children and do light house work. Apply to MRS. R. C. STRICKLAND, Lakefield. 3d51-1w5

LAKEFIELD.

Correspondence of the Review.

PRESENTATION.—Mr. Geo. Scrimger. "DEAR SIR,—We, the members of the Forester's Band, Lakefield, desire to return thanks to you for your efforts to advance us in the art of music, and for the kindness you have shown to us as members of the band. We all realize that you sacrifice a great deal of your time to advance us in our music. It is the wish of the members of the band that you would accept this purse of $50.00, not as pay for your services, but as a token of respect for your kindness to us, and the esteem in which you are held by us as leader of the band. Signed, W. McDonald, Chas. Grylls, R. Cotton, W. Arnott, W. Doldge, E. Griffid. O. Doldge, H. Kempt, John Scrimger, R. J. McWilliams, F. Purcer." The above was an address tendered to Mr. Geo. Scrimger, leader of the Lakefield Forester's Band.

ONE WEEK'S RECORD.—What one of our millers received for one week's import—Mr. John Hull brought in 5 car loads of wheat and one car load of oats from Manitoba, and 1 car load of peas from Toronto, How is that for Lakefield? Let some place else show their record.

CANOE FACTORY.—Your correspondent took a stroll up to Mr. Thomas Gordon's canoe factory one day last week, and found the following magnificent canoes ready to ship to London, England:—10 cedar, 2 walnut and cedar strip and about 6 basswood. It is worth while for any of our citizens to take the trouble to inspect Mr. Gordon's canoes, as they are a great credit to our village, and must certainly attract a considerable amount of attention in London.

DEALING IN HORSES.—Mr. John Cooper bought a handsome team of horses for his new livery from Thos. Nicholls. Price paid, $215. Mr. Hull and Mr. Raicord, Lakehurst stage driver, traded horses on Thursday, Feb. 23. Each got the best horse.

HAY.—A large quantity of hay has been brought into the village during the last two weeks, the price ranging from $11.00 to $13.00 per ton.

SIGNS OF SPRING.—One sure sign of spring is the large quantity of spring dry goods that our merchants are bringing into the village. I suppose our girls and boys will all be decked out in the very latest artistic style this spring. If they all take a bottle of May apple bitter it will improve their spring appearance. For sale at Henderson's drug store.

FUNERAL.—The funeral of the late Mrs. McEwen took place on Friday at 2 p.m. A large number of sympathizing friends followed the remains to the Lakefield cemetery.

SPORT.—Messrs. Wm. Eastland and Geo. Postlethwaite are going back next Monday to Eagle Lake for a week's sport at fishing. Good luck, boys.

PERSONAL.—Mr. Anderson, of Toronto, was in the village Friday last.

LOST BUT NOT MISSED.—Harry, one of our young dry goods merchants, was out driving with his colt, the string of bells slipped off, but Harry was so much taken up with his stepper he did not miss the music of the bells.

AN INVITATION.—An item of news handed into Henderson's drug store will be received with pleasure.

PERSONAL.—Miss Ennis has gone to Toronto for a few days.....The Rev. Mr. McEwen occupied his pulpit on Sunday night last.

SOCIETY SERMON.—The Rev. Mr. McFarlane on Sunday morning preached a sermon to the Foresters in the Methodist Church. The members of Court Lakefield O.O.F., met at their rooms on Queen-st. and marched in a body to the church and occupied the front centre seats. The reverend gentleman took for his text 1 Peter, ii chap. and 17th verse:—"Love the Brotherhood." He divided his sermon in a three fold form: 1st, character of the members; 2nd, assistance given by the Court; 3rd, insurance. He gave the members of Court Lakefield some good, practical advice on temperance, insurance and brotherly love. The members of Court Lakefield were very much pleased with their anniversary sermon.

A NOTE OF WARNING.—Very few are acquainted with the Ontario law regarding the catching of fish. The following clause may keep some out of trouble:—"That it shall not be lawful to fish for, catch, or kill brook trout, salmon trout, white fish, bass, pike, pickerel, maskinonge, tullbee, grayling, herring or perch in any inland lake, river or stream under the control of the Province by any device or means other than by hook and line, or angling, except in water leased and licensed for the express purpose of net fishing." Any person requiring further information, if they apply to Mr. F. James Moore, Fishery Overseer, Lakefield, I am sure Mr. Moore will only be to pleased to give it.

PERSONAL.—Mr. Lister and sister went to Toronto on Monday last for a few days.

NEW MACHINERY.—Messrs. Peter Baptie & Son have added a McGregor, Gourley & Co.'s improved mortising machine to their factory, the machine that took the first prize at the Toronto exhibition. Messrs. Baptie & Son will now have a planing establishment second to none in the country.

WATERWORKS.—Mr. Blomfield is having a petition largely signed by the freeholders, requesting the Council to submit a money by-law to raise a sum of money for the purpose of building a system of waterworks. This is a step in the right direction.

HORSE LOST.—Mr. Donald McLean, miller, lost a valuable working horse on Friday, 24th Feb.

COMING EVENTS.—Village gossips say that the wedding bells will peal forth a goodly number of times during the next six weeks.

IMPROVEMENT.—Mr. John Cooper is building a large driving house in connection with his new livery.

PERSONAL.—Mr. Wm. Graham went to Toronto on Tuesday last.

S. ARMSTRONG

Insurance Catechism.

Why should I insure my life?

Many men insure their property but neglect to insure their lives. The property insured may never burn, but death is sure to occur. To a family a man's life is its property. It represents food, shelter, clothing, education for the children, and all the necessaries and comforts of life. A small investment in life insurance makes it possible for every man to leave his family above want. This certain provision cannot be obtained in any other institution. No man who is physically able to obtain the indemnity which life insurance gives is free from reproach if he neglects the important duty.

With whom should I insure?

Answer—With E. E. HENDERSON, General Agent, Peterborough.

Why?—Because you will be insured in a thoroughly reliable, safe and honorable Company, at lowest rates.

OFFICE—Over Tully's Drug store, George-st.

MONEY WANTED.

All parties indebted to the late firm of Kincaid & McWilliams will please settle their accounts with the undersigned before the 10th of March next or costs will be incurred.

Until your hair becomes dry, thin, and gray before giving the attention needed to preserve its beauty and vitality. Keep on your toilet-table a bottle of Ayer's Hair Vigor—the only dressing you require for the hair—and use a little, daily, to preserve the natural color and prevent baldness.

Thomas Munday, Sharon Grove, Ky., writes: "Several months ago my hair commenced falling out, and in a few weeks my head was almost bald. I tried many remedies, but they did no good. I finally bought a bottle of Ayer's Hair Vigor, and, after using only a part of the contents, my head was covered with a heavy growth of hair. I recommend your preparation as the best hair-restorer in the world."

"My hair was faded and dry," writes Mabel C. Hardy, of Delavan, Ill.; "but after using a bottle of Ayer's Hair Vigor it became black and glossy."

DEATH OF MR. ROBERTSON.

The Member for West Hastings Passes Away at Belleville.

BELLEVILLE, Feb. 29.—After a lingering illness, Mr. Robertson, M.P., for West Hastings, died at his home in this city at 10.15 this morning.

[Alexander Robertson was the son of the late Wm. Robertson and was born at Trenton, Dec. 5, 1839. He was educated at Belleville, studied law, and was called to the bar in 1864. After serving several years in the Belleville Town Council he was elected Mayor in 1870. He was defeated in 1871, but was again elected in 1878 and 1879. In the latter year he was elected to the Ontario Legislature, was unseated and was re-elected in 1880. In 1882 he resigned his seat in the Legislature and was elected to the Commons. In 1887 he was re-elected. In politics Mr. Robertson was a Conservative. One daughter, his mother and his sister, Mrs. Ed. Lazier, survive him.]

Buffalo Insurance Rates Increased.

BUFFALO, Feb. 29.—At a meeting of the Buffalo Association of Fire Underwriters this afternoon, it was resolved that all rates of insurance in the city of Buffalo be increased 20 per cent., with the exception of dwellings, churches, schoolhouses and charitable institutions. This action was taken on account of the large fires during the past three years.

Prof. Lenz' Hopeful View.

VIENNA, Feb. 29.—Prof. Lenz, the African traveler, writes that there are no grounds for the assurances that Stanley has met with disaster. If any misfortune had befallen Stanley, he says, news of it would have reached the nearest Congo station long ago. Prof. Lenz believes that Stanley was compelled to remain at some place longer than he expected.

Prairie Province Politics.

WINNIPEG, Feb. 29.—The probabilities are that both North Dufferin and Shoal Lake will be contested by the Conservatives.

The Legislature reassembles to-morrow. The session will be exceedingly short, probably not over one month.

Fifteen sessional clerks have been notified that their services will not be required.

Death of a Buffalo Fugitive.

ST. CATHARINES, Feb. 29.—Lorenzo Dinnick, the Buffalo insurance agent who eluded the officers in Buffalo some months ago and escaped to this city, died last night from consumption. Mr. Dinnick was born in St. Catharines, but had outgrown the recollection of all but the older inhabitants.

Manager Locke's Retaliation Bill.

NEW YORK, Feb. 29.—Manager Locke of the late National Opera Company has entered suits for $20,000 each against Mr. Sylva and Henry and Bertha Pierson as damages for his recent arrest on warrants sworn out by them.

Captured by a Torontonian.

MONTREAL, Feb. 29.—Napoleon Taillefer, cattle dealer of St. Henri, was arrested to-day on a capias issued against him by William Lunness of Toronto for $970. He was liberated on giving security.

A Lead Combine.

LONDON, Feb. 29.—The Times says it believes the principal American lead merchants have entered into an agreement with European producers for the privilege of selling their output at £16 per ton for three years.

A Doubtful Report.

PARIS, Feb. 29.—It is reported that a sleeping car company has received orders to prepare a train to convey the German Crown Prince from San Remo to Berlin.

"The Awful Avalanche."

LONDON, Feb. 29.—An avalanche in the valley of Morobbia, Switzerland, killed ten persons and many head of cattle, and destroyed a large number of houses.

The Roof Collapsed.

KANSAS CITY, Feb. 29.—The roof of the Midland Hotel [illegible] at noon, injuring a number of workmen.

MONA SCULLY;

—OR—

The Bride of an Englishman.

A STORY OF THESE TIMES.

"Well, that was just my luck, you know. We have some property there. And, as I am not of much account at home, 'my awful dad' sent me over to Ireland to see why the steward didn't get in the rents. The fact is the people were poor as poor could be, regular out-at-elbows, you know, and I suppose they sadly wanted any money they had. I told the governor so when I came back, but I don't think he seemed to see it; sort of said he wanted it too, and then went on to make some ugly and most uncalled for remarks about my tailor's bill, which of course I treated with the contempt they deserved."

"Well, but it was a little hard on your father, wasn't it?" says Mona, gently.

"Oh, it wasn't much," says the young man, easily; "and he needn't have cut up so rough about it. I was a failure, of course, but I couldn't help it; and, after all, I had a real good time in spite of everything, and enjoyed myself when there down to the ground."

"I am glad of that," says Mona, nicely, as he pauses merely through a desire for breath, not from a desire for silence.

"I had, really. There was one fellow, a perfect giant,—Terry O'Flynn was his name,—and he and I were awful chums. We used to go shooting together every day, and got on capitally. He was a farmer's son, and a very respectable sort of man. I gave him my watch when I was coming away, and he was quite pleased. They don't have much watches, by the bye, the lower classes, do they?"

At this Mona breaks into a sweet but ringing laugh, that makes Lady Rodney (who is growing sleepy, and, therefore, irritable) turn, and fix upon her a cold, reproving glance.

Geoffrey, too, raises his head and smiles, in sympathy with his wife's burst of merriment, as does Miss Darling, who stops her conversation with Sir Nicholas to listen to it.

"What are you talking about?" asks Geoffrey, joining Mona and her companion.

"How could I help laughing," says Mona. "Mr. Darling has just expressed surprise at the fact that the Irish peasantry do not as a rule possess watches." Then suddenly her whole face changes from gayety to extreme sorrow. "Alas! poor souls!" she says, mournfully, "they don't, as a rule, have even meat!"

"Well, I noticed that, too. There did seem to be a great scarcity of that raw material," answers Darling, lightly.—Yet they are a fine race, in spite of it. I am going over again to see my friend Terry before very long. He is the most amusing fellow, downright brilliant. Yes, I think the happiest days I knew over there were spent with Terry. It was rather a sell, though, having no real adventure, particularly as I had promised one not only to myself but to my friends when starting for Paddyland. I beg your pardon a thousand times! Ireland, I mean."

"I don't mind," says Mona. "We are Paddies, of course."

"I wish I was one!" says Mr. Darling, with considerable effusion. "I envy the people who can claim nationality with you. I'd be a Paddy myself to-morrow if I could, for that one reason."

"What a funny boy you are," says Mona, with a little laugh.

"So they all tell me. And of course what every one says is true. We're bound to be friends, aren't we?" rattles on Darling, pleasantly. "Our mutual love for Erin should be a bond between us."

"I hope we shall be; I am sure we shall," returns Mona, quickly. It is sweet to her to find a possible friend in this alien land. "What a strange name yours is!—Nolly."

"Well, I wasn't exactly born so," explains Mr. Darling, frankly; "Oliver is my name. I rather fancy my own name, do you know; it is uncommon, at all events. One don't hear it called 'round every corner, and it reminds one of that 'bold, bad man,' the Protector. But they shouldn't have left out the Cromwell. That would have been a finishing stroke. To hear one's self announced as Oliver Cromwell Darling in a public room would have been as good as a small fortune."

"Better," says Mona, laughing gayly.

"Yes, really, you know. I'm in earnest," declares Mr. Darling, laughing too. He is quite delighted with Mona. To find his path through life strewn with people who will laugh with him, or even at him, is his idea of perfect bliss. So he chatters on to her until bed-hour coming, and candles being forced into notice, he is at length obliged to tear himself away from her and follow the men into the smoking-room.

Here he lays his hands on Geoffrey.

"By Jove, you know, you've about done it," he says, bestowing upon Geoffrey's shoulder a friendly pat that rather takes the breath out of that young man's body. "Gave you credit for more common sense. Why, such a proceeding as this is downright folly. You are bound to pay for your fun, you know, sooner or later."

"Sir," says Mr. Rodney, taking no notice of this preamble, "I shall trouble you to explain what you mean by reducing an inoffensive shoulder-blade to powder."

"Beg pardon, I'm sure," says Nolly, absently. "But"—with sudden interest—"do you know what you have done? You have married the prettiest woman in England."

"I haven't," says Geoffrey.

"You have," says Nolly.

"I tell you I have not," says Geoffrey. "Nothing of the sort. You are woolgathering."

"Good gracious! he can't mean that he is tired of her already," exclaims Mr. Darling, in an audible aside. "That would be too much even for our times."

At this Geoffrey gives way to mirth. He and Darling are virtually alone, as Nicholas and Captain Rodney are talking earnestly about the impending lawsuit in a distant corner.

"My dear fellow, you have overworked your brain;" he says, ironically. "You don't understand me. I am not tired of her. I shall never cease to bless the day I saw her,"—this with great earnestness—"but you say I have married the handsomest woman in England, and she is not English at all."

"Oh, well, what's the odds?" says Nolly. "Whether she is French, or English, Irish or German, she has just the loveliest face I ever saw, and the sweetest ways. You've done an awfully dangerous thing. You will be Mrs. Rodney's husband in no time,—nothing else, and you positively won't know yourself in a year after. Individuality lost. Name gone. Nothing left but your four bones. You will be quite thankful for them even, after a bit."

That is to say, your lungs. Also all your breathing machinery. Very wonderful machinery it is. Not only the larger air-passages, but the thousands of little tubes and cavities leading from them.

When these are clogged and choked with matter which ought not to be there, your lungs cannot half do their work. And what they do, they cannot do well.

Call it cold, cough, pneumonia, catarrh, consumption or any of the family of throat and nose and head and lung obstructions, all are bad. All ought to be got rid of. There is just one sure way to get rid of them. That is to take Boschee's German Syrup, which any druggist will sell you at 75 cents a bottle. Even if everything else has failed you you may depend upon this for certain.

DAILY MARKET REVIEW.

TORONTO, Feb. 29.

The grain markets both at home and abroad show a firmer tendency, while produce is also firm and steady.

On call at the Corn Exchange to-day: No. 1 red winter 95c bid, No. 1 hard 88c bid, No. 2 hard 83c bid, No. 1 northern offered at 85c June delivery and 83c bid for cash.

The car lots received at Chicago yesterday were: Winter wheat 6, spring 53, corn 34, oats 47, rye 1 and barley 13.

The report of receipts of hogs from the Chicago Stock Yards to-day is: Estimated receipts 12,000, official yesterday 10,481, shipments 4085, left over about 3,000. Cattle receipts 8000. Market quiet.

ST. LAWRENCE MARKET.

The retail market was very quiet to-day and prices unchanged.

THE GRAIN SITUATION.

The leading markets have been quiet and irregular this week, closing heavy. Chicago reports are to the effect that outsiders are taking no interest in that market and room-traders are generally bearish. The visible shows a decrease of over 1,100,000 bushels the past week. Exports are fair, and the amount of wheat on passage shows a fair increase. The foreign houses were moderate sellers of futures during the week, and advices from abroad reported considerable offerings of wheat from other countries. The increase of passage this week was a surprise, and indicated heavy shipments from other than Atlantic ports. India shipped only 100,000 bushels, so that the bulk of the increase probably came from Russia, California and Australia. The British Board of Trade returns indicates that there was a marked increase in imports of wheat from Russia during the month of January compared with previous years. The movement of grain at the West has been fair this week, indicating no heavy movement. There have been some reports of crop damage, but they have been of a private nature and have had no bearing on the markets. As the snow passes off it will be possible to determine the extent of damage which wheat has suffered from the severe weather of the winter.

BEERBOHM'S REPORT.

Beerbohm reports to-day: Cargoes off coast—Wheat, turn dearer. Corn, nothing offering. Cargoes on passage—Wheat, red, cheaper; white, dearer. Corn, steady.

THE LONDON MARKET.

London reports to-day: Wheat, quiet and steady; poor demand, supply good. Corn, quiet; poor demand. Prices are without change.

OSWEGO BARLEY MARKET.

Oswego reports barley quiet and prices unchanged. Shipments 2000 bushels.

Fickle Fashion.

Thou causest tears down damask cheeks to rush,
Their ban is on the sealskin sacque, and now
The proper thing for pretty girls is plush.

Some People Think

Because salerooms are handsome that selling prices must be high. They forget—or have never learned—that dingy quarters for the transaction of business are either evidence of a slow trade or of contempt for the public convenience, or of a fatal lack of enterprise. Such is not the case with us. We want our friends to call and look over our new and handsome store. We want them to notice the conveniences provided for their convenience, to facilitate business, to keep one waiting just as short a time as possible and to handle our trade with promptness.

But this is not all we wish our friends to notice. Success in any department of business is impossible if the prices are not right. Our business, as grocers, is to be successful because we have right prices You buy for value. You get good Goods. You receive honest weight and measure and prompt service.

Everything new, fresh and inviting.

Can we have a share of your trade?

LAID OVER UNTIL TUESDAY

THE QUEBEC RESOLUTIONS IN THE LOCAL LEGISLATURE.

Nine Members Exercise Their Eloquence—Nothing Said About Commercial Union—To Be Voted on En Bloc—Abolishing Toll-gates—Three Railway Bills.

TORONTO, March 2.

The Legislature again presented a busy scene yesterday, when the debate on the Quebec Resolutions was resumed. Before the House sat the lobbies were filled with members and sight seers, the majority of whom were discussing pro and con the capabilities of Mr. Evanturel, who was to be the first speaker of the day. At 3.15 the M.P.P.'s were in their places in the chamber.

The questions discussed were mainly the same as on the previous day: the veto power, the franchise provisions, the financial resolution, and the proposition regarding the Senate. Most of the resolutions were not alluded to in any way. It is somewhat remarkable that during the two days' debate no reference was made to the Commercial Union resolution. In opening the debate the Attorney-General passed this over with other minor resolutions, and none of his supporters made any mention of it.

The House rose at 5.45 and resumed at 8.

Mr. Evanturel's rising was a signal for Ministerial applause.

The Attorney-General begged the hon. gentleman's pardon for interrupting. He rose to say that he would withdraw his proposition as to vote on the resolutions separately. He thought it would be better to vote on them as a whole, as they were to be submitted in this way for approval to the different legislatures.

Mr. Meredith: Swallow them whole.

The Attorney-General: Yes; swallow them whole. Those who object to any one resolution will have an opportunity to do so in their speeches.

Mr. Evanturel was received with renewed applause. He opened with a reference to the last speaker's (Mr. H. E. Clarke) artificial smile and his unmerited prominence by being placed in a front seat of the Opposition benches. The first point of his (Mr. Evanturel's) speech was a defence of his compatriots in answer to a fancied charge of disloyalty. The French Canadians had always been true since they gave their allegiance to the British Crown. The British flag would not be floating on this continent to-day were it not for the loyalty of the French Canadians at the time of the American invasion. He also defended the Nova Scotians from the charge of disloyalty. He next took up the veto power, and agreed with the Ministerialists that it would be better to take it away from the Dominion Government. In these hands it was a constant obstacle to the exercise of the beautiful prerogatives of this province. He complimented the leader of the Opposition on having for once censured the Dominion Government for a waste of public money, in discountenancing the Dominion Franchise Act. He complimented the Ontario Government on the splendid debating powers shown at the Quebec conference. Concluding, he said he could give his vote in favor of the resolutions freely, so that something could be made of the provinces. [Applause.]

Mr. Metcalfe, the next speaker, received his share of applause. He called the hon. member for Russell a great stretcher. He denied that the hon. member for Loudon (Mr. Meredith) had ever said anything disparaging the French Canadians. No one that he knew of on this side of the House charged the French Canadians with disloyalty. And yet the hon. gentleman got up with his locomotive fury with the idea that he must say something terrible, and he said perhaps more than he intended. The hon. member got inflated with gas and it had to blow of. The Minister of Education had asked what could cement the people. Not, he could assure the Minister of Education, the inflammatory speeches they had listened to. A prize given in the schools for the best composition on Canadian sentiment would tend more to it. He digressed to give credit to the Attorney-General for some things. But all credit was not due him that some Reformers gave him. "I met a Reformer the other day," said he, "and I'll tell you what he said. Says he, 'How are you?'—[laughter]—and says I, 'How are you?' 'How are you getting on with Mowat,' said he. 'All right,' I said. 'He did a good thing the other day, didn't he?' said he. 'How's that?' said I. 'Why, he shook hands with Sir John up at the Lieutenant-Governor's, and a little while after Sir John sought for salvation.'" [Uproarious laughter.] Sir John sought for salvation, or at least stood up to be prayed for. Prayer, he considered to be good, and it could do no harm. He himself had the Bishop's benediction at Kingston and he came out all right. [Applause.] He said in conclusion that he was not in favor of the resolutions.

Mr. Guthrie said the constitution of the Senate was indefensible. He did not agree altogether with the plan embodied in the resolutions.—[Opposition applause]—but he would rather take half a loaf than no bread. Neither was he altogether in favor of the subsidy increases. He did not, however, hold they were open to the objections taken by the hon. gentleman opposite. It was highly desirable that the validity of the Provincial and Dominion acts should be settled by the courts, and to business men it was apparent that the resolution referring to the bankruptcy and insolvency act should be carried into effect. The provinces should also have as free power to pass acts as the Dominion, as little restriction on one as on the other. If they were to have a veto power at all they should repose it in the Imperial Government. It had been shown by experience that their use of it would be sparing indeed. When did the Queen-in-council veto a Dominion act? As the veto power rested now it was unsafe to the provinces. Not only because political partisanship was bitter at Ottawa, but because Sir John Macdonald was incompetent as a constitutional law authority. It was surely proper to vest the veto power over Ontario acts in the same place where the veto power over Dominion acts was, notwithstanding all that had been said about the third-class clerk in Downing-street. [Ministerial applause.]

When Mr. French rose to speak Mr. Creighton cast his eyes upward to the Opposition press gallery, where The Empire reporter sat.

Hon Mr. Fraser: That's right, have it reported well.

Mr. French became nettled. He demanded Mr. Fraser's attention as courtesy due from one member to another.

Mr. Fraser: Does the hon. gentleman think I am not going to pay him attention?

Mr. French did not want any more interruptions. He objected first to the form of the invitations sent out to the various premiers of the provinces to attend the Quebec conference, hinting that the one form for Reform premiers and another for the Conservatives, showed a secret understanding among the Reform premiers. He then went into a defense of the veto power as it was, and referred to a number of particular cases in which that power was used, raised by Mr. Guthrie. He devoted twenty minutes to elaborating the resolution providing that the Dominion elections shall be carried or by the use of Provincial Franchise Acts. It was unfair to allow hostile legislatures to control, to a certain extent, the Dominion elections by giving them the power to say how these elections shall be conducted. He was satisfied that the Dominion Franchise Act would be simplified, made less expensive, and satisfactory to all. As to the election of senators he preferred a vote of the whole Province for the Province's representatives to the Senate rather than giving the Legislature the appointing power. He was content, however, with the Senate as it was

Wr. Waters said these resolutions were the outcome of the deliberations of the ablest politicians of Canada on the defects of our written constitution. They here should respectfully consider the result. Discontent before 1867 was reason for calling together able statesmen, and the outcome of their deliberations was the present constitution. Now it was made clear that there were defects in it and amendment was demanded. To allay existing discontent the united opinion of these statesmen should be crystalized into amendments to the constitution. Discontent was aroused in all the provinces. He did not take a back seat to anybody as to loyalty.

Mr. Wylie arose to continue the debate, but in deference to the wish of the members moved the adjournment. It was ten minutes to eleven.

Before the motion for adjournment was passed Hon. Mr. Fraser moved that the debate be adjourned till Tuesday next, with precedence over other business till finished.

Mr. Meredith hoped it would not interfere with his "mining and forests" motion set for Wednesday.

Hon. Mr. Fraser thought they would get through on Tuesday night.

Mr. Meredith asked how it was that the Attorney-General suddenly changed his proposition with regard to voting on the motions separately. Did he think that he would catch some members of this side by separate voting, and did he conclude if he did not move the resolutions en bloc he might lose some of his own?

The Attorney-General said such a thing never entered his mind. His explanation at the beginning of to-day's sitting was sufficient.

The Railway Committee met yesterday morning and reported three bills with slight amendments: The Ottawa and Thousand Island bill, the Brockville, Westport and Sault Ste. Marie bill, and the Berlin debenture bill.

The Municipal Committee received a large deputation respecting toll roads. Among those present were these: Mr. Testzel, Wentworth; Mr. Kerr, York; Mr. Sexton, Ancaster; Mr. Cockshutt, Brantford; Mr. Bruce, Markham; Mr. Waddel, Dundas; Mr. Awrey, M.P.P., and Mr. McMahon, M.P.P. It was the opinion of nearly all that toll gates should be abolished, but the mode of providing for vested interests was the subject of contention. A large sub-committee was appointed to consider the matter.

Mr. Woods introduced a bill yesterday to produce an easy means by which butter and cheese companies can be incorporated. The power to incorporate is the County Registrar. The details are simple and sensible.

After recess Hon. Mr. Hardy brought down several returns.

The Private Bills Committee advanced several bills.

Detective Fahey et al. Indicted.

MONTREAL, March 1.—The Grand Jury today found true bills against F. D. Shallow of Le Moniteur du Commerce for libel, Flora Samuels for feloniously bringing stolen goods into Canada, and Detectives Fahey and Naegele and Constable Bureau for larceny and conspiracy. Mr. St. Jean, counsel for the detectives, asked for a separate trial for each and also for a French jury. A separate trial on the charge of larceny was granted, but His Honor decided that the jury must be a mixed one.

From the Elysee to the Felon's Cell.

PARIS, March 1.—M. Wilson, the son-in-law of ex-President Grevy, who has been on trial for complicity in the Legion of Honor decoration scandal, has been convicted. He was sentenced to two years' imprisonment, to pay a fine of 3000 francs and to be deprived of his civil rights for five years.

Lord Stanley's Aides.

LONDON, March 1.—Lord Stanley of Preston, the new Governor-General of Canada, has appointed Capt. Colville of the Grenadier Guards his military secretary and Lieut. MacMahon and Lieut. Stanley, his eldest son, aides-de-camp.

CENTRAL BANK MATTERS.

MR. HENRY LYE APPOINTED LIQUIDATOR VICE MR. CAMPBELL.

The Meeting Unanimous in its Selection With the Exception of One Man—Some Crisp Remarks Concerning Mr. Campbell—A Vote of Confidence in Messrs. Howland and Gooderham.

TORONTO, March 1.—According to arrangement the meeting of the creditors of the Central Bank to nominate a successor to the deposed Mr. Archibald Campbell as liquidator of that concern, was held this afternoon in the Temperance Hall. The admission was by ticket, and Police Inspector Stephen and Sergt. Somerville stood at the door to see that no one got in who had no business there.

Many of the creditors did not know how to fill in the voting tickets with which they had been provided and in ten minutes about a score of them requested the reporters to fill in the cards as they desired. Invariably when asked "whom do you wish to vote for?" they said, "Henry Lye," and this seemed an indication of what the result might be. The woman who was from the country town said: "Dear knows, I've suffered enough with this thing, and I'm distracted. But I'm bound to see the end of it."

At 2.15, when Chairman Blake called the meeting to order there were in the body of the hall about 150 creditors, three being women. On the platform with him were Liquidators Howland and Gooderham and Scrutineers Henry Pellatt and Neil McLean. Ex-Liquidator Campbell, who had decided not to again be a candidate, was not present, as he is not a creditor of the bank. Neither was Accountant Henry Lye, who was understood to be the only candidate.

Mr. Blake explained, amid silence, the rules governing the nominations, and then called for nominations.

Henry Lye was nominated by Dr. Pattullo and Henry Walmsley, both of Toronto. Mr. Blake explained that if no other nomination were made within five minutes he would declare the nominations closed and Mr. Lye elected. Then J. G. Fitzgibbon was nominated by Accountant W. Robins and Manager Wm. Cook of the Merchants' Bank.

Mr. Lye was declared elected.

In accordance with the law Mr. Blake called on one of the liquidators to produce a book of the bank. Mr. Howland did so and stated that they could show a balance of $459,455.50.

Then there was some hot talking, principally about Mr. Campbell, and Mr. Wright urged that Campbell be prosecuted for the taking of money or securities. In fact, though there were some exceptions, the generally expressed opinion was that Mr. Campbell had proved himself to not be the man for the place.

This resolution was unanimously carried:

"That this meeting expresses its approval of the general course of action of W. H. Hoffland and Wm. Gooderham as liquidators, and its entire confidence in their judgment to adopt and carry out the best means of realizing the assets of the bank for the benefit of creditors."

The meeting adjourned at 4.45, everyone in a most happy frame of mind.

GAMBLE'S SENTENCE COMMUTED.

He Will Be Sent to Penitentiary for Life—The News Received by Telegraph.

TORONTO, March 2.—Yesterday morning Mr. W. G. Murdoch, counsel for John R. Gamble, received the following despatch from Mr. Power, Deputy Minister of Justice:

"His Excellency the Governor-General-in-Council has been pleased to commute the death sentence passed on John R. Gamble to imprisonment for life in the penitentiary."

Immediately on receiving the telegram Mr. Murdoch telephoned to the governor of the jail, announcing the welcome intelligence for the condemned man that it contained. Mr. Green replied that he could not notify Gamble officially of the action of the Executive until he received instructions from the sheriff.

"The Noble Dust of Alexander."

CONSTANTINOPLE, March 1.—The sarcophagus containing the body of Alexander the Great has been discovered at Saida.

EX-BANKER CUTTEN'S CASE.

The Accused Committed for Trial on the Charge of False Pretences.

GUELPH, March 1.—The preliminary hearing of the charge of false pretences preferred against ex-Banker W. H. Cutten took place at the Police Court this morning. Mr. Cutten stated that he wished to waive examination and reserve his defence, but the Magistrate said that he would have to take some evidence before he could send the case for trial.

A. S. D. Hill and Thos. Carabee were the only witnesses examined, and after hearing their evidence the Magistrate committed Cutten for trial. The prisoner's bail in $500 and two sureties in $250 each was accepted for his appearance. The trial is expected to take place on Saturday.

THE ESTIMATES.

The Amount Provided for Ordinary Expenditure is $35,421,440—Toronto Items.

OTTAWA, March 1.—The amount provided in the estimates for ordinary expenditure in the Dominion is $35,421,440 and including redemption of debt and capital account foots up to $44,186,316. Among the items to be voted chargeable to income are $60,000 (revote) for the Toronto Drill Hall, provided the city furnishes a site; $1500 to improve the Toronto Dominion Buildings, $2500 for the Toronto Examining Warehouse, and $750 for the Toronto Postoffice. The sums for other public buildings and improvements in Western Ontario are (chargeable to income):

Brampton Public Buildings $7000, Cayuga Postoffice $7000, Cobourg Postoffice, Custom House, etc., $7000, Gananoque Postoffice and Custom House $7000, Goderich Postoffice and Custom House $7000, Guelph Postoffice (improvements) $2000, Hamilton Drill Hall $21,000, Kingston Penitentiary $20,000, Kingston Examining Warehouse $10,000, Lindsay Postoffice and Custom House $7000, London Postoffice and Custom House $12,000, London Infantry School $5600, Napanee Postoffice and Custom House $7000, Port Arthur Postoffice (on proper site being given) $7000, Prescott Postoffice and Custom House $15,000, Strathroy Postoffice and Custom House $7000, St. Thomas Postoffice and Custom House $500.

Under the head of harbors and rivers these sums are put down:

Belleville harbor (to complete) $2000, Cobourg harbor $10,000, Collingwood harbor (to complete) $4000, Goderich harbor $10,000, Kincardine harbor (repairs) $5000, Kingston harbor $6000, Owen Sound harbor $15,000, Port Elgin harbor $5000, Port Hope (repairs) $2500, Sault Ste. Marie $7000.

The sum of $40,000 is to be voted for "dredging" in the harbors of Ontario and Quebec.

The appropriations for mail subsidies and steamship subventions have been left blank and will probably be voted in the supplementary estimates when the Government decides upon its policy about a subsidy for a fast Atlantic mail service.

The sum of $1,480,000 (chargeable to capital) is put down to complete the deepening of the system of the St. Lawrence canals from 8 feet 6 in. to 14 feet, thus making these canals of a uniform depth with the Welland and Lachine canals and permitting the passage of the largest class of inland vessels from the upper lakes to Montreal.

CAPITAL NOTES AND GOSSIP.

Chairmen of Standing Committees—A Dinner in Honor of "Luke Sharp."

OTTAWA, March 1.—The standing committees of the House of Commons organized today by electing these chairmen:

Banking and Commerce—Mr. Hall (Sherbrooke.)

Railways—Sir Hector Langevin.

Public Accounts—Mr. Rykert.

Privileges and Elections—Mr. Girouard.

Agriculture and Colonization—Mr. White (Renfrew.)

Private Bills—Mr. Ives.

Standing Orders—Mr. Wood (Brockville).

Expiring Laws—Mr. Royal (Provencher.)

Mr. J. C. Patterson of North Essex gave a dinner this evening in the House of Commons Restaurant in honor of Mr. Robert Barr ("Luke Sharp") of The Detroit Free Press, who is on a visit to the city. The Minister of Justice and the Minister of Customs were among the twenty-seven guests present. Mr. Barr made a happy speech in reply to the toast of "The Guest of the Evening." Mr. Barr lives in Windsor.

Nicol Kingsmill of Toronto is in the lobby to promote the incorporation of the Canada and Michigan Tunnel Company, and Mr. J. C. Patterson has taken him under his wing. This is a Vanderbilt scheme in connection with the Canada Southern Railway.

Among the Toronto arrivals at the Capital to-day were T. G. Blackstock, Sam Beatty and H. E. Crawford. The latter two gentlemen came from Montreal.

Mr. Jamieson did not introduce his Scott Act amendment to-day as was expected.

If the report of the Debates Committee is adopted, which it certainly will be, Mrs. Eyvel will receive two months' salary of her late lamented husband.

No mention was made in the House to-day of the death of Mr. Alexander Robertson, M.P. for Hastings.

The C. P. R. & C. Strike.

CHICAGO, March 1.—The Burlington officials were more confident than ever this morning. They said that a number of freight trains in Nebraska, Iowa, Missouri and Illinois had been moved, some through trains came in this morning and the full suburban service is in operation. Mr. Arthur said this afternoon that he had hopes of a friendly settlement of the existing trouble.

The Lion Loose in Minnesota.

DULUTH, Minn., March 1.—The worst storm by far of the winter set in last night.

Montreal Municipal Elections.

MONTREAL, March 1.—In the municipal elections here to-day these aldermen were elected: Messrs. Perrault, Rainville, Robert, Griffin, Conroy, Germain.

FARMERS' INSTITUTE.

THE DISCUSSION OF THE SUBJECT OF COMMERCIAL UNION.

Facts that Told Against the Scheme—A Motion in Favor of it Sat On—Mr. John McClelland on Poultry and the Profits of Poultry Breeding.

As an introduction to his paper, Mr. Cluxton had dwelt on the size and importance of the Dominion and had dwelt on the greatness of the Canadian Pacific Railway. In conclusion, Mr. Cluxton said that his business life, a long and eventful one of 50 years, was about ended, and he advocated commercial union for no selfish reason, but in the interest of the country. He read from a report of a speech by the Hon. John Carling in which it was stated that prices of some articles of farm produce were higher in Toronto and Montreal then in Detroit and Buffalo. He denied this, remarking that Mr. Carling being a brewer did not want the price of barley raised, and quoted figures regarding the price of barley on each side of the line. He said they wanted to break down the barbed wire fence betwen Canada and the United States and have a free intercourse between them as there is between the various states of the union.

Mr. J. CARNEGIE said, as he understood the proposition, it was to sweep away the customs line between Canada and the United States and have a common tariff for both countries. He asked what proportion of the customs revenue Canada would get, how it was proposed to raise the revenue that would be lost by the removal of the duties, and what effect it would have on the people and particularly on the farmers?

Mr. CLUXTON replied that the question was a proper one, but probably it would be more in place at a political meeting. It was a question for the governments to decide. Under commercial union there would be no difference in the Canadian and United States duties on all foreign imports. There was a movement in the United States to lower the tariff, but we would probably have to raise ours a little. As to raising the revenue, "where there's a will there's a way." A joint commission could settle these important questions.

Mr. CARNEGIE said that the people, and especially the farmers, as the most numerous, were the government. How could the revenue be raised if it was not done by direct taxation?

Mr. W. GRAHAM.—That would be a better way.

Mr. CARNEGIE said that in some respects it would, but direct taxation would be a tax on visible property, and were not the farmers the chief owners of such property? As it was now the Customs taxes were principally paid by the wealthier men who bought imported luxuries. Under commercial union they would be compelled to have direct taxation for Dominion purposes and for the whole of the Provincial revenue, while now a large sum from the customs revenue went into the Provincial treasury and was paid out to help to keep up their schools, etc. Looking at it merely as a business transaction, they should consider the disadvantages as well as the advantages. Mr. Cluxton assumed that they paid the duty on goods exported to the United States and also on imports from the States. It was absurd to think that that was so. He (Mr. Cluxton) said they would get 10 cents more for wool, but the price of wool was kept up in the United States by the imposition of a heavy duty on goods made of wool, and to maintain the price they would have to have the higher duty on these goods. In the United States woollens worth 80 cents paid a duty of 35 cents a lb. and 40 per cent. ad valorem, and woollens worth 30 cents, 10 cents per yard and 45 per cent. They would then, under commercial union, have to pay more for woollen goods. The reduction in the price of wool was largely owing to that class of wool not being used so largely and the demand being diminished. For Shropshire wool, mentioned by Mr. Cluxton, 30 cents had been paid in Fenelon Falls last year. In 1866 the United States had imported 25,000 head of cattle, but they had exported 114,000 head, largely to England. Canadian cattle shipped to England could be landed alive and fed, while United States cattle had to be slaughtered. This was a privilege they would lose by commercial union. One explanation in connection with the whole matter was found in the fact that when an American imported cattle, and paid the duty, if he exported them again he got a refund of the duty, all except 10 per cent. And it was the same with other things. As to horses, Mr. Cluxton had estimated that the duty was paid on horses at the rate of $100 value of the animals, while the United States government returns showed that they were entered at $51, so that his figures as to the duty paid were one half too high. Not only, under this scheme, would they have to have a common customs tariff, but the excise duties of the two countries would have to be the same, and they might even be compelled to have the same ban[illegible] and to make all their fiscal and [illegible] the same.

Mr. CLUXTON.—Hear, hear.

Mr. CARNEGIE.—And would we not have only a voice proportionate to our population in making these laws? If a commission were appointed with thirteen United States representatives on it, Canada would only have one as against the thirteen. They had in Canada a grand country and a good climate, and were they going to sit down and say that they were not as good, man for man, as the United States people? This was a young country in comparison to the United States, but in building the Canadian Pacific they had completed a work such as had not been accomplished by any other people of the same numbers.

A VOICE.—We'll have to pay for it.

Mr. CARNEGIE.—If so, it is not by handing the business it should do, and the advantages of that road and other public works, over to the United States, that it will be done. As to butter, it was one of the articles that the United States exported. Mr. Cluxton said that Canada produced a class of barley that the United States did not, and that the brewers had to have it; this being so the Canadian farmers would have to be paid a price that would pay them to grow it, and if they had commercial union they would not receive the full amount of the duty removed. When a man goes after an article he does not produce he has to largely pay the duty. There was one circumstance that Mr. Cluxton did not mention in connection with the reciprocity treaty, and that was the war. The Americans had to come to us for their supplies, but those circumstances did not exist now. They must consider the present circumstances of the people they were dealing with.

Mr. CLUXTON said he did not see that much good would come out of the discussion with the turn it had taken. He had laid some facts before them which they could consider. He never knew before of the refund paid by the United States when imported articles were exported. The United States was going on only four years of the reciprocity period.

Mr. GEO. HILLIARD said he was sorry this question had been introduced at the Institute. It should be discussed by the farmers, but at a meeting of farmers called for that purpose, and not at the Institute.

Mr. CLUXTON said that all the Institutes had discussed it and it was perfectly right to do so. He was a Conservative, but if his best Conservative friend ran as a parliamentary candidate opposed to commercial union, he would oppose him.

SCRIBNER'S MAGAZINE.—The issue for March of this excellent periodical is one that leaves scarcely anything more to be desired in the way of interesting and lively literature. "The Campaign of Waterloo," by J. C. Ropes, deals with military events preceding that famous battle and throws new light on the movements of the allied English and Russian armies during the days preceding the conflict. This article will attract great attention, which it richly merits. Mrs. Robert Louis Stevenson contributes an interesting tale "The Nixie," while Mrs. Jas. T. Field's "Shelf of old Books" is chattily filled with reminesences of Shelly, Leigh Hunt and other contemporary poets. Readers of a scientific turn of mind will be interested in perusing "The Electric Motor and its Appliances," by F. L. Pope. Capital serial tales are in good instalment while the whole number is one of great interest. Scribner's Magazine, as an illustrated work, ranks very high and is replete with a wealth of picture and plate. Address the publishers, Scribner's Sons, New York, or consult local booksellers for terms of subscription.

THE CITY AND SUBURBS

The Weather Probabilities.

Strong winds; cloudy, with snow and rain.

Coming Along With March.

Friday morning brought us the heaviest snowfall of the season. It brought us drifted woods, late trains, a depleted market, and bothered pedestrains. Here things are incidental to hard weather. It is consoling to reflect that though stormy weather may prevail over the land it is fair at the golden lion. Nothing disturbs the serenity of the prices. The work of piling up a spring stock continues and when the snow disappears we shall have fair times, fair prices, fair weather and fair women all shopping at fair's. Taken altogether things will be fairly up to the mark.

To Decide.

A meeting of the Directors of the West Peterborough Farmers' Institute will be held at the Crown Timber office (Mr. J. B. McWilliams'), Water-st., to-morrow afternoon, to decide upon the date for holding the next meeting at Lakefield. It is probable that a strong local committee will be appointed to complete all arrangements and that the proceeding will be enlivened with music, singing, &c.

Trains Late.

Owing to the heavy snowstorm the regular express on the C.P.R., due here at 11.32 a.m., was over an hour and a half late to-day. Snow ploughs were sent ahead, but a freight stuck in a drift and retarded operations this way until it was liberated. The locomotive of the express was covered with snow and ice and presented the appearance of having gone through some huge drifts.

What it Needs.

Many people appear to be under the impression that the Smith-st. bridge is in such a bad state that it will have to be re-built and accordingly the Street and Bridge Inspector has been pestered during the last few days by men who want jobs on it. These people are laboring under a great mistake. All that it needs is to place in a new needle beam and a short brace. The street and bridge men can do the work in a few hours without any trouble. The bridge in question is continually getting out of order and such has been the case from the time it was erected.

Parish of Norwood.

Norwood Register:—"Bishop Dowling has added another parish to his diocese. It will be known as the Parish of Norwood. The pulpit of the church here has, since its erection, been filled by Rev. Father Quirk, of Hastings, who is universally respected and esteemed. The new parish will be placed in charge of the Rev. Fater Conway, of Peterborough, a gentleman of more than ordinary ability and one eminently fitted for the position. M Conway was in town on Monday and we understand will enter into the discharge of his duties on Sunday next. It is the intention of his parishoners to erect a handsome residence for him during the coming summer."

A Peculiar Accident.

A peculiar accident occurred in front of the Market House this morning, resulting in serious injury to a horse owned by Mr John Leplante, butcher. Two delivery wagons, one owned by Mr. H. C. Winch and one by Mr. Laplante, were standing on the sidewalk under the verandah. Mr. Winch's rig was in front and the horse attached to the other suddenly took a notion and walked forward. He jumped on the front of the rig with the result that one foot went through the thin dashboard and the other was caught between the front bob and the box. Both feet were wedged in tightly and in efforts to free herself the horse cut herself badly, the tendons of the right front foot being cut through and the other foot wrenced. With the assistance of some bystanders the unfortunate animal was released and the services of Dr. Crevier were called into requisition.

At Trenton.

The Town Council of Trenton is going in for retrenchment and the first move they have made is to reduce the salary of the Police Magistrate from $800 to $500, the Chief of Police from $700 to $450 and the assistant police to $400, the officers to find their own uniforms.

Local Licenses.

All local licenses except those of butchers are now due and those who hoped to see the licenses for pool and billiard tables reduced are disappointed, as the Council took no action whatever in the matter. Therefore the by-law of last year governs all but carters. The Inspector is already after all who do business and who are required to take out license and he is bound to have all of them collected at an early date, instead of allowing stragglers to hand in the fee and obtain the necessary papers, just whenever they saw fit to do so.

"The Royal" Flavoring Extracts are not only true to their names, but are prepared from fruits of the best quality.

All Right Again.

For some days past the machinery at the Water Company's pump house has been somwhat blocked by anchor ice, but things are just about all right again and the usual pressure is once more on the mains. The ice is so thick above the dam that when the anchor ice comes down it has to cut channels for itself through the sawdust. On different occasions the flumes have been filled with floating ice. The factories along the race have also been troubled greatly from the same cause this year, but by careful watching much damage has been prevented that would otherwise have occurred.

KIDD and his prices are both low, but the quality of his boots is the very best.

The Secret's Out.

In the window of Messrs. Mills Bros. may be seen the handsome and costly prizes to be awarded at the great carnival on the afternoon and evening of Friday, March 9th. They are to be distributed as follows:—Afternoon—Children of fourteen years and under—Best dressed girl in fancy costume, enlarged photograph of the winner, in costume, size 18x22, by P. H. Green; best dressed girl in comic costume, The Girl's Own Annual; smallest girl on skates, large wax doll, dressed, size as large as the winner; best dressed boy in fancy costume, handsome stem-winding watch; best dressed boy in comic costume, large magic lantern, with one dozen views; smallest boy on skates, brass drum; boy's race, three times around rink, hat; barrel race, through three barrels and return, silk handkerchief. Evening—Best dressed lady in fancy costume, dessert set mounted in silver; best dressed lady in comic costume, brass plaque, hand-painted, with clock; best dressed gentleman in fancy costume, a handsome piece of bronze statuary representing a Spanish scene; best dressed gentleman in comic costume, a comical piece of mechanism, representing "I have only been down to the club"; best representation of the President of the Lime Juice Club, the Times for one year; barrel race, through three barrels, handsome inlaid box of paints; boy's race, five times around the rink, mecnanical steam engine.

Curlinna.

The champs are still the champs and they stand prepared to meet any eight players belonging to the rink. On Thursday evening the players who won the Governor-General's trophy accepted a challenge from eight other players and a match for the oysters and cigars was played. The champions polished off the "stay-at-homes" in elegant shape and ate their oysters and smoked their cigars at Chamberlain's The following is the score.

The champions thus win by 7 shots.

The ice at the rink is in splendid condition and scratch matches are almost of daily occurrence.

We understand that there are several skips belonging to the club, who have the idea concealed about their persons, that they can raise two rinks that can defeat the champ. Skips Ray and Ferguson say nothing but think much and they are prepared to meet all comers, even the juniors and they are willing to play for fun, oysters, flour or marbles.

The rink skipped by Mr. E. Peplow has won the Port Hope medal.

The Keene club telegraphed here asking Peterborough to send down two rinks to day, but it was found impossible to get the players together.

The competition for the Caledonian medal in Toronto is interesting. Each club in the city has defeated the other and the second round is now being played.

On Thursday, Whitby defeated Port Perry in two matches at the latter place. The scores were first game 43 to 25 and second game 31 to 25. In a previous match Port Perry was victorious.

FARMERS' INSTITUTE.

Mr. HILLIARD said that if there was time he would give his opinion briefly on the lumber question. He had not lived sixty years without noticing something. It was within his recollection that the first tree cut in Canada for commercial purposes was cut west of Kingston. Let them look around and see where the timber had gone. Few places in the settled parts of western Ontario could supply themselves, and in a few years they would be bringing lumber into Peterborough. Would it be to the advantage of Ontario if its timber lands were rapidly shipped for the benefit of the Yankees? That would be killing the goose that laid the golden eggs. Commercial union would not be in the interest of the lumbermen, as in view of the local markets—the best market—that were springing up it would pay them to husband their timber. At the recent sales at Toronto all but one of the sales were made to Americans, who would take the timber out of the country. It was a mistake to think that the pine timber extended back to the Hudson's Bay.

Mr. CLUXTON said that Mr. Hilliard's remarks amounted to this, that he differed from other lumbermen.

Mr. CARNEGIE said that this must become a political question, but if the Hon. James Young, of Galt, an old Reformer, who had written in opposition to commercial union, ran here as an opponent of the scheme, he (Mr. Carnegie), old Tory as he was, would support him. There were many fallacies in Mr. Cluxton's paper that, were time given for the purpose, would be exposed.

Mr. D. KENNEDY moved a vote of thanks to Mr. Cluxton for his able and practical paper. He advised the formation of commercial union clubs and deprecated farmers, being led away by party feeling.

Mr. J. J. GALVIN seconded the motion and referred to the condition of things under reciprocity.

The motion was put and carried.

Mr. WM. GRAHAM moved that the meeting approves of commmercial union

Mr. F. J. BELL opposed having this motion put.

Mr. J.J. GALVIN said he was in favor of commercial union if it could be obtained on honorable terms, not otherwise.

Mr. CLUXTON acknowledged the vote of thanks.

POULTRY.

Mr. JOHN MCCLELLAND spoke on the "Profits of Poultry Breeding." He found that the value of poultry and eggs exported from the country was $1,854,241, which was $1,500,000 more than the value of the exports of swine, bacon and ham. It fell short of exports of horses last year, but in 1886 exceeded them by $500,000. For poultry they should have good houses, skeltered at the north, with good light and earthern floors or floor covered with six inches of dirt. Ladder perches should be dispensed with, as the fowl crowded and injured each other. The perches should be on one level. Some used a drop board under the perch, with a space under it giving room for nests. He, however, recommended instead a trough made of two 4 inch boards. The bottom should every now and then be dusted with road dust or air slacked lime to kill the vermin. Regarding profits, the proper keeping of manure should be considered. It should be put in barrels with road dust, in which form it was very nearly as valuable as Peruvian guano. It sold in the old country for £4 4s. a ton, but was worth more for manufacturing purposes. Tanners would buy it if free from dust or lime. He pointed out that at times when mutton and beef are cheap, poultry brought a good price. Good hens would lay on an average 15, 16, 18 or 20 dozen a year. Fifteen dozen at 15 cts. would bring $2.25. It was estimated that a bushel of corn, at 34 cents, would keep a hen with a good run, which would leave a profit of $1.41 per head. He gave instances where profits had averaged $4 and $5. A pound of eggs could be produced more cheaply than a pound of pork. He dwelt on the nutritive value of eggs, comparing it with meat. Thoroughbred fowl were as easily kept as crossed breeds, they would get the same for the eggs, and for hatching purposes double, while in the sale of stock they would get ten times as much. He had got from $5 to $40 for a single bird. He recommended sticking to one variety for profit, though for simply selling eggs cross-breeds did very well. Poultry for the market should be fat. To fatten fowl, care should be taken that they were not kept poor by vermin. They should not be fed for from 15 to 24 hours before being killed. He recommended that they should be plucked dry, as they would look and keep better. The body should not be allowed to cool before taking the feathers off. In preparing to send them a distance, the head and feet should be left on, the feet and wings drawn close to the body and packed, breast downwards, in straw. In no case should the feet be taken off turkeys. He did not recommend corn for general purpose feeding, but it was good for fattening. Wheat, rye and barley were good, and wheat mixed with other feed was good. On cold mornings a feed of warm barley meal and bran was good. Poultry should be watered regularly. Giving milk would double the lay of eggs. To get rid of vermin, he would whitewash the hen house, mixing carbolic acid in the lime wash, and petroleum on the perches would keep them away. He used German insect powder. Sulphur was good to put in the nests. The perches should not be too high—the drop boards 16 or 18 inches from the floor and the perches 5 or 6 inches above. It would do no harm if it was cold enough to freeze in the hen house; fowl were injured by keeping the house too warm.

The Institute then adjourned until evening.

EVENING SESSION.

At 8 o'clock an evening meeting was held at the Court House. The attendance was slim.

Chairman Bell regretted the small number present and introduced Mr. John Dryden, M.P.P., South Ontario.

Mr. DRYDEN is an easy going pleasant speaker. After a few introductory remarks, in which he said that farmers were not making money, he put in a good word for commercial union, and told those present how they could better their positions financially and educationally. He said it was impossible to lay down any cast iron rule to follow in farming, as each individual must use his brains. No business requires more business ability and careful thought than that of a farmer. He must study his circumstances and work from the bottom up. They must have a thorough training, they must have some definite purpose and conduct business with that particular object in view. All details should be attended to and all the small leaks stopped up. Everything undertaken should be thoroughly carried out. With regard to education, he did not mean mere book learning, but the development of the boy's body and mind to fit him for taking a position on the farm and to take such a position in after life as his fellows may see fit to place him in. Farmers should never decry their position in life or business in the presence of their boys, if they intend that the boys shall follow farming. They should rather teach the boy the dignity and independence of the position. If farmers do not respect themselves and calling they cannot expect outsiders to do it. As a rule farmers do not amass great wealth, but they have peace, happiness, quiet, plenty to eat, fresh air, &c., instead of the trouble and worry of ordinary man of busines. The boy should be taught the dignity of his calling and the necessity of labor. Labor is not necessarily slavery or bondage, but it can be made a pleasure and it is necessary to make any business a success. The boy should be fitted out with good horses, harness and implements and he will take good care of them. He would not make a farmer out of every boy born on the farm, but would choose only those who have a liking for it. He favored sending boys through the high schools and at the same time he would commence to teach him farming, when about 7 years old, and keep him at it during holidays, etc., giving him the care and responsibility of something, so as to keep him interested. He advocated giving boys a thorough business education, and if possible give them a course in the Agricultural College. In conclusion he advised farmers to stand shoulder to shoulder to advance their best interests.

A vote of thanks was passed to the speaker and it was decided to hold the next meeting at Lakefield, on a date to be fixed by the committee at a meeting on Saturday next.

The Institute then adjourned.

A NEW DEPARTURE.

The Wonderful Cheap Man in Toronto and Peterborough.

Any new stroke of enterprise, any new movement that Gough, the cheap clothier, can make to boom his trade and furnish cheap goods, will hardly startle the public, as he has followed one boom with another so steadily that that it has become like a continuous roar. His latest dash, however, is a gigantic one. He has purchased the stock of clothing, $50,000 worth, of the great Toronto clothing house of Petley & Petley—a magnificent stock—and he bought it at 50 cents on the dollar. This is the store in which Gough learned the clothing trade, at a time when the business amounted to $250,000 a year, and it has since doubled. He has taken a lease for ten years of the two stores on Kingt-st., Toronto, and will boom business there.

The original Gough will give personal attention to the Toronto business, but he will not lose sight of Peterborough or the clothing trade here. Being in Toronto, with his hand on all great bargains, he will be in a still better position to secure bargains without end. His Peterborough business he has disposed of to his brothers, Messrs. Richard and Gus Gough, and the name will be "Gough Bros., the wonderful cheap men," who will continue to sell goods at rock bottom prices. A train load of the great Petley stock is on the road, and being bought for 50 cents on the dollar, and sold close on cost, the opportunities for cheap goods will be unequalled.

To-morrow the store will be opened with the new stock arranged, and the rush will be begun—begun to continue.

If you have a Cough, do not neglect it; buy at once a bottle of Allen's Lung Balsam.

Waiting.

"I am Waiting," Mr. J. J Jerome will sing at the grand concert in March 8th. The people of Peterborough are waiting to hear him sing? 1d52

Pay Lists.

So far the pay lists sent in by the street and bridge Inspector, have not amounted to very much. Number one was for $7.74, number two $17, and number three presented to-day $4.50.

Society Funeral.

The funeral of the late Wm. C. Downer, who was a member of Otonabee Lodge No. 13, will take place on Sunday afternoon. It will be conducted by the Oddfellows.

Who Knows?

"Who Knows" is the title of a song Miss Howden will sing at the concert on March 8th. If it means to ask who knows she is an excellent singer, the answer is, everybody. 1d52

Double Work.

After the snow ceased falling on Thursday the corporation snow ploughs were called into requisition and cleaned the sidewalks, but this morning, after the heavy fall and drifts of last night, it was found necessary to go over them all again.

The Storm.

One of the heaviest storms of the season set in last night, accompanied with snow and hail and it has prevailed with more or less force all day. A large quantity of snow fell and it was blown in all directions by the wind drifting up the roads and sidewalks It was a genuine March wind and the month has started in early to keep up its reputation as one of the most disagreeable of the dozen.

Insurance Catechism.

Why should I insure my life?

Many men insure their property but neglect to insure their lives. The property insured may never burn, but death is sure to occur. To a family a man's life is its property. It represents food, shelter, clothing, education for the children, and all the necessaries and comforts of life. A small investment in life insurance makes it possible for every man to leave his family above want. This certain provision cannot be obtained in any other institution. No man who is physically able to obtain the indemnity which life insurance gives is free from reproach if he neglects the important duty.

With whom should I insure?

Answer—With E. E. HENDERSON, General Agent, Peterborough.

Why?—Because you will be insured in a thoroughly reliable, safe and honorable Company, at lowest rates.

A FURIOUS CONFLAGRATION.

An Entire Square in New York City Wiped Out—Loss $1,000,000.

NEW YORK, March 1.—The most furious conflagration New York has seen since the burning of the Belt Line Railroad stables ate out a square of 200 feet on Lexington-avenue, between 41st and 42nd streets, at noon to-day. The new furniture factory of Pottier, Stymus & Co., and the adjoining cigar factories of Powell, Wenignan & Smith on 42d-street were consumed in less than half an hour. The losses approach $1,000,000, insured for about half that amount. Assistant Fireman Samuel Reed had his shoulder blade broken and Policeman Malone had his foot badly burned.

The Vanderbilt Hotel caught fire, as also did a row of Brown stone flats. The windows and interior woodwork were consumed, while the tenants fled in terror. The Hospital for Crippled Children was saved by surrounding it with engines that threw water upon it constantly.

MANITOBA'S LEGISLATURE.

Premier Norquay Surprises the House by Moving Adjournment for Two Weeks.

WINNIPEG, March 1.—Premier Greenway surprised the Legislature on opening to-day by moving an adjournment for two weeks, intimating that he had secured intelligence that the difficulty respecting the Red River Valley Road might be overcome.

Mr. Norquay held that a compromise was intended, but Mr. Greenway denied it.

MONA SCULLY;

—OR—

The Bride of an Englishman.

A STORY OF THESE TIMES.

"You terrify me," says Geoffrey, with a grimace. "You think, then, that Mona is pretty? I'm tremendously glad you like her."

"Don't!" says Darling, weakly.—"Don't put it in that light. It's too feeble. If you said I was madly in love with your wife you would be nearer the mark, as insanity touches on it. I haven't felt so badly in years. It is right down unlucky for me, this meeting with Mrs. Rodney."

"Poor Mona!" says Geoffrey; "don't tell her about it, as remorse may sadden her."

"Look here," says Mr. Darling, "just try one of these, do. They are South American cigarettes, and nearly as strong as the real thing, and quite better; they are a new brand. Try 'em; they'll quite set you up."

"Give me one, Nolly," says Sir Nicholas, rousing from his reverie.

CHAPTER XX.

It is the day of Lady Chetwoode's ball. All day long the rain has been pouring down. The laurels do nothing but drip, drip, in a sad aside, "making mournful music for the mind."

To Mona, this dance is hardly pure nectar. It is half a terror, half a joy. She is nervous, frightened, and a little strange. Nobody seems in a very merry mood. Even Nolly, who is generally game for anything, is a prey to despair. He has, for the last hour, lost sight of Mona.

"Let us do something, anything, to get rid of some of these interminable hours," says Doatie, flinging her book far from her. It is not interesting, and only helps to add insult to injury. She yawns as much as breeding will permit, and then crosses her hands behind her dainty head. "Oh! here comes Mona. Mona, I am so bored that I shall die presently, unless you suggest some remedy."

"Your brother is better at suggestions than I am," says Mona, gently, who is always somewhat subdued when in the room with Lady Rodney.

"Nolly, do you hear that? Come over to the fire directly, and cease counting those hateful rain-drops. Mona believes in you. Isn't that joyful news? Now get out of your moody fit at once, like a dear boy."

"I shan't," says Mr. Darling, in an aggrieved tone. "I feel slighted. Mrs. Rodney has of malice prepense secluded herself from public gaze at least for an hour. I can't forget all that in one moment."

"Where have you been?" asks Lady Rodney, slowly, turning her head to look at Mona. "Out-of-doors?" Her tone is unpleasant.

"No. In my own room," says Mona.

"Oh, Nolly! do think of some plan to cheat the afternoon of an hour or two," persists Doatie, eagerly.

"I have it," says her brother, with all the air of one who has discovered a new continent. "Let's talk of graves, of worms, and epitaphs."

At this Doatie turns her back on him, while Mona breaks into a peal of silvery laughter.

"Would you not like to do that?" demands Nolly, sadly. "I should. I'm quite in the humor for it."

"I am afraid we are not," says Violet, smiling too. "Think of something else."

"Well, if you all will insist upon a change, and desire something more lively, then,—

"'For heaven's sake, let us sit upon the ground,
And tell sad stories of the death of kings.'

Perhaps after all you are right, and that will be better. It will be rather effective, too, if uncomfortable, our all sitting on the polished floor."

"Fancy Nolly quoting Shakspeare," says Geoffrey, who has just entered, and is now leaning over Mona's chair. He stoops and whispers something in her ear that makes her flush and glance appealingly at Doatie. Whereon Miss Darling, who is quick to sympathize, rises, and soon learns what the whisper was about.

"Oh! how charming!" she cries, clapping her hands. "The very thing! Why did we not think of it before? To teach Mona the last new step! It will be delicious." Good-natured Doatie, as she says this, springs to her feet and runs her hand into Mona's. "Come," she says, "before to-night I promise you, you shall rival Terpsichore herself."

"Yes, she certainly must learn before to-night," says Violet, with sudden and unexpected interest, folding and putting away her work as though bent on other employment. "Let us come into the ball-room."

"Do you know no other dances but those—er—very Irish performances?" asks Lady Rodney, in a supercilious tone, alluding to the country dance Mona and Geoffrey had gone through on the night of Doatie's arrival.

"No. I have never been to a ball in all my life," says Mona, distinctly. But she pales a little at the note of contempt in the other's voice. Unconsciously she moves a few steps nearer to Geoffrey, and holds out her hand to him in a childish, entreating fashion.

He clasps it and presses it lightly but fondly to his lips. His brow darkens. The little stern expression, so seldom seen upon his kindly face, but which is inherited from his father, creeps up now and alters him perceptibly.

"You mistake my mother," he says to Mona, in a peculiar tone, looking at Lady Rodney, not at her. "My wife is, I am sure, the last person she would choose to be rude to; though, I confess, her manner just now would mislead most people."

With the frown still on his forehead, he draws Mona's hand through his arm, and leads her from the room.

Lady Rodney has turned pale. Otherwise she betrays no chagrin, though in her heart she feels deeply the rebuke administered by this, her favorite son. To have Mona be a witness of her defeat is gall and wormwood to her. And silently, without any outward gesture, she registers a vow to be revenged for the insult (as she deems it) that has just been put upon her.

Dorothy Darling, who has been listening anxiously to all that has passed, and who is very grieved thereat, now speaks boldly.

"I am afraid," she says to Lady Rodney, quite calmly, having a little way of her own of introducing questionable topics without giving offense,—"I am afraid you do not like Mona."

At this Lady Rodney flings down her guard and her work at the same time, and rises to her feet.

DAILY MARKET REVIEW.

TORONTO, March 1.

The local grain and produce markets are quiet and steady, while Chicago to-day was active and strong. The European markets are generally quiet but firm and steady.

On call at the Corn Exchange to-day: No. 1 fall 90½c bid. No. 1 red winter 96c bid for one or five cars, sellers 90c the year. No. 2 red winter sellers 86c, and 85c bid. No. 1 Manitoba hard offered at 91c, with 89c bid. No. 2 Manitoba hard 85c bid. No. 1 Northern offered at 85c this month, with 84½c on the track bid.

The car lots received at Chicago yesterday were: Winter wheat 2, spring 45, corn 191, oats 60, rye 2 and barley 34.

The report of receipts of hogs from the Chicago Stock Yards to-day is: Estimated receipts 19,500, official yesterday 13,745, shipments 9501, left over about 4000. Receipts of hogs for last week 426,036, shipments 153,790. Cattle receipts yesterday 9000. Market weak.

LOCAL STREET MARKET.

The local market to-day was quiet and prices steady. About 200 bushels of wheat offered and sold 80c to 81c for fall, 72c to 75c for spring, the latter was of poor quality, as the best would bring 80c. Two loads of barley sold at 72c to 75c, and No. 1 would probably bring 78c. Oats nominal at 48c to 50c, and peas at 70c to 75c. Hay in limited supply and firm, 25 loads sold at $13 to $14 for clover, and at $15 to $17.50 for timothy. Straw sold at $11 to $12. Dressed hogs sold at $7.25. Beef $3 to $5 for forequarters and $5 to $7.50 for hindquarters. Mutton $6.50 to $8; lamb at $9 to $10 veal $5.50 to $8.50.

ST. LAWRENCE MARKET.

The retail market to-day was dull and prices remain unchanged.

BEERBOHM'S REPORT.

Beerbohm reports to-day: Floating cargoes—Wheat firmly held, corn nil, arrivals nil. Sold—wheat 1, corn 1, waiting orders, wheat 2. Cargoes on passage—There is a demand for cargoes near by, not much inquiry for more distant periods of delivery, corn quiet and steady. Australian wheat off coast 32s 3d, was 33s 6d; October shipment 33s 3d was 3s 3½d. French country markets quiet. Paris quiet. Liverpool wheat and corn quiet and steady. Liverpool stocks in store March 1: Wheat 750,000 to 775,000 qrs.; corn 70,000 to 80,000 qrs.; flour 150,000 to 190,000 bbls. Compared with Dec. 1, wheat increase 50,000 qrs., corn increase 30,000 to 40,000 qrs., flour increase 60,000 bbls.

LIVERPOOL MARKET.

Liverpool reports to-day: Wheat quiet and steady, poor demand, supply good; corn dull, poor demand. Prices: Spring wheat, 6s 6d to 6s 8d; red winter, 6s 7d to 6s 8d; No. 1 Cal. 6s 6d to 6s 7d; corn 4s 7½d; peas 5s 4½d; pork 68s 9d; lard 39s 6d; bacon 38s; cheese 58s.

OSWEGO BARLEY MARKET.

Oswego reports barley to-day quiet and lower at the follo[illegible] prices: No. 2 ex. Can. 92c, No. 1 Can. 95[illegible] No. 1 bright 98c.

Some People Think

Because salerooms are handsome that selling prices must be high. They forget—or have never learned—that dingy quarters for the transaction of business are either evidence of a slow trade or of contempt for the public convenience, or of a fatal lack of enterprise. Such is not the case with us. We want our friends to call and look over our new and handsome store. We want them to notice the conveniences provided for their convenience, to facilitate business, to keep one waiting just as short a time as possible and to handle our trade with promptness.

But this is not all we wish our friends to notice. Success in any department of business is impossible if the prices are not right. Our business, as grocers, is to be successful because we have right prices You buy for value. You get good Goods. You receive honest weight and measure and prompt service.

UNITED STATES TARIFF.

SOME OF THE CHANGES PROPOSED IN THE NEW BILL.

A Large Number of Additions to the Free List; The Duties on Metals—The Wood Schedule—Comments of the New York Press.

WASHINGTON, March 2.—The new Tariff Bill proposes to add to the free list among other articles, timber in various forms (provided that if any export duty is laid upon it by the country whence imported the duty shall remain); salt, in sacks, bags, barrels or other packages, or in bulk, when imported from any country which does not charge an import duty upon salt exported from the United States; flax, hemp, manilla, jute, burlaps, tin plates, taggers' tin, beeswax, gelatine, glycerine, isinglass, phosphorus, soap stocks, soap, extract of hemlock or other bark used for tanning, indigo, licorice juice, croton, hemp-seed and rape-seed oil, flax-seed or linseed oil, cotton-seed oil, petroleum, alum, imitations of natural mineral waters, artificial mineral waters, decoctions of spirits of turpentine, bone black, ivory drop black, bone char, ochre, amber, sienna, essential oils, expressed oils, distilled oils, rendered oils, alkalis, alkaloids, barks, beans, berries, balsams, bulbs, all undutiable crude minerals but baryta; borax, cement, whiting, Paris white, blue vitriol, copperas, potash, sulphur, wood tar, coal tar, aniline oil, logwood and other dyewoods; opium, crude, containing nine per cent. and over of morphine for medicinal purposes; needles, copper, ores, nickel ore, antimony, quicksilver, brick, vegetables in their natural state or in salt or brine; chicory, cocoa, dates, plums, prunes, currants, figs, meats, game, poultry, milk, fresh egg yolks, beans, peas, pulp for papermakers' use, bristles, bulbs, feathers, grease, grindstones, curled hair, human hair, hatters' fur not on the skin, hemp seed, rape seed, garden seeds, linseed, flaxseed, lime, marble, osier, or willow, prepared for basketmakers' use; broom corn, brushwood, plaster of paris, rags, rattans, paintings, building or monumental stone, strings of gut, tallow, waste, wools, hair of the Alpaca goat and other like animals, wools on the skins, woollen rags, shoddy, mungo, waste and flocks.

Metals are to pay duties as follows: Pig iron, $6 per ton; iron railway bars, $11; steel do., $11; bar iron, rolled or hammered, ½ of 1 per cent. per pound, not less than one inch wide and three-eighths of one inch thick; in larger measurements, 1 cent per pound. Iron bars, blooms, billets, in the manufacture of which charcoal is used, $20 per ton. Iron or steel "T" rails $15 a ton. Round iron in coils and rolled iron, unenumerated, 1 cent per pound. Sheet iron, thin, 1 cent per pound. Nails 1 cent per pound. Tacks 35 per cent. Anvils, anchors, etc., 1½ cents per pound. Rivets, etc., 1½ cents per pound. Hammers, tubes, sledges, axles, etc., 1½ cents per pound. Chains 2 cents per pound. Saws 30 per cent. Files 35 per cent. Ingots and blooms, 4-10 of 1 cent per pound.

The entire wood schedule is subjected to 30 per cent. duty. All grades of sugar are reduced by an amount varying from one-fifth to one-fourth of the present duties. Manufactures of wool and paper are reduced. Carriages, 30 per cent. Watches, 25 per cent.

Press Comments.

NEW YORK, March 2.—The Herald comments on the Tariff Bill as follows: "The bill proposes in the main two things: First, to make raw materials used in the great manufacturing industries of the country free. This will be an undoubted and very great advantage to the manufacturers, and still more to their workmen. What is saved by the manufacturer in duties on his raw material enables him on one hand to pay his workmen better wages, and on the other to sell his surplus products in foreign markets, and thus keep his works and workmen more steadily employed. Second, with free raw materials, duties on manufactures can be lowered without injury to employers or workmen, and this is so judiciously and carefully done in the present bill that many manufacturers will find to their surprise that the actual 'protection' in the bill for them is better than they now enjoy. It deserves the support of all moderate protectionists. If this bill is beaten the next will, we venture to say, deal far more trenchantly with this question."

The World says the bill has the appearance of an honest measure. "It will, if enacted, reform the tariff and reduce the surplus. It does not, like the abortive measure adopted five years ago, juggle with reform and leave the revenue substantially undiminished."

The Tribune says: "Considered as a measure which is intended to affect the industries of the country and its foreign trade, this bill has no rival for astounding foolishness."

Manitoba Cutting Down Expenses.

WINNIPEG, March 2.—The services of a number of employes in the Attorney-General's department, including Municipal Commissioner Murray, will be dispensed with at the end of the month.

THE BULGARIAN THRONE.

The Prince of Mingrelia as Ferdinand's Successor Would Not Please England.

LONDON, March 2.—Lord Salisbury in an interview with the Russian Ambassador to-day declared that he would oppose the deposition of Prince Ferdinand unless the powers agreed upon his successor on the Bulgarian throne. He added that the nomination of the Prince of Mingrelia would not receive the assent of England.

An Extra War Grant.

VIENNA, March 2.—It is expected that an extra war grant will be demanded by the Government at the next meeting of the delegations which will exceed 100,000,000 florins.

The Docile Porte.

MOSCOW, March 2.—The Gazette (Government organ) says Turkey will declare Prince Ferdinand a usurper in Bulgaria and will interfere with a military force to establish a status there in accordance with the Berlin treaty, either on receiving a mandate from all the powers or carte blanche from Russia.

Bulgaria's Determination.

SOFIA, March 2.—The Government has instructed the Bulgarian agent at Constantinople to tell the Porte that the Bulgarian Government is determined to reject all proposals calculated to disturb Bulgarian independence.

The Frontier Guard Increased.

WARSAW, March 2.—The Russian frontier guard has been increased by 2600 men and four regiments of infantry, under General Archiniboff, have arrived at Kisheneff.

MR. CHAMBERLAIN'S DESPATCHES.

The British Foreign Office Publishes the Commissioner's Communications.

LONDON, March 3.—The Foreign Office has made public the despatches received from Mr. Joseph Chamberlain during the progress of negotiations at Washington for the Fisheries Treaty. In a communication to Lord Salisbury dated Washington, Feb. 15, Mr. Chamberlain says the satisfactory result of the conference was due in a large degree to the spirit of conciliation manifested by both sides, and the strong sense of all the conferers of the importance of removing all cause for irritation, and of promoting friendly intercourse and good neighborhood between the United States and Canada and Newfoundland.

He speaks in high praise of Minister West and Sir Charles Tupper and also calls especial attention to the services rendered by Messrs. Bergne and Maycock.

The despatch further stated that the American Government on the present occasion repudiated any desire to share the inshore fisheries of Canada, and the point of debate was therefore limited to the question of commercial facilities.

The Labor Commission at Quebec.

QUEBEC, March 2.—The Labor Commission sat here again to-day. Their evening session was a pretty lively one. It was shown that while men employed on the new Court House had not been paid, an equal irregularity had existed in the cartridge factory. The municipal authorities had the veil drawn from their eyes when it was shown that a man on the service for the last twenty-five years received between 50 and 60 cents a day.

TRAFALGAR-SQUARE MEETINGS.

The British House Negatives the Motion for a Committee of Inquiry.

LONDON, March 2.—Mr. Bradlaugh resumed the debate in the House of Commons this evening on the motion of Sir Charles Russell for the appointment of a committee to inquire as to the right of the Government to interfere with meetings in Trafalgar-square. He proposed an amendment to the motion providing that the public inquiry be especially directed to the meeting in Trafalgar-square on Nov. 13 and the conduct of the police in connection therewith. He accused the Government of shirking the inquiry by treating the motion as a question of confidence.

Attorney-General Webster maintained that nobody had a right to go into a highway and make a speech. Obstructing a highway was an indictable offence. He declared that no inquiry was needed to confirm the Executive's power to stop meetings in Trafalgar-square.

Mr. Bradlaugh's amendment was rejected by a vote of 322 to 207.

Sir Charles Russell's motion was also defeated, 316 to 224.

CANADIAN HORSES.

The British War Office Contemplating Further Purchases for Army Purposes.

LONDON, March 2.—Mr. Stanhope, the Secretary of War, is now considering the advisability of purchasing annually a number of Canadian horses for army purposes. In the House of Commons yesterday he expressed great satisfaction with the result of such purchases in the past.

In committee of supply, the House negatived a proposal to disallow the expenses (£3900) of Mr. Chamberlain at Washington, 314 to 68. The Times says it is no flattery to say that Mr. Chamberlain has greatly increased his political stature by his whole demeanor in America.

Mr. Simeon Jones, Dominion Commissioner to the Argentine Republic, has arrived in London on his way to South America. He sails from Southampton on March 9.

The Pope's Coronation Anniversary.

ROME, March 2.—To-day was observed as the anniversary of the coronation of the Pope. His Holiness received the congratulations of the Sacred College. The Dean of the College delivered an address. The Pope replied in an animated speech. He lamented more than ever his position, which he said was unbearable. He declared that if the Italian Government did not prohibit the jubilee fetes it was in its own interests that it acted and not from any feeling of respect for the Holy See. The Catholic world must be aware of the situation. No arrangement with the Government was feasible until the independence of the Papacy was restored.

Confident of Posterity's Approval.

PARIS, March 2.—M. Grevy, while he feels deeply the disgrace of his son-in-law, maintains a cool and calm demeanor. He complained last evening of the acrimony of French politics, and said: "As for my own character I leave posterity to judge."

A Sensational Yarn.

LONDON, March 2.—The Chronicle to-day gives editorial prominence to a ridiculous sensational story to the effect that the Prince of Wales had a narrow escape the other day from being kidnapped by some Fenian pirates while out for a sail in a yacht off San Remo.

THE DOMINION'S IRELAND.

A DREARY SESSION IN THE HOUSE OF COMMONS.

The Greater Part of the Time Occupied by the Postmaster-General and the General of the Belligerent Members From Prince Edward Island.

OTTAWA, March 2.—This was a dreary day in the House of Commons. There was a 2½ hours' session, the greater part of which was taken up by the Postmaster-General and the General of the belligerent members from Prince Edward Island, which province is now beginning to be looked upon as the "Ireland of the Dominion."

Mr. Davies and his fellow members from the little island province made a general attack on the postal service which is in vogue there and which they describe as wretched and disgraceful. It kept Mr. McLelan busy answering the complaints of these gentlemen and the Postmaster-General told them plainly that they got as much, if not more, out of the postoffice appropriations than they deserved.

Other sources of friction with the Islanders are the Northern Light and the Confederation compact. Papers are being continually moved for about this ice crusier and also about the terms of confederation. More of them were on the order paper to-day, and between the postal complaints and these other grievances the men from diminutive Prince Edward had it pretty much all their own way. They had to do their talking, however, amidst a continual abuse and noise, and no one but the Postmaster-General listened to them.

Petitions for acts of incorporation of railway schemes continue to pour in. Among to-day's are petitions from Alexander John McKay and others to incorporate the Chinook Belt and Peace River Railway Company; the Ottawa, Morrisburg and Vermont Railway and Bridge Company, and the Lake Nipissing and James' Bay Railway Company.

Mr. Desjardins from the Debates Committee.

Mr. Wood (Brockville) from the Committee on Standing Orders reported in favor of extending the time for receiving private bills to March 24. This was agreed to. A similar motion was carried in the Senate. Clarke Wallace's Select Committee on Combines was authorized to employ a shorthand reporter. The work will be equally divided between Herbert Burrows and J. L. Payne of The Empire, and Henry S. Stafford of the Montreal Gazette.

Mr. Jamieson sent up his bill amending the Canada Temperance Act, the text of which I telegraphed Wednesday, and it was read a first time.

Mr. Edgar withdrew his motion for a select committee to inquire into the working of the "combines," saying that Mr. Wallace had got there in advance of him. Mr. Edgar made another speech about the alleged injustice of the present tariff, and he prophesied that Protection must go. The high tariff was responsible for the "combines" in the United States, and it was also to blame for their presence in Canada.

Addressing the Finance Minister he said that Sir Charles must have observed during his recent residence in Washington that the hue and cry on that side of the lines was to pull down the tariff.

Sir Charles, however, had no reply for Mr. Edgar.

Several returns moved for by members were ordered to be brought down, including one by Mr. Denison showing the number of railway accidents reported to the Government during 1886 in respect of which actions are now pending.

The Senate Adjourned Till March 13.

OTTAWA, March 2.—The Senate sat for 1½ hours this afternoon and adjourned till March 13.

The select committee of seven on revising the rules of divorce reported in favor of reducing the committee to five. This was agreed to.

Senator Odell and others made things lively for a short time in presenting a series of complaints against "certain officials of the Intercolonial Railway, who had on a certain date ordered several passengers out of their sleeping car at Riviere du Loup, en route from Halifax to Montreal, and made them finish their journey in an ordinary coach."

Mr. Abbott made the usual promise to investigate.

CENTRAL BANK MATTERS.

The First Dividend—Interest to be Allowed From December 3, 1887.

TORONTO, March 3.—Liquidators Howland and Gooderham, with their solicitor, Mr. Foster, Q.C., appeared before the Master-in-Ordinary, Mr. Hodgins, Q.C., and asked for a settlement of the question of costs involved in obtaining extensions of time and compromises of debts due the bank. The Master gave the enquirers the following direction: Parties desirous of obtaining extension of time on their liabilities to the bank or compromise any debt due the bank are not to be allowed to obtain the same where such extensions or compromises involve legal proceedings or legal advice from the liquidators' solicitor without first paying the costs of the proceedings or the advice as may be agreed upon. Such costs must be sufficient to indemnify the liquidators from all costs and expenses caused in obtaining the said extension of time or such compromise of debts due to the Central Bank.

The liquidators asked for directions from the Master as to the computing of interest on the claims of creditors who are entitled to receive interest from the bank. They recommended that the Master should appoint for such claims the interest should be paid to the date of the Winding-up Order on Dec. 3, 1887.

The Master approved of the recommendation made by the liquidators to appoint that the interest on claims be computed from Dec. 3, 1887, for the purpose of declaring the first dividend.

March 12 was fixed as the date for settling on the list of contributors.

The Chancellor has made out the order for the appointment of Henry S. Lye as third liquidator of the Central Bank.

The Master directed the liquidators to notify all those creditors whose claims are contested: 1. Those whose claims are incorrect, and of the amount at which the liquidators are willing to have the claim placed; 2. Those creditors whose claims are not admitted, requiring their attendance at court to establish to the satisfaction of the Master that they are properly creditors. General satisfaction was expressed in all quarters this morning over the happy meeting of creditors yesterday and its unanimous decision.

An Interesting Talk at the Imperial Federation League.

TORONTO, March 3.

The Toronto Branch of the Imperial Federation League met in the Canadian Institute building last night. Mr. J. M. Clarke presided.

The subjects of debate for the evening were a paper by Mr. John Matthews on Imperial Federation, and a notice of motion by Mr. H. Merrick that one of the planks in the platform of the Toronto Branch be the advocacy of a discriminatory tariff between Canada and Great Britain in relation to natural and manufactured products.

Mr. Matthews said that the Imperial Federation movement was a reaction from the movement in favor of disruption organized some years ago. The success of this movement was now dying, and the feeling in favor of the unity of all parts of the Empire was growing in strength. The present construction of the Empire was as dangerous to the members as it was peculiar. In 1886 Canada and Australia were in the hazardous position of being molested by Russians without any arrangement whatever being made for the Pacific Ocean fleet service. It was imperative, in view of self-defence, that some arrangement should be mutually agreed to. It was argued that Canada would have to surrender her rights on entering a federation scheme, but local rights would in fact be untouched as compared with what they would be under annexation to the United States. The powers of individual states were closely restricted, while Canada under federation would be as free as at present. It would also be immensely advantageous to adopt the federation scheme in preference to annexation in point of taxation. The expenditure classed as Federal in the United States amounted to $5 per head.

The expenditure classed as Imperial in Great Britain amounted to about $4 per head. The proposition to pay the Imperial expenditure according to the value of property would be fair. The property in Great Britain and Ireland was valued at about five thousand millions, while the colonial property was valued at about five hundred millions. According to this the colonial tax for Imperial expenditure would be about $1.75 per head. The cost of maintaining cruisers for the protection of the fisheries, the maintaining of militia, and such services, would of course be borne by the Imperial Treasury, taking off a large local tax. In addition to this great advantage it was proposed under federation to consolidate the colonial debt and have the Empire guarantee it. A lower rate of interest would be the result, hence another benefit.

The federation, every way considered, was much superior to annexation to the United States. It would cost greatly less, Canada would still continue to enjoy its present local privileges and social vice of all kinds so prevalent in the United States would not be thrust upon Canadians.

Mr. Merrick's notice of motion was discussed, Mr. A. H. Lefroy, Mr. Matthews, Mr. Bain and others taking part in the debate.

No action was taken, the question being left over for further discussion.

The Duty on "Plates"—Entertained by Ministers—Appointments Gazetted.

OTTAWA, March 2.—Senators Frank Smith, Allan and O'Donohue left for Toronto to-night. Mr. Adam Brown, M.P., went to Hamilton.

Geo. W. Dower, David Hastings and D. J. O'Donoghue of Toronto and Frank J. Farrell of Ottawa, representing the Typographical Unions of Canada, had an interview with Sir Charles Tupper to-day and asked that the duty on stereotyped plates be increased and that celluloid plates and matrices be classified. At present stereotyped plates pay 5 cents per pound and celluloid plates and matrices are unclassified. The deputation said that this was asked in the interests of Canadian printers and publishers. Sir Charles promised to look carefully into the matter. The Toronto men went home to-night.

Hon. Thos. White gave a dinner party this evening to which the invitations were: Gov. Dewdney, Hon. J. J. C. Abbott, Sir Donald A. Smith, M.P., Mr. Trutch, ex-M.P.P. of British Columbia, Mr. and Mrs. Macdowall, Speaker and Mrs. Ouimet, Mr. and Mrs. Scarth, Mrs. Blanchard, Mr. Ward, M.P., Mr. and Mrs. Collingwood Schreiber, Mr. Adam Brown, M.P., Mr. T. M. Daly, M.P., Miss Hodgson of Montreal.

An order-in-council has been passed embodying regulations for carrying out the provisions of the Adulteration Act. Such employes of the Inland Revenue Department mentioned in section 3 of the act as the Minister may select shall be styled inspectors and for such extra services may be paid an additional remuneration, the gross salary not to exceed $1200 per annum. Any manufacturer, importer, retailer or purchaser who desires to procure an analysis of any drug or food sample, etc., may do so on payment of a fee of $5 for each sample so analysed, such fees to be credited to the Adulteration of Food Act.

MEMBERS OF THE LEGISLATURE IN A RESTFUL MOOD.

West Kent Clancy Wants Drainage Returns—The Truculent Wolf—Erroneous Calculations in the Treasury Department—Committees, and What They Did.

TORONTO, March 2.—Mr. Morin moved for an order of the House for a return showing the names of the several applicants for grants from the Crown of the water lots in front of lots 5, 6, 7 and 8, in the first concession of the township of Bertie, fronting on Niagara River. The names of all the parties to whom patents therefor issued, the dates of such patents, and the consideration paid in each case. Carried.

Mr. Clancy moved for an order of the House for a return showing the estimated cost, if any, and actual cost per yard for each drain constructed by or under the Government within the counties of Lambton, Kent, Elgin and Essex, and the name of the engineer or other person employed by the Ontario Government to make such estimate. The price per yard at which the work was let and whether at public sale or by tender, and the salaries or other remuneration paid the engineers or other persons employed by the Ontario Government to superintend the construction of the said drainage works, and charged to the said works respectively.

Over this last order Mr. Clancy and the Provincial Treasurer engaged in a lively dispute regarding returns that had been ordered but had not yet been brought down. The motion was carried.

Mr. Clancy moved for a full statement of details in regard to the drainage work done under the acts of 1869 and 1873.

Hon. A. M. Ross proposed another plan of supplying the information from that proposed by Mr. Clancy. The details Mr. Clancy asked for would entail a great amount of labor.

Mr. Clancy replied that the detailed information he asked for was desired, not only by himself and the members, but by the municipalities interested. He hoped Mr. Ross would not object to it.

Hon. Mr. Ross hoped to have the returns brought down before the close of the session.

Mr. Monk moved for an order of the House for a return showing the counties in Ontario that offer a bounty for the destruction of wolves; the amount offered and the amount paid by such counties since 1880. He explained that he was assured by settlers in the back country that the wolves destroyed more deer than the hunter. These counties were, as a rule, sparsely settled and the inhabitants were not in easy circumstances. If the county councils offered large bounties it would come heavy on the settlers. He suggested that the Government should set apart a sum to supplement bounties given by county councils.

The motion passed.

Mr. Waters applied for a second reading of his bill to amend the Assessment Act, abolishing the assessment of farm stock. He laid down the principle that where capital was taxed, income derived from such capital should not be taxed. Farm stock was indirectly the product of the farm and should not be levied upon. As for the power of farm stock to produce taxes it was comparatively small. Last year in Middlesex the total taxes produced was $81,000, while farm stock only produced $767. The principle of taxing farm stock was rotten and should be abolished.

Mr. Meredith said there were many anomalies in the Assessment Act. The Government should take the whole question into consideration and treat it scientifically. He did not oppose the bill.

The bill was read a second time and referred to the Municipal Committee.

Mr. Dack's bill to amend the Municipal Act, giving power to townships or sections of townships to grant bonuses to railways, was read a second time and referred to the Municipal Committee.

Mr. Conmee's bill to enable municipalities to construct waterworks and assess the cost on sections of such municipality benefited by the works, was read a second time and referred to the Municipal Committee.

A Church Debt Paid By Death.

BELLEVILLE, March 2.—By the death of Mr. Alex. Robertson, M.P., St. Andrew's Church has been freed from debt, as the Star Life Insurance Company of England some years ago offered to take a risk upon the life of one of the church officials as security for the debt, £1000 sterling. Mr. Robertson, being the youngest trustee, was selected to carry the risk, upon which the premiums were paid by the church.

Barges Burnt at Brooklyn, L.I.

NEW YORK, March 2.—A fire occurred at Wallabout Basin, Brooklyn, this morning which caused a loss of $100,000. The canal-boat Stevens and barges Moses Grinnell, Lawton, Roberts and Amaly, all loaded with hay, were destroyed. The pier was wrecked. Several families living on the barges had a narrow escape.

SATURDAY, MARCH 3, 1888.

COMMERCIAL UNION.

Mr. Cluxton's paper, read at the Farmers' Institute meeting, was prepared with care and was a creditable production in some respects, but it was not—and, we presume, did not pretend to be—a full presentation of the effects commercial union would have upon Canada and the Canadian farmers.

It left out of consideration altogether that the two countries would have a common tariff, that the Canadian tariff would be increased on imports from Great Britain and all the world except the United States, that the manufacturing interests would be injuriously effected and consequently the farmers' home market, and that direct taxation would have to be resorted to. He said nothing about the collection or division of the receipts from customs. All these are important considerations, and should be taken into account before a conclusion should be arrived at.

Besides avoiding points that should be considered, there were assumptions in the paper that many will disagree with. For instance, who will believe that Canadians pay the duty on what they export and also on what they import? Mr. Cluxton quoted celebrated political economists to the effect that the importers paid the duty, and then proceeded on the assumption that the exporter, when a Canadian, paid the duty; and the importer, when a Canadian, had to pay it. His illustration of the sales and purchases of a horse was not pertinent, for an illustration, to be of any use, must as least be probable; and what Canadian would be foolish enough to pay $120 in the United States for horse, and pay the duty, when he could get the same animal for $100 at his door? The illustration was useless.

Either Mr. Cluxton or Mr. Wiman is wrong as to who pays the duty—their statements are diametrically opposed. Speaking at Chicago Mr. Wiman, the commercial unionist leader, said:—

"Canada sends nothing to the United States except natural products, and though these products are compelled to climb over a high customs line, they are wanted so badly that these heavy burdens are borne by those who NEED AND MUST HAVE THEM."

Thus in the United States the commercial unionists say that the United States people pay the duty, while in Canada they state that Canadians pay it. They cannot be right in both cases.

It was stated by a commercial unionist the other day that no country would purchase our goods unless we purchased from them. The aggregate foreign trade of Canada in 1887 was $200,000,000, and of this only $82,000,000 was with the United States. Would not Canada be foolish to imperil $118,000,000 worth of trade for the sake of trying, without much encouragement, to increase the smaller amount?

The United States is not, by a long ways, the best foreign market of the Canadian farmers. Over $41,000,000 worth of agricultural produce (including animals) was exported in 1887, and only $15,000,000 went to the United States, and of the balance $30,000,000 worth was taken by Great Britain. Besides—and this should not be forgotten—on some of the large items of export to the United States there is now no duty, and much of the shipments to the States went to markets outside of it, as that country refunds nearly the whole of the duty when the articles are exported. If commercial union were adopted the larger and better trade with Great Britain and other countries would be endangered, and the best market of all, the home market, would be injured. Where would be the advantages to compensate the farmers for these injuries?

In answering Mr. Carling, Mr. Cluxton only quoted the prices of barley, which was not a reply to Mr. Carling, as he had not referred to barley. Yesterday's market reports quoted 80 to 96 cents for wheat in Toronto and 75½ at Chicago (we quote from the Mail), and for oats, 48 to 50 cents in Toronto and 28½ at Chicago and only 37 to 45 at New York. Mr. Carling was right.

Every Canadian should carefully consider each side of this question before deciding to assist the commercial unionists.

Right now is the time to use a good Blood Purifying Medicine. Lose no time in getting a bottle of Dr. Carson's Stomach Bitters. It will do you good. Sold by all druggists, 50 cents.

Commercial Union.

To the Editor of the Review.

SIR,—With your permission I should like to say a few words in reply to the carefully prepared and able paper on commercial union read by Mr. Cluxton at the Farmers' Institute in Peterborough the other day, as published in your columns—I say as published in your columns, because I do not propose to take any notice of the "explanations" with which its reading was accompanied, and particularly of the fact that while claiming for himself and his C. U. friends the greatest courtesy in the discussion of this subject, he did not hesitate to throw at the heads of those who ventured to differ from him the charge of being actuated by interested motives, because so far as I am concerned I desire not only to assume but to act on the assumption that however much we may differ as to the best methods of promoting the prosperity of the community of which we are members, we all are equally anxious, according to our several lights, to promote its prosperity. I also desire to premise my observations by the statement that they are made on the assumption that it is the bounden duty of the advocates of any change to show first, good grounds for believing that such changes will be advantageous, and secondly to fairly and squarely meet all reasonable objections advanced as calculated to counterbalance the advantages likely to accrue therefrom, before they can with reason ask for its adoption by men who think before they leap.

In opening Mr. Cluxton conceded that "C. U. opens a wide field for discussion," but as he was addressing farmers confined himself "to the agricultural aspect of the case," as if our farmers are not interested in every "aspect of the case." This method of addressing our citizens, as if they were divided into classes, which of necessity preyed upon one another, is the curse of our country. No man, no class of men can live unto themselves alone, and enjoy the advantages of the civilization of the 19th century. You cannot hurt the farmer without hurting the artizan and merchant, any more than you can hurt the latter without hurting the former. The balances are not, I admit, always held so as to do equal justice between all classes and interests, but that is what we should aim at, and by aiming at it we shall certainly come nearer to it than by working on lines which are calculated to array class against class and interest against interest.

WHAT C. U. INVOLVES.

Mr. Cluxton puts C. U. very tersely when he says it means "the obliteration of the customs line between the two countries,"—i. e. between Canada and the United States.

Now, what does such an obliteration mean? I challenge Mr. Cluxton to deny that it involves the following:—

1. A common customs tariff for the two countries as against the rest of the world.

2. That all commercial treaties now in force in either must either be recognized as applying to both, or be cancelled by the one in which they now have effect, and that in the future all commercial treaties made by either must apply to both.

3. That the shipping of the two countries shall enjoy the same advantages, and labour under the same disadvantages, in every port which they enter.

4. That we shall have one law, one administration of, and one scale of excise duties for the two countries.

5. That both countries shall adopt the same system and amounts of draw-backs, on the exportation of articles into the manufacture of which articles which have paid duty have entered.

And that, as arising out of these, it further involves (if we are to continue in other respects separate countries) the following:—

A. The appointment of some joint authority for arranging, and I presume readjusting from time to time, the customs and excise tariffs of the two countries, the laws relating thereto, and their administration.

B. The defining of a basis upon which the customs and excise revenue of the two countries shall be distributed between them.

C. The manner of defraying the cost of managing all matters thus made common to both.

Now, sir, before I proceed further, I should much like to have Mr. Cluxton's opinion on these points—points which cannot and will not be allowed to be put aside, by the answer that they are political questions! Why, what is C. U. but a political question? Is it not one "pertaining to the government and policy" of Canada? Do not Mr. Cluxton and his C.U. friends believe in it themselves, and believing in it do they not desire that the people and Parliament and Government of this country should do their level best to bring it about? If so, then they must not show the white feather by endeavouring to shirk discussion on the ground that it is what it is, a political question. Either commercial union involves what I claim it does or it does not, and I claim that Mr. Cluxton is bound to show either that I am wrong, or admit that I am right and allow the discussion to proceed on that basis, and a failure to do this on the part of so able an advocate of C. U. as Mr. Cluxton may, I think, be fairly accepted as evidence that he has lost faith in this "baby Bunting" to ameliorate the difficulties with which our people are contending.

Yours,
JOHN CARNEGIE.

SPORTING AND ATHLETIC.

St. Louis has a new sensation in the way of prize fighters in a man named Howe, who weighs 360 pounds and is six feet seven inches in height.

S. F. Edge, an English cycle rider, covered 7,201 miles last year; 5,638 miles on a safety, 725 on a tricycle, 539 on a tandem and 311 on an ordinary.

Winnipeg "Spring," a famous fighting dog, who is said to have won over 100 contests, recently fought Madge, owned in Minneapolis, and was killed in twenty-six minutes. Both dogs fought at fifty pounds and for $100 a side.

John Moulds, of St. Louis, says he will play any of the billiard experts of the east balk line or cushion carroms for $500 a side, except Maurice Daly or Sexton. He prefers McLaughlin, who he thinks is the best of them.

A swimming race of ten miles for $500 a side and the long distance swimming championship of the world will probably take place on the Monongahela river at Pittsburg about July 8, between Professor Lavy and William B. Johnson.

The idea that the muscles of the legs only are developed by 'cycling is a very common and very erroneous one. In reality nearly every muscle in the body is brought into use, those of the lower limbs for propulsion, of the trunk for balancing, those of the upper limbs both balancing and propulsion.—Medical Brief.

The Australian sporting press is angry with Beach for resigning the championship. The Australasian says: "Beach's policy is certainly not so strong as his arm. In handing over to Kemp the championship, or, in other words, forfeiting the title to him when challenged, it has not been done so well as it should have been."

American fruits and dainties are all the rage in Paris, and the most fashionable dinner party without them is regarded as incomplete.

There is complaint of the gastronomic monotony of the average public banquet, now that the feasting season is gradually drawing to a close.

Commercial travelers who have to frequent inexpensive hotels want a law calling in the everlasting smoked beef invariably served for tea or supper.

In union there is strength, but the same cannot be said of some of the new brands of pickled onions whose chief attraction is the handsome glass jars.

Pickled oysters, which years ago were a standard dish at receptions and parties, and then were neglected, have come into gastronomic fashion again.

The hostess who can introduce something gastronomically new at her dinner party now has all the honor and distinction of being "talked about" as a full fledged social heroine.

Croquettes of shrimps instead of fish proper is an affectation of some caterers this season, who tell you fish is obsolete. Caterers, however, do not everywhere set gastronomic fashions.

Cheese straws are a new wrinkle at dinner parties. The cheese comes in long sticks like macaroni, and one end is tied with a narrow strip of ribbon, which is not eaten—a fact mentioned for the benefit of the unsophisticated! These cheese straws were first introduced at the 5 o'clock teas two seasons ago, and now find their way to the fashionable dinner tables.

BANKERS.—Bank of Toronto and Canadian Bank of Commerce
SOLICITORS.—Dumble & Leonard.

TO DEPOSITERS.—Deposits are received by this Company both on current account and for periods of one year or longer. The rate of interest paid on amount deposited on current account and which may be withdrawn by check in such sums as the depositor may from time to time require, is four per cent., either paid or compounded half yearly, and the rate on yearly deposits is five per cent.

TO INVESTORS.—The five and ten years five per cent debentures of this Company which are issued in denominations of $100 $200, $500 and $1,000 each, transferable by endorsement, with half-yearly interest coupons attached, payable at the Head Office of the Company in Peterborough, or at any Branch of the Bank of Toronto in Canada, afford a safe and convenient mode of investment.

The funds of the Company being invested with the utmost care and precaution, no better security can be offered to depositors or debenture-holders, they having a first claim or mortgage on the whole Assets of the Company, the Shareholders having the second. The last audit shows that the amount so invested was over $1,310,223.69, and on securities of at least double that value.

By the Laws of Ontario, Trustees, Executors and Administrators may deposit Trust Funds of the estates which they control in this Company, and are free from all further liability, a privilege of which many have largely availed themselves.

TO BORROWERS.—Money is obtainable from this Company on approved Real Estate Security at the Lowest Current Rates of Interest. The Mortgage may be paid by yearly instalments or otherwise, as may be agreed upon, the interest ceasing at once on all amounts paid on account of the sum borrowed. Applications may be made either to the Head Office, or to any of the Agents.

THE CITY AND SUBURBS

The Weather Probabilities.

Northwest and west winds; fair weather; lower temperatures by night.

For Ladies Only.

The weather has now settled down to a condition in which probabilities are probable. These include the fashions as well as the weather. The probabilities on fashions point to the certainty of a large and early spring trade at the golden lion. Miss White has returned from the wholesale millinery markets, having selected the latest novelties Miss Neil's ability as a dressmaker and modiste is well and favorably known. Ladies may rely on the best possible attention to their orders when giving fair's golden lion the preference.

An Evening With Eminent Vocalists An opportunity will be offered of hearing,—on Thursday evening, March 8th, in the Opera House, some of the finest vocal music ever placed on a local programme. The Y.M.C.A. have arranged with the Harmony Male Quartette, of Toronto, to sing at a concert in Peterborough on the above date. Miss Annie Howden, of Millbrook, will also sing and the whole programme will be one of rare merit. Plan of hall at Hartley's. Tickets 25c. and 35c. 3deod49

Curlians.

Matters are quiet in curling circles just at present. There are several matches in prospect, but nothing regarding them is definitely settled. The contest for the 13 point medal is still in progress and it is rapidly drawing to a conclusion.

Campbellford defeated Keene on Friday, by four shots.

A rink of Campbellford men played here last night and were defeated by 7 shots. This morning they played another game and were again given the short end of a 18 to 4 game.

"Young Men's Conservative Club,"

The regular meeting of the Y.M.C.C. to be held on Tuesday evening, March 6th, promises to be of more than ordinary importance. The subject is one which is of deep interest to the inhabitants of Peterborough, and notwithstanding the fact that Mr. John Carnegie, owing to a previous engagement, cannot be present to give an address on that all important question "Should the Trent Valley Navigation Scheme be Consumated," Mr. Geo. Hilliard has consented to deliver an address which will in all probability show the true inwardness of this important project. Such a true worker as Mr. Hilliard cannot fail to make the meeting very interesting.

Special Services.

Mr. Wyatt, Mr. Powell and about a dozen of the members of the Y. P. A. of the George-st. Church, assisted the Rev. Mr. Johnson in conducting special services at Zion church on Thursday and Friday evenings. About twenty confessed conversion at the two services.

Missionary Services.

The Methodist missionary anniversary services of the Ashburnham Circuit will be held on Sunday, March 4th, at the Mark-st. Church, at 11 a.m. and 7 p.m., and at Bethel 2.30 p.m. The Rev. D. F. Gee will conduct the services. At Salem the services will be at 2.30, conducted by the Rev. I. Tovell, Chairman of the District. Contributions on behalf of the funds of the Methodist Missionary Society of Canada.

Freed From Debt.

By the death of Mr. Robertson, St. Andrew's church, Belleville, has been freed from debt, as the Star Life Insurance Company, of England, some years ago offered to take a risk upon the life of one of the church officials as security for the debt, namely, £1,000 sterling. Mr. Robertson, being the youngest trustee, was selected to carry the risk, upon which the premiums were paid by the church.

Protecting Brakemen.

Mr. McCarthy has introduced a bill for the protection of railway employes. The leading feature is a clause requiring railway companies to provide a board on top of freight cars of sufficient width for brakemen to walk over with safety, and extending slightly over each end of the car, so that the space between the cars may be smaller. There is also to be a rail along the top of the car. All frogs are also to be filled in.

Accounted For.

People on George-st. to-day were rather surprised to see a large crowd congregated around the window of Messrs. Mills Bros., upon walking up to see what was the matter, it was found that the cause of the gathering was the grand display of presents for the carnival in the afternoon and evening of Friday, March 9th, next Friday. The prizes are numerous and handsome and all should see them and also make up their minds to be present on March 9th, when the prizes will be awarded to the lucky winners.

At Port Hope.

About 4 o'clock on Friday morning the Queen's Hotel stables, Port Hope, occupied by Warmington & Elliott as livery stables, were discovered to be on fire. The building, which was a wooden structure, was destroyed. The stable and a bakeshop, occupied by Murphy Bros., was also burnt. Their loss will amount to about $400, partly insured. The Queen's stables were owned by Mr. James Cochrane and were not insured. Warmington & Elliott's loss was $400, insurance $100. The bakeshop and stables occupied by Murphy Bros. are owned by Mr. John Stevens and fully insured. The origin of the fire is unknown.

Fooled on Scrap.

Several of our blacksmiths and others who happened to have scrap iron on their premises, have been badly bitten by a gentleman of the German-Jew persuasion, hailing, of course, from across the lines. He visited town and spent some days here with the result that he purchased a large quantity of scrap for the simple reason that he agreed to pay a considerably higher figure for it than the local dealers were prepared to pay. He made his bargains and had the material loaded on the cars at the Grand Trund depot. He obtained receipts, etc., and drew on the Buffalo house, to which the goods were consigned. The drafts were honored and Mr. Jew skipped out and those who sold the iron can whistle or do anything else they like for payment. One man was bitten for about $30 and half a dozen others for less sums.

He Stands Corrected.

Referring to Mayflower at the recent races at Omemee, a Beaverton correspondent of the Empire writes as follows:—"In trotting her ice record at Peterborough, 2.30, she hurt her off knee. However, at the start at Omemee nothing very wrong was observed with the mare and she was allowed to trot. The first two heats she lost square and fair, by a short distance, say a neck, but the third she took by a length or thereabouts. There was only three heats trotted in the race, but the judges (it is said all from Peterborough), gave the heat to Sleepy Dan, the Peterborough horse. Of course, this is the report around here. If such is not the case we will be glad to learn otherwise. It is said that the mare did not once break, but that the others did in the last or third heat. Anyhow Sleepy Dan got first money and Mayflower second." The Beaverton man says that if the story he tells is not correct he will be glad to learn otherwise. The story is not correct in several respects. The judges were Messrs. Wm. Croft, Peterborough, Jackson Reid, Bobcaygeon, and a commercial traveller from Toronto. Mr. "Tom" McEwan, who drove Mayflower, is now in Peterborough and this morning he told a REVIEW reporter that the mare was beaten in the third and last heat and was beaten fairly and squarely. "Sleepy Dan" was too much for her and beat her out.

HONORING A PASTOR.

Father Conway Presented with an Address and a Purse.

For the last six years the Rev. Father Conway has had charge of the Parish of Peterborough and for some time he has been Chancellor of the Roman Catholic Diocese, of which Peterborough is the See. A short time ago the Parish of Norwood was formed and his Lordship Bishop Dowling appointed Father Conway as the first priest.

The people of his congregation here heard with regret of the departure of their beloved pastor and steps were taken to show in a tangible way, the respect the flock had for their shepherd. Accordingly on Friday evening, after service, Bishop Dowling requested the congregation to remain as he understood that it was the intention to make a presentation to Father Conway.

Messrs. Jno. O'Meara, Jno. Hackett, T. Kelly, C. Halpin, Jno. Delaney, sr., Thos. Cahill, M. McFadden, B. Morrow, Thomas Dolan, H. LeBrun and E. Phelan advanced to the front of the Cathedral and halting in front of the altar rail, Mr. O'Meara read the following address:—

To the Rev. P. Conway, Rector of St. Peter's Cathedral, Peterborough, and Chancellor of the Diocese.

REVEREND SIR,—Your friends and parishioners have learned with feelings of deep regret, that the relations heretofore existing between us are about to be dissolved, to some extent at least, by your departure from the town of Peterborough.

You have lived and labored in our midst for the last six years and during all that time we have had frequent occasion to observe and admire your unvaried devotion to the spiritual advancement of the flock confided to your charge, and your no less zealous attention to the temporal matters pertaining to your position.

Your excellent administrative qualities have been shown in the erection of a substantial addition to our cathedral church, which now, owing to your energetic efforts, is almost entirely free from debt, in the purchase of a handsome residence for our good Bishop, in the building of a new school for the education of our children, and in the performance of many other good works, which time will not permit us to specify in detail, but which abundantly prove that you have at all times and upon all occasions devoted your entire energies to the promotion of your people's spiritual and temporal welfare.

We were deeply afflicted at your late serious illness—we heatily rejoiced at your recovery and returned to Almighty God our sincere thanks that you had been spared, as we then hoped, to remain with us for many years; but now that it is the Holy will that we should again be parted, while we deeply regret the impending separation, we bow in humble submission to the Divine decree and yield our views to the mandates of superior wisdom.

Neither are we alone in our sentiments of sorrow at your departure, for during your residence amongst us you have greatly endeared yourself from those who differ from us only in their religious opinions, and their expressions of regret on this occasion are as sincere and as spontaneous as our own.

We all trust that in your new abode you may find health and strength to continue your labors in the service of God and we hope you may be spared to see the successful completion of all the good works you have promoted and in which you have borne so great a part.

We cannot suffer you to depart without testifying to some small extent, the love and esteem in which we hold you, and we therefore offer you this purse in the hope that you will accept it from us as a slight evidence of those sentiments to which we have endeavored to give expression and with which we assure you, reverend Father, we one and all regard you.

Signed in our behalf:—

JOHN HACKETT, H. LEBRUN,
THOS. CAHILL, M. MCFADDEN,
THOS. KELLY, THOS. DOLAN,
B. MORROW.

Father CONWAY, when the address was finished, was so overcome with emotion that for some time he was unable to reply, but he soon gained control of himself and said that he seldom felt at a loss for words, but on the present occasion he must admit that he did not exactly know in what form he should answer the kind address. He felt that the address exaggerated any good deeds that he had done and he did not feel that he was worthy of it. In assisting to build up the cathedral and the other works referred to he had simply carried out the intentions of the late sainted Bishop Jamot as far as he could, but without the hearty assistance and co-operation of the congregation he could have availed but little. The address exaggerated his work, but he hoped that the people would extend the same help in the same generous manner to the present revered Bishop until the work undertaken was finally completed. The address referred to his zeal on behalf of souls. He felt that he had charge of the spiritual welfare of all those under him and he had tried to do all he possibly could to direct them the proper way. He had felt the truth of the words that on the final judgment day he would be detained at the bar until all the members of his congregation had been examined and if any soul had strayed away, through any fault of his, he would be held accountable, soul for soul. He had done all that he could to direct his congregation to walk in the path that leads to heaven. The people had lightened his labors materially and their attendance at the services had been something remarkable. He had found some of the members, on occasions, to be lukewarm, but on an earnest appeal being made they had always responded spiritually and temporally. The priest and the people are closely related in a spiritual connection and the priest always keeps his people in mind and he had often been kept awake at night thinking of some of his flock who had erred. His people were always foremost in his supplications to God and he had found it hard to break the relations that existed between him and the people, but he considered that it was the grandest work of all to do God's will and in obeying the Bishop's order he felt that he was but carrying out the Divine orders. He would go to his new home with the confidence that his work would be blessed. He returned his most heartfelt thanks to his children, to the Bishop and the priests for their prayers in his behalf during the time that he was ill and he felt confident that God had heard and answered them, as nothing but God's hand and His mercy had brought him back from death's door. In conclusion he made an earnest appeal to all to give their obedience to the Bishop and the priests and he would never forget them in his prayers as long as he was allowed to live.

At the proper time a purse of $200 was handed to Father Conway.

Prior to the presentation the fourteen new Stations of the Cross, brought from Rome by the late Bishop Jamot, were placed in position and blessed, his Lordship Bishop Dowling, assisted by the clergy, performing the solemn ceremony.

The address was engrossed and illuminated by Mr. Henry Grundy and it is without doubt one one of the finest pieces of work in that line, that we ever saw.

Father Conway was popular, not only among his own people, but among all classes and creeds, and his departure is sincerely regretted. The rev. gentleman left for Norwood on the C.P.R. this morning, a large number of friends being at the depot to bid him God-speed.

What It Will Do.

Three thousand five hundred dollars is a large sum. With that much money at command a man can do a variety of useful things. It will cover the cost of a good-sized steamboat, will build and furnish a handsome residence, buy a capital farm, build a country or ward school house, pay for an efficient fire engine and yet exactly $3,500 is the amount that Gough the Wonderful Cheap Man has to pay this year for the advertising he has already contracted for in Toronto.

AT THE DISTRICT LODGE.

Lakefield District Orangemen Present Mr. McWilliams with a Jewel.

At a meeting of Lakefield District Loyal Orange Lodge held on Thursday night, in the Orange hall at that village, the following address, accompained by a handsome Past Master's jewel, was presented to Mr J. B. McWilliams:—

To J. B. McWilliams, Esq., Junior Deputy G. M. of the Right Worthy Grand L. O. L., Ontario East, and Past County Master of the West Peterborough County L. O. L., etc., etc.

DEAR SIR AND BRO.,—The District of Lakefield L. O. L. beg to present to you this Past Masters' jewel as a token of their high respect and esteem. In the discharge of your duties as an Orangeman, and especially in the responsible offices you have held, we have watched your conduct closely and honestly, and we have great pleasure in congratulating you not only on the fair and impartial manner in which you acted during your administration, but also on the many honourable and valuable services you have rendered to the order in this county.

It is indeed pleasurable to us both as individuals and as a lodge to put on record and openly to acknowledge our satisfaction and commendation of your acts and conduct as County Master of the West Peterborough L. O. L. We expect perfection in no man, but careful work, honest endeavor and honorable conduct we desire always to recognize.

We therefore hope you will long bear with pride and honor to yourself and to us this slight memento of our good-will.

JAS. MOORE, District Master.
WM. EDWARDS, District Secretary.

Mr. MCWILLIAMS replied as follows:—It is a pleasure for me to be here this evening and have the opportunity of meeting so many of my old friends and receive this token of their friendship and respect. It is now about 25 years since I became a member of the Orange Association and during that time I have had many pleasant meetings with the brethren of the Lakefield District, and can say that there never was an unkind or unpleasant word passed between us. In all the contests I have had for County Master the brethren of the Lakefield District, independent of any party feeling, have always supported me and I desire this evening to return my hearty thanks for your confidence and support; and should I cease to meet with you in an Orange hall I hope we will remain as warm friends in the future as we have been in the past. After the confidence that has been shown to me by the Orangemen of Peterborough in electing me to fill the highest position in the county for so many years without me ever soliciting a vote, after the valuable present and testimonial given to me by the Orangemen of the county a short time ago, the receipt of this kind address and beautiful present from the district of Lakefield, makes it very difficult to carry out my intention of withdrawing from the Association. I honor and respect the principles of the Orange Society, and believe there is no better society under the sun, if the principles are properly carried out. I never looked upon the Orange Society as established for the purpose of insulting or oppressing our Roman Catholic countrymen, but as a defensive Society, and one that should always be ready to champion the cause of the weak and oppressed, no matter of what class or creed. During the years I have been in the society I have never missed an opportunity of assisting a brother who was deserving, either by placing in business or obtaining a situation. While I have done everything in my power to aid worthy Orangemen, yet I never thought it my duty to do anything to injure a Roman Catholic, but on the contrary am pleased to know that I have been a friend and have many friends amongst the Roman Catholics. Life is too short to spend it quarrelling over a question of religion, when we all have the same harbour in view. Life is like starting out on a long journey and if we as Orangemen or Protestants claim the right to have our road, let us give those who differ with us the right to choose their way and only hope that both roads may terminate in Heaven. I again thank you for your kind wishes and for this valuable present, and trust we may have many pleasant meetings together, and when our sojourn on this land is over that we may enjoy each other's company in a happier land.

After remarks had been made by several brethren, supper was partaken of in the hall.

Brevities.

—The trains to-day were fairly well on time, but many snowdrifts were encountered.

—The Police Magistrate was not called upon to adjudicate this morning as the slate was clear.

—The roads in the country are badly drifted and farmers found it hard work to reach town to-day.

—After a long absence our old friend Eli Sager, of razor paste fame, held forth on the market this morning.

—The market to-day was miserably poor there being but a small number present. The country roads are badly blocked.

—The Sentinel-Star man, of Cobourg, should have been on the market this morning. There were three farmers there all living within a few miles of his town.

—In the final draw for the rink medal, Lindsay curling club, was won by Mr. J. D. Flavelle's rink, giving him the cup and the other players a handsome medal each.

—Lindsay Warder:—"The entertainment given in Peterborough under the autpices of Col. Rogers and the 57th Battalion last week was a complete success."

—The Cobourg World notes that the Peterborough curlers won the Governor General's trophy, and adds:—"We congratulate the winning rinks on their famous victory."

Campbellford Herald:—"Mr. J. J. Turner, of Peterborough, was in Campbellford, on Friday last, taking orders for awnings. He is being patronized by parties in several counties."

—On Tuesday evening Mr. Geo. Wilson, of the Port Hope Guide, was presented with a cane by his church class. Being caned in that way was such a surprise that he could hardly return thanks.

—The Minden Echo says:—"The Rev. M. Turnbull, of Peterborough, occupied the pulpit in the Presbyterian church here on Friday evening last, and preached an eloquent sermon to a large and attentive congregation."

—The late Dr. Stewart, of Belleville, worth about $30,000, bequeathed about one-half of his estate to his daughter, Mrs. John Bell, and the balance proportionately between his three grandchildren, Ethel Robertson and Florence and George Stewart.

—The Lindsay Post says:—"Belleghem of Peterborough, the celebrated Furniture King, was in town this week in the curling match. Mr. Belleghem reports business booming. He has had a good many orders from this district. He pays the freight. Even when curling he pays the freight on the stanes and they get there every time."

—Mr. Thos. Walters, Supt. of Ontario Public Works, has a gang of men at work, says the Post, at the Rosedale lock, extending the slide for timber and making preparations for spring work at the lock. Gangs of men are also at work at Elliotts, Norland and Rackets creek, near Minden, repairing the dams and slides. Some men are at Young's Point under Mr. Alex. Ross repairing the lock.

It is the intrinsic merit alone of Hall's Vegetable Sicilian Hair Renewer, that has gained for it great popularity for restoring the natural color of the hair.

A very expensive fashion was set lately by the distribution of real ostrich feathers as favors to the ladies in a fashionable german.

A large bowl of cut flowers, or a fairy lamp almost hidden with flowers, in the center of the table, is one of the most fashionable effects in the line of decoration this season at dinner parties. The idea is said to be Russian, and Mrs. Whitney, the secretary's wife, is said by Jenkins to have been the first to introduce it here. In this Jenkins is as "far off" as if he were in China.

CHANGE IN BUSINESS.

I have bought out the business formerly carried on by Wright & Payton, manufacturers of pumps, and will carry on the business at the old stand on George-st., south of the market.

As some evil disposed people have circulated the report that the firm had failed I wish to emphatically deny that such is the case. I shall be glad to see all our old friends and the general public, and can guarantee to make a first-class pump in every respect.

Insurance Catechism.

Why should I insure my life?

Many men insure their property but neglect to insure their lives. The property insured may never burn, but death is sure to occur. To a family a man's life is its property. It represents food, shelter, clothing, education for the children, and all the necessaries and comforts of life. A small investment in life insurance makes it possible for every man to leave his family above want. This certain provision cannot be obtained in any other institution. No man who is physically able to obtain the indemnity which life insurance gives is free from reproach if he neglects the important duty.

With whom should I insure?

Answer—With E. E. HENDERSON, General Agent, Peterborough.

Why?—Because you will be insured in a thoroughly reliable, safe and honorable Company, at lowest rates.

OFFICE—Over Tully's Drug store, George-st.

Until your hair becomes dry, thin, and gray before giving the attention needed to preserve its beauty and vitality. Keep on your toilet-table a bottle of Ayer's Hair Vigor—the only dressing you require for the hair—and use a little, daily, to preserve the natural color and prevent baldness.

Thomas Munday, Sharon Grove, Ky., writes: "Several months ago my hair commenced falling out, and in a few weeks my head was almost bald. I tried many remedies, but they did no good. I finally bought a bottle of Ayer's Hair Vigor, and, after using only a part of the contents, my head was covered with a heavy growth of hair. I recommend your preparation as the best hair-restorer in the world."

"My hair was faded and dry," writes Mabel C. Hardy, of Delavan, Ill.; "but after using a bottle of Ayer's Hair Vigor it became black and glossy."

SATURDAY, MARCH 3, 1888.

THE SITUATION IN MANITOBA.

Greenway's Pilgrimage to the Federal Capital—Disallowance Said to be Doomed.

OTTAWA, March 2.—The political situation in Manitoba had the call around the Capital to-day and this evening. Little else was talked about than the decision of Premier Greenway and Attorney-General Martin to make a pilgrimage to Ottawa and see what Sir John and his Government "were going to do about it." That is about the language people use around the Capital now: "Well, what are you going to do about it?"

The Manitoba ministers, barring snow blockades, will arrive in Ottawa by Monday evening. They will, it is understood, confer with the Government immediately on their arrival in the city. "What will the conference be about," did you say? Well, it is a secret that almost anyone can find out around here that Sir John has promised to annihilate disallowance as far as Manitoba is concerned. This is what the people want up there and have it they will, so several of the members and newspaper men from that province say.

Mr. Robert Watson (Lib.), the member for Marquette, is the man who arranged with the Prime Minister that Mr. Greenway and his Attorney-General should come on to Ottawa and have the conference. Mr. Watson telegraphed to Mr. Greenway that everything looked favorable and the Manitoba Legislature was at once adjourned for two weeks to allow of the meeting.

It is pretty well understood that Mr. Watson got Sir John's assurance that disallowance would be thrown overboard, and the Red River Valley Railway will be built legally. This being the case, what is to be done with the Canadian Pacific Railway people for abrogation of the monopoly clause? Something will certainly be done, but I will not pretend to conjecture what it is at present.

Speaking of Manitoba, men from that province who are here now say the people are becoming quite desperate, and nothing but competing lines of railways will satisfy them. The finances of the province are in a sad plight; the whole bottom has fallen out of the treasury.

Mr. Greenway, his friends here say, is looked upon as the new guardian angel of Manitoba, and great things are expected from his visit to Ottawa. They also aver that were Mr. Greenway to go to the people to-morrow he would carry thirty out of the thirty-five seats.

The Prospect Pleases Winnipeggers.

WINNIPEG, March 2.—Scarcely anything is known here of the proposed negotiations between the Federal and Provincial authorities respecting a settlement of the difficulties, but there is a general feeling of satisfaction at the prospect of a termination of the troubles.

Premier Greenway and Mr. Martin leave for Ottawa to-morrow night.

A local Conservative named Dismore has been chosen to contest Shoal Lake with Treasurer Jones. The Conservative convention called for March 22 has been postponed owing to the change in the aspect of affairs respecting disallowance.

Kaiser William has contributed 700,000 marks to help along the Berlin opera. It was precisely the amount of last year's deficit.

Berry, the English hangman, has executed 113 persons up to the present time, sixteen of them having been in Ireland and two in Scotland.

King John, of Abyssinia, hates the sight, taste and smell of tobacco, and he cuts off noses and lips of smokers and chewers in his dominions.

The most costly private collection of pictures in the west is said to be that of Mr. Nickerson, president of the First National Bank of Chicago.

Ex-Senator David Merriwether, of Kentucky, the appointed successor of Henry Clay, has recently been visiting Washington. He is 80 years old.

Ex-Governor Alger, of Michigan, is said to own over 100 square miles of forest land near Alpena, bearing more than 500,000,000 feet of standing pine timber.

Don't use any more nauseous purgatives such as Pills, Salts, &c., when you can get in Dr. Carson's Stomach Bitters, a medicine that moves the Bowels gently, cleansing all impurities from the system and rendering the blood pure and cool. Sold by all Druggists.

MONA SCULLY;

—OR—

The Bride of an Englishman.

A STORY OF THESE TIMES.

LADY RODNEY, she says, with suppressed vehemence, "How should I like a woman who has stolen from me my son, and who can teach him to be rude even to his own mother."

"Oh, Lady Rodney, I am sure she did not mean to do that."

"I don't care what she meant; she has at all events done it. Like her! A person who speaks of 'Jack Robinson,' and talks of the 'long and the short of it.' How could you imagine such a thing!—As for you, Dorothy, I can only feel regret that you should so far forget yourself as to rush into friendship with a young woman so thoroughly out of your own sphere."

Having delivered herself of this speech, she sweeps from the room, leaving Dorothy and Violet slightly nonplussed.

"Well, I never heard anything so absurd!" says Doatie, presently, recovering her breath, and opening her big eyes to their widest. "Such a tirade, and all for nothing. If saying 'Jack Robinson' is a social crime, I must be the biggest sinner living, as I say it just when I like. I think Mona adorable, and so does every one else. Don't you think Lady Rodney is unjust to Mona?"

"Yes, I think she is. But of course there are many excuses to be made for her. An Irish girl of no family whatever, no matter how sweet, is not the sort of person one would select as a wife for one's son. Come to the ball-room. I want to make Mona perfect in dancing."

"You want to make her a success to-night," says Dorothy, quickly. "I know you do. You are a dear thing, Violet, if a little difficult. And I verily believe you have fallen as great a victim to the charms of this Irish siren without family as any of us. Come, confess it."

"There is nothing to confess. I think her very much to be liked, if you mean that," says Violet, slowly.

"She is a perfect pet," says Miss Darling, with emphasis, "and you know it."

They adjourn to the ball-room, where dancing soon becomes universal. Jack takes Mona in hand, as being the best dancer present, and teaches, tutors and encourages her until Doatie cries "enough," protesting she is not going to be cut out by Mona, at all events in the dancing line.

The day wears to evening, the rain ceases, and by and by the stars come out, first slowly, one by one, until all the sky

"Bespangled with those isles of light
So wildly, spiritually bright," shows promise of a fairer morrow.

Mona, coming slowly down stairs, enters with lagging steps the library, where tea is awaiting them before they start.

She is gowned in a cream-colored satin that hangs in severe straight lines; and clings to her lissome rounded figure as dew clings to a flower. A few rows of tiny pearls clasp her neck. Upon her bosom some Christmas roses, pure and white as her own soul, lie softly; a few more nestle in her hair, which is drawn simply back and coiled in a loose knot behind her head; she wears no ear-rings and very few bracelets.

One of the latter, however, is worthy of note. It is a plain gold band on which stands out a figure of Atalanta posed as when she started for her famous race. It had been sent to her on her marriage by Maxwell, in hearty remembrance, no doubt, of the night when she by her fleetness had saved his life.

She is looking very beautiful to-night. As she enters the room, nearly every one stops talking, and, careless of good breeding, stares at her. There is a touch of purity about Mona that is perhaps one of her chiefest charms.

Even Lady Rodney can hardly take her eyes from the girl's face as she advances beneath the full glare of the chandelier, utterly unconscious of the extent of the beauty that is her rich gift.

Sir Nicholas, going up to her, takes her by both hands, and leads her gently beneath the huge bunch of mistletoe that still hangs from the centre-lamp. Here, stooping, he embraces her warmly.—Mona, coloring, shrinks involuntarily a few steps backward.

"Forgive me, my sister," says Nicholas, quickly. "Not the kiss, but the fact that until now I never quite understood how very beautiful you are."

Then the carriages are announced, and every one finishes his and her tea, and many shawls are caught up, and presently all are driving rapidly beneath the changeful moon to Chetwoode.

Now, strange as it may seem, the very moment Mona sets her foot upon the polished ball-room floor, and sees the lights, and hears the music, and the distant splashing of water in some unknown spot, and breathes the breath of dying flowers, all fears, all doubts, vanish; and only a passionate desire to dance, and be in unison with the sweet sounds that move the air, overfills her.

Then some one asks her to dance, and presently—with her face lit up with happy excitement, and her heart throbbing—she is actually mingling with the gay crowd that a moment since she has been envying. In and out among the dancers they glide, Mona so happy that she barely has time for thought, and so gives herself up entirely to the music to the exclusion of her partner.

After a little while, pausing beside a doorway, she casts an upward glance at her companion.

"I am glad you have at last deigned to take some notice of me," says he, with a faint touch of pique in his tone. And then, looking at him again, she sees it is the young man who had nearly ridden over her some time ago, and tells herself she has been just a little rude to his Grace the Duke of Lauderdale.

"And I went to the utmost trouble to get an introduction," goes on Lauderdale in an aggrieved voice, "because I thought you might not care about that impromptu ceremony at the lodge-gates; and yet what do I receive for my pains but disappointment? Have you quite forgotten me?"

"No. Of course I remember you now," says Mona, taking all this nonsense as quite bona fide sense, in a maddeningly, fascinating fashion. "How unkind I have been! But I was listening to the music, not to our introduction, when Sir Nicholas brought you up to me, and—and that is my only excuse." Then, sweetly, "Do you love music?"

"Yes, I do," says the duke. "But I say that perhaps as a means of defense. I said otherwise, you might think me fit only for treasons, stratagems, and ——"

Advice to Mothers.

Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup should always be used when children are cutting teeth. It relieves the little sufferer at once; it produces natural, quiet sleep by relieving the child from pain, and the little cherub awakes as bright as a button. It is very pleasant to taste. It soothes the child, softens the gums, allays all pain, relieves wind, regulates the bowels, and is the best known remedy for diarrhœa whether arising from teething or other causes. 25 cents a bottle. Be sure and ask for "Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup," and take no other kind.

That is to say, your lungs. Also all your breathing machinery. Very wonderful machinery it is. Not only the larger air-passages, but the thousands of little tubes and cavities leading from them.

When these are clogged and choked with matter which ought not to be there, your lungs cannot half do their work. And what they do, they cannot do well.

Call it cold, cough, pneumonia, catarrh, consumption or any of the family of throat and nose and head and lung obstructions, all are bad. All ought to be got rid of. There is just one sure way to get rid of them. That is to take Boschee's German Syrup, which any druggist will sell you at 75 cents a bottle. Even if everything else has failed you you may depend upon this for certain.

THE LATEST MARKET REVIEW.

TORONTO, March 2.

The local grain and produce market is dull and steady, while in Chicago grain is stronger and produce weaker. The European markets are firmer though quiet.

On call at the Corn Exchange to-day: No. 1 red winter 86c bid. No. 2 hard Manitoba offered at 88c without bids. In the absence of Secretary Wills, who is in New York, the call board was taken to-day by Assistant Secretary J. M. Findlay.

The car lots received at Chicago yesterday were: Winter wheat 2, spring 31, corn 178, oats 39, rye 2 and barley 18.

In Chicago to-day the market was firmer on wheat, corn and oats. Wheat and corn were the most active; the former opened ½c higher at 80½c, and advanced to ⅝c and closed at the opening price. Corn opened ½c higher at 33½c, and was very active, closing ⅝c higher than last night at 33½c. Oats opened ⅛c higher at 31½c, then advanced to 31⅝c, closing at that figure. Pork opened unchanged from last night at $14.10 and closed at $14.05. Lard opened unchanged at $7.80 and closed 5c lower. All for the May option.

BEERBOHM'S REPORT.

Beerbohm reports to-day: Floating cargoes—Wheat firm, corn nil. Cargoes on passage—Wheat firm, held higher, corn firmer.

Mark Lane: Wheat and corn steady, flour quiet. Paris firm. Liverpool wheat firm, Cal. active, corn upward tendency, No. 1 Cal. 6s 9d, No. 2 6s 6d, 4d dearer, all other quotations unchanged.

LIVERPOOL MARKET.

Liverpool reports to-day: Colored and white wheat firm, good demand, holders offer moderately, corn firm, good demand. Prices: Spring wheat 6s 8d, red winter 6s 7d to 6s 9d, No. 1 Cal. 6s 7d; corn 4s 8d; peas 5s 4½d, pork 63s 9d, lard 39s 9d, bacon 33s, cheese 59s.

OSWEGO BARLEY MARKET.

Oswego reports barley to-day quiet and unchanged. Shipments 50,000 bushels.

Chief De Bebb and his followers have deserted to the Abyssinians, taking with them arms and equipments furnished by the Italians.

Retiring farmers, active men of any class, speculators or investors. I wish to call your attention to a piece of property which I have for sale on the second best street in town, over which hundreds of conveyances and thousand of people pass daily and where the property is rapidly increasing in value. I refer to that old established stand on Hunter-st. east of the New Post Office where Agricultural Implements of all kinds are sold and to which a harness shop has recently been added. I am instructed to sell this property for less than the value of the land, and the buildings on it will pay good interest on the whole purchase price.

50 acres choice land two miles from town at less than the price at which land is sold fifteen miles distant.

Also a great bargain of a choice of about 200 acres with first-class Buildings close to town.

Some People Think

Because salerooms are handsome that selling prices must be high. They forget—or have never learned—that dingy quarters for the transaction of business are either evidence of a slow trade or of contempt for the public convenience, or of a fatal lack of enterprise. Such is not the case with us. We want our friends to call and look over our new and handsome store. We want them to notice the conveniences provided for their convenience, to facilitate business, to keep one waiting just as short a time as possible and to handle our trade with promptness.

But this is not all we wish our friends to notice. Success in any department of business is impossible if the prices are not right. Our business, as grocers, is to be successful because we have right prices You buy for value. You get good Goods. You receive honest weight and measure and prompt service.

Everything new, fresh and inviting.

Can we have a share of your trade?

THE STRIKE ON THE C.B. & Q.

RECRUITS RAPIDLY FILLING THE PLACES OF STRIKERS.

Four Hundred New Engineers and an Equal Number of Firemen Sent Out on Duty During the Last Two Days of the Past Week—A Striker Fatally Shot.

CHICAGO, March 3.—There was no change to-day in the passenger service of the Burlington. About the Union Depot there were no signs of the strikers. The suburban trains were arriving and leaving on time. The through trains which came in were the ones that have been running for several days. A number of switch engines were at work in the Western-avenue yards, but no freight trains were sent out.

"We ran a larger number of passenger trains yesterday than we did on the same day two years ago, and we thought we were doing a big business then," said Solicitor Goddard. "Here, this is only the fifth day of the strike and we are doing very well. We have sent out almost 400 engineers in two days and an equal number of firemen, and we have more coming. About sixty came in last night, and we have men recruiting for us in the east all the time. We should have our passenger service entirely complete only for the physical impossibility of taking the new men over the road. The fact is we are getting men faster than we can put them on.

"The Brotherhood may call out their men on the other roads if they choose; that won't hurt us. We will go right on and fill up our ranks and do business. We have 6000 miles of road of our own, and that's a little world in itself. We can bring in grain and fill up our elevators and haul goods out to our local points. The situation will be this: If the men on the other roads are called out they will shut down completely and every man and boy in their employ will be discharged. This will mean 10,000 men thrown out of work without pay, incalculable damage and inconvenience to the public and the roads. We will be better off than any of them for we will have plenty of men and can continue business. Such a move would be the most demoralizing to their own forces that the Brotherhood could take.

"None of the Burlington employes have been discharged. A few men who worked by the day have been laid off, but none of the regular employes of the road are losing their places or wages by this strike excepting engineers and firemen."

A Striking Engineer Shot.

BROOKFIELD, Mo., March 3.—George H. Bostwick, the Burlington bridge foreman, fatally shot John Roxy, a Brotherhood striking engineer, this morning. To avoid lynching Bostwick walked to Linnes, where he is under arrest. He states that he was a sworn deputy sheriff and in charge of an engine just arrived from the east at Brookfield, that Roxy and others approached the engine and endeavored to take charge of it. An altercation ensued and Roxy drew a pistol, and when refusing to put it up he (Bostwick) shot him. There is intense excitement in Brookfield.

SHOAL LAKE NOMINATIONS.

Mr. Jones (Lib.) and Mr. Dismuir (Con.) Will Contest the Constituency.

WINNIPEG, March 4.—Mr. Jones (Lib.) and Mr. Dismuir (Con.) were nominated at Shoal Lake yesterday.

Mr. Jones promised that all the measures in Greenway's platform would be carried this session except the Municipal Bill, and that a general election would take place next summer. If not, he would resign. The French constituencies would be wiped out and a larger representation given the western part of the province.

Mr. Dismuir claimed the election on local grounds.

Surrogate Court Clerk Marston and Chief of Provincial Police Tupper have been notified that their services will be dispensed with after May 1. Other officials are also likely to be beheaded.

Chicago Painters Talk Strike.

CHICAGO, March 4.—At a meeting this afternoon of 120 painters belonging to the Knights of Labor it was decided to strike on March 17 if their recent demand for a minimum rate of 37½ cents an hour for an eight-hour day was not complied with. For the past year the minimum wage was 27½ cents an hour.

Dangerous and Transparent

BERLIN, March 4.—The North German Gazette maintains that the Boulanger election intrigue is directly traceable to the Orleanists, whose interest it is to disturb the peace. It says the new Boulanger worship is as dangerous in tendency as its origin is transparent.

Elections for the Skuptschina.

BELGRADE, March 4—Elections for members of the Skuptschina have resulted in a complete victory for the Radicals.

ALL HOPE IS ABANDONED.

FREDERICK WILLIAM'S RECOVERY DEEMED IMPOSSIBLE.

The Imperial Family Have Ceased to Look for the German Crown Prince's Restoration to Health—Microscopic Examinations Disclose Cancer.

BERLIN, March 4.—The Imperial family has ceased to hope for the recovery of the Crown Prince. The first results of the microscopic examination by Prof. Waldmeyer as communicated to the Emperor are unfavorable, disclosing traces of cancer in the pus arising from necrosis of the cartilage of the larynx. The full official report of Prof. Waldmeyer will be delayed until Dr. Recklinghausen makes an analysis. Dr. Ziemmson will probably also be requested to examine the pus.

Apart from the results of the examination court despatches confirm the progress of symptoms tending toward a fatal issue. The occasional appearance of improvement is followed by a renewal of the gravest indications. Thus on Thursday the Crown Prince seemed stronger and in bright spirits, but during the following night there was an excess of diarrhœa with slight fever.

The newspaper reports from San Remo conflict. While The National Zeitung says the patient is sleeping well, that his spirits and appetite are better and that he holds himself erect, The Borsen Courier and Nord-Deutsche Zeitung on the same day reports that he had a bad night.

The decrease in his strength has caused a saddening change in his aspect, and has transformed him from a robust into an aged and debilitated man who is obviously suffering. The conflict of reports does not weaken the fact based upon absolute information that in the highest official quarters every hope has been abandoned of his recovery. No immediate crisis is expected, but it is recognized that a sudden change for the worse may occur at any moment, involving his death, if the disease should be permitted to run its full course.

He may be able to return to Berlin in May and pass his last days there. The question of the period of his return will be the only subject having the remotest political bearing that will be discussed during Prince William's presence at San Remo, and the decision arrived at will depend upon the personal inclination of the Princess combined with the advice of the physicians. Since his family has recognized that a fatal issue is most probable, the Crown Prince has expressed an urgent desire to return to Berlin as soon as possible. He has stated his intention to the Emperor who coincided with the Crown Prince and relinquished his proposed journey to San Remo. The respites from suffering that the Crown Prince obtains encourage confidence that he will be enabled to return to Berlin. If he is fated to die suddenly at San Remo he has everything ready. He has written his will and prepared a political testament for his successor.

The presence of Prince William at the villa has cheered his mother and the Princess. Comments adverse to Prince William continue to be heard in Berlin society. Significance is attached to the fact that none of the family met him at San Remo station. When he arrived from Genoa in company with Prince Henry, his brother, and Prof. Bergmann, he was received by the Prefect, the Mayor and the German Consul. This arrangement was due to the Crown Prince who sent instructions to Prince William at Carlsrhue that Prince Henry with Dr. Bergmann would meet him, the obvious object being to enable him to gain full knowledge of the condition of his father before seeing his mother and sisters. The Crown Princess with the Princesses awaited him within the villa. It is understood that he received the warmest welcome and that many tears were shed during the interview. Twenty minutes after his arrival the Crown Princess alone accompanied him to meet his father.

During Friday and Saturday Prince William was with the Crown Prince on the balcony, and there was every appearance of cordiality between father and son. The reports of a coolness in their relations are chiefly traceable to French sources.

During the week Prince Bismarck had a long conference with Emperor William, it is supposed with reference to the proposal to grant Prince William power to sign in the event of the temporary incapacity of the Emperor concurrent with the prostration of the Crown Prince. The Crown Prince differs from Prince Bismarck on the question of a regency of this character. It is reported that the Emperor accedes to the proposal, admitting the force of Prince Bismarck's plea that the simultaneous illness of himself and the Crown Prince might create confusion in the management of public affairs.

Sunday Night's Bulletin.

SAN REMO, March 4.—At 10 o'clock to-night the general condition of the German Crown Prince was unchanged. The patient passed a good night and good day. He expectorated much less frequently and the throat felt more comfortable. A cold wind was blowing to-day, but the patient passed a short time on the balcony protected by screens.

Prince William has postponed his departure. He spends much of his time with his father.

Prof. Waldemyer has not visited the Crown Prince. He is busy making a microscopic examination of the matter discharged from the Prince's throat. It is noticed that the doctors are now attending to the patient more closely than ever. Dr. Bergmann signed the Sunday morning bulletins.

The Rebels Attack Suakim.

SUAKIM, March 4.—Suakim was attacked to-day by a large force of rebels. After four hours' fighting the rebels retired, leaving several hundred killed and wounded on the field. On the British side Col. Tap and five Egyptians were killed and fourteen wounded. The British gunboats Dolphin and Albacor assisted the garrison and poured deadly fire on the retreating rebels.

Villages Wiped Out by Avalanches.

LONDON, March 4.—The hamlet of Trasquera, at the foot of the Simplon Mountain and another hamlet in the Bini Valley have been destroyed by avalanches. At the latter place five persons were killed.

A New Title for the Prince.

VIENNA, March 4.—Emperor Francis Joseph has nominated the Prince of Wales Honorary Colonel of the 13th regiment.

HAMILTON BUILDERS.

Demands of the Carpenters and Bricklayers—A Widow's Unhappy Experience.

HAMILTON, March 4.—There is considerable uneasiness and anticipation of trouble among the builders and members of the building trades in this city. Relying on the prospects of a prosperous season the workmen are moving for increases in wages and also for the securing of certain rights which they think it is now a favorable time to agitate for. The carpenters do not ask an advance of wages, but they want to have none but union men employed, and they also ask that the foremen or bosses be union men. The bricklayers ask for an increase from 32 to 33½ cents per hour. Amicable negotiations are in progress for a settlement of the difficulties.

The female teachers in the Public Schools of the city will petition the Board of Education at its next meeting for a change in the system of grading salaries. The petition will be signed by all the teachers except those in the highest grades—about 120 in all. What the teachers want is the system in practice in Toronto—the grading of salaries according to length of service. They claim that Hamilton teachers are underpaid—that the average salary of a female teacher throughout cities in the province is $401, while in Hamilton it is only $330.

About a week ago a respectable Toronto widow with a child of 4 years advertised in a Toronto paper for a situation as a housekeeper. The advertisement was answered, ostensibly from Kincardine, by a man about 27 years of age, who said that if she suited she would have a good home with him, and also requesting her to come on to Hamilton, where he would meet her and take her to his home. The poor woman did as directed, coming to Hamilton, where she was met by the pretended Kincardine farmer, who used a good deal of suavity to lead her to believe that she was just the person needed, and holding out matrimonial inducements to the widow. He then took her to Allison's Hotel, and registered as man and wife. Next morning the amateur agriculturist disappeared, and the poor woman, without means, did not know what to do. She is still at the hotel, and Mr. Smith, the immigrant agent, is expecting to secure a situation for her with a respectable farmer.

THE LAKE CARRIERS.

Third Annual Meeting of the Association at the City of the Straits.

DETROIT, March 4.—The Lake Carriers' Association, which includes all the prominent representatives of the carrying trade on the lakes, held its third annual meeting in the city yesterday. S. D. Caldwell of Buffalo was re-elected president.

The secretary announced that a bill had been introduced in the Canadian Parliament by Mr. Kirkpatrick to abolish the discrimination against American wrecking vessels in the assisting of Canadian vessels in distress. A resolution by Capt. Henry was adopted, requesting the Secretary of State to open negotiations with the Canadian Government towards the abrogation of the law.

The question of closing the Chicago bridges in the daytime was referred to a committee.

It was agreed to leave the selection of the next place of meeting till the end of the year.

PARTY-STANDARD-BEARERS.

Nominations in Prince Edward and West Middlesex for the Dominion House.

PICTON, March 4.—The nominations for the vacancy in the House of Commons for Prince Edward took place here yesterday. Dr. Platt, the unseated Liberal candidate, was renominated, and Mr. Robert S. Clapp was again put up by the Conservatives.

The election takes place on March 10. A lively week's campaign is expected.

Dr. Sproule, M.P. for East Grey, is going to take the stump for the Conservatives and Dr. Landerkin, M.P. for South Grey, will be among the fighters for the Liberals.

West Middlesex Candidates.

STRATHROY, March 4.—The nominations to fill the vacancy in the House of Commons for West Middlesex, caused by the unseating of Dr. Roome (Con.), were held yesterday. Dr. Roome was again nominated and Mr. Geo. C. Elliott, ex-Reeve of the Township of Ekfrid, will be the Liberal standard-bearer.

The election comes off next Saturday.

Mr. Robertson's Funeral.

BELLEVILLE, March 3.—This afternoon the funeral of the late Alexander Robertson, M.P. for West Hastings, was attended by an immense gathering of friends from all over the county. Rev. M. W. Maclean conducted a brief burial service at the house at 2 o'clock, after which the remains were taken to the cemetery. The long line of mourners and friends certified the high esteem in which Mr. Robertson was held. Among those present from abroad were: Hon. Mackenzie Bowell, Dr. Hickey, M.P., A. F. Wood, M.P.P., and G. W. Ostrom, M.P.P.

M. Wilson Appeals.

PARIS, March 4.—M. Wilson and M. Ribeandeau, who were sentenced to two years and to eight months' imprisonment respectively, for trafficking in decorations, have appealed from the decision of the court.

THE EASTERN IMBROGLIO.

RUSSIA DETERMINED TO CARRY OUT HER DESIGN.

The Situation Continues Full of Danger—Next May, at the Latest, Will Probably Witness an Appeal to the Arbitrament of Arms.

LONDON, March 3.—The Russian Ambassador to the Court of St. James, on hearing from the Marquis of Salisbury at the conference yesterday that England would oppose the forcible removal of Prince Ferdinand from the throne of Bulgaria, intimated to the British Premier and Minister of Foreign Affairs that if Russia should find that her rights of suzerainty over Bulgaria were ignored by England and the other great powers the Czar would take the extreme step of renouncing the Treaty of Berlin, and that the Government at St. Petersburg would immediately adopt vigorous measures independently of the signatory powers.

Whether this is an empty threat and the Russian diplomatists are trying to play a bluff game in sheer desperation of getting the Russian claims acknowledged in any other way than by force of arms, or whether Russia has detected in the attitude of Germany and Austria a substantial backing for this threatening aspect, cannot be determined at this moment. At all events, it is firmly believed in the ministerial circle here that Prince Bismarck is inclined for the present, perhaps in consequence of the uncertainty of the immediate future of the internal policy and imperial influence of Germany, to avoid any sort of direct issue with the Czar and his advisers; and that the German Chancellor has brought, but vainly brought, strong pressure to bear on Lord Salisbury and Count Kalnoky to induce them to cast the weight of their voices in the scale in favor of concessions, at least temporary, to Russia.

The immediate purpose of the presence of Count Herbert Bismarck in England is to ascertain how far Bismarck may be able to rely upon the active military and moral assistance of the British Government in the event of the refusal of all concessions to Russia leading to war.

It is generally understood that war is bound to be the outcome of all this palaver, although Bismarck's efforts have probably succeeded in putting off the catastrophe to what has seemed from the start the latest possible date, namely, next May.

Ceaseless Preparations.

BERLIN, March 4.—The relations of Russia with the allied Powers are taking developments as was forecast in these despatches. The diplomatic proposals of Russia have resulted in nothing definite. What is definite, however, is the frantic eagerness of Russia to obtain a war loan and her ceaseless preparations for war. The financial crisis at St. Petersburg appears to be somewhat relieved. The price of roubles here yesterday was slightly easier at 165.

The Russian press attribute the crisis to an organized raid by Berlin operators. Bankers expect a further collapse of Russian securities, and are directing their attention towards the purchase of Italian securities, arguing that closer commercial relations between Italy and Germany will arise out of the political alliance between those countries, and that there will be a war of tariffs between France and Italy, because of failure of the negotiations for a commercial treaty.

Russian Irritation.

ST. PETERSBURG, March 4.—The Government has issued orders to expedite its collection of stores in Warsaw. Many officers on furlough have been recalled. The attitude of the Powers regarding Bulgaria irritates military and public circles in Russia.

Fresh Proposals.

VIENNA, March 4.—Prince Lobanoff, the Russian Ambassador, has presented Count Kalnoky with fresh proposals regarding Bulgaria. It is said that Count Kalnoky is inclined to consider the proposals favorably.

EMMET'S BIRTHDAY.

Dublin's Commemorative Celebration—A Memorial From America.

DUBLIN, March 4.—A meeting was held here to-day in commemoration of the birth of Robert Emmet, the Irish patriot. Mr. Davitt presided and Mr. T. D. Sullivan made an address. In the course of his remarks Mr. Sullivan said he hoped that a statue of Emmet would be erected on the spot where he was executed. "Irishmen," he said, "were neither afraid nor ashamed to vindicate Emmet's action. Although they now adopted different means they were actuated by the same spirit that actuated Emmet."

An Emmett Memorial.

DETROIT, March 4.—The following cablegram was sent yesterday:

"VIGIL OF ANNIVERSARY OF EMMET, THE MARTYR. Dr. Joseph Kenny, M.P., House of Commons, London: In memoriam of the man who got hurt for Ireland I transmit you £5000 for the men who are getting hurt for Ireland.

THE ADVANTAGES OF INDUSTRY.

Advocates of commercial union and unrestricted reciprocity—the latter is the scheme proposed by the Liberal party—usually argue, when addressing farmers, as though the agriculturist should not consider the factories or what effect commercial union would have upon them. But sometimes, when it seems to suit their purpose, they recognize the truth that manufacturing benefits the farmers largely. For instance, in a speech at the Toronto Commercial Union Club on Friday evening Mr. T. D. Ledyard, who is interested in lands in Belmont, said:—

"To be convinced of the benefit of working an iron mine, a person should go to the neighbourhood of an active mine and judge for himself. The Blairton mine, in Peterborough County, at one time employed between 300 and 400 men, at wages from $1 to $1.25 per day, paying out from $1,800 to $2,500 weekly for wages alone. There was employment for every able-bodied man and boy for miles around. The farmers from surrounding townships found ready sale for produce at prices equal to the Peterborough market."

We believe that Mr. Ledyard has exaggerated somewhat the number of men employed at the Blairton mines, but that makes no difference. We presume when he spoke of produce he referred especially to the smaller produce, as the grain was, of course, principally shipped, and drawn long distances, too, though now railways run through the district. But the fact remains that the farmers of the surrounding country found a market at Blairton which, when the mines were closed in 1875, no longer existed. And what does this prove? Simply, what every one knows, but some prefer not to admit, that the presence of men engaged in any industry furnish a market for farm produce, the absence of which would be seriously felt by the farmers. The Peterborough market is the best in the district, because its population is greater, owing largely to its many manufacturing industries. If these industries were closed or crippled, the market would be injured and the farmers would suffer in consequence as well as the townspeople.

A year ago, when the Canadian Government increased the duty on iron, Liberal journals argued that iron could not be manufactured in Canada, because, they said, charcoal iron was no longer in demand and because our ore mines were too far from the fuel. When it was pointed out that the coal could be brought to the ore, it was replied that of fuel a larger quantity was required. Now, however, Mr. Ledyard attributes the assertion that more coal than ore is required for manufacturing to a Conservative paper and denies it, adding that the fact is almost the reverse. He also believes that the manufacture of charcoal iron would be profitable. Well, the present policy is to foster the manufacture of iron and when those who a year ago contended that iron could not be made in Canada at all, now argue that it could by removing the protection, they should not be surprised if their sincerity, if not their sanity, is questioned.

It is something, however, to have a commercial unionist admit that it is to the interest of the farming community to encourage manufacturing.

The bill to amend the United States tariff law has been prepared by the "free trade" Democrats. It is not a free trade measure, but it would place more articles on the free list and lower the duty on others, making, it is estimated, a hole of $50,000,000 in the federal revenue. Some of the produce of the farm is proposed to be added to the free list—barley is not among them—and also lumber. The progress of the bill in the committe and the House will be watched with interest by Canadians.

Mr. Rider Haggard is said to be writing a sequel to "She." Perhaps he will bring her to life and make her live a few thousand years longer. That would be a thousand years or so in the future, but that would be a trifle for Haggard.

Advice to Mothers.

Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup should always be used when children are cutting teeth It relieves the little suffer at once; it produces natural, quiet sleep by relieving the child from pain, and the little cherub awakes as bright as a button." It is very pleasant to taste. It soothes the child, softens the gums, allays all pain, relieves wind, regulates the bowels, and is the best known remedy for diarrhœa whether arising from teething or other causes 25 cents a bottle. Be sure and ask for "Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup," and take no other kind.

It is After That Way.

A Verulam farmer, whose daughter ran away with a cross-eyed farm hand, declared that he never could tell when his hired man was looking at his daughter, and therefore didn't suspect him. One of the things that some people don't suspect is the splendid value given at the golden lion, especially in grey cottons, steamlooms, shirtings and all linen goods. If you want anything give fair a call; you can't do better.

Laymen in the Pulpit.

The Rev. S. J. Thompson, of the George-st. church, was unable, on account of illness, to occupy his pulpit on Sunday. Mr. Wm. Cummings, of Auburn, conducted the services in the morning and preached an interesting and practical sermon. In the evening Mr. H. S. Griffin and Mr. W. H. Stevens conducted the services. Mr. Griffin delivered an instructive address that was much appreciated by the congregation.

From Whitby.

A letter was received to-day from a Whitby gentleman inquiring for full particulars regarding the carnivals to take place here on the afternoon and evening of Friday next, March 9th. The great value of the prizes offered and the many sterling attractions offered are occasioning much talk not only in Peterborough, but in all the surrounding places as well, and a large number of outsiders are expected to take part. Friday next is the day.

The Omemee Races.

The following letter appears in the Empire to-day and a note is appended stating that the correspondence must cease:—

SIR,—Under the head of "Nillings" from Beaverton, in the sporting column of your valued paper of the 2nd inst., I see an incorrect account of the Omemee races. As the gentleman contributing the article has stated that it was founded on rumor, and has asked for corrections if the facts should prove to be otherwise, I would be greatly obliged by your correcting it in the following particulars: First, in the third heat, Mayflower was behind a head, not in front a length, as stated; secondly, Sleepy Dan did not break once in that heat: and lastly, only one of the judges is from Peterborough, Mr. Wm. Croit; of the other two one is Mr. Jackson Reid of Bobcaygeon, and the other, whose name I no not know, a gentleman from Toronto. Of course Sleepy Dan having taken first place in three straight heats took first money. I may state that the race was run strictly upon its merits, and was conducted in an eminently fair and square manner, and in support of what I say it is sufficient to mention the names of the gentlemen, who, as I have stated, acted as judges.

Yours, etc.,
E. BROWN.

A match is in progress this afternoon between the Strickland rink and one skipped by Mr. W. G. Ferguson. The stakes are a barrel of flour for the Protestant Home.

Two rinks of the Toronto Granites played the Lindsay Educationalists on Saturday. Lindsay won by 46 to 35.

On Saturday a rink of Peterborough juniors played two games at Keene, scoring one win and one defeat. In the morning the scores were:—

JUNIORS.	KEENE.
G. Edmison, jr	J. McLaughlin
B. Boucher	T. Campbell
G. Boucher	Dr. Shaw
W. F. Hamilton, s'k 7.	M. Kennealy, s'k 13.

Keene thus wins by 6 shots.

In the second game the tables were turned:—

JUNIORS.	KEENE.
G. Edmison	D. Loomis
B. Boucher	M. Kennealy
G. Boucher	R. McIntyre
W. F. Hamilton, s'k 16.	J. Dickson, s'k 11

Peterborough wins by 5 shots.

Visiting the Schools.

Trustees D. W. Dumble, Henry Denne and Arthur Rutherford made a tour of inspection this morning, visiting the various schools to see that things are kept in a proper shape.

Stamped Out.

A death from diphtheria was registered this morning. The deceased was an infant from the south end of the town and had only been sick for a day or so. The disease is now stamped out in Peterborough.

Society Funeral.

The funeral of the late Mr. Wm. C. Downer, took place on Sunday afternoon. The deceased was a member of Otonabee Lodge No. 13, I.O.O.F., and there was a large turn out of Oddfellows and citizens in general.

Orange Grand Lodge.

The Orange Grand Lodge of Ontario East meets at Port Hope to-morrow. Peterborough will be largely represented. Among those who will go down are Messrs. W. A. Stratton, McWilliams, Waram, King, Smith and Wainwright.

At Centreville.

On the 29th of March, the meeting of the West Riding Farmers' Institute will be held at Centreville, instead of at Bailieboro, as announced by us on Saturday. The change was made on account of there being a larger hall at Centreville.

New Police Officer.

Mr. Joseph Stewart was sworn in as a police officer this morning by Mayor Stevenson. The new man has resided in this vicinity for some years and those who know him are confident that he will make a good officer. He goes on duty this evening.

A New Team.

Mr. Terry Smith has purchased a fine new team for drawing the hose wagon. The double harness will soon be ready and then the boys expect that they will be able to get to the fires as quick as any brigade in the Dominion. The work of training the horses will commence at once and as they are highly intelligent it is expected that the task will be an easy one.

Near Town.

Mr. Wm. Collins, the well known agriculturist and stock raiser, who has been farming in the vicinity of Chemong Lake for some years, has rented the James Campbell farm, North Monaghan, just outside of the town and once more he is in his old township. We understand that Mr. Collins intends to go into market gardening.

Quinn & Henry.

At room 6, 31 Adelaid-st. east, Toronto, Messrs. Quinn & Henry's law office is located, the firm having begun the practice of the legal profession there last week. Mr. Quinn formerly studied law in the office of Messrs. Smith & Peck, Peterborough, and has been practising in Toronto for several years. Mr. F. F. Henry passed an exceedingly creditable examination recently for the bar, and is a young man of considerable ability who will make his make even among the multiplicity of lawyers at the Queen City. We wish the firm success.

The Estimates.

In the Dominion eftimates for the current year there appear an appropriation of $15,000 for dam at Bobcaygeon, $4,508 for a landing pier at Lakefield and repairs to the road at Buckhorn and $8,500 for clearing out the channel between Lakefield and Balsam Lake, $88,000 for construction of locks and and improvement of navigation between Lakefield and Balsam Lake, and chargeable to revenue $3,500 for repairs. These appropriations will all be spent along the Trent Valley Navigation Works. There also appears an item of $17,000 to complete the Government buildings at Peterborough.

Personal.

The Whitby Chronicle says:—"The Rev. Jno. Shaw preached the missionary sermons in the tabernacle here on Sunday. Having been twice stationed here before his appointment to the book-room, Toronto, and having been a great favorite, large congregations turned out to hear him both morning and evening. There is nothing of the prompous manner about Mr. Shaw, as may frequently be noticed in many other clergymen, and his forcible, well prepared sermons were given in simple language fully in keeping whith his mild, pleasant manner. Mr. Shaw is a power in the Methodist church." Dr. Shaw, who is the father of Dr. Shaw, of Keene, was stationed in Peterborough for three years.

KIDD and his prices are both low, but the quality of his boots is the very best.

Silently Flew Away.

Police Officer Richard Pidgeon, who has been on the Peterborough police force for the last six years, has taken French leave and has silently flown away. He was last on duty on Saturday and has not been seen since. Thinking that perhaps Pidgeon was ill, Acting-Chief Adams went up to his house, on London-st., this morning, and found that it had been stripped from cellar to garret. It turns out that the wife and family left on Wednesday night, but Pidgeon waited until Saturday when he received his pay for February and then followed them. It is understood that he was pretty heavily in debt. His landlord, Mr. Geo. Schneider, mourns the loss of about five months rent and sundry tradesmen are considerably behind. Pidgeon came here about ten years ago from Port Hope. He was a cooper by trade and as may be imagined his sudden departure was a genuine surprise to every person in town.

THE GLORIOUS GOSPEL.

MISSIONARY SERMONS AT THE MARK-ST. CHURCH, ASHBURNHAM.

The Rev. D. F. Gee, of Millbrook, Preaches Two Powerful and Eloquent Sermons on Missionary Topics.

The annual missionary sermons in connection with the Mark-st. Methodist Church, Ashburnham, were preached on Sunday, by the Rev. D. F. Gee, of Millbrook.

At 11 o'clock a. m., after the usual exercises, the rev. gentleman preached to a rather small congregation. He chose for his text a part of the 11th verse of 1st chapter of First Timothy, "The glorious Gospel of the blessed God." In opening he said that the Apostle Paul stands first among all the shining lights and he was a closer imitator of the Lord Jesus Christ than any man that ever lived. Prior to his conversion from the Jewish faith to Christianity, Paul was one of the greatest of sinners, but from the time that Christ met him on his way to Damascus, he was the right hand man of Christ and his able assistant in works of good. Paul felt that Christ had done so much for him in forgiving his sins, that in return he could not do too much to proclaim the blessed Gospel of Christ that all might be saved. Paul was lifted from the lowest depths and commissioned to preach the glorious Gospel to all mankind. He considered that the text he had chosen was without a parallel in the Bible for richness. What is the nature of the Gospel? There is but one answer, it is glad tidings, good news to all, eyes to the blind, ears to the deaf, food to the hungry, health to the sick and life to the dead. After man had sinned in the Garden of Eden, the sun of righteousness was eclipsed, a dark cloud hovered over the firmament, there was no ray of hope and a dense and heavy cloud of despair rested over humanity. Suddenly the scene was changed. The Gospel dispelled the clouds and all was bright once more. The Gospel is glorious on account of the great price paid for it. In earthly matters we value things for what they cost. Gold and diamonds are highly valued because they are dear, but the berries that grow along the highway are but little thought of because they are cheap. If we enter into the spirit of the apostles and value the liberties and privileges we enjoy, we find they are a rich legacy. Look what the Gospel has cost us! Run your minds eye back over the ages since the Gospel was given to us by Christ. Note the thousand who have been persecuted and slain, who willingly gave up their life's blood to purchase the Gospel for us. Note the implements of torture used, the helpless women and children torn by wild beasts, the fires of Smithfield, those holy men of God, the Apostles, laying down their lives and last of all the crucifiction of our Saviour. Truly the cost was great and the glorious Gospel cannot be valued too high. The Christian religion is adapted to meet the wants of all mankind. The surface of the country differs widely. There are mountains, forests, prairies and deserts, but below the surface all are the same, primeval rock. It is the same with humanity. The red man, the black man and the white man differ only in the colors of their skin. Different habits and climates produce different colors and tastes, but at heart all are the same. There is a universal longing for peace, for pardon, for reconciliation with our Maker and a desire for Heaven and all these can only be had through the glorious Gospel. Certain plants will only grow in certain zones. Buddhism won't grow in England or Brahminism in America, but the great gospel plant will grow and thrive in every zone. People differ in their tastes. Some don't like certain kinds of food, but all like bread and all like the gospel and what it inspires. It will inspire hope and meet the wants of all humanity. It is the only thing that will prove a perfect remedy for the vilest of sinners. He had very little faith in the professed conversion of old sinners. After a man had sinned for many years and suddenly became converted he felt rather dubious as to the genuiness of the conversion. If an old sinner is really converted he regarded it as a miracle of faith. However there is salvation for all, if they will only repent, believe in the Word of God and accept the offers of His Grace. It is impossible to measure the extent of God's love. It has no beginning, no end. It provides a panacea for the worst of humanity, does the blessed gospel. It brings the possibility of a much richer and nobler life than any other religion ever introduced into the world. No people, tribe or individual will rise higher in morality, Christian character and intelligence than the God they worship. Some Gods are nothing but heathen devils and the people who worship them are of the same character, drunken, unclean, licentious, the same as their ideal God. Man everywhere aims at being like the God he worships and the only way to change a savage or a heathen is to change his God. This gospel of our God is boundless in good, power, loving kindness and patience and if we do not live up to it we do not sufficiently love our God. We must be patient and benevolent and exhibit in our lives our appreciation of the virtues of Christ. If we admire Christ's character we must be Christ like and the spirit you manifest before the world shows your appreciation of God's religion. What is your estimate of the Gospel? Paul referred to it as the glorious Gospel and proved it by his conversion and after life, offering even to die for his God and his religion. If you call it the same, are your characters Christlike? Do you fashion your life and your spirit after Him? The greatest hero of the present age is not the warrior or the athlete, but is the man who embraces the Gospel of Christ, which is health to the body, intelligence to the intellect and life to the soul. The universal reception of the gospel would be the greatest good, and its universal rejection, the greatest evil that possibly could happen in the world. A Christless life is a devilish life. A death death without Christ is a terrible thing. When Voltaire, the great infidel, was on his deathbed, his physician and nurse had to leave the room and shut the door. His moans and agonized expressions were so terrible that they could not stand it. What a death, without a ray of light, how dark and how far away from hope, from God, from heaven. There was a time that he did not see as much in the Bible as he does now. He learns something new every day by studying Christ's character and His Bible. All must study God's character and word to find out its richness. The more you study it the more blessedness you will find in it, and he asked all to study it until they could with Paul call it the glorious Gospel.

The services ended with the benediction.

At the evening services the Rev. Mr. Gee, preached another eloquent sermon to a large audience.

In the afternoon the missionary services were conducted at Bethel by Mr. Gee, and Salem by the Rev. I. Tovell, Chairman of District.

Their First Feed.

The Cricket Club dinner committee met Saturday evening and completed arrangements for the first annual dinner at the Oriental hotel, on Friday evening, March 23rd. The members of the committee will use every effort to make this occasion one of the most brilliant in the annals of the Cricket Club.

FROM THE CHOIR.

A Writing Desk and Chair Presented to Father Conway.

The choir of St. Peter's Cathedral presented the Rev. Father Conway with a handsome writing desk and chair previous to his departure for Norwood. The presentation took place on Friday evening in the vestry of the cathedral Mr. James Coughlin read the following address:—

To the Rev. P. Conway:

REVEREND AND DEAR SIR,—We assure you the present occasion is one of sadness to the members of the choir of St. Peter's Cathedral. The sorrow is caused by our reason for calling on you for such a purpose as we now have. It is a source of instruction also in showing us the unscrutable ways of our Divine Master in His disposition of all things, and to give us an idea that everything earthly is only momentary.

We had fondly hoped that your presence amongst us would continue until our Heavenly Father called you to Himself at the finish of your labors on earth to a brighter sphere above, where we all hope to meet you and unite our voices in chanting His praises forever.

We experience unbounded joy at your recovery from the last dangerous illness that prostrated you, and our anxiety and solicitude was deep and sincere for your ultimate and complete restoration to health, and we thank Almighty God for granting the prayers that were offered to Him in your behalf.

On the eve of your departure from Peterborough we ask your acceptance of this writing desk and chair as a memento of the kindly feeling amongst us, and hope that you may be spared for many years to enjoy their use.

Jas. Coughlin	Miss Tangney
Wm. Ball	Miss M. Mahoney
Geo. Ball	Miss Allie Delaney
W. J. Morrow	Miss K. Mahoney
A. Lemay	Miss L. Mahoney
Mrs. McIntyre	Miss Wier
Miss A. Delaney	Miss J. McIlmoyle
Miss McFadden	Miss M. McIlmoyle
Miss Begley	Miss Mulcahy
Miss Hurley.

Father Conway made a feeling reply to the address and commended the choir for their zeal in the services.

Street Lights.

It costs considerable money to light the streets of the town of Peterborough. We have sixteen electric lights at $75 per year, each, a total of $1,200. In addition we have three lights that the company do not receive any pay for. There are ninety-six gas lamps at $20 each per year, a total of $1,920. So it will be seen that the total expenditure reaches the large sum of $3,120.

Suddenly Called Away.

At an early hour this morning the news flew around the town with great rapidity that an old and highly respected citizen, Mr. John A. Hartley, had died suddenly during the night. The news proved too true and Mr. Hartley has passed away from our midst. It appears that on Sunday evening he was in his usual health, but on account of the cold he did not attend church. He retired about his usual hour apparently all right. During the night he complained of a pain in his breast and at last he asked Mrs. Hartley to procure him a mustard plaster. She started to obey and when she returned she found her husband at the point of death. As soon as possible medical aid was summoned, but too late as the soul had flown. Mr. Hartley was born in Ireland about 62 years ago and came to Peterborough in 1843, the same year that Messrs. Jas. Stevenson, M. P., and Thos. Bradburn settled here. The deceased entered the employment of the late Mr. O. Morrow, father of Mr. R. A. Morrow, and remained with him for some time. He afterwards conducted a dry goods business on his own account for quite a number of years, giving it up to enter in the insurance business and the issuing of marriage licenses which he carried on up to the day of his death. Mr. Hartley was known throughout the whole town and county and the news of his death will be learned with deep regret by all. He was of a quiet, retiring disposition, and always kept on the best of terms with everybody. He was a strong Reformer and a consistent Methodist. He leaves a widow, a daughter of the late J. T. Henthorn, J. P., and a family of four children, two sons and two daughters, all of whom are grown up, one of the latter being the wife of Mr. V. R. Russel, C. E., of Quebec. His family have the sympathy of all in their sad and sudden bereavement.

Brevities.

—Mr. E. E. Henderson got in a handsome new safe this morning.

—Rev. Father Conway took charge of the new Parish of Norwood on Sunday.

—Messrs. Crossley and Hunter, the celebrated evangelists, reached Belleville on Saturday.

Mr. Joseph McClelland, of Toronto, a former resident of Peterborough, was in town on Sunday.

—Mr. Wm. Croft will act as a judge at the Cobourg races on Tuesday and Wednesday. That means a square deal.

—The Police Magistrate found the not unusual thing at the court this morning, a blank docket.

—The sleighing is extra good and the farmers are taking advantage of it to fill their wood contracts.

—Mr. J. Stevenson, M. P. arrived home from Ottawa on Saturday morning. He will go down again this evening.

—A large steamer, one of the largest on the lakes, was launceed at Buffalo on Friday. It was christened "Chemong."

—The Young Men's Liberal Conservative Club meet at their rooms over Stethem's store, to-morrow evening.

—Nipped ears and noses were not uncommon on Saturday and Sunday on account of the sudden cold snap.

—The local dealers in scrap iron are enjoying a huge laugh, at the expense of the gentlemen who were sold the other day.

—The Rev. Mr. Wilson, of the Mark-st. Methodist Church, Ashburnham, occupied the pulpit of the Millbrook church on Sunday.

—Kinston pays the Rathburn Co. $11.5 for lumber, $2.25 per running foot for cedar blocks, for sidewalk and paving purposes.

—"Royal Jim" and "Sleepy Dan" have left for Cobourg. They should each get a piece of the purses hung up there for competition.

—11 degrees below zero is pretty cold for March, but the thermometer at the residence of the Rev. Mr. Clementi registered that figure on Sunday night.

—A tramp answering to the rather bibulous name of John Collins, occupied quarters at the Police Station on Saturday and Sunday nights. He claimed to hail from Burleigh.

—At St. John's Episcopal Church, on Sunday evening, a quartette composed of Mrs. Seward, Miss C. Errett and Messrs. J. Morris and C. S. Shaw, gave able assistance in the musical part of the services.

Possible Solution of a Difficult Problem.

To the Editor of the Review.

SIR,—At a recent meeting of the Board of School Trustees the want of sufficient class room accommodation was discussed.

I understand that it is customary for the teachers or janitor to lock the several entrance doors a few minutes after the time appointed for the opening of the school. Do I see in the action of the school authorities a probable solution of the want of accommodation problem? A sudden explosion in the chemistry room, the alarm of fire, general panic and a reduction of scholars, of say 35 per cent. by fire and the balance disabled, if not permanently, at least, for a term, consequently no additional expenditure necessary. Now, Mr. Editor, I do not mean to insinuate that this plan has been deliberately adopted by the school authorities as the most simple solution of their present difficulty, but I certainly think that as example is better than precept those entrusted with the education of the rising generation should scrupulously obey the laws of the land, and I am informed that to lock a school room door during school hours is in contravention of the statute relating to public buildings.

Yours, etc.,
EDUCATIONALIST.

Battalion Orders.

The following Battalion Order was issued on March 1st:—

No. 1.—All acting non-commissioned officers, or men desiring to qualify for such appointments, will require to pass an examination before an examining board appointed by the commanding officer, on the following subjects, 75 per cent. of correct answers being required to qualify for Sergeant, and 60 per cent. for Corporal.:

Drill.

1.—Acting as drill instructor for a squad or company, either in close or extended movements.
2.—Manual and firing exercises, piling arms, bayonet exercise and manual for Sergeants.
3.—A thorough knowledge of the names and uses of the different parts of a rifle and lock, also bayonet.
4.—Aiming and position drill.
5.—Guard mounting, marching reliefs, posting sentries, and challenging, &c.
6.—Method of inspecting arms.

Interior Economy.

1.—The various non-commissioned officers of a regiment, their rank, precedence and duties.
2.—Duties of non-commissioned officers and men on guards, piequets, escorts and sentry, including honors and salutes.
3.—Duties of Regimental Orderly Sergeant and Corporal.
4.—Duties of Company Orderly Sergeant and Corporal.
5.—Mode of forming and dismissing parades.
6.—Dress and equipment of non-commissioned officers and men, and how worn.

As the examination will be partly written, all must be able to read and write, and be acquainted with at least the first four rules of arithmetic.

By order.

Insurance Catechism.

Why should I insure my life?

Many men insure their property but neglect to insure their lives. The property insured may never burn, but death is sure to occur. To a family a man's life is its property. It represents food, shelter, clothing, education for the children, and all the necessaries and comforts of life. A small investment in life insurance makes it possible for every man to leave his family above want. This certain provision cannot be obtained in any other institution. No man who is physically able to obtain the indemnity which life insurance gives is free from reproach if he neglects the important duty.

With whom should I insure?

ANSWER—With E. E. HENDERSON, General Agent, Peterborough.

Why?—Because you will be insured in a thoroughly reliable, safe and honorable Company, at lowest rates.

☞OFFICE—Over Tully's Drug store, George-st.

Want of Sleep

Is sending thousands annually to the insane asylums; and the doctors say this trouble is alarmingly on the increase. The usual remedies, while they may give temporary relief, are likely to do more harm than good. What is needed is an Alterative and Blood-purifier. Ayer's Sarsaparilla is incomparably the best. It corrects those disturbances in the circulation which cause sleeplessness, gives increased vitality, and restores the nervous system to a healthful condition.

Rev. T. G. A. Coté, agent of the Mass. Home Missionary Society, writes that his stomach was out of order, his sleep very often disturbed, and some impurity of the blood manifest; but that a perfect cure was obtained by the use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla.

Frederick W. Pratt, 424 Washington street, Boston, writes: "My daughter was prostrated with nervous debility. Ayer's Sarsaparilla restored her to health."

William F. Bowker, Erie, Pa., was cured of nervousness and sleeplessness by taking Ayer's Sarsaparilla for about two months, during which time his weight increased over twenty pounds.

LIVE CAPITAL TOPICS.

A Miscellaneous Batch of Transpiring Events at Ottawa—Dead Head Members.

OTTAWA, March 3.—The Council was in session until nearly 6 o'clock this evening, and had an almost all-day wrestle with such topics as the Manitoba Situation, the Fisheries Treaty and the Consolidated Railway Bill. The coming conference with Mr. Greenway and his Attorney-General of course is looked forward to with much interest. Those who are supposed to be on the inside down here are wondering why Sir John negotiated for the conference through Mr. Watson instead of Mr. Scarth. Mr. Watson is a Liberal while Mr. Scarth is a Conservative. It is said that Mr. Scarth is sore over this incident. The Manitoba members, or some of them at least, think that their province will get all it asks for. Well, if it does, they would not stop until they had cleared out the entire contents of the Dominion strong box.

The rumor that Adam Brown of Hamilton may some day ere long be taken into the Cabinet is one that has not by any means died out. It is a well-known fact that one of the Western Ministers has been desirous of "dropping out" for a considerable time now, and should he go in the near future Mr. Brown ought to make a worthy successor. If the Government ever concedes the necessity for establishing a department of trade and commerce, what better choice could be made than that of Mr. Brown?

Mr. Denison of Toronto thinks, as many others with him do, that the Government ought to own all the telegraph lines in the country and his motion for a select committee to enquire into such a proposal comes up on Monday with what success remains to be seen. It is not probable that the Government will concede such a committee this session. If Mr. Denison or any other man wants to take up a real live subject, one that the masses and business men would concur in, he might agitate for a two-cent postal rate. In the United States they are even talking of reducing the rate from two cents to one cent.

The command of the Wimbledon team rests, it is said, between Col. Frank Bond of Montreal and Col. O'Brien, M.P., Muskoka.

The annual meeting of the Press Gallery of the House of Commons was held this afternoon, when these officers were elected:

President—Molyneux St. John, editor of The Montreal Herald.

Vice-President—James Johnston, editor of The Ottawa Citizen.

Secretary—Fred Cook, resident correspondent at Ottawa of The Empire.

Executive Committee—J. A. Ewan, Ottawa correspondent of The Mail; A. F. Pirie, Montreal Star; H. M. Mathewson, Toronto Mail; J. I. Tarte, La Canadien, Quebec; A. B. Wood, Winnipeg Call; C. H. Cahan, Halifax Herald.

It was decided to hold the annual dinner in a couple of weeks and to have a composition photograph of the gallery taken. There are 25 active pressmen in the lower gallery this year and some 15 correspondents attached to weekly papers are here. This is the largest number ever seen at Ottawa.

The Speaker and the Minister of Public Works are to be asked for additional press accommodation, which is badly needed. The Senate is providing the reporters with decent accommodation this session, something it never did before.

Hon. W. W. Sullivan, Premier of Prince Edward Island, is in the city.

Mr. Thomas Raphael, who double-tracked the Grand Trunk Railway from Toronto to York, thinks he is the only man who can carry Russell for the Conservatives. But Mr. "Charley" Mackintosh does nos think so, and there may be some lively sparring between these two youngsters for the nomination. From another source a little bird whispers that Mr. Edward (Lib.) can clean out either of them.

MONA SCULLY;

—OR—

The Bride of an Englishman.

A STORY OF THESE TIMES.

"Oh, no! you don't look like that," says Mona, with a heavenly smile. "You do not seem like a man that could not be 'trusted.'"

He is delighted with her ready response, her gayety, her sweetness, her freshness; was there ever so fair a face? Every one in the room by this time is asking who is the duke's partner, and Lady Chetwoode is beset with queries. All the women, except a very few, are consumed with jealousy; all the men are devoured with envy of the duke. Beyond all doubt the pretty Irish bride is the rage of the hour.

"Malcolm, who was that lovely creature you were talking to just now?" asks his mother, as Lauderdale draws near her.

"That? Oh, that was the bride, Mrs. Rodney," replies he. "She is lovely, if you like."

"Oh, indeed!" says the duchess, with some faint surprise. Then she turns to Lady Rodney, who is near her, and who is looking cold and supercilious. "I congratulate you," she says, warmly. "What a face that child has! How charming! How full of feeling! You are fortunate in securing so fair a daughter."

"Thank you," says Lady Rodney, coldly, letting her lids fall over her eyes.

"I am sorry I have missed her so often," says the duchess. "But you will introduce me to her soon, I hope."

Just at this moment Mona comes up to them, smiling and happy.

"Ah! here she is," says the duchess, looking at the girl's bright face with much interest, and turning graciously towards Mona. And then nothing remains but for Lady Rodney to get through the introduction as calmly as she can, though it is sorely against her will, and the duchess, taking her hand, says something very pretty to her, while the duke looks on with ill-disguised admiration in his face.

"You must give me another dance, Mrs. Rodney, before your card is quite full," says the duke, smiling. "If, indeed, I am in time."

"Yes, quite in time," says Mona. Then she pauses, looking at him so earnestly that he is compelled to return her gaze. "You shall have another dance," she says, in her clear voice, that is perfectly distinct to every one; "but you must not call me Mrs. Rodney. I am only Mrs. Geoffrey."

A dead silence follows. Lady Rodney raises her head, scenting mischief in the air.

"No?" says Lauderdale, laughing. "But why, then? There is no other Mrs. Rodney, is there?"

"No. But there will be when Captain Rodney marries. And Lady Rodney says I have no claim to the name at all. I am only Mrs. Geoffrey."

She says it all quite simply, with a smile. There is not a touch of malice in her soft eyes or on her parted lips.

The duchess, with a grave expression, looks at Lady Rodney. Can her old friend have proved herself unkind to this pretty stranger? Can she have already shown symptoms of that tyrannical temper which, according to the duchess, is Lady Rodney's chief bane? She says nothing, however, but moving her fan with a beckoning gesture, draws her skirts aside, and motions to Mona to seat herself beside her.

CHAPTER XXI.

For some time they talk together, and then the duchess, fearing lest she may be keeping Mrs. Geoffrey from the common amusement of a ball-room, says, gently,—

"You are not dancing much?"

"No," says Mona, shaking her head. "Not—not to-night. I shall soon."

"But why not to-night?" asks her Grace.

"Because"—with a quick blush—"I am not accustomed to dancing much. Indeed, I only learned to-day, and I might not be able to dance with every one."

"But you were not afraid to dance with Lauderdale, my son?" says the duchess, looking at her.

"I should never be afraid of him," returns Mona. "He has kind eyes. He is"—slowly and meditatively—"very like you."

The duchess laughs.

"He may be, of course," she says. "But I don't like to see a gay child like you sitting still. You should dance everything for the night."

"Well, as I say, I shall soon," returns Mona, brightening, "because Geoffrey has promised to teach me."

"If I were 'Geoffrey,' I think I should not," says the duchess, meaningly.

"No?" raising an innocent face. "Too much trouble, you think, perhaps. But, bless you, Geoffrey wouldn't mind that, so long as he was giving me pleasure." At which answer the duchess is very properly ashamed of both herself and her speech.

"I should think very few people would deem it a trouble to serve you," she says, graciously. "And perhaps, after all, you don't much care about dancing."

"Yes, I do," says Mona, truthfully.—"Just now, at least. Perhaps"—sadly—"when I am your age I shan't."

This is a bêtise of the first water. And Lady Rodney, who can hear—and is listening to—every word, almost groans aloud.

The duchess, on the contrary, gives way to mirth, and, leaning back in her chair, laughs very softly, but with evident enjoyment. Mona contemplates her curiously, pensively.

"What have I said?" she asks, half plaintively. "You laugh, yet I did not mean to be funny. Tell me what I said."

"It was only a little touch of nature," explains her Grace. "On that congratulate yourself. Nature is at a discount these days. And I—I love nature. It is so rare; a veritable philosopher's stone. You only told me what my glass tells me every day,—that I am not so young as I once was,—that, in fact, when sitting next pretty children like you, I am quite old."

"Did I say all that?" asks Mrs. Geoffrey, with wide eyes. "Indeed, I think you mistake. Old people have wrinkles, and they do not talk as you do. And when one is sweet to look at, one is never old."

To pay a compliment perfectly one must, I think, have at least a few drops of Irish blood in one's veins. The little suspicion of blarney trips softly and naturally from Mona's tongue. The duchess is charmed, pleased beyond measure. That faint touch about the wrinkles was the happiest of the happy. Only that morning her Grace, in spite of her unapproachable maid and unlimited care, had seen an additional line around her mouth that had warned her of youth's decline, and now to meet some one oblivious of this line is sweet to her.

In Brief and to the Point.

Dyspepsia is dreadful. Disordered liver s misery. Indigestion is a foe to good nature.

The human digestive apparatus is one of the most complicated and wonderful things in existance. It is easily put out of order.

Greasy food, tough food, sloppy food, bad cookery, mental worry, late hours, irregular habits, and many other things which ought not to be, have made the American people a nation of dyspeptics.

But Green's August Flower has done a wonderful work in reforming this sad business and making the American people so healthy that they can enjoy their meals and be happy.

Remember:—No happiness without health. But Green's August Flower brings health and happiness to the dyspeptic. Ask your druggist for a bottle. Seventy-five cents

Business Dull on the London Exchange.

LONDON, March 4.—Business on the Stock Exchange during the week was inactive, everything dropping. Foreign securities were heavily sold, especially Russians on German account. American railroads experienced a sharp fall. Sales were pressed by operators for a rise who were tired of waiting for an improvement in New York. Buying sometimes slightly checked the decline, but the responding decline in New York toward the close of the week added to the fall.

Parnellite Dissensions.

DUBLIN, March 4.—The Express affirms that there are internal dissensions in the Parnellite ranks which will produce a rupture that will shake the foundations of the National League. American inspiration, it says, is causing a number of leaguers to join the Gaelic Association which opposes Mr. Parnell's policy.

A Growing Conviction.

LONDON, March 4.—Mr. Gladstone to-day, in returning thanks to 250 clergymen of the Church of England for a memorial drawn up by them in favor of Home Rule, said he believed it would have the effect of greatly widening the growing conviction that neither honor nor advantage can possibly be gained by a continued refusal to accede to the moderate and constitutionally expressed demands of the Irish people.

An Echo From the Myrtle Affray.

WHITBY, March 4.—The hearing of the case of George Brown of Port Perry, charged with being one of the conspirators to assault Whisky Detectives Dennin and McRae, was up before Police Magistrate Harper here yesterday. But two witnesses appearing, the case was adjourned until March 9.

Sorel Railway Bondholders.

MONTREAL, March 3.—A. C. Pemberton, an English barrister, has arrived in this city as the agent of the English bondholders of the Montreal and Sorel Railway, who so far have never received a cent of interest on their investments. Pemberton has been instructed to take what steps he may consider necessary to protect the English interests.

Principal Grant's Proposed Tour.

KINGSTON, March 3.—Principal Grant starts about the close of this month on an extended tour for the benefit of his health, which has been greatly impaired by excessive work in connection with Queen's University. It is understood that the visit may include Australia and other antipodean countries.

A Child Drinks Carbolic Acid.

ST. THOMAS, March 3.—A 4-year-old son of Mr. Ralph Welsh Southwald yesterday took a drink from a bottle of carbolic acid, which had been left standing on the table, and died shortly afterward in terrible agonies.

Roumania's Cabinet Resigns.

BUCHAREST, March 4.—The members of the Roumanian Cabinet have tendered their resignation.

Some People Think

Because salerooms are handsome that selling prices must be high. They forget—or have never learned—that dingy quarters for the transaction of business are either evidence of a slow trade or of contempt for the public convenience, or of a fatal lack of enterprise. Such is not the case with us. We want our friends to call and look over our new and handsome store. We want them to notice the conveniences provided for their convenience, to facilitate business, to keep one waiting just as short a time as possible and to handle our trade with promptness.

But this is not all we wish our friends to notice. Success in any department of business is impossible if the prices are not right. Our business, as grocers, is to be successful because we have right prices You buy for value. You get good Goods. You receive honest weight and measure and prompt service.

Everything new, fresh and inviting.

Can we have a share of your trade?

THE PROTOCOLS RECEIVED

SIR CHARLES ANNOUNCES THEIR ARRIVAL AT OTTAWA.

They are Entirely Barren of Other Information than is Already Known to the Public.

OTTAWA, March 5.—When Sir Charles Tupper rose in his place this afternoon and told the House that he had received from Washington the protocols in connection with the fisheries treaty, but that he was disappointed with their contents, the statement fell like a pall on the chamber, members, reporters and the public included. The disappointing part of the Finance Minister's statement was that the protocols, the treaty itself and the modus vivendi had been placed in the hands of the public printer, but that the protocols themselves contained nothing but a mere record of the sittings of the plenipotentiaries and the result arrived at.

"This," said Sir Charles, "I very deeply regret, for under the circumstances I will be unable to acquaint the House with the nature of the proposals and counter-proposals of the plenipotentiaries with reference to further trade relations between the United States and Canada. I was also desirous of placing the exact wording of these proposals and counter-proposals before the House, especially in face of the resolution which Sir Richard Cartwright has placed on the paper, dealing with the trade relations between the two countries."

Sir Charles went on to explain that when he left Washington for Ottawa it had not been settled as to what the protocols should contain, whether they would include the exact wording of the proposals and the counter-proposals, the elaborate arguments on the same and the reports and memoranda prepared by the plenipotentiaries on the same.

"As far as I was concerned myself I was willing that they should all appear. The work of preparing the protocols was left to Mr. Byrne, the official secretary of the British plenipotentiaries, and to Mr. Moore, who occupied a similar position for the United States. As I understood it I thought the proposals and answers of both sides would be put in. After my return to Ottawa, and during my recent illness, a message was received from Mr. Chamberlain requesting my assent to the withholding of the proposals and the counter-proposals, and stating that they would be made public at a future day. I thought that this was merely formal and the Premier and the Minister of Justice, acting in my illness, telegraphed our willingness to agree to such a proposition, thinking that it was merely for the time being. When the protocols reached me on Saturday and I found that they contained no reference whatever to the trade overtures on both sides I telegraphed at once to Mr. Chamberlain at New York for his assent that they should appear. But my telegram was returned unopened, Mr. Chamberlain having sailed that day for England."

As Sir Charles proceeded with his explanations of the omission of this highly important information from the protocols the disappointment on all sides increased.

Sir Richard Cartwright was not in the chamber to share in the disappointment, he not having arrived from a Sunday visit to his home, and in the meantime Mr. Charlton was doing what he could on behalf of the absent Knight. Sir Richard arrived on the scene about 5.30, just as the House was adjourning.

Mr. Mulock said he understood that a gentleman at Washington had been entrusted with the work of framing the wording of the protocols and he did not think it would be any breach of confidence if Sir Charles placed the entire record on the table of the House.

Peter Mitchell said he thought that if the consent of Sir Lionel West, Mr. Bayard and our own plenipotentiary were obtained to the entire publication, that was sufficient. These gentlemen constitute a majority of the commission.

Sir Charles: "I entirely concur in that."

Mr. Mitchell: "I do not think, however, that, while it is very desirable that the House should be placed in possession of the contents of the trade proposals and counter-proposals, we should begin the debate in this House on the same until the United States Senate itself takes it up. The speeches made by Sir Charles Tupper might be used by the American papers against ourselves. I speak entirely in the interests of Canada."

Sir Charles Tupper: "I have no objection to placing all the documents, proposals, arguments, etc., in the hands of the leader of the Opposition, or Sir Richard Cartwright, in confidence."

Mr. Mitchell: "I object to this. If any member of the House sees them we should all get them."

Mr. Mills said he thought the only way that the full record of the treaty proceedings could be made public now was through the British Minister of Foreign Affairs.

A painful scene followed this announcement by the member for Bothwell. Poor old Alex. Mackenzie had fire in his feeble eye. He made a palsied and unsteady effort to rise to his feet. The old ex-leader's voice was not audible three feet away as he entered his solemn protest against the course proposed by Mr. Mills to have any reference to the British Minister of Foreign Affairs for consent to make any documents public that had been read or argued by the plenipotentiaries.

Mr. Mackenzie's feeble and trembling figure touched the House visibly, and when Sir Charles said he entirely agreed with him, the ex-Premier was loudly applauded from the Conservative benches.

There are no set of men in the House that have more respect and kindly feeling towards Mr. Mackenzie than the Ontario Conservatives.

The matter of the protocols now stands thus: They are entirely barren of other information than is already know to the public. The dates of meeting of the commissioners is given. The proceedings were in secret. The treaty itself and the modus vivendi have already been published.

Sir Charles, after adjournment, communicated with Sir Lionel West, the British Minister at Washington, and Mr. Bayard, Secretary of State, for their permission to make everything public. A cable message will also be in waiting for Mr. Chamberlain when he arrives in Washington.

The debate on Sir Richard's motion, if the protocols are not complete, on international trade relations will be rather flat. However, there is an impression around the lobbies this evening that from the earnest way in which Sir Charles made his regrets known to the House the complete deliberations of the plenipotentiaries at Washington will be laid before the House before the week is out. It is also certain that Mr. Laurier and Sir Richard Cartwright will get a peep at them.

Mr. Mulock, Col. O'Brien and Col. Tyrwhitt had a lively little flare-up with the Minister of Militia over the kit allowance of the York-Simcoe Battalion during the North-west unpleasantness. The rebellion has caused Mr. Mulock and the two colonels named any amount of trouble and anxiety, notwithstanding that the York Rangers acquitted themselves with credit on the battlefield of the illimitable prairies of the Northwest. Their bravery was handsomely attested by Gen. Laurie, the new member for Shelburne, N.S., who, in telling the House in round full voice how they had gone to the relief of Gen. Middleton in their bare feet, made his maiden speech, which was well received, especially by the military contingent of the chamber.

Mr. Mulock complained in general terms of the shabby treatment of the York-Simcoe men by the Minister of Militia in the matter of kit allowance. He said that the men had spent their own means to buy underclothes and boots which had never been repaid by the department.

Sir Adolphe's defence was that if there was any recouping to be done it would go to the county councils of York and Simcoe who had purchased the necessaries named for them, but the policy of the Government had been not to recoup where the municipalities had gone to this expense.

Col. O'Brien and Col. Tyrwhitt said there certainly was a balance coming to the men. The county councils had only supplied them in part with their kit allowances.

Several papers moved for by Mr. Mulock in connection with the correspondence in the matter were ordered to be brought down, but it is not likely from Sir Adolphe's attitude on the situation that the men of York and Simcoe who "fit in the rebellion" will ever get any more war pap from the Government.

Whisky and Methylated Spirits.

OTTAWA, March 5.—The Department of Inland Revenue is about to promulgate new regulations respecting the "aging" of whisky and the sale and regulation of methylated spirits for non-potable purposes. Messrs. Goodeham, W. H. Beatty and T. G. Blackstock of Toronto had an interview to-day with Sir Charles Tupper and Mr. Costigan regarding these changes.

The Inland Revenue Act of 1878 has been discovered to be faulty and "loopy" in several respects, and the department has been at work for some time making provisions for its correction. The two years clause, by which no distiller can sell whisky that is less than two years old, goes into effect next July, and by that time some 10,000,000 gallons of whisky, the duty on which will be $13,000,000, will have been "tanked" for the prescribed twenty-four months. Nearly half of this immense quantity of whisky will be "tanked" in the City of Toronto alone.

It is not known that it is proposed to alter this two years clause in any way except possibly as now applied to new distilleries. By the act distillers who have gone into business since its passage are allowed to sell for the first year one-third of their raw make, and for the second and third years are granted equally favorable privileges. This, the established distillers point out, will militate against them, as they will have to carry their stocks for two years, and, after paying interest and other charges, cannot sell as cheaply as the new competitors. Besides they said that wealthy distillers could evade this clause by running up cheap buildings in other names and sell off a third of the raw make at once, while they could retain the other two-thirds in their "aging" tanks. The Government are beginning to see the possibility of this.

Another thing that has come to light is that large quantities of methylated spirits ex-warehoused for non-potable purposes are sold for consumption in Canada. The duty on methylated spirits is but 15 cents per gallon, while on whisky it is $1.30. The methylated spirits are ostensibly ex-warehoused for non-potable purposes, but are in reality in many cases sold as potable commodities.

It is also believed that methylated spirits is freely mixed with whisky that has paid $1.30 duty and sold just as if it had come from the two-year-old ventilated tank.

It has come to the knowledge of the department that this practice is freely carried on, and it is proposed that the new regulations will make stringent provision for its detection and punishment.

The Toronto men want the regulations so strict that all spirits ex-warehoused for non-potable purposes shall be kept out of the market. For beverage purposes it is said that large quantities of methylated spirits are sold in Scott Act counties.

The big Toronto distillery is deeply interested in these matters, and its managers want to aid the department at all times in keeping the contraband and crooked articles out of the market.

A protest has been entered against the return of Mr. Baird for Queen's County, N.B.

Count von Brunnel, Belgian Consul-General at Quebec, had a conference with Sir Charles Tupper to-day with reference to the establishment of direct steamship communication between Belgium and Canada. The interview was of an informal character and no proposition was made, but it is understood that the Consul-General suggested that the Canadian Government should offer a reasonable subsidy for a fortnightly service in the summer and a monthly service in the winter between the two countries. He held out the hope that his Government would second the efforts of the Canadian Government by offering a subvention in keeping with the importance of the movement.

TRANSMITTED TO CONGRESS.

President Cleveland Hands Down the Remaining Documents and Protocols.

WASHINGTON, March 5.—The President has transmitted to Congress the remaining documents and protocols relating to the Fisheries Treaty, together with a letter from Secretary Bayard. In theory these were sent to both houses, but as is usual in such cases the enclosures (except the Secretary's letter) were sent only to the Senate. The President's message and the Secretary's letter have been laid before the House, but in the Senate the whole matter has encountered the executive session rules and is regarded as a secret. This deprives the House of the document which the President is supposed to have sent to it unless the Senate shall remove the injunction of secrecy.

In his letter Secretary Bayard says that the correspondence since November, 1886, is accompanied by the protocols of the conferences which preceded the conclusion of the treaty. The documents complete the history of the transactions which had as a result the conclusion of the treaty and it is highly important that it should be brought to the knowledge of the people of the United States as soon as possible.

POSTPONED UNTIL NEXT TERM.

The Case of Criminal Libel Against Judge Armstrong Put Off.

MONTREAL, March 5.—In the Court of Queen's Bench to-day application was made and granted to have Judge Armstrong's case for libel, at the instance of the Hochelaga Cotton mills, put off until next term on the ground that Judge Armstrong, being chairman of the Royal Labor Commission, would be kept busy for some time. He was admitted to personal bail of $200.

Though counsel for the defence in the Fahey-Naegele-Bureau case last week asked for delay until to-morrow before proceeding with the case it is understood they will not be ready till Wednesday. Much curiosity is shown on all sides as to whether Wilson will appear in court or not. He has not arrived here as yet.

C.U. in Congress.

WASHINGTON, March 5.—In the House of Representatives to-day Congressman Hitt (Ill.) introduced a joint resolution for the promotion of Commercial Union with Canada. It was referred to the Committee on Foreign Relations. It provides that when it shall be duly certified to the President that the Government of the Dominion of Canada has declared a desire to establish Commercial Union with the United States, having a uniform revenue system, like internal taxes to be collected and like import duties to be imposed on articles brought into either country from other nations and duties upon trade between the United States and Canada, he shall appoint three commissioners to meet those who may be likewise designated to represent the Government of Canada, to prepare a plan for the assimilation of the import duties and internal revenue taxes of the two countries and an equitable division of receipts in a Commercial Union, and said commissioners shall report to the President, who shall lay the report before Congress.

Fire Hall Burnt at Cobourg.

COBOURG, March 5.—At 6.30 yesterday morning flames burst from No. 2 Fire Hall in the East Ward. The building, a frame one, was totally destroyed. The apparatus belonging to the fire brigade was all removed without damage. The building was the property of the municipal corporation and was uninsured. Two young men of the town have been arrested on a charge of incendiarism. They will be brought before the Police Magistrate in the morning.

Suicide of a Chicago Girl.

CHICAGO, March 5.—Emma Lang committed suicide Saturday by taking "Rough on Rats." The girl would have been 16 years old next week, and was large for her age. The night before her mother whipped her, and this so worked on her feelings that she concluded she would rather die than endure what she considered so great a disgrace.

Robbed a Pullman Conductor.

MANDAN, Dak., March 5.—About midnight at New Buffalo Pullman Conductor Towne, on the Northern Pacific express, was attacked in the drawing-room of his car by two masked men, who sandbagged him and robbed him of $98 and the contents of his pocketbook. The robbers escaped.

John James Piatt, the Buckeye poet, has returned to his post at Queenstown, Ireland, where he is United States consul.

GERMANY'S CROWN PRINCE

DR. WALDEYER'S FINAL REPORT SENT TO THE EMPEROR.

The Statement Confirmed That Prince William's Visit to San Remo Was to Urge the Invalid to Return to Berlin—Prince William's Councillors.

BERLIN, March 5.—Dr. Waldeyer has forwarded a longer and probably final report of the Crown Prince's case to the Emperor. It confirms the semi-official reports made on Saturday last.

To-night's papers confirm the statement made last Saturday that the main reason for Prince William's visit to San Remo is to urge the Crown Prince to return to Berlin. It is announced that Prince William took an autograph letter from the Emperor, expressing the wish that the Crown Prince return to Berlin as soon as possible. It is expected that he will meet the Emperor's desire and return at the end of March. Great preparations have been commenced at the palace for the reception of the Crown Prince's family.

Two Councillors are to be attached to Prince William's suite, whose duties will be to report to him on State affairs. Prof. Gneist has been named as one of the Councillors. An eminent General will also be appointed to be in special attendance upon the Prince and advise him on military matters.

The Ministerial order empowering Prince William to sign royal decrees and ordinances, should the occasion arise, dates from Dec. 1. The Crown Prince has assented to this arrangement.

TORONTO TOPICS.

On Dec. 25 last a young man named Edward Sheeren was convicted before Magistrate Denison of having stolen several axes from sheds in the city, and was sent to the Central Prison for three months. Yesterday morning he was taken with a gang of short-term convicts to unload wood from a car on the track on the south side of the prison grounds, and while engaged in this work he succeeded in eluding his guards and escaped. It is supposed that he jumped on a passenger train going out of the city, and as he was dressed in a convict suit he will have some trouble in keeping out of the clutches of the police. Warden Massie thinks the young man acted very foolishly, as he had but twenty days to serve.

Mr. M. C. Ellis, of P. W. Ellis & Co., has just returned from New York. He says the feeling there with reference to the Fishery Award is that of disgust, as it is conceded on all sides that Canada has had by far the best of it. They feel that the Canadian and English representatives have scored some valuable points.

Mr. W. G. Murdoch, lawyer for the life convict John Gamble, says he has not lost sight of his man. He will let matters rest for a month, about which time there would be some very startling developments. "There is no doubt," he remarked "that Lizzie Bray came to her death from the effect of an attempted abortion, but it can be proved beyond the shadow of a doubt that Gamble had neither act nor part in it. Look out for something sensational shortly."

While en route for Kingston, in passing through Bowmanville, the train was boarded by about fifty of Gamble's friends, who shook him by the hand and promised that they would see him through his trouble.

Railroad men say that never before has freight business been so dull. It is especially in through freight from the West that the slackness is felt, and is attributed mainly to the strike of the Brotherhood of Engineers on the other side of the line.

The traffic receipts of the Canadian Pacific Railway, not including earnings of the Southeastern, for the week ending Feb. 9, were:

BACKING DOWN.

Some of the Opposition journals that assailed the fisheries treaty and the commissioners are hedging on the question. None of them was louder than the Mail in declaring that Canada had been sacrificed, and its heaviest articles were devoted, for a day or two, in trying to persuade its readers that the United States has scored a diplomatic triumph. But a change has come over the spirit of its articles. In Monday's issue it says, speaking of Mr. Chamberlain's speech at the New York banquet:—

"Mr. Chamberlain has won the confidence of intelligent Americans by his wise and sagacious management of the mission entrusted to him, and his speech will no doubt carry weight. In this country the general opinion is that the treaty is, on the whole, a reasonably good settlement of a difficult case."

Whatever may be the reason for the Mail's change of front in regard to the treaty—whether it was that it saw a blunder was being made by misrepresenting the agreement, or that Mr. Wiman's opinion was unto it as a law—it, in the extract given, speaks more rationally. The treaty may not be a "glorious victory" for anyone, only in so far as a satisfactory settlement of a vexed question can be called a victory for diplomacy, but it is an honorable arrangement that retains for Canada her rights which were assailed and settles a difficulty that was causing not a little trouble. That is, providing it is ratified.

The varying reports cabled to this country regarding the condition of the Crown Prince of Germany reveal, at any rate, that there is considerable anxiety regarding, not only his health, but also as to whether he will live. The telegram which the Crown Princess sent to her mother on Saturday, "God be thanked, there is again room for hope," is not very reassuring. It only reveals a glimmer of hope in the mind of the Princess. Though fun has been made of the mass of words cabled regarding the Prince, Canadians feel and interest in the life of the heir to the throne of the German Empire, especially because he is a son-in-law of our Queen.

A Lindsay correspondent of the Millbrook Reporter, to whom we had occasion to refer before, is still of the opinion that there would not be water enough to feed the Trent Valley Canal. Let him have patience. That question will be decided, and he can well wait. His statement that the Government has "concluded not to proceed with the canal" does not add weight to his other opinions, as instead of coming to that conclusion the Government have appointed a commission to investigate the subject and collect information.

Mr. Baird is again to be dragged through the courts. The Liberals of Queen's are a plucky breed and deserve the thanks of the country.—Toronto Globe.

Again? When did he go through the courts before? The Liberals of Queen's may be plucky, but at a time when they declared Mr. Baird had no right to the seat their courage was not sufficient to cause them to have the case tried.

HASTINGS.

A Fork Tine in his Leg.—On the 3rd of last December, says the Star, Mr. M. Elmhirst fell from the mow of his barn, the calf of his left leg striking the tines of an upturned hay fork, which inflicted a nasty wound. One of the prongs of the fork had been previously broken, and in the fall some 5½ inches of the other prong were broken off, but by which the wound was inflicted could not then be determined as the limb was very much swollen. As the swelling went down, the wound healed, but a stiffness in the limb remained, which rendered walking both difficult and painful. During the fore part of last week an occasional pricking was felt, but which was attributed to a pin fastening the bandage, which yet encased the limb. On Thursday he called on Dr. Coughlin, who, after probing below the now healed wound detected a [illegible] substance. An incession was made, and the tine of the fork, 3½ inches in length, extracted

Advice to Mothers.

Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup should always be used when children are cutting teeth It relieves the little suffer at once; it produces natural, quiet sleep by relieving the child from pain, and the little cherub awakes as bright as a button." It is very pleasant to taste. It soothes the child, softens the gums, allays all pain, relieves wind, regulates the bowels, and is the best known remedy for diarrhœa whether rising from teething or otherwise, 25 cents a bottle. Be sure and ask for "Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup," and take no other kind.

Correspondence of the Review.

Weather Notes.—In looking back on February, which is generally considered our hardest month, we find it one of the mildest for some years. True, Quebec and some of Ontario was visited by a cold dip on the evening of the 9th and morning of the 10th, although with me at both times it only fell to 18 degrees below zero, but I believe at a number of points in both Provinces it fell as low as 40 degrees. Only on 6 mornings and 4 evenings did it fall below zero, but on several occasions both night and morning, it rose to and above the freezing point, the mildest being on the evening of the 20th, when it reached 37 degrees; and some times during the day it went as high as 40 degrees, leaving the mean temperature of the month at 19 degrees. Snow fell on 13 days, but only to the depth of 11¼ inches, which is very light for February and far below the average. Rain fell on 4 days to the depth of 34-100 of an inch, being also very light. On the 9th, immediately preceding the cold snap, two of the prettiest sun dogs, or as some call them weather gowe, accompanied the sun, and anyone who pays some attention to such things was delighted to behold them in Heaven's high arch. The crow, the first of our migratory birds, made its appearance here on Friday, the 2nd. They are mostly the first harbinger of spring which visits our fields and forests after their southern flight. The following are the different points from which the wind was blowing at sunrise during the month, namely:—South-east, 8 days; south, 5 days; north-west, 7 days; east, 3 days; west, 2 days, and south-west, 4 days.

COBOURG.

Sent Up.—The young lad, named Bert Stephens, referred to in our last issue, as being arrested for causing the death of a sheep belonging to a farmer in the eastern part of the county, was tried before Judge Benson on Monday and sentenced to three years in the reformatory.

Injured Himself.—On Thursday several of the boys at the Model School engaged in a game of football, and a young lad named Franklin Tinney in jumping over the fence after the ball fell and injured himself severely. He had to be conveyed to his home.—Sentinel-Star.

Boy—Cause dinner's been ready half an hour an pa aint got home yit. Hasty departure of agent. Appearance of husband follows, carrying armful of splendid table linens, table napkins, and boy coming in with load of towellings, all bought at the golden lion. Husband explains fair sells so cheap couldn't resist buying. Happiness and smiles all around.

The Missing Cop.

The excitement regarding the rather sudden flight of Police Officer Pidgeon, will doubtless occasion a nine day's wonder, but the carnival on the 9th day of March, Friday next, will be remembered for a far long er period. The programme for the children in the afternoon and the grown up people in the evening is a great one. The prizes are the best ever offered here and taken altogether something out of the usual run may be anticipated. The date is Friday next, March 9th.

Trent Valley Canal.

The following discussion took place in the House of Commons on Monday:—

"Mr. Barron moved for a return of correspondence between the Government and the commissioners appointed to take evidence and acquire information relative to the Trent Valley Canal and the further progress thereof. He said a great deal of interest attached to the matter and an impression had been awakened in the public mind that confidence was not to be reposed in the Government to carry on the work.

"Sir Hector Langevin said there could be no objection to the motion.

"Mr. Mulock maintained that it was the duty of the Government to make its intention particularly clear to the country. Railways controlled the district to be served by the canal and the work should go on."

Worth Trying.

Here is a receipt worth $5. For making leather shoes and boots waterproof:—Take an old rubber, gum coat or shoes, cut in small pieces for greater convenience in handling, soak it and get of all the cloth and wash clean. Then dry it thoroughly. Now put it in some melted lard or tallow (but lard is best) and put on the stove or fire. Do not have it over a very quick heat as it catches fire easily. Stir constantly till dissolved. Now rub it well into the shoes or boots and they will be made waterproof until it wears off, when it can be renewed. It gives a polish to the leather like rubber, and, instead of the shoes being red and foxy looking, after going in the snow, they will be black and shining. This is an oft-tried receipt and known to be good.

Curlians.

On Monday afternoon a flour game was played between the Strickland rink, of Lakefield, and Mr. W. G. Ferguson's rink, with the result that the foreigners will hand over to the Protestant Home, one more sack of flour. The following was the score:—

TOWN.	VILLAGE.
A. Hall	J. P. Strickland
C. McGill	W. D. Strickland
R. S. Davidson	Geo. Cochrane
W.G.Ferguson, s'k.22	R. C. Strickland, s'k.11

Peterborough wins by 11 shots.

On Tuesday evening an oyster match was played between two local rinks with the following result:

BRADBURN.	RUTHERFORD.
E. Brown	W. Croft
W. H. Cluxton	J. D. Baptie
Geo. Brown	R. S. Davidson
T. E. Bradburn, s'k 6.	T. Rutherford, s'k 21

Two strong rinks from the Peterborough club went up to Lindsay this morning under skips Ferguson and Ray.

The point game for the club cup will be played on Thursday evening.

Bandmen, Attention.

Bandmaster Miller requests the attendance of all the members of the band at the band hall this evening. Important business.

Y. W. C. T. U.

The anniversary of the Y. will be held on March 19th in the W. C. T. U. hall. Mrs. Chisholm, Prov. Lec. of the W. C. T. U., will be one of the attractions.

California Fruits.

Another arrival of fine evaporated California Peaches, Apricots, Plums and a full assortment of California fruits in tins at Elliot & Tierney's.

The Firemen.

The members of the Fire Brigade will hold their regular monthly meeting in their rooms, at 8 o'clock this evening, when it is expected there will be a full turn out.

Enlarging.

Mr. J. J. Sheehy is bound to keep pace with his competitors, and just now he is enlarging his premises and as soon as the alterations are completed he will have one of the finest shops in the town.

For Cobourg.

"Sleepy Dan," "Royal Jim" and a large contingent of local sports are at Cobourg to witness the horse races which take place to-day and to-morrow. Some big sport is anticipated.

On Duty.

The new Police Officer Joseph Stewart entered on duty last night. He is a stout, steady looking specimen of humanity and he gives promise of making the lawless portion of our community mind their p's and q's.

Personal.

Mrs. J. Dame, who has been in charge of Mr. J. Alexander's mantle and dress-making department for the past three seasons, has accepted a lucrative position as mantle cutter in the establishment of Messrs. S. Thorne & Co., Hamilton. She will leave this week.

This Evening.

The regular monthly meeting of the Young Men's Liberal Conservative Club will be held at their rooms, over the store of Mr. Stethem, George-st., at 8 o'clock this evening. Mr. Geo. Hilliard will deliver an interesting address on the Trent Valley Canal.

Want Better Light.

Two gas lamps are supposed to burn all night, we refer to those at George and Simcoe and George and Hunter-sts. At present the lower lamp is all right, but the upper one will have to show much more light before it will be worth the $20 that the town pays for it.

Grand Orange Lodge.

The Grand Orange Lodge of Ontario East meets at Port Hope this afternoon. The noon train on the Grand Trunk carried down a large number of delegates from Peterborough, among whom were Messrs. J. B. McWilliams, W. A. Stratton, W. R. King, Alex. Hamilton, John Newell, Jas. Wainwright, John Agnew, R. Waram, R. Weir, John Smith, Geo. W. Hall, J. G. Weir, R. Moore and Simon Weir.

In Toronto.

A gentleman who went up to Toronto on the 5 o'clock C.P.R. train on Sunday morning, informs us that among the passengers he noticed ex-police officer Pidgeon, his wife and family. Another gentleman who returned home last night states that he met Pidgeon in Toronto on Monday morning and that he said he was on his way to Buffalo, where he intended to work at his trade of coopering.

A Clever Printer.

At the third annual banquet of the Winnipeg Typographical Union, Mr. David Jamieson, an old REVIEW employee, responded to the toast of "The International Union," and according to the Call "Mr. Jamieson made a clever speech setting forth in an able manner the principles of the union and the good work it had performed." Dave is one of the best printers that Peterborough ever turned out and he has made a mark and a name for himself in the Prairie Province.

KIDD and his prices are both low, but the quality of his boots is the very best.

We Gather Them In.

Already the increased fee charged the Ashburnham pupils who attend the Collegiate Institute, is making a stir in the village. We are told on good authority that two families have moved to town in consequence of it and that more are likely to follow suit in a short time. We understand also that, at least, one family has moved to Norwood, where the tuition is free, presumably on account of the grant made the village High School by the County.

He Was Lucky.

A resident of Water street last evening captured some stolen money and that with out the aid of the police. During the absence of himself and wife the sum of $37 was stolen from his residence. He had good reason to suspect that a certain individual had taken the money and he started at once for the C. P. R. station. Here he found his man and after some considerable persuasion and many threats of calling on the police, etc., he managad to recover $36 the balance having gone to purchase a railway ticket. The loser was well satisfied and said nothing.

At St. Luke's.

On Monday evening a sacred concert, entitled "An evening with Mendelssohn," was held in St. Luke's school room, Ashburnham. The attendance was very fair and the programme was a good one and was thoroughly enjoyed by the audience. The Rev. Mr. Bradshaw, the rector, read an essay on the life of Mendelssohn, which was illustrated by selections from the great composer's oratorio "Elijah," and also by songs from his "Lobgesang" or Hymn of Praise. The following kindly assisted:—Miss E. Strickland, Miss Cameron, Messrs. Tierney, Parker and Jacques. St. Luke's choir also sang an anthem, "But the Lord is Mindful of His Own." The selections were all of a religious character and Prof. Jacques with his accustomed ability presided at the piano and organ.

CHARGED WITH FRAUD.

A Young Man said to have Forged H. W. Watson's Name.

On Monday afternoon a young man walked into the store of Messrs. Gough Bros. and asked to be shown a suit of clothes. He was easily satisfied and after donning a coat and vest he said that he would walk up street and get the money to pay for the clothes, naming Mr. H. W. Watson as the person who would furnish the money and in proof of his statement he produced an order reading as follows:—

MESSRS. GOUGH,

Please give the bearer whatever goods he may require and charge the same to

W. H. WATSON.

Mr. Gough, who waited on him, was not exactly satisfied and refused to allow the clothes to leave the shop until the cash was forthcoming. It failed to come and the goods remained in stock, and when Mr. Watson was seen he had no hesitation in pronouncing the order produced, an unblushing forgery.

Previous to this, as was afterwards learned, the same individual had gone into the store of Mr. Jas. L. Bayeur, shoe merchant, and had procured a pair of shoes, by stating that he was working for Mr. Watson and stating, after leaving the shop, that he would return with the money in a few minutes, as it was going to him by Mr. Watson.

As soon as Mr. Watson heard of the matters he informed officer Adams and late in the evening a charge was laid against the young man, who is known as Wm. Kenney or Wm. Bogan. Shortly before the midnight bell tolled officers Adams, McGinty and Stewart took a walk up George-st. and near the corner of London-st. they halted. Officer McGinty was placed in the rear yard and the others sought the front door. Kenney was allarmed at the voice of officer Adams and sought safety in flight. He did not find it, however, as he landed in the wide open arms of officer McGinty and was soon placed in the cells.

At the police court this morning the prisoner was arraigned charged with obtaining a pair of shoes, valued at $2.10, with intent to defraud Thomas L. Bayeur.

The prisoner, who was undefended by counsel, pleaded not guilty. Mr. R. E. Wood, County Attorney, appeared for the prosecution.

Mr. Jas. R. Bryson was sworn. He was a clerk in Bayeur's store. He knew the prisoner by sight and he saw him on the 5th of March. He came into the shop and asked the price of a pair of boots in the window. He took out his pocket book after putting the shoes on and said that as he had no money he would have to step up to Hackett's store and get the necessary funds from his employer, Mr. H. W. Watson. He promised to return in a few minutes, but did not do so. He parted with the boots because he believed that the prisoner was working for Mr. Watson and would get the money. In the shop they did not give credit, but as the prisoner had purchased boots there before he had very little hesitation in allowing him to go out without paying for the goods. The prisoner has of the pair of shoes he got from him. He would not have allowed the prisoner to leave the shop with the boots, only on the understanding that he was to go up at once and get the money from Mr. Watson.

H. W. Watson, upon being sworn, said that he knew the prisoner, who was not in his employment on Monday last. He worked with him during the previous week, but he told him that there would not be any work on Monday, as the carpenters were busy. He paid him in full on Saturday night. None of his men were painting at Hackett's on Monday, a fact that the prisoner well knew.

The prisoner having elected for summary trial, the magistrate reserved judgment until Wednesday morning.

MORE OF IT.

Another case of fraud was called, but as the defendant did not appear, it was enlarged.

No Meeting.

Councillors Craig and Wand, Constable Craig, Clerk Wood, Treasurer Peck and a male and female ratepayer, in addition to the reporters, were the only persons present at the Ashburnham Council chamber, on Monday evening, at the regular hour of meeting and of course no business was transacted. It was understood, however, that the Treasurer was to pay a couple of charity accounts and that a female indigent was to have her board paid by the corporation, until the Council held a meeting.

They Slide.

The toboggan slide made by the amateurs of Ashburnham is a good one, but has one fault. There are too many stumps in the way and unless a man is well accustomed to the slide or a dexterous steerer he is likely to come to grief. Last night the hill was fairly crowded and the bright lights kept burning by the boys illuminated that section of the village.

Going East.

Mr. J. W. Garvey, of Arnprior, who has been here for some weeks under the able care of Dr. Kincaid, is about to leave for the east, having fully recovered his usual health and strength. The genial Garvey is one of the most popular young men the town ever saw and all well be glad to hear of his recovery.

A Reply.

To the Editor of the Review.

SIR,—The able mathematician who has discerned the School Board's motive in locking the doors in spite of and in the very face of the law might easily have seen that the explosion he fears carries with it its remedy. An explosion would blow the side of the building out, and the children would be able to walk out with ridiculous ease. Some people are over captious in their cleverness, but I hope "Educationalist" will now stand "corrected." KIBOSH.

Correction.

To the Editor of the Review.

DEAR SIR,—In your issue of the 2nd inst., in reporting the proceedings of the Farmers' Institute, you made me to say that it was within my recollection that the first tree cut in Canada for commercial purposes was out west of Kingston. This was not correct, what I did say was that it was within my recollection that the first tree for commercial purposes was cut west of Kingston. Doubtless a statement coming from me to the effect that it was within my recollection that the first tree for commercial purposes was cut in Canada would seem a very remarkable one. Please make the correction and oblige,

Yours respectfully,
GEO. HILLIARD.

Commercial Union.

To the Editor of the Review.

SIR,—On my return from Toronto I read with interest Mr. Carnegie's letter in reference to my paper on commercial union. I was pleased with its tone, and the manner in which he discussed the question. Indeed, I would have been disappointed in Mr. Carnegie if it had been otherwise. But, I don't think that any good would come out of a lengthened correspondence between us, even if your could spare the space. My paper is before the public and I will leave it there. I don't think that I should be blamed for what I did NOT say. It was not expected that I would read a treatise on political economy at the farmers' meeting.

A word or two in reference to the criticisms of the REVIEW.

It is to be regretted that political exegencies should require such arguments as are used by the opponents of commercial union on this vital question. Arguments to be convincing must bear the stamp of truth and not the appearance of truth.

You say "his (Mr. Cluxton's) illustration of the sales and purchases of a horse was not pertinent and what Canadian would be foolish enough to pay $120 in the States for a horse and pay the duty, when he could get the same animal for $100 at his own door. The illustration was useless."

In my paper I said, "if you follow these transactions, the illustrations will show that on both sides of the line the shipper—the producer—paid the duty. And this rule works in the same way with every article which the Canadian farmer produces and sends to the United States with the exception perhaps of wheat and cheese." It was simply an illustration to show that the exporter paid the duty. No one out of bedlam would buy and sell a horse as illustrated. You say I proceeded on the assumption "that the exporter, when a Canadian, paid the duty; and the importer when a Canadian had to pay it." I never said anything of the kind.

In your article on the Hon. Mr. Carling's speech you say he stated "the market "prices showed that the farmers of "Canada would not not gain, but lose, by "commercial union, as the prices of these "articles were higher in Toronto and "Montreal than they were in Buffalo and "Detroit." I have not seen Mr. Carling's speech, but I cannot think he was correctly reported, nor do I believe he uttered such ridiculous absurdities—statements so contrary to facts. And you say "Mr. Carling was right." Taking Hon. Mr. Carling's alleged statements, which you endorse, you proceed and say, "The aggregate foreign trade of Canada in 1887 was $200,000,000, and of this only $82,000,000 was with the United States." How does this statement agree with Mr. Carling's speech at Bell's Corners? If Mr. Carling was right the United States bought from Canada products of which they had too much of their own, and bought in a market where the prices were higher than they were in the United States. Does not this kind of reasoning appears to you to be weak in the extreme? Canada has perfectly free trade with England for every article we export to that country, while between Canada and the United States there is a heavy customs tariff for every thing except eggs. This egg trade is an unsavory commodity with the opponents of commercial union and is hard to swallow. If the customs barricade between Canada and the States was removed how would your figures of $82,000,000 foreign trade appear at the end of the first year of unrestricted reciprocity? But you will proably say this would be "disloyal to the Mother Country." Disloyal humbug! What every one is after in business is dollars and cents and not sentiment. You say "much of the shipments to the United States went to markets outside of it, as that country refunds nearly the whole of the duty when articles are exported." This is not a correct statement, but if it were the case it would be so much the better for the prices in Canada.

I am afraid you are not a very good authority on wheats. I do not say this disparagingly, as wheat is not in your line. The wheat at 96 cents in Toronto is Manitoba "hard" spring, the best wheat in the world for making "strong" baker's flour. It absorbs more water than any other flour and produces a greater number of loaves to the barrel; and the wheat you quote at 75¾ in Chicago is the great speculative standard No. 2. Chicago spring, which is tossed up and down every day by "bulls" and "bears," often without regard to outside markets. This grade is sold on change in Chicago, delivered in the elevators, and is subject to storage. For instance if quoted at 76 cents on 30th April the price the next day would be 80 cents as the winter storage of 4 cents per bushel ends on that date.

The prices of wheat in Canada and in the United States are about the same because, as I said in my paper, the supply exceeds the demand, and the price is governed by the foreign markets.

Yours truly,
W. CLUXTON.

J. J. Gets There.

Mr. J. J. Turner, our somewhat celebrated tent and awning man, is now smacking his lips. His harvest is about to commence and as good goods tell everywhere he is bound to do a larger business than ever before. Already he has quite a large number of orders on hand to place new awnings in front of some of the best business houses in the district and he has started the ball rolling by placing in position the mammoth awnings in front of the premises of Messrs. Hall, Innes & Co.

The Stone.

A dozen teams are now drawing stone from the Dummer quarries for use in the piers and abutements of the new iron bridge at the locks.

REVIEWS.

THE CANADIAN METHODIST MAGAZINE.—The March number opens with a charming illustrated article by Marie E. Bancroft, "Above the Cloud-line." It describes one of the most picturesque regions of the Engadine in Switzerland. The second article describes and copiously illustrates the unfamiliar scenery and cities of Cuba, including Havana and the old cathedral in which lie the remains of Christopher Columbus. The illustrated articles on "Picturesque Ireland," which have attracted much attention, are continued—the engravings illustrating Cashel, Kilkenny, Blarney Castle, the Wild West Coast, etc. The Rev. Hugh Johnston, B. D., begins a series of articles on the Life of Dr. Punshon, which will awaken much interest. He criticizes frankly the portraiture given by Mr. Macdonald of the distinguished orator. The heroic career of Lord Lawrence in India is described with much vigor by the Rev. Alex. Langford, himself a son of a British officer, and therefore in hearty sympathy with his subject. The Editor contributes a review of Recent Canadial Poetry, in disproof of those who say that we have no native literature. An appropriate tribute is paid to the memory of the late Dr. Wood, of whom a portrait is given. A pathetic Negro dialect story, "Uncle Mingo," and a chapter of special interests of "The Lost Silver of Briefault," complete a capital number.

Want of Sleep

Is sending thousands annually to the insane asylum; and the doctors say this trouble is alarmingly on the increase. The usual remedies, while they may give temporary relief, are likely to do more harm than good. What is needed is an Alterative and Blood-purifier. Ayer's Sarsaparilla is incomparably the best. It corrects those disturbances in the circulation which cause sleeplessness, gives increased vitality, and restores the nervous system to a healthful condition.

Rev. T. G. A. Coté, agent of the Mass. Home Missionary Society, writes that his stomach was out of order, his sleep very often disturbed, and some impurity of the blood manifest; but that a perfect cure was obtained by the use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla.

Frederick W. Pratt, 424 Washington street, Boston, writes: "My daughter was prostrated with nervous debility. Ayer's Sarsaparilla restored her to health."

William F. Bowker, Erie, Pa., was cured of nervousness and sleeplessness by taking Ayer's Sarsaparilla for about two months, during which time his weight increased over twenty pounds.

THE YOUNG MAN POWER.

MR. MOWAT INTRODUCES HIS MANHOOD SUFFRAGE BILL.

A Big Stock of Bills Dealt With—A Day of Routine—The Waters on the Bridges—Sad News From Mr. Gibson of Huron.

TORONTO, March 6.

The one important feature of the business done at the Legislature yesterday was the introduction of the Manhood Suffrage Bill by the Attorney-General. When it was introduced and read a first time there was lusty applause from the Government side of the House. Leaving this event out, yesterday's session was one of the dullest on record. Only forty-six members out of the total ninety-two were in their seats, and there was a corresponding thinness of attendance in the galleries. Several questions by members were down on the order paper but none were put. The House sat at 3.10 and adjourned at 4.20.

Mr. Balfour moved for an order of the House for a return containing the minutes of the Senate of Toronto University from July 4 last to the end of the academic year 1887-8. Motion agreed to.

Mr. Snider moved for an order of the House for a return showing separately the amount of fire insurance at risk on Dec. 31 for each of the years from 1881 to 1887, both inclusive; the number of policies in force on Dec. 31 in each year of which there is a correct record; the total amount of losses paid each year, and the total amount of expenses during each year; the percentage of losses and expenses; the cost of expense on every $1000 at risk in purely mutual, mixed mutual, and cash and stock companies, doing business under Ontario charters. Motion agreed to on a slight amendment in the wording.

Mr. Bishop's bill to amend the act restricting insurance companies came up for second reading. Its principal provision was the establishing a live stock branch in mutual insurance companies. Mr. Bishop strenuously advocated the passage of the bill.

Hon. A. M. Rose gave instances of how this arrangement had signally failed. He had no objection to the passage of the bill if it would provide for the establishing of a live stock mutual insurance company. He had no objection to its going to the Municipal Committee on the understanding that this amendment be made.

Hon. Mr. Hardy—No, no; the Municipal Committee have enough to attend to.

The Attorney-General thought it should go to the Municipal Committee.

It went to the Municipal Committee.

Mr. Waters descanted on his bill to amend the Municipal Act for about three-quarters of an hour. The bill defines clearly the duties of county councils in regard to the maintenance of bridges.

The bill also went to the Municipal Committee.

The Attorney-General introduced his Manhood Suffrage Bill just previous to adjournment. He stood and said: "Mr. Speaker, I beg leave to introduce a bill to give manhood suffrage for the Ontario Legislative Assembly. I move the first reading." [Applause from the Government side.]

Around the Lobbies.

Mr. French has a bill before the House to deal with the seed grain frauds which have been carried on throughout Ontario with such impunity these last two years. His bill will make it illegal for any traveling agent to charge more than three times the market value of grain for any seed they may want to dispose of. Farmers can go to any regular warehouse and pay $15 or $20 a bushel if they like, but no traveling agent can make such a charge.

Hon. Mr. Hardy brought down a return showing the opinion of the Grand Trunk employes in Ontario as to the Grand Trunk insurance scheme. The answers show that the employes think the scheme is a good one but they don't believe in being compelled to go into it. Comparatively few insure elsewhere. An interesting point in the return is that it shows the total number of men employed by the Grand Trunk in Ontario. There are 103 conductors, 181 engineers, 184 brakesmen, 151 firemen, 776 sectionmen and trackmen, 598 mechanics, 80 station agents, 886 office, station and yard men, and 30 whose employment is not given. The total number is 2,979.

MONA SCULLY;

—OR—

The Bride of an Englishman.

A STORY OF THESE TIMES.

"Then you didn't go out much in Ireland?" she says, thinking it more graceful to change the conversation at this point.

"Out? Oh, ever so much," says Mrs. Geoffrey.

"Ah!" says the duchess, feeling puzzled. "Then perhaps they don't dance in Ireland?"

"Yes, they do indeed; a great deal; at least I have heard so."

"Then I suppose when there you were too young to go out?" pursues the poor duchess, striving for information.

"I wasn't," says Mona; "I went out a great deal. All day long I was in the open air. That is what made my hands so brown last autumn."

"Were they brown?"

"As berries," says Mona, genially.

"At least, they are a pretty shape," says the duchess, glancing at the slim little hands lying gloved in their owner's lap. "But I don't think you quite understand the 'going out' in the light that I did. I mean, did you go much into society?"

"There wasn't much society to go into," says Mona, "and I was only fifteen when staying with Aunt Anastasia. She," confidentially, "made rather a grand match for us, you know." (Lady Rodney grinds her teeth, and tells herself she is on the point of fainting.) "She married the Provost of Trinity College; but I don't think he did her any good. She is the oddest old thing! Even to think of her now makes me laugh. You should have seen her," says Mrs. Geoffrey, leaning back in her chair, and giving way to her usual merry laugh, that rings like a peal of silvery bells, "with her wig that had little curls all over it, and her big poke-bonnet like a coal-scuttle!"

"Well, I really wish I had seen her," says the good-humored duchess, smiling in sympathy, and beginning to feel herself more capable of thorough enjoyment than she has been for years. "Was she witty, as all Irish people are said to be?"

"Oh, dear, no," says Mona, with an emphatic shake of her lovely head. "She hadn't the least little bit of wit in her composition. She was as solemn as an Eng——I mean a Spaniard (they are all solemn, are they not?), and never made a joke in all her life, but she was irresistibly comic all the same."

"Is there much beauty in Ireland?" asks her Grace, presently.

"Yes, but we are all so different from the English. We have no pretty fair hair in Ireland, or at least very little of it."

"Do you admire our hair? And we are all so heartily tired of it," says the duchess. "Well, tell me more about your own land. Are the women all like you? In style, I mean. I have seen a few, of course, but not enough to describe a whole."

"Like me? Oh, no," says Mrs. Geoffrey. "Some of them are really beautiful, like pictures. When I was staying with Aunt Anastasia—the Provost's wife, you remember—I saw a great many pretty people. I saw a great many students, too," says Mona, brightening, "and liked them very much. They liked me, too."

"How strange!" says the duchess, with an amused smile. "Are you quite sure of that?"

"Oh, quite. They used to take me all over the college, and sometimes to the bands in the squares. They were very good to me."

"They would be, of course," says the duchess.

"But they were troublesome, very troublesome," says Mrs. Geoffrey, with a retrospective sigh, leaning back in her chair and folding her hands together on her lap. "You can't imagine what a worry they were at times,—always ringing the college bell at the wrong hours, and getting tight."

"Getting what?" asks the duchess, somewhat taken aback.

"Tight—screwed—tipsy, you know," replies Mona, innocently. "Tight was the word they taught me. I think they believed it sounded more respectable than the others. And the Divinity boys were the worst. Shall I tell you about them?"

"Do," says the duchess.

"Well, three of them used to come to see Aunt Anastasia; at least they said it was auntie, but they never spoke to her if they could help it, and were always so glad when she went to sleep after dinner."

"I think your Aunt Anastasia was very good to them," says the duchess.

"But after a bit they grew very tiresome. When I tell you they all three proposed to me every day for a week, you will understand me. Yet even that we could have borne, though it was very expensive, because they used to go about stealing my gloves and my ribbons, but when they took to punching each other's heads about me auntie said I had better go to Uncle Brian for awhile; so I went; and there I met Geoffrey," with a brilliant smile.

"I think Geoffrey owes those Divinity boys more than he can ever pay," says the duchess, very prettily. "You must come and see me soon, child. I am an old woman, and seldom stir from home, except when I am positively ordered out by Malcolm, as I was to-night. Come next Thursday. There are some charming trifles at the old Court that may amuse you, though I may fail to do so."

"I shan't want any trifles to amuse me, if you will talk to me," says Mona.

"Well, come early. And now go and dance with Mr. Darling. He has been looking at me very angrily for the last three minutes. By the bye," putting up her glasses, "is that little girl in the lemon-colored gown his sister?"

"Yes; that is Sir Nicholas's Doatie Darling," returns Mona, with a light laugh. And then Nolly leads her away, and, feeling more confidence with him, she is once again dancing as gayly as the best."

"Your foot is plainly 'on your native heath,'" says Nolly; "though your name may not be 'McGregor.' What on earth were you saying to that old woman for the last four hours?"

"It was only twenty minutes," says Mona.

"Twenty minutes! By Jove! she must be more interesting than we thought," says Mr. Darling, "if you can put it at that time. I thought she was going to eat you, she looked so pleased with you. And no wonder, too!" with a loud and a hearty sigh.

"She was very nice to me," says Mona, "and is, I think, a very pleasant old lady. She asked me to go and see her next Thursday."

"Bless my stars!" says Nolly, "you have been going it. That is the day on which she will receive no one but her chief pets. The duchess, when she comes down here, reverses the order of things. The rest have an 'at home' day. She has a 'not at home' day."

In Brief and to the Point.

Dyspepsia is dreadful. Disordered liver a misery. Indigestion is a foe to good nature.

The human digestive apparatus is one of the most complicated and wonderful things in existance. It is easily put out of order.

Greasy food, tough food, sloppy food, bad cookery, mental worry, late hours, irregular habits, and many other things which ought not to be, have made the American people a nation of dyspeptics.

But Green's August Flower has done a wonderful work in reforming this sad business and making the American people so healthy that they can enjoy their meals and be happy.

Remember:—No happiness without health. But Green's August Flower brings health and happiness to the dyspeptic. Ask your druggist for a bottle. Seventy-five cents

Some People Think

Because salerooms are handsome that selling prices must be high. They forget—or have never learned—that dingy quarters for the transaction of business are either evidence of a slow trade or of contempt for the public convenience, or of a fatal lack of enterprise. Such is not the case with us. We want our friends to call and look over our new and handsome store. We want them to notice the conveniences provided for their convenience, to facilitate business, to keep one waiting just as short a time as possible and to handle our trade with promptness.

But this is not all we wish our friends to notice. Success in any department of business is impossible if the prices are not right. Our business, as grocers, is to be successful because we have right prices You buy for value. You get good Goods. You receive honest weight and measure and prompt service.

MR. ROSS ON THE FLOOR.

THE TREASURER SPEAKS TWO HOURS AND FORTY MINUTES.

The Debate on the Quebec Resolutions Resumed—A Lot of Talk About Loyalty—Mr. Meacham Quotes From Pat Purcell—Committees Winding Up Their Work.

TORONTO, March 6.—A general opposition among benevolent societies to the passage of the proposed bill relating to friendly societies is evidenced by the presentation daily, from both sides of the House, of petitions against that measure. No effort has been made to press the bill to a second reading, and it is probable that no such effort will be made this session. Mayor E. F. Clarke was on hand early this afternoon, and laid on the table a number of petitions from labor organizations and from the corporation of Toronto in favor of various matters requiring legislation. The galleries were crowded, the attraction being the expected continuation of the debate on the inter-provincial resolutions. The Committee on Private Bills has finished its work, and this afternoon presented its final report.

Mr. Whitney rose to continue the debate on the inter-provincial resolutions. Mr. Whitney is a recent acquisition to the debating talent of the House, having taken his seat but two weeks ago after successfully leading a campaign against Dr. Chamberlain, who sat for Dundas last session. It is rare that a member who has sat for so short a time attempts to take part in the discussion of important questions, consequently some curiosity was felt as to the manner in which he would acquit himself. His friends have no reason to feel anything but gratified at the showing he made, his forty minutes' speech giving evidence not only of considerable ability as a speaker, but of an intelligent grasp of the questions he was endeavoring to discuss. The points he touched on were: disallowance, the constitution of the Senate, the proposal to make the franchise for Dominion and Provincial elections alike, and the financial resolutions, following to a large extent the line adopted by Mr. Meredith, and quoting in support of his arguments the opinions of leading members of the Reform party and supporters of the Government. He asked where the increased subsidies were to come from if the latest announcement of a policy by the Reform party ever succeeds, and the abominable tariff is swept away, and the revenue falls in consequence. He contended that concurrence should not be asked for in these resolutions until the people of the province had an opportunity to pronounce on them, and concluded by replying to many of the arguments advanced by the Minister of Education.

Hon. A. M. Ross opened with a criticism on the speech of the leader of the Opposition. He complimented Mr. Craig on the logic, temperance and argument which characterized his speech. It was, he thought, superior, though less frothy, than that of the leader. He described the "loyalty farce," putting down Mr. Meredith as the chief performer. Replying to Mr. Whitney he stated that Conservatives were invited to the conference as well as Reformers. Sir John Macdonald and all of the Conservative Premiers were asked. He refused to countenance the accusation that the representatives of Ontario "struck hands with traitors" in discussing differences and trying to reconcile Nova Scotia and keep it within Confederation. Why, the Conservatives would not discuss them at all! and if the measures they advocated were proved to be inadequate they held that Nova Scotia should be at liberty to withdraw from the Confederation. The kid-gloved loyalty men should remember the time when present leaders in their party signed a manifesto in favor of annexation.

If the tax levied by the Dominion Government increased as it had during the past ten years it would then be $105,000,000 a year, the expenditure would be $122,000,000 yearly, and the public debt would be $670,000,000. The hon. gentleman's arguments were so ludicrous that he (Mr. Clarke) would laugh at them himself.

He glanced over the history of the provincial subsidy question, and the unequal way in which the different provinces were treated. From this he argued that some definite way should be adopted by which all of the provinces should receive equitable, fair treatment.

"Mr. Speaker," he said, "this capricious way of granting assistance to provinces merely because they are in financial difficulty, and according to pressure they can bring to bear on the central Government, is pernicious in principle, improvident in effect, and decidedly unjust to Ontario. [Loud Ministerial applause]. He answered Mr. Clarke's statement that Ontario was paying two-thirds the revenue of the Dominion by saying that this condition of affairs was before Confederation, and was entirely changed now.

Mr. Meredith claimed that Ontario was paying two-thirds now.

He believed that, while they should keep a strict watch on the interests of the Province, they should be loyal to Canada as a whole. He criticised the financial aspect of the scheme under discussion, claiming that Ontario was not being dealt fairly with. Though Ontario contributed half of the revenue, as the hon. gentleman opposite admitted, Ontario would get, not half of the subsidies, but only $165,000 instead of $402,000. The Opposition were charged with opposing an increase of the Ontario subsidy, thus placing Ontario in a better position. Not so; the Opposition contended that with every increase the other provinces would be sure to share in it, and Ontario producing half of the revenue, would have to pay the increases. [Opposition applause.] He dissected the per capita scheme of distributing the subsidies, giving figures greatly to the disadvantage of Ontario. All of the other provinces would gain benefits at the expense of Ontario. When Ontario reached the limit of population when the subsidy would drop to 60 cents per head, Quebec and the others would have an advantage of 20 cents a head.

The hon. treasurer in a budget speech a few years ago conceded the contention of the Opposition that every increase in subsidies would pinch on Ontario, and this being the case the hon. treasurer said at that time they did not press for an increase of subsidy. And yet they, at the Quebec conference, agreed to the very thing objected to at the time the speech was made. He concluded that the Government were hard pressed for funds when they made such a sacrifice and were unjustly taking municipal moneys. By prodigal administration the hon. gentlemen opposite were obliged to lay the foundations for a provincial debt. The Opposition did not defend the present financial arrangements with the Dominion Government, but the present arrangements were infinitely preferable, with all their evils, to those proposed by the hon. gentlemen opposite. Even though Ontario were to be tied down to lose enormously every year, under the provisions of these resolutions what was to prevent the Dominion Government from making further special grants for railways and other schemes to the different provinces? The scheme proposed did note ffect any cure whatever. [Opposition applause.]

If these resolutions were passed it would be by party loyalty, not loyalty to the Province or Dominion, and their passage would be to the shame and degradation of Ontario. [Applause.]

Mr. Meacham proved to the satisfaction of the Opposition that Mr. Mowat's "Redistribution Bill" was a gerrymander. The majority of those who sat in the Quebec Conference were Rielists and Secessionists. The subjects of discussion at the conference were similar to those agitated in state legislatures of the United States previous to the great war. Nothing was heard about that now. They should beware that the present discussion did not also drift into such a terrible result. He was in favor of giving the provinces the fullest and freest measure of legislative authority, but they should not forget that they were Canadians. The fact that they were one in seeking the best interests of Canada at large could not be too often emphasized. The veto power, as it was now vested, he held was proper in his opinion. In regard to the Senate he questioned whether the scheme set forth by the resolutions would improve its constitution in any way.

He would prove conclusively that the hon. gentlemen opposite should not object to the Dominion Franchise Act in point of expense. In Lennox the Reform party gained 80 votes by the revision of the lists. This revision cost $1200, or $15 a vote. Now if it cost only $15 a vote (and the Government paid for it) why should they object to the act when it cost Mr. Pat Purcell $18 a vote? [Opposition applause and laughter.] He suggested a mutual agreement between the Legislatures and Dominion Government as to what the franchise should be. He discussed the financial aspect of the resolutions much on the same line as the member for West Kent.

At the close the House broke out into frolicsome merriment. When Mr. Smith got up to move an adjournment the O, positionists shouted a negative. The noise did not subside till Mr. Smith put on his little round hat and sat down. The Speaker was then allowed to put the motion, and the members went their way to their domiciles through the bleak March night.

The Private Bills Committee presented its final report yesterday. Several bills were recommended.

The Municipal Committee reported Mr. Dack's and Mr. Balfour's bills to amend the Municipal Act, and Mr. Waters' Ditches and Water Courses Bill. The latter bill was opposed in committee by Messrs. Barker, of the Northern Railway, and Kingsmill, representing the Michigan Central. They thought if culverts were to be built under the railway tracks the municipalities should pay for them, not the railway companies.

The Fire Escapes Committee considered the re-drafted bill relative to the subject referred to the committee, and reported it.

Orange Grand Lodge of Ontario East.

PORT HOPE, March 6.—The twenty-ninth annual session of the Grand Orange Lodge of Ontario East assembled in the Orange Hall at Port Hope to-day. There was a large attendance.

Grand Master Collins read his address, showing a much improved condition in Orangeism in the province. Grand Secretary Van Ingen presented a most satisfactory report, as did also Grand Secretary Gordon.

The Grand Lodge sent a telegram congratulating Bro. E. F. Clarke, M.P.P., on his election to the Chief Magistracy of Toronto.

Probably It Is.

WASHINGTON, March 6.—The Secretary of the Treasury to-day transmitted in response to a House resolution certain correspondence relating to the alleged refusal of Canadian authorities to allow American wrecking vessels to assist American vessels in distress in Canadian waters. In his letter of transmittal the Secretary says that it is understood that the practice in the two countries was to some extent similar.

The West Kent Election Case.

OTTAWA, March 6.—At a meeting of the Privileges and Elections Committee this morning it was decided to have the evidence in the West Kent controverted election case printed and laid before the committee, which will then proceed to consider whether or not further investigation is desirable.

Public Reception to Mr. Chamberlain.

LONDON, March 6.—At a meeting held in Birmingham last night, the mayor presiding, it was decided to give a public reception to Hon. Joseph Chamberlain on his return from America.

A COMFORTABLE MAJORITY

FIRST DIVISION OF THE SESSION IN THE DOMINION HOUSE.

The Government Sustained by a Vote of 109 to 57—The Afternoon at the Capital Given Up to Temperance Talk—Sir John Places Himself on Record.

OTTAWA, March 6.—When at 3.30 this afternoon Sir Charles Tupper moved the House into supply, Mr. Mills of Bothwell sent upan amendment which was in effect a vote of want of confidence in the Government. A 2½ hours' debate followed the reading of Mr. Mills' amendment, which was on the often-fought, often-failed and unfortunate Scott Act. The lively talk was wound up by the House dividing, the first of the session, the Government being sustained by a vote of 109 to 57. The vote was eminently a party one.

Simultaneously with the debate in the House, the Dominion Alliance was in session at the city buildings discussing this same Canada Temperance Act and its working throughout the Dominion. Practically the afternoon at the Capital was given up to temperance talk.

It does not seem particularly clear why the member for Bothwell moved his amendment at this early stage of the session, but it was, nevertheless, well understood that the Liberal party should vote solidly for it, and they did. Even such men of the Liberals as Mr. Weldon of St. John, who is strongly opposed to the act, voted with his party on this occasion. The amendment was presumably an effort to draw Sir John out of his hole once more and place himself on record as to the good or evil that this so-called temperance measure has done for the municipalities where it has been adopted. The Premier did place himself on record as far as words could express it, and the entire Conservative element of the House voted against the amendment.

Mr. Mills' amendment was:

That the House do not now go into committee, but that it be resolved that in the opinion of this House it is the duty of the Government to prepare a measure that will remove all legal impediments to the efficient working of the Canada Temperance Act.

Mr. Mills said that when Sir John Macdonald was in opposition he had advocated and voted for such a measure as the Canada Temperance Act. The act as it stood now was full of flaws and was unworkable. It was the duty of the Government to either repeal the act or introduce such legislation as would insure its enforcement. Experience clearly proved that the act required amendment in the direction of its stringent enforcement.

Mr. Davies of Prince Edward Island seconded the amendment.

The Premier was not long in jumping to his feet and demanding of Mr. Mills to point out the legal impediments which acted against the enforcement of the act. Impediments must be found to exist before they can be removed. Said Sir John in effect:

"All I can say is that there is the measure. It has been on the statute book for a goodly number of years. It has been passed in several constituencies. It does not seem to me that any legal impediments exist as to the introduction of the act. If you look at the newspapers you will see the number of convictions that are being secured in all parts of Ontario, to which province my attention has been more particularly directed. It does not appear either that there have been impediments in the way of securing convictions, in the way of inflicting fines or in the way of collecting these fines after their infliction. Neither do there seem to be impediments in the way of sending men to jail in lieu of the penalties. At all events, I am not informed that any of these impediments named exist, and as far as I can see the act appears to be vigorously enforced, so vigorously indeed that it would seem that in one county the people have rebelled against it, because, instead of impediments, there are altogether too many assistants."

Mr. Laurier was surprised that the Premier professed that he could see no impediments in the working of the Scott Act. Impediments do and have existed, as has been freely attested from many parts of the country. There were plenty of reasons for stating that the measure was unworkable. It was the duty of the Government to make it a legal as well as a moral question. If the Canada Temperance Act was a good measure it should be enforced. If it was a bad measure it should be removed from the statute books.

Mr. Jamieson (Con., Lanark) who has a bill before the House to amend the Scott Act, and who is prominently connected with the Dominion Alliance, seemed to be completely nonplused by Mr. Mills' amendment, and he held the floor for twenty minutes in stating that it was useless to obtain good temperance legislation in the House unless it was brought about by the joint action of both political parties. Mr. Mills' motion was a breach of confidence. No one doubted Mr. Mills' attachment to the cause of temperance, but his amendment savored of suspicion as to its real objects.

Then Mr. Davies waded into Mr. Mc-

in a lively fashion for this statement. He said the Minister of Marine was a howling temperance advocate until he had been taken into the Cabinet. Then he forgot those principles. "My hon. friend is a turncoat," concluded the gentleman from Prince Edward Island.

This ended the talking and the amendment was defeated on a division of 109 to 57.

Besides the above debate and the division little else of importance was transacted in the House.

Sir Richard Cartwright had another little brush with Sir Charles Tupper about the fishery treaty protocols. It was agreed that Sir Richard's motion regarding closer trade relations between Canada and the United States be adjourned till Wednesday of next week, and by that time Sir Charles hopes to lay the entire correspondence and the trade proposals and counter-proposals of the plenipotentiaries before the House.

Just before adjournment at 6 o'clock Sir Charles Tupper moved the House into supply and the item for the Governor-General's office was reported.

BURNT TO DEATH.

A Mother and Two Children Perish in the Flames of Their Home.

CAYUGA, March 6.—About 1 o'clock this morning a dwelling house four miles from here, occupied by John Daley, was destroyed by fire, and his wife and two children burned to death. An Italian who slept upstairs barely escaped with his life by jumping through a window. Mr. Daley was away from home.

Fire at Berlin.

BERLIN, Ont., March 6.—Fire broke out about 10.15 a.m. in Bricker's livery stables on Queen-street, completely destroying the building. One hack, cutters and robes were destroyed. Insured for $5000. A frame dwelling adjoining was also burned to the ground. The contents were saved. Breithaupt's wholesale leather warehouse was slightly damaged.

February's Fire Losses.

NEW YORK, March 6.—The fire losses in the United States and Canada during February were $11,213,500 or over $4,000,000 above the average.

Blaze in a Stationery Store.

CHATHAM, March 6.—Fire broke out at 9 o'clock to-night in the rear of Robt. Cooper's stationery store, entirely consuming his stock of wall and wrapper paper. The stationery stock will be rendered useless through damage by water. Cause of fire unknown. Insured in the Ætna.

Carelessness Causes a Fire at London.

LONDON, Ont., March 6.—At noon to-day fire was discovered in the north end of the east wing of the Military School. The fire was confined to the room in which it originated. It is supposed to have been caused by some shavings being ignited by a stove in which some workmen had built a large fire to warm their dinner. The damage is estimated at about $400.

A Game of Freeze Out.

CHICAGO, March 6.—The Burlington strike has now resolved itself into a game of freeze out. That practically was the situation to-day. A meeting of the several grievance committees of the road has been called for to-morrow, but it is not known for what purpose. Crowds of men were arriving at the general offices of the Burlington all day, and at the rate at which they were being examined and passed upon, the company, it would seem, will soon have all its vacant places filled.

U.S. Internal Revenue Bill.

WASHINGTON, March 6.—The Democratic majority of the Ways and Means Committee to-day submitted to the full committee the Internal Revenue Bill. It provides that on and after July 1, 1888, all taxes on manufactured chewing tobacco, smoking tobacco and snuff; all special taxes upon manufacturers and dealers in said articles, and all taxes upon wholesale and retail dealers in leaf tobacco hall be repealed. The total reduction in revenue made by the bill is about $25,000,000, made up of $20,000,000 on tobacco and $5,000,000 on various special taxes removed. By a party vote the bill was added to the Mills' Tariff Bill, making one bill of both.

Offenders Under the Crimes Act.

DUBLIN, March 6.—Mr. Gilhooly, M.P., was to-day convicted at Schull for offences under the Crimes Act and sentenced to two months' imprisonment without hard labor. He will appeal.

Wilfrid Blunt was released from Tullamore jail to-day. T. D. Sullivan, ex-Lord Mayor of Dublin, Lady Blunt and a crowd of 300 persons welcomed him and presented him with an address. Mr. Blunt made no speech.

Mr. Snelling Van, English Home Rule delegate, has been arrested at Limerick for offences under the Crimes Act.

Another Capias For Simon.

DETROIT, March 6.—Another capias for the arrest of David Simon, charged with defrauding his creditors when he closed out his general store at Drumbo, Ont., was issued yesterday. The complainants in the present instance are Burnett & Vineberg of Montreal.

COMMERCIAL UNION AGAIN.

It has doubtless occurred to readers of Mr. Cluxton's letter in yesterday's issue that he could have answered the questions asked by Mr. Carnegie even in the space his letter occupied; but it is not probable that any good (to commercial union) would come out of the correspondence, and viewed in that light he, no doubt, showed wisdom in refusing. But a political scheme that will not bear examination on all sides must be a weak one.

Mr. Cluxton admits that his "horse" illustration was a supposition of a case that could not actually occur in business. This being true, we contend that it is useless for the purpose of throwing any light on the argument, for to explain what does occur it should at least be probable. But he also denies that he assumed that Canadians paid the duty on both exports and imports, and says, further, that the exporter pays the duty. In that case even if the Canadians do pay the duty on their exports, the Americans pay into the Canadian treasury large sums every year in duties on goods they send to this side, and relieve the people here of that much taxation. That is, assuming that Mr. Cluxton's present argument that the producer on each side of the line pays the duty is correct. But in this he differs from Mr. Wiman, the father of the commercial union movemment, who says that the people of the United States pay the tariff charges on the goods they import from Canada because they NEED AND MUST HAVE THEM.

Mr. Carling did not intimate that the United States purchased products in a market where the prices were higher than they were in their own markets. He did not refer to barley or lumber, which the United States must have. But he quoted the prices of some articles—"these articles" Mr. Cluxton quotes us as saying—of farm produce and showed that they were higher in Canada than on the other side of the lines. Of "these articles" are wheat and oats. And as to wheat the REVIEW did not attempt to mislead by quoting the prices for different grades, as Mr. Cluxton intimates. The lowest Toronto price for wheat quoted yesterday was higher than the highest Chicago price on the same day, and the same is true of oats.

It is true, however, in the main, that the price of articles of which America grows too much and exports largely is ruled in the foreign markets. And as Mr. Cluxton takes that ground, he should know that butter is exported largely from the United States, and cattle also, and that the argument that the English prices rule the market would apply to them; yet he would have the Canadian farmers believe that commercial union would benefit the prices of these, even in the face of his own contention.

Mr. Cluxton wants to know how the figures regarding foreign trade would stand after a year of commercial union. We presume he means that our aggregate trade with the United States would be increased by removing the customs duties. Probably it would; we believe it would. But would that increase be compensation to the farmers for the trade with Great Britain and other markets that they would lose? The value of the exports of the produce of the farm to Great Britain is about double that of the exports to the United States, even including exports to the States that are again sent out of that country, and by trying to improve the poorer market the Canadian farmers would endanger the better one. Last year Canada exported $5,300,000 worth of horned cattle to Great Britain. Canadian cattle are allowed to be landed, but United States cattle have to be slaughtered, and this is a privilege, secured to Canada by the efforts of Sir Charles Tupper, that would be lost by commercial union. The farmers' best market is the home market, and the next best the British market, yet they are asked to injure the first and endanger the second in an endeavor to improve the position of the three. That the Canadian farmers would not receive the full benefit of the removal of the United States duties even the Toronto Mail admitted in an article on Mr. Cluxton's paper. And as under commercial union direct taxation would be necessary, the farmers would lose in that way, as they are not now the largest users of highly taxed commodities, and are the largest owners of visible property.

GOUGH BROS,— The Wonderful Cheap Men,

(Successors to Gough the Wonderful Cheap Man.)

Mr. Cluxton thinks we would consider commercial union disloyal to the Mother Country. He is right; we certainly would. Canada is a part—an important part—of the British Empire. If it should admit foreign goods free of duty while increasing or maintaing the duties on similar goods from other parts of the Empire, we would consider it disloyal. Further, doing so to the extent that commercial unionists propose would lead to a severance of our connection with Great Britain, and annexation, or independence for a time followed by annexation, would result. Other countries have made similar commercial bargains, and they have led to absorption or war. And when the disadvantages of commercial union are considered, that of the loss of our present political status should be considered with the other. Annexation would be an injury to Canada, and even if we were not bound at all by sentiment to Britain or the British flag, as a lover of Canada alone we would oppose commercial union on loyal grounds.

Commercial union is vastly different from reciprocity. We would not oppose a fair and judicious reciprocal arrangement, such, for instance, as that of 1854, but commercial union would be incompatible with Canada's position as a portion of the British Empire and would injure the Dominion.

JERMYN.

Correspondence of the Review.

AN ORDERLY NEIGHBORHOOD.—Seeing that Jermyn is not represented as other places are, I will try and furnish you with a few facts. I will say to begin with that we are all law-abiding citizens, the policeman was sent years ago on a ticket-of-leave and has never returned. No roughs are seen hanging around our street corners, and no lady was ever brought before the J. P. for being drunk or disorderly. Burglar alarms are things unknown.

WORK PLENTIFUL.—Judging from the pile of material, work will be very plentiful for mechanics this coming season.

RECOVERING.—Our school teacher, Miss Young, is, we are glad to learn, recovering from a very severe attack of measles. They are of a very bad kind, some persons being known to drop unconscious in a twinkle.

PLEASANT EVENING.—A very pleasant evening was spent, by the young people of this village and vicinity, on Wednesday of last week at Mr. Brackenridge's, dancing being the chief amusement and indulged in till the morning dawn.

A GOER.—Our noted horse trainer and breaker passed through here the other day driving a 2.10 stepper.

EDUCATIONAL SERMON.—A sermon will be preached in the Methodist church here on the following Sabbath, by the Rev. Dr. Shaw of Toronto, on education. Some of our youths who are in the habbit of saying their prayers backwards might profit by attending.

THE COMBINE COMMITTEE.

Toronto Men Who Will Be Summoned as Witnesses—Watcheases and Coal.

OTTAWA, March 6.—Clarke Wallace's Select Committee on "Combines" met and organized to-day by appointing Mr. Wallace chairman. The latter said the committee had an important work before them and were of one mind as to the necessity of making the fullest enquiry into the subject of the "combines" and their effect upon the people. He thought they had better take steps at once to summon witnesses to give evidence.

Mr. Wallace announced that he had received a letter from a person at Toronto which he would read. The letter enclosed a copy of an affidavit and an injunction regarding watch movements, in which the writer (Mr. Chas. Stark) was a plaintiff. Mr. Stark stated he was in a position to prove that these iniquitous proposals are simply a gigantic system of "trusts" and "combines," and he should be pleased to give evidence before the House.

The chairman explained that Mr. Stark had built a manufactory for the making of watch cases in Toronto and a "combine" was organized to prevent his obtaining watch movements from abroad, in view of which he had taken out an injunction against the parties. It was decided to summon Mr. Stark for Thursday. He will be the first witness.

The other Toronto witnesses to be summoned after Mr. Stark are coal men and they are: Elias Rogers, John R. Bailey, Ralph E. Gibson of the Conger Coal Company and Geo. H. Wood of Wood & Macdonald, 92 King-street east.

Mr. Lightbound of Lightbound, Ralston & Co., Montreal, will be a prominent witness.

Some discussion took place as to the scope of the committee and the manner in which witnesses were to be summoned and it was decided to advertise in representative papers for the names of persons who would be willing to supply information respecting the "combines."

RECOVERING.—The many friends of Mr. John Riddell, ex-Reeve, will be glad to know that he is rapidly recovering from his late attack of very severe illness.

PROGRESSING.—Frank Morrison, a young son of Mr. Wm. Morrison, jr., who, while playing with some companions a short time ago, accidentally fell and broke his arm, is progressing as favourably as could be expected under the circumstances.

CHANGES.—Mr. Cowling has taken up his residence further east on College-st. and Messrs. W. A. and J. T. Pue have moved into the premises vacated by Mr. Cowling.

CHEESE FACTORY.—The cheese factory spoken of some time ago will soon be a reality. The Messrs. Pue, now settled in Bensfort, formerly residents in the township, are well known as square dealing men. It is their intention to push the business for all it is worth in the interests of their patrons as well as their own. They intend to have the building ready and all arrangements made to commence operations as early in May as possible.

THE CITY AND SUBURBS

The Weather Probabilities.

Moderate winds; mostly fair weather, with light snow in a few places; a little higher temperature.

A Word in Season.

The su of the invitation given to all to buy at the golden lion is that there you find the largest variety, the choicest goods, the lowest prices. This particularly applies to the lines of Embroideries, Hamburg Edgings and Muslins. If you want to secure a particular effect the stock offords it. If you need a particular pattern it is more likely to be here than anywhere else, and—it is important to remember this—your money goes further in buying.

About Time.

A watch balance makes five vibrations per second, or 157,680,000 a year. When a fine watch has completed 200,000,000 it is time it was cleaned and adjusted. The watches offered as prizes at the grand carnival on Friday afternoon and evening next, are in fine working order. Caretaker Cousins intends to spread himself for the occasion. The decorations will be handsome, the band will play some new music, and judging by the hints thrown out, something extra fine and neat may be anticipated in the way of costumes.

The 24th.

The Queen's Birthday is coming on apace and arrangements are being made for a grand celebration in Peterborough, under the auspices of the officers and members of the 57th Battalion. The boys do everything right that they undertake and we have no doubt that the 24th will be celebrated in proper style and with a big flourish. At one time the largest and best celebrations of the year used to take place on the Queen's birthday, but of late years, July 1st and other days have somehow or another taken its place.

Better Get a Move On.

The following letter regarding our schools has been received from the Department of Education:—

The Minister desires me to state for the information of your Board that some of the recommendations in the Inspector's last report are obligatory and that if the Institute is not in the condition required by the High School Act, section 13, and regulation 62, by 1st September next, the status of Collegiate Institute cannot be continued after that date. Special Legislative grant allowed to Institutes for the current half year would in that case not be payable.

Yours, etc.,
ALEX. MARLING,
Secretary.

February 28th, 1888.

A Military Class.

The military spirit is growing among the young men of Peterborough and the volunteers of the 57th Battalion believe in fitting themselves for the performance of their duties to the best possible advantage. Recently a battalion order was issued—which was published in the REVIEW—giving the subjects upon which volunteers would be examined to qualify them for positions as non-commissioned officers. A class for thorough instruction in these subjects will be organized on Friday evening, of which Sergt.-Major Rundell, a very competent instructor, will take charge. Those who wish to enter and receive the instruction should be on hand on that evening.

Almost miraculous are some of the cures accomplished by the use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla. In the case of S. L. King, Richmond, Va., who suffered for 47 years with and aggravated form of scrofula, Ayer's Sarsaparilla effected astonishing results.

Otonabee Canoe Club.

The Otonabee Cano Club debating Society had a meeting on Tuesday evening at the rooms of Commodore Miller. There was a very fair attendance and Mr. John Miller presided. The subject of debate was "Which is the most preferable, an Agricultural or a Professional life." Messrs. W. H. Hill and W. H. Dayman favored the professional, while Messrs. A. E. Scott and Gordon Smith depicted in glowing terms the glory and freedom of a farmer's life. The farmers got the worst of it. It was decided to hold the regular meeting on Tuesday evening at the same place. Next Tuesday the subject for debate will be "Resolved, that Labor Organizations are of Benefit to Mankind, Physically, Commercially and Morally." The leaders for the affirmative will be Messrs. A. Clegg and Jas. Little, and for the negative, Messrs John Miller and A. E. Dixon.

Out of Reach.

The men who were duped by the German-American-Jew who bought the scrap iron and forgot to pay for it, are evidently in the lurch. One of the men who negotiated the deal is in Hamilton, but so far the dupes are unable to find any process of law by which the men can be reached.

Club Concert,

School Board.

There was no quorum at the meeting of the Board of Education on Tuesday evening, the only members present being Messrs. Chairman Stevenson, M.P., Denne, Burnham, Dumble, English and Hill. Of course no regular meeting was held, but various matters came up and were discussed, as will be seen by reference to our local page.

Personal.

Mr. W. Lech leaves town on Saturday on his annual trip to London, Eng., and Leipzig, Germany, here he will, as usual, make purchases of fur stock. The grand fair opens at Leipzig early after Easter and Mr. Lech will take advantage of the opportunity to stock up with the best goods procured.

Opera House,

Hardly Fair.

Some of the persons who are the largest ratepayers in the town of Peterborough do not reside inside the of the corporation, and they are compelled to pay the same fees for attending the Institute as county pupils. This state of affairs they consider s hardly right and they talk of taking steps to remedy matters, if any remedy can be found.

KIDD and his prices are both low, but the quality of his boots is the very best.

Better Ventilation.

A citizen appeared at the School Board meeting last evening and complained that his daughter was suffering from a lung trouble brought on by the draft created by opening the windows for ventilation. Several members and teachers referred to this matter and it was said that for $1500 the buildings could be properly ventilated. The present system is villainous, according to a trustee.

Thursday evening,

Shut Them Out.

At the Police Court this morning sixteen boys were counted among the spectators, none of whom were over 10 or 12 years of age. The same thing may be noticed almost every day. These children appear to take a morbid interest in the proceedings. What they hear and learn does not do them much good and if their parents won't keep them at school or some other place, rather than the Police Court, Acting-Chief Adams should see that they are not allowed to be present.

How Things Look.

The School Supervision Committee have the following report ready to submit at the next meeting of the Board:—

The School Supervision Committee through their Chairman, Mr. A. Rutherford, announce that they have visited the several rooms of the Collegiate Institute and found them and the desks fairly clean and in good order with the exception of the Chemistry room and having called the attention of the Principal to the fact he promised to have it attended to. We find that there is a failing off in the attendance, particularly from Ashburnham.

Drilling the Girls.

Trustee Dumble is a great admirer o drill and calisthenics and he is satisfied that if they are good for the boys they would also be good for the girls. He says it will cost but a mere song and as the girls were willing to drill before or after the regular schools hours, it would not interfere with their regular school lessons at all. Mr. Dumble asked the Principal to engage Sergeant-Major Rundle as instructor and if the Board would not pay for it, he would do so himself. The classes are to be organized at once and much good is expected as the result of a regular system of drill.

Band Competition.

It is the intention of the band to conduct a tournament here during the month of August. It will take place at the driving park and will doubtless prove a great drawing card. The members of the band will have the co-operation of the fire Brigade and as the boys are all pushers a big thing will probably result. The competition will be open to both military and amateur bands and the sum of about $1400 will be required to meet expenses. It is also talked of having horse races on the same day. The affair is only in its infancy yet, but the public will be kept fully informed of what transpires.

Splendid programme

A purgative medicine should possess tonic and curative as well as cathartic properties. The combinations of ingredients may be found in Ayer's Pills. They strengthen and stimulate the bowels, causing natural action.

The Gospel Hall.

Mr. Phillips will conduct a meeting in the "Gospel Hall" to-night at 8 o'clock. All are welcome. Bring your Bible.

The Spring Assizes.

The spring assizes will open at the Court House on the 9th day of April. The docket, particularly the criminal portion of it, will be much heavier than usual.

Filling up Rapidly.

The plan of hall for the Concert on Thursday night is rapidly filling up. There is barely time to secure good seats. Call at McClelland's jewellery store and take your choice. 1d56

Enlarged.

A case of embezzlement was called at the Police Court this morning, but as the defendant is confined to bed by sickness the hearing was enlarged until Monday next at the usual hour.

New and Attractive.

Styles and prices are correct at H. S. Griffin & Co's. This house is growing in favor and has a steady increase of trade since opening in this live and go ahead town. The public will find their stock very choice this season.

Neglected Colds, Pain in the Chest, and all diseases of the Lungs, are cured by using Allen's Lung Balsam.

Locking the Doors.

The matter of locking the school doors was talked over last evening. The general impression was that it was dangerous to do it and the Principal said he would discontinue the practise, if the Board desired it. It was suggested that the school gates be locked instead of the doors, but the suggestion did not appear to meet with much favor.

Local Legal.

The following case came up at Osgoode Hall, Toronto, on Tuesday:—"Peterborough Real Estate and Investment Co. v. Patterson.—Appeal from the judgment of Wilson, C. J. Judgment to be varied by striking out certain passages thereof; with this variation appeal to be dismissed with costs. Robinson, Q. C., for the appellants; J. K. Kerr, Q. C., for infant respondents: Edmison (Peterborough) respondents Patterson and wife. Clute for the respondent, Jordan; McCarthy, Q. C., for remaining respondents."

Cobourg Races.

On Tuesday the anaual ice races commenced at Cobourg. The track was laid out on Poe's pond and was of the "Kite" shape. It was in very good condition and the attendance of spectators was large, about fifty from Peterborough being present. Mr. Wm. Croft acted as one of the judges. In the three minute class, two Peterborough horses competed and "Sleepy Dan" again succeeded in winning the biggest slice of the purse. The horses came in in the following order:—

"Sleepy Dan".....1
"F. O. P.".....2
"Blue Jean".....3
"Royal Jim".....4

The Peterborough horses are both entered for the open trot to-day and unless some more formidable competitor than those named, is brought out, the chances are strongly in favor of "Dan" getting to the front.

If you wish to please your family, flavor your Puddings, Pies, Jellies, &c., with the "Royal" Extracts.

Curlians.

A rink of juniors play at Millbrook, on Saturday. The boys are trying for higher game this year.

Skips Judge Weller and Tom. Rutherford took up two rinks to Bobcaygeon this morning and they expect to meet some rattling good players as those 'Caygeon chaps know a thing or two about the game, supposing they do live in the supposed hub of the universe.

Mr. J. H. Burnham is a great admirer of the game and in honor of the victory at Lindsay on Tuesday, he has presented Skip Ferguson with a large and handsome steel engraving, a curling scene, and the picture now hangs on the wall of the curlers room at the rink.

'Twas a famous victory, quotes Secretary McGill and it was too. On Tuesday two rinks played at Lindsay and came home flushed with victory to the tune of 4 shots on the score of the two games. In the morning game Peterborough had the best of it on both rinks, Skip Ferguson and his brother champions holding Mr. Needler down in great shape, while Skip Ray did the same trick for Skip Wallace. The following is the score:—

PETERBOROUGH.		LINDSAY.
Rink No. 1.
A. Hall	Dr. Poole
C. McGill	J. M. Knowlson
R. S. Davidson	C. Cornell
W. G. Ferguson, Sk. 22.	W. Needler, Sk. 15.
Rink No. 2.
E. Brown	W. McCribbin
J. B. Pentland	J. McLennan
T. Rutherford	H. Ferguson
Sam Ray, S'k....21.	J. W. Wallace, Sk. 19
Total.....43		34

Peterborough thus wins by 9 shots.

In the afternoon the Lindsay men were changed, Skips McMurtry and Flavelle taking charge of the rinks. The play was good throughout. Skip Ferguson was again to the front, having 5 shots on the right side of the score card, but Skip Ray was pitted against the redoubtable Flavelle and he had a hard row to hoe. At one time Skip Ray was leading with the score standing 15 to 5, but Skip Flavelle commenced the "bulleting" business for which he is famous and Skip Ray was snowed under, Lindsay actually making 21 shots while Peterborough only added 1. The score stood as follows:—

PETERBOROUGH.		LINDSAY.
Rink No. 1.
A. Hall	J. A. Williamson
C. McGill	H. Gladman
R. S. Davidson	J. G. Edwards
W. G. Ferguson, s'k. 18	S. A. McMurtry, s'k. 13
Rink No. 2.
E. Brown	A. Keith
J. B. Pentland	A. Lumsden
T. Rutherford	W. McLennan
Sam Ray, s'k.....16	J. D. Flavelle, s'k. 26
Total.....34	Total.....39

Lindsay wins by 5 shots.

As the result of the day's play the scores were Peterborough 77, Lindsay 73, majority for Peterborough 4 shots.

The annual point game for all the members will be played to-morrow afternoon and evening.

Whitby won a double victory over Toronto on Tuesday. They defeated the Caledonians by 2 shots, two rinks a side, and the Granites by 25 shots in a four rink match.

The championship of the city of Toronto now lies between the Granites and the Caledonians.

THE TRENT VALLEY ROUTE.

Interesting Address to the Young Men's Conservative Club.

A regular meeting of the Young Men's Liberal-Conservative Club was held on Tuesday evening, the President, Mr. Andrew McNeil, in the chair. After routine business had been attended to, Mr. Geo Hilliard, ex-M. P., was called on to speak in reference to the Trent Valley waterway.

MR. HILLIARD began by pointing out the importance of the Trent Valley route. It was not a new work, as 50 years ago an appropriation was made for it and some work was done. For several reasons, including the rebellion of 1837 and the strain on the treasury of the country, the work was stopped. The engineer at that time made a very favorable report on the "Newcastle" route, as it was then called. The time had arrived when the completion of the work was a necessity. Similar routes were profitable and the Erie Canal was looked upon as a work that could not be dispensed with. When that canal was built it was decided that if it should not be self-sustaining it would be abandoned. In 1875, 76 and 77 the railways cut their rates to a very low figure to injure the Erie, but even during those years it did a respectable business. It had done a regular volume of business for years, notwithstanding that railways had been built all through the States the increase in in the freight from the west making up for any local freight the railways took. The freight rate from Chicago to New York in 1864 was was 15 to 20 cents per bushel of wheat, but now, through the operation of the canal, it was down to 8 cents. He combatted the opinion that the time for waterways was passed. The distance from Albany to New York was 160 miles. Freight had been carried that distance by water for 12½ to 15 cents per ton. This route, the Hudson, was very similar to our route. The barges which would be on the Trent Valley route would carry 15,000 bushels of wheat. Five of these would carry as much as the largest cargo carried on the lakes. By bringing the wheat down this way he believed it could be moved through to Montreal as quickly as by rail. Each barge would carry a train load, and a tow of five barges would represent five trips by rail. It would take from 8 to 10 days for the round trip. He dwelt on the safety of this route as compared with the lakes route. In six or eight years 4,191 vessels had been wrecked, 370 total wrecks and 747 lives lost. He quoted from a report of 72 Canadian vessels meeting with accidents in one year. The increased safety was of great importance. He spoke of the advantages of Midland harbor, and referred to the cities that had been built up along the Erie canal. The Almighty had given us an almost complete waterway and we should complete it. He was glad a Canadian canal was being built at Sault Ste. Marie, and if we continued to better our position the United States would give up the aggressive spirit recently shown. He spoke of the benefit the Trent Valley Canal would be case of war. He gave a glowing description of the Canadian Northwest and of its wheat growing qualities. The eight million bushels of surplus wheat this year—some estimated it at more than that—would make a train load that would reach from here beyond Toronto. Who would have dared to say in 1878 that so much would be grown there in 1887? The developement of the Northwest necessitated the construction of our canal route. He referred to the early history of Canada, when severe depression existed. The commencement of the Grand Trunk was the beginning of prosperity. Canada had made wonderful progress since. He was proud of the Northwest, of the Canadian Pacific and of being a Canadian, and he hoped they would always give allegance to the British throne.

After some conversational discussion, Mr. Hilliard read the report of Mr. Baird, C. E., on the Trent Valley route, which was very favorable; and also from the report of Mr. Stark, C. E., in which he said it would be "of transcendent benefit to the entire Dominion" and that all doubt as to the supply of water had vanished.

A vote of thanks was tendered Mr. Hilliard, on motion of Mr. J. H. Burnham, seconded by Mr. Cahill, and was acknowledged.

The meeting then adjourned.

POLICE COURT.

Wm. Kenney Committed for Trial in the Watson Forgery Case.

At the Police Court this morning Wm. Kenney was discharged in the Bayeur case as the Magistrate held that the prisoner simply lied to obtain the pair of shoes.

Kenney was then charged with endeavoring to obtain from Messrs. Gough Bros. a suit of clothes, a hat and some shirts, upon a forged order purporting to be signed by Mr. H. W. Watson.

The prisoner pleaded not guilty and was defended by Mr. W. A. Stratton. Mr. R. E. Wood appeared for the Crown.

Messrs. Augustus and Richard Gough told how the prisoner went to their shop on Monday last and presented an order signed W. H. Watson, asking them to give the prisoner anything he wanted. The prisoner led them to believe that it was Watson the painter who signed the order. As it was so indefinite Messrs. Gough grew suspicious and refused to give the prisoner any goods until Mr. Watson was seen. That gentleman repudiated the order as soon as he saw it. Mr. Watson said he was commonly known as "Watson the painter." His initials are "H. W." not "W. H." as used in the forged order. He never gave any such order and did not know who wrote or signed it.

After a short argument the prisoner was committed for trial. As the charge involves forgery, one of the crimes that a Police Magistrate cannot deal with, he could not dispose of it summarily, as the prisoner was willing that he should.

Want of Sleep

Is sending thousands annually to the insane asylum; and the doctors say this trouble is alarmingly on the increase. The usual remedies, while they may give temporary relief, are likely to do more harm than good. What is needed is an Alterative and Blood-purifier. Ayer's Sarsaparilla is incomparably the best. It corrects those disturbances in the circulation which cause sleeplessness, gives increased vitality, and restores the nervous system to a healthful condition.

Rev. T. G. A. Coté, agent of the Mass. Home Missionary Society, writes that his stomach was out of order, his sleep very often disturbed, and some impurity of the blood manifest; but that a perfect cure was obtained by the use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla.

Frederick W. Pratt, 424 Washington street, Boston, writes: "My daughter was prostrated with nervous debility. Ayer's Sarsaparilla restored her to health."

William F. Bowker, Erie, Pa., was cured of nervousness and sleeplessness by taking Ayer's Sarsaparilla for about two months, during which time his weight increased over twenty pounds.

BATTLE OF THE BALLOT.

HOW ITS ADVOCATES FARED LAST NIGHT.

Exciting Meeting of Separate School Board—The Chairman Rules the Question Out of Order—Another Clerical Letter—The Question Not Disposed of Yet.

TORONTO, March 7.

The Separate School Board had a regular field night last evening. It was short, sharp and decisive, resulting in a victory for the supporters of the Archbishop. The advocates of the ballot were defeated, and the ruling of Chairman Vicar-General Rooney carried everything before it.

After formal business, Trustee Cahill moved, seconded by Trustee Thornton, that the rule requiring a month's notice of motion be suspended for the purpose of introducing the following motion:

That in the opinion of this Board an amendment to section 31 of the Separate School Act which would include 1, 2 and 3 of section 104 of the Public School Act, granting to School Boards the option of vote by ballot, together with elections on the same day and place as other municipal elections, would be conducive to the best interests of the Separate Schools of this city.

"I make this motion," said Trustee Cahill, "believing it to be in the best interests of our schools. The matter has already been discussed in press and pulpit, and I believe that every trustee has made up his mind about it."

The chairman: "I thought there was already a motion to this effect before the board, but the matter may as well come up in this shape as not. I will now read you the following letter received by me to-day:

Very Rev. V. G. Rooney, Chairman of the Board of Separate School Trustees. VERY REV. SIR: We hereby protest in the name of the Bishops, Priests and good Catholics of Ontario against any measures respecting elections or any other business except that for which the Separate School trustees of Toronto were elected, namely, the management of the Separate Schools of the City of Toronto. Yours faithfully,

†JOHN JOSEPH LYNCH,
Archbishop of Toronto.

"Now," continued the chairman, "it is a well known fact that the board is composed of both clergymen and laymen, and this motion is only the views of a very small minority of the latter and no clergyman has had act or part in it, either as mover or seconder, and I therefore rule it out of order."

Trustee Cahill: "You cannot rule this motion out of order. If the board will not pass upon it now it will have to do so next meeting."

The Chairman: "I have ruled on this matter and will not discuss it."

This ended the battle for the time being. A little later the party in favor of the ballot determined to have an expression of opinion one way or the other. Trustee Mulligan presented the following notice of motion, seconded by Trustee Cahill:

"Whereas, His Grace the Archbishop of Toronto has expressed his disapproval of the ballot system of voting in the election of trustees to this board, and has in sermon and pastoral denounced the advocates of that system as bad Catholics, false brethren, allied with the enemies of the Church, and as being unworthy of receiving its sacraments; and, whereas, such a system of voting does not appear to militate against faith or morals, but is calculated to secure peace and good order at the polls, to promote charity amongst Catholics, to relieve many from the embarrassment and injury resulting from open voting, to remove the insinuations injurious to religion that the clergy coerce the Catholics to vote against the dictates of their consciences, and to generally advance the best interests of Catholic education. Therefore be it resolved that this Board appeal to Rome to decide whether the Catholics should exercise the right to elect school trustees by ballot."

Meantime Secretary Hall had received the notice of motion, and presented it to the chairman. "I will not have anything to do with it," said the chairman. "I rule it out of order, and will not receive it."

Trustee Mulligan remarked that however much he might regret to be compelled to do it, he saw no other course open to him but to appeal against the ruling of the chair, and asked the board to accept the notice of motion. He made a motion to this effect, seconded by Trustee Cahill.

The Chairman reluctantly put the motion, adding that it was simply a question of whether the board by sustaining him would endorse the Archbishop or censure him by supporting the motion.

When the "Yeas" were called upon to stand up only four trustees did so. They were: Messrs. Mulligan, Cahill, McMahon and Riley. When the "Nays" were called upon to stand four other trustees refrained from voting. They were Dr. Cassidy, Rev. Father Maurice, John Walker and P. Curran.

Thus four trustees showed themselves stoutly in favor of the ballot, and four more refused to commit themselves one way or the other.

The Archbishop was sustained and the clericals breathed easier. Somebody asked that the meeting adjourn, the motion was put and the board broke up after one of the most exciting meetings on record.

MONA SCULLY;

—OR—

The Bride of an Englishman.

A STORY OF THESE TIMES.

"Where are the people when they are not at home?" asks Mona, simply.

"That's the eighth wonder of the world," says Mr. Darling, mysteriously. "It has never yet been discovered. Don't seek to pry too closely into it; you might meet with a rebuff."

"How sad Nicholas looks!" says Mona, suddenly.

In a door-way, somewhat out of the crush, Sir Nicholas is standing. His eyes are fixed on Dorothy, who is laughing and chatting with a gay and gallant plunger in the distance. He is looking depressed and melancholy; a shadow seems to have fallen into his dark eyes.

"Now he is thinking of that horrid lawsuit again," says Nolly, regretfully, who is a really good sort all round. "Let us go to him."

"Yes; let me go to him," says Mona, quickly; "I shall know what to say better than you."

After a little while she succeeds in partially lifting the cloud that has fallen on her brother. He has grown strangely fond of her, and finds comfort in her gentle eyes and sympathetic mouth.—Like all the rest, he has gone down before Mona, and found a place for her in his heart. He is laughing at some absurdity of hers, and is feeling braver, more hopeful, when a little chill seems to pass over him, and, turning, he confronts a tall, dark, young man who has come leisurely—but with a purpose—to where he and Mona are standing.

It is Paul Rodney.

Sir Nicholas, just moving his glass from one eye to the other, says, "Good-evening" to him, bending his head courteously, nay very civilly, though without a touch or suspicion of friendliness. He does not put out his hand, however, and Paul Rodney, having acknowledged his salutation by a bow colder and infinitely more distant than his own, turns to Mona.

"You have not quite forgotten me, I hope, Mrs. Rodney. You will give me one dance?"

His eyes, black and faintly savage, seem to burn into hers.

"No, I have not forgotten you," says Mona, shrinking away from him. As she speaks she looks nervously at Nicholas.

"Go and dance, my dear," he says, quickly in a tone that decides her. It is to please him, for his sake, she must do this thing; and so, without any awkward hesitation, yet without undue haste, she turns and lays her hand on the Australian's arm. A few minutes later she is floating round the room in his arms, and, passing by Geoffrey, though she sees him not, is seen by him.

"Nicholas, what is the meaning of this?" says Geoffrey, a few moments later, coming up with a darkening brow to where Nicholas is leaning against a wall. "What has possessed Mona to give that fellow a dance? She was with you; why did you not prevent it?"

"My dear fellow," says Nicholas, "it was I induced Mona to dance with 'that fellow,' as you call him. Forgive me, if you count it as an injury."

"I don't understand you," says Geoffrey, hotly; "if he claims her for another dance I'll——"

"No, you won't," says Nicholas. "He is not my enemy, and I wanted Mona to dance with him because it shows the room that he is not altogether tabooed by us. Doatie will not dance with him, and Violet he never asks, and I fell back on the woman who has so little malice in her heart that she could not be ungracious to any one."

At this Geoffrey says something under his breath about Paul Rodney that he ought not to say, looking the while at Nicholas with a certain light in his blue eyes that means not only admiration but affection.

Meanwhile Paul has led Mona to a small conservatory, where he begins,—

"Have they taught you to hate me already?" he asks, in a low, compressed tone, that makes her nerves assert themselves.

"I have been taught nothing," she says, with a most successful grasp at dignity. "They do not speak of you at the Towers,—at least not unkindly."—She looks at him as she says this, but lowers her eyes as she meets his. This dark, vehement young man almost frightens her.

"Yet, in spite of what you say, you turn from me, you despise me," exclaims he, with some growing excitement.

"Why should I despise you?" asks she, slowly, opening her eyes.

The simple query confounds him more than might a more elaborate one put by a clever worldling. Why, indeed?

"I was thinking about this impending lawsuit," he stammers, uneasily. "You know of it, of course? Yet why should I be blamed?"

"No one blames you," says Mona; "yet it is hard that Nicholas should be made unhappy."

"Well, what would you have me do?" demands he, with some passion.—"Throw up everything? Lands, title, position? It is more than could be expected of any man."

"Much more," says Mona; but she sighs as she says it, and a little look of hopelessness comes into her face. It is so easy to read Mona's face.

"You are right," he says, with growing vehemence; "no man would do it. It is such a brilliant chance, such a splendid scheme——" He checks himself suddenly. Mona looks at him curiously, but says nothing. In a second he recovers himself and goes on: "Yet because I will not relinquish my just claim you look upon me with hatred and contempt."

"Oh, no," says Mona, gently; "only I should like you better, of course, if you were not the cause of our undoing. Why could you not have staid in Australia? You are rich; your home is there; you have passed all your life up to this without a title, without the tender associations that cling round Nicholas and that will cost him almost his life to part with. You do not want them, yet you come here to break up our peace and make us all utterly wretched."

"Not you," says Paul, quickly. "What is it to you? It will not take a penny out of your pocket. Your husband," with an evil sneer, "has his income secured. I am not making you wretched."

"You are," says Mona, eagerly. "Do you think," tears gathering in her eyes, "that I could be happy when those I love are reduced to despair?"

"You must have a large heart to include all of them," says Rodney, with a shrug. "Whom do you mean by those you love? Not Lady Rodney, surely. She is scarcely a person, I take it, to inspire that sentiment in even your tolerant breast. It cannot be for her sake you bear me such ill will?"

"I bear you no ill will; you mistake me," says Mona, quietly. "I am only sorry for Nicholas, because I do love him."

To be Continued.

Don't use any more nauseous purgatives such as Pills, Salts, &c., when you can get in Dr. Carson's Stomach Bitters, a medicine that moves the Bowels gently, cleansing all impurities from the system and rendering the blood pure and cool. Sold by all Druggists.

A FEW DOLLARS MIGHT BE SAVED.

It is a positive fact that money is thrown away every week. Why is this? You would imagine any one keen to save money in their purchases and yet they pay prices for goods, that could be bought much cheaper, if bought in the right place.

SHEPPARD

Has Some Very Cheap Goods, his importations for Spring now to hand are fully fifty per cent. cheaper than the same goods has been sold in Peterborough for before. Now if you want LACES go to SHEPPARD'S, or if you want CORSETS in all sizes, starting at 22½ up.

Beautiful BLACK and COLORED HOSE, two pairs for 25 cents.

A Circular Pillow Cotton, cheapest in town. White Cottons and Shirtings marked very low. Don't you buy anything in Spring Goods before making a bee line to Peterborough's Great Cheapside.

In Brief and to the Point.

Dyspepsia is dreadful. Disordered liver is misery. Indigestion is a foe to good nature.

The human digestive apparatus is one of the most complicated and wonderful things in existance. It is easily put out of order. Greasy food, tough food, sloppy food, bad cookery, mental worry, late hours, irregular habits, and many other things which ought not to be, have made the American people a nation of dyspeptics.

But Green's August Flower has done a wonderful work in reforming this sad business and making the American people so healthy that they can enjoy their meals and be happy.

Remember:—No happiness without health. But Green's August Flower brings health and happiness to the dyspeptic. Ask your druggist for a bottle. Seventy-five cents

THE MAJORITY COUNTS 24.

THE LEGISLATURE ENDORSES THE QUEBEC RESOLUTIONS.

Yeas 54, Nays 30—The Debate Ended at Last —A Stormy Wind Up—The Government Charged With Gagging the Opposition—Talking Till 1 O'Clock.

TORONTO, March 8.

The spirited debate in the Ontario Legislature on the Quebec Resolutions which has been carried on for four days, came to an end this morning at one o'clock, when the House endorsed the results of the Conference by a vote of 54 to 30.

During the whole discussion only four or five out of the total 22 resolutions came in for special notice. These were: those referring to the veto power, the subsidy question, the franchise and the Senate. The Attorney-General, in opening the debate, referred to most of them, but not all. It is satisfactory to note that during the whole talk the motion commending Commercial Union was not deemed worthy of notice by either side.

An hour and a half's debate was indulged in before the chief business of the day was taken up. It concerned the justice of uniting two townships, Front-of-Yonge and Front-of-Escott, in Mr. Fraser's constituency. The Private Bills Committee recommended the bill on hearing the reeves of these townships and Mr. Fraser moved its third reading. But it seemed that a rival partly opposed the union of the townships, and members of the Opposition upheld their cause. The debate grew quite hot, and hon. gentlemen even went so far as to beg each other's pardons. A discussion took place and the third reading was carried by 51 to 29. Thus E. Scott got a Yonge bride, and the members braced themselves for Resolution debate.

Mr. East York Smith placed his little round hat on the desk before him and announced to the House that he did not believe in giving a silent vote, even though the resolutions had been already pretty well threshed out. But before he gave reasons for supporting the proposition he took the opportunity to discuss the murky views the leader of the Opposition took on this important question, Mr. H. E. Clarke's fancy figures, Mr. Metcalfe's wit and Mr. Craig's argument.

Hon. gentlemen opposite argued that the representatives who met at Quebec had no right to meet and take up the questions they did. They said that the Legislatures were only big county councils. That was a most odious comparison and one which only men blinded with partisan feelings would make. And if the Legislatures did not take up the matter how would they get their requests? The Dominion Government would never give them. The Dominion was always ready to sacrifice provincial rights. The veto power was abused and should be placed where it would be less harmful. He believed that the resolutions were so beneficial to the interests of the country that the Dominion Government would reconsider its opposition and agree that these proposed amendments should be made. If they did not the resolutions would have their effect at the general elections. [Opposition applause and "hear hears" taken up by the Ministerialists.]

The leader of the Opposition had said the Attorney-General got the glory and Quebec got the money, under the provisions of these resolutions; a more unwarranted, untruthful statement was never made. [Applause and laughter.] Ontario was much benefited by the financial scheme. He wanted to know how gentlemen opposite were going to account to their constituents for voting against these resolutions. [Opposition applause and laughter.] Indeed every resolution was of benefit to Ontario, and except three or four of the resolutions none of the Opposition had the courage to oppose them. But a great noise was made about the proposal to take the veto power out of the hands of the great Chieftain.

In regard to the Senate they could all agree that its usefulness was gone as the constitution was at present. The Senate simply represented Sir John. He was sure the hon. gentlemen opposite could see that their proposal to make it partly elective was an improvement. Hon. gentlemen opposite said the balance of the resolutions were of no importance. He singled out two or three to show that they were.

The Provincial Treasurer had said that Quebec contributed more to the Dominion Treasury, but that the goods on which duties were levied in Montreal were consumed largely in Ontario. Perhaps, though, the people of Quebec paid a large part of Ontario excise in the same way. If Ontario consumed the goods, did not the Frenchmen drink the whisky? [Laughter.]

Mr. Ostrom (West Hastings), regretted the party spirit which characterized the debate, and regretted this agitation for undue provincial rights. This question had been fought out across the lines, and was settled there forever. They should take warning from the drift just such an argument as this took in the United States. As to the veto power, he contended that it had been used judiciously, not beyond what the spirit of the constitution admitted of.

Mr. Murray (North Renfrew) assailed the veto power, the Dominion Franchise Act, the Senate and the speech of the leader of the Opposition. He was in favor of the resolutions as a whole. They tended to strengthen the constitution and promote the peace of the land.

Mr. Wood (North Hastings) was disappointed that the Attorney-General did not present the resolutions seriatim, and was more than surprised, after the announcement at the beginning of the debate, that the privilege was withdrawn. There were some of them that he could consistently give his adhesion to, but others he strongly objected to. He did not know how he was going to grasp them as a whole and give a vote on them. The Attorney-General presented the resolutions in a clear and conciliatory manner. [Ministerial applause.]

The Leader of the Opposition questioned this conciliatory spirit and he did not at that time share his Leader's suspicion, but when the Minister of Education's bitter and contemptuous speech was delivered he was forced to believe that the real feeling of the Government was let out. When the announcement was made that the resolutions would not be discussed seriatim it placed the Opposition in a most unsatisfactory position.

But their friends on the other side were in just as unsatisfactory a position and ever worse. They dare not vote any other way but with the Government. If they did it would be a want of confidence. They had to swallow the resolutions en bloc. He considered the discussion a great waste of time. The result would be equally the same if the Attorney-General had presented them wrapped up in a piece of paper and asked his supporters to vote confidence in him. He congratulated the supporters of the Government on the quandary the Attorney-General had placed them in, and commended them to the tender mercies of their constituents.

He objected to the resolutions for two reasons. The meeting was ill-timed and the surroundings were unfit for a calm, dispassionate deliberation of so important a question. How could they consider the best interests of the country with Quebec still seething with the Rielite cry and Nova Scotia with the secessionist agitation? What was the result of this conference? The Provincial Treasurer had said the results were received with great satisfaction all over the country. When the great statesmen met in Quebec twenty years ago the whole country was agitated and burst into acclaim. Was there any such acclaim over this result? He thought not, but rather there was a suspicion as to what the results really were. The Treasurer had said that the Liberal press, the Independent press and Moderate Conservative press commended the resolutions.

He read an extract from The World which stated that some of the resolutions were objectionable to controvert the argument of the Treasurer. He did not altogether agree with the constitution of the Senate, but the scheme proposed by the resolutions would make a farce of that body. He condemned the unworthy reflections that had been made on the intelligence of the Senators of Canada. There were in the Senate some of the brightest intellects in the country. It was not meet for members of the House to designate the members of the Senate as "imbeciles" and "incapables." Neither was he altogether in favor of the present administration of the veto power, but placing it in Downing-street was utterly repugnant to him. He again expressed his disappointment at not being permitted to discuss and vote on the resolutions individually. Taken as a whole, it was out of the question that he could support them. They were not in accord with the spirit of the age and the wants of the country. [Applause.]

He challenged the Government to prorogue the House and go to the people now, [Opposition cheers] and if he fell it would be a fall he would be proud of. He would fall in efforts to maintain that constitution which was the foundation of the peace of the country for the past twenty-one years. [Opposition applause.]

Mr. Harcourt's diction was elegant and his speech as fluent as it always is. He confined himself chiefly to the discussion of the veto power, and the way he treated it brought down frequent applause. He charged the Dominion Government with a persistent attempt to take away the rights enjoyed by the province, and it was their first duty to sedulously guard them.

The Attorney-General moved that the House concur in the resolutions.

Mr. Creighton wished to administer a pill without coating. The pill was as follows, seconded by Mr. French:

That all words in the motion after the word "that" be struck out, and that the following be substituted: "The proposed mode of dealing with the disallowance of provincial legislation involves the transfer to a body not responsible to the people of Canada of powers now exercisable by a body which is responsible to them, and is otherwise objectionable and ought not to be adopted."

The amendment was lost on a vote of 54 to 30.

Mr. Wood (Hastings), said medicine to be of any use should be administered in regular doses. He therefore moved, seconded by Mr. Hudson:

That all words after the word "that" in the motion be struck out and the following substituted:—"That the proposed plan of dealing with the constitution of the Senate of Canada does not afford a satisfactory solution of the objections urged to that body as it now exists under the provisions of the British North America Act."

Hon. Mr. Fraser said it was getting late and he would bring on the final division in this way. He moved in amendment to the amendment, seconded by Hon. Mr. Hardy—

That all after the first word "that" in the amendment be omitted, and there be inserted instead of the following: "There be added to the original motion these words: 'and that an humble address be presented to His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor, requesting him to communicate to His Excellency the Governor-General, and to the Secretary of State for Canada, the concurrence of this House in the said resolutions.'"

Mr. Meredith denounced the Government for such cowardly treatment of the Opposition. Such gagging was unheard of. He hotly went over what the resolution in regard to the Senate proposed doing and said it was gross unfairness that the Opposition should not be allowed to express their opinion on it.

Hon. Mr. Hardy defended the Government, replying to several points made at by the Leader of the Opposition in regard to the Senate.

Mr. Ingram declared it was a vexatious thing that the Government should treat them in such a manner.

Mr. Creighton also put in his protest against the gagging process.

The question was put and the amendment to the amendment was carried on the division reversed.

Mr. Meredith asked for the ruling of the Speaker in regard to putting further amendments.

The Speaker said the carrying of the amendment to the amendment would preclude further amendments.

Mr. Meredith asked to have the ruling recorded.

WHAT WILL RANDY SAY?

Gossip Over His Probably Line of Attack To-Night—A Promised Scandal.

LONDON, March 7.—There is much gossip over Lord Randolph Churchill's probable line on Thursday night. Is he going to attack the Government over their war estimates, or fire a broadside into the system which they are to produce? In either case he cannot fail to make some very damaging disclosures concerning the extravagance and folly of the English army administration.

It is known that a great scandal in connection with contracts will be brought before the House by two or three independent members.

The Venezuela Boundary.

LONDON, March 7.—At a large meeting at Exeter Hall last evening, Sir Richard Temple presiding, resolutions were passed approving the Government's policy regarding the boundary dispute in British Guiana, and urging immediate action to assert British rights to the extreme northwest limit. The speakers concurred in maintaining that Venezuela's claims are untenable.

A Startling Rumor.

LONDON, March 7.—A startling rumor is afloat to the effect that the late Duke of Rutland left a son by a secret marriage, and that his heir is likely to now come forward and claim the peerage and vast estates which it was supposed would go to the late Duke's brother, Lord John Manners.

THE BURLINGTON STRIKE.

Other Roads Involved in the Trouble—The B. & N. Men Go Out.

CHICAGO, March 7.—Chief Arthur stated to-day that there was serious danger that the strike of the engineers and firemen would now spread widely. "It is impossible to appease our men," he said, "when they know that the railroad companies all over the country are giving aid to the Burlington."

So far as heard from this morning not a single road upon which the Burlington had made demand to handle freight responded favorably.

The men on the Burlington and Northern road struck without orders from Chief Arthur.

The Burlington strike is involving the other roads. At the stockyards this morning five Lake Shore engineers refused to take a train of Burlington cars from Englewood to Sixteenth-street, declaring that they would quit before they would haul anything bearing the Q label. The cars consequently remain at Englewood. The Wabash switchmen refused this morning to receive Burlington cars which were brought to the yards. At Root-street the switchmen employed by the Union Stockyards and Transit Company, which has charge of all the switching at the yards, also decided that they would handle no Burlington cars.

The twenty-five employes of the Q at the yards, whose business it is to care for the stock arriving over the Burlington, were discharged to-day, as there was nothing for them to do.

A Matter of Moment.

CHICAGO, March 7.—Grand Chief Wilkinson, of the Brakemen's Brotherhood, was summoned here yesterday on account of the following order issued by Burlington road:

"To Conductors: As we are now going to open up our business and will discontinue the running of pilots, we will expect you or one of your brakemen to show the new engineers the road when necessary."

As Mr. Wilkinson has formally stated that no brakeman or conductor belonging to his organization should do piloting, what action he will take is a matter of some moment.

TORONTO TOPICS.

On Tuesday and yesterday there was a heavy rush of freight east, particularly to Montreal and the seaboard, consigned principally from Chicago.

Central Prison Guard John Jarvis, formerly of the Toronto Police Force, fell 24 feet from an iron staircase in the prison yesterday. The prison doctor thinks his liver was ruptured and does not expect him to recover.

A sub-committee of the Markets and Health Committee yesterday afternoon visited the jail to get facts for a report to the Council. Governor Green has 177 criminals crowded into cells which were originally built for 92 and Jail Surgeon Richardson has complained to the Mayor of the unsanitary condition of the building.

Mr. Peter McIntyre is out getting signatures on a petition to the Minister of Public Works at Ottawa praying for the deepening of the Eastern Channel. Those who have already signed are Niagara Navigation Co., Sylvester Bros., Capt. Andrew Thompson, Capt. W. Hall, Capt. Jackson, Capt. McGiffin, Capt. J. Matthews, Capt. G. T. Matthews, Capt. Morgan, Hagarty & Co., W. A. Geddes.

THE EMPEROR'S ILLNESS.

THE CONDITION OF THE AGED KAISER CAUSES ALARM.

It is Hoped that, Notwithstanding His Present Feebleness, He May Rally—It is Said that There is no Immediate Danger—Midnight Report.

BERLIN, March 7.—The condition of Emperor William is alarming. Prince William, Prince Bismarck, Gen. Von Moltke and the court physicians are at the palace. It is reported that the closing of the Reichstag will be postponed in consequence of the condition of the Emperor.

The Emperor awoke at 3.30 this afternoon, after a heavy sleep lasting since 2 o'clock this morning, and took some nourishment. His condition is critical.

10 p.m.—It is hoped that the Emperor, notwithstanding his present feebleness, may rally. During the afternoon no alarming change occurred. The slight nourishment he was able to take seemed to revive him. Prince William remained at his grandfather's bedside a quarter of an hour. Before leaving the palace Princess William visited the Empress.

This evening the first story of the palace where the Emperor's bedroom is situated was all lighted up. A constant stream of military men and government officials passed in and out. The street in front of the palace is kept perfectly quiet.

During the session of the Budget Committee this afternoon, Count von Shellendoff, the Minister of War, referring to the Emperor's illness, said there was no immediate danger.

No Better at Midnight.

LONDON, March 7.—A despatch from Berlin dated midnight says that the Emperor was at that hour no better and was in an almost comatose state.

The San Remo Patient.

SAN REMO, March 7.—The German Crown Prince had a good night. He is in a cheerful mood, with a good appetite. His cough and expectoration have nearly ceased. He took a long walk in the garden to-day.

Russian War Preparations.

ST. PETERSBURG, March 7.—The Russian admiralty propose to increase the Baltic and Black Sea marine forces from 16,000 to 24,000 men.

The Government has ordered the Vilna and Rowno Railway to prepare for the transportation of a large number of troops. The peasantry of Podolia have received orders to supply large quantities of military biscuits, and farmers have been summoned to declare the amount of corn in their granaries.

TERRIBLE HOLOCAUST.

Fatal Fire in a Springfield Newspaper Office —The Dead and Wounded.

SPRINGFIELD, Mass., March 7.—The new office of The Evening Union was burned out at 4 o'clock this afternoon. Six of the employes met a terrible death. Most of them jumped from the fifth story and were crushed into a shapeless mass below. Six others were badly injured. The unfortunate men and women who crowded into the editorial rooms met a horrible fate. Some were cut off in the composing room, and several fell back into the flames. The employes who rushed into the editorial room were cut off from the escape in the rear and had to face the horrible alternative of burning to death or jumping to the sidewalk below.

The dead are as follows: Henry J. Goulding, foreman of the composing room, burned to death; Miss G. Thompson, proofreader and Mrs. Fredh E. Farley, who was employed in the editorial department, fell from the window. Mr. Samzon of Quebec jumped from the window: W. E. Hovey of Boston fell to the sidewalk; Mr. Brown, a compositor.

The list of injured is: Thos. Donohue, compositor, left leg broken at the knee and bad cut on the head; Timothy Dunn, compositor, arm and leg broken; Joseph W. Witty, compositor, badly burned. He clung to the window until the fire forced him to drop, but he fell on a ladder and was saved. G. F. Ensworth, compositor, compound fracture of the leg; Thos. Donohue, compositor, broken thigh, fatally injured.

Shocking Accident at Glencoe.

GLENCOE, March 7.—About 7 o'clock this morning the head and part of the body of a man were discovered in the cattle yard at Main-street crossing and were shortly afterwards identified as the remains of Wm. Edwards, section boss on the air line division. From traces and parts of the body lying along the track it appears he was struck about 150 yards from the crossing by the west-bound train.

The British National Debt.

LONDON, March 7.—In the House of Commons to-day Mr. W. H. Smith, the Government leader, announced that Mr. Goschen, the Chancellor of the Exchequer, on Friday afternoon would state the Government's proposals in relation to the national debt.

Mr. Lorillard, the tobacco man, is hunting in Florida with a costly yacht and several $2,500 dogs.

LAKEFIELD.

Correspondence of the Review.

LECTURE.—The Rev. Chas. Langford will deliver a lecture in the Methodist church on Thursday evening, March 22nd. Subject, "Why I Left the Church of Rome."

SOCIAL AND ENTERTAINMENT.—The Woman's Foreign Missionary Society of the Baptist church gave a social and entertainment last Tuesday evening. A very pleasant time was spent at the Baptist church. The people seemed well acquainted and were very sociable. All enjoyed themselves to their heart's content. When the meeting came to a close many were heard to say, "When will the next social take place?" Amount realized, $11.63.

AGRICULTURAL SOCIETY.—A meeting of the agricultural society was held in the Council hall on Monday last. No business was transacted and the meeting adjourned to meet in same place on the 15th inst.

WATER White American Coal Oil at 30c. per imperial gallon at Henderson's drug store.

ENTERTAINMENT.—The missionary entertainment in the Methodist church on Thursday, March 1st, was a success. There was a large turnout. The following was the programme:—

Chorus....."Take My Life,".....Choir
Prayer.....Rev. McFarlane
Secretary's Report.....Mrs. J. C. Sherin
Chorus....."There Is a Work".....Choir
Recitation.....Miss Higgens
Quartette.....Misses Redpath and Messrs. McFarlane and Patterson.
Paper..."Our Indian Work"....Mrs. Sellens
Responsive Exercise.....By Members of S. School
Trio.."The Gipsy Boy," Miss M. Hendren and Brothers
Speech..."Japan Work,"....Rev. Mr. Buckle
Duet....Miss Schofield and Mr. Postletnwaite
Recitation.....Miss A. Sherin
Chorus....."Gather Them In,".....Choir
Recitation.....Master Dodge
Chorus....."Tell it Out,".....Choir
The Doxology.

MISSIONARY ADDRESS.—The Rev. Mr. McEwen gave his missionary address on Wednesday evening last in the Methodist church. Subject, "Missionary Work in Africa," illustrated by a map. The choir rendered suitable selections of music.

CHAUTAUQUA CLASS.—The Chautauqua class met at the Methodist Parsonage on Thursday evening last.

COMING MEETINGS.—There will be a regular meeting of the Council on Monday evening next and on Tuesday evening the School Board have their regular meeting.

THROUGH THE GLASS.—One day last week a dog leaped through the door glass in Henderson's drug store, greatly to the amusement of a couple of gents who were in the store, and the chagrin of Mr. Henderson.

BEST Canadian Coal Oil at 20c per imperial gallon at Henderson's Drug Store.

C. O. F.—High Chief Ranger Elliott, of Listowel, paid Court Lakefield, C. O. F., a visit on Thursday, 1st March. Court Lakefield suppered Bro. Elliott at the Purser House in the evening. A very pleasant evening was spent, speeches and songs being the order of the evening.

PERSONAL.—Mr. Fred. Dinwoodie has returned to our village for a short time.... Miss Ennis has sold her millinery business to Miss Minnie Carveth....Mr. Robert Braden has moved into Lakefield. He has rented Mr. Finlay's house in No. 2 Ward.

FIRE ALARM.—The fire alarm has been attached to the English Church bell.

HYMENEAL.—One of Lakefield's popular young gentlemen, like the character in Shakespere's "Much Ado Abou Nothing," has decided not to remain a bachelor all his days, but take unto himself a maiden fair, from the town of Peterborough. Mr. Fred Barlee went to Peterborough to be married to Miss Strickland on Thursday. Peterborough loses a popular young lady and Lakefield gains a married one. We wish the newly married couple all the happiness of the married life and none of its sorrows.

SHORT VISIT.—We were very much pleased to receive a call from an old Lakefield boy, Mr. Wm. Thornton paid Lakefield a short visit.

FROM THE OTHER SIDE.—Mr. Sam Strickland and Miss F. Strickland, son and daughter of Geo. H. Strickland, Esq., have returned home, the former from St. Paul, Minnesota, and the latter from New York City.

CORRECTION.—In a former issue your correspondent referred to a quartette of coons saying one poor coon had a grey-ham. I might just say for the benefit of a party in Peterborough that none of the coons mentioned wear "bonnets."

A DIFFERENT HORSE.—The young gent who attends to the "iron horse" cannot manage the horse of flesh and blood, at least so it appeared on Sunday last. He had all he could do to get the brake to work to advantage.

C. E. T. S.—The regular fortnightly meeting of the Lakefield Band of Hope was held in the "old church," on Thursday evening, March 1st. There were 30 members present. After the usual hymns and devotional exercises, the following programme was carried out:—

Reading....."The Village News," N. Bell
Song....."The Four Marys," L LeFevre
Recitation..."Charge of the Life Brigade," W. Townsend.

HALIBURTON.

HALIBURTON B. ..—The Haliburton brass band has been organized, says the Echo, and the teacher of the Minden band, Mr. Sylvester, has been engaged. Messrs. Thompson and Mckelvey, of Haliburton, visited our town last week and made arrangements with Mr. Sylvester to go to Guelph to purchase the instruments. They have been received and the citizens of Haliburton are thinking of erecting a building a few miles out of town suitable to the requirements of the band.

SMITH.

Correspondence of the Review.

COUNCIL MEETING.—On Feb. 27th the Council met pursuant to adjournment, all the members present. The minutes of the last meeting were read and confirmed. A by-law to divide the Township of Smith into road and pound divisions and to appoint overseers of highways, pound keepers and fence viewers for 1888, passed its several readings and was signed and sealed. The Auditor's report was received and adopted, and the Clerk instructed to have 150 copies printed for distribution. A deputation of ladies from the village of Bridgenorth waited on the Council, asking a grant of money to assist in building a sidewalk in said village. The request was laid over for further consideration at the next meeting of the Council. It was decided to expend $10.50 in the repairs of the roads and bridges. The following accounts were ordered to be paid, namely:—J. B. Fowler, support of T. Holton, $6.00; J. G. Armstrong, work on road, $3.00; Comstock, for burial of Mrs. Stuart, $10.50; Robt. Scott, work on road, $11.57. Mr. Middleton gave notice that he would, at the next meeting of the Council, introduce a motion for the enforcement of the by-law of the township prohibiting any person from depositing any rubbish, stones or obstructions of any kind on any public highway, or removing any clay, sand, gravel or other material therefrom. The Council then adjourned till Monday, the 19th of March.

Advice to Mothers.

Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup should always be used when children are cutting teeth It relieves the little suffer at once; it produces natural quiet sleep by relieving the child from pain, and the little cherub awakes as bright as a button." It is very pleasant to taste. It soothes the child, softens the guns, allays all pain, relieves wind, regulates the bowels, and is the best known remedy for diarrhœa whether rising from teething or other causes 25 cents a bottle. Be sure and ask for "Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup," and take no other kind.

CRISP CAPITAL CHAT.

Mr. Perley Entertains—Northwest Government Bill—Banking Reform.

OTTAWA, March 7.—Mr. Perley, M.P. for Ottawa, gave a large dinner party at his handsome Wellington-street residence this evening. None but married couples were present. Among the guests were: Sir John and Lady Macdonald, Sir Charles and Lady Tupper, Chief Justice and Mrs. Ritchie, Speaker and Mrs. Plumb and Mr. and Mrs. Laurier.

The Public Accounts Committee will meet for the first time to-morrow.

The suggestion made a short time ago that the Banking and Commerce Committee of the Commons should consider the subject of reforms in the Banking Act will, it is understood, be adopted. The bank charters do not expire until 1890, and before their renewal some important amendments to the banking laws will be made. As a guidance in framing the bill for next session, a sub-committee of the Banking and Commerce Committee will this year be appointed to take evidence and enquire into the character of desirable reforms to safeguard the public interest and increase the security of bank note issues.

Ex-Speaker Kirkpatrick's bill to allow American vessels to aid vessels wrecked or disabled in Canadian waters will likely become a law. A similar bill has been introduced into the American Congress.

Moderate winds; fair weather, with a little higher temperature.

The Moral of the Question!

Some people talk all day and most of the night in propagating theories that will save the world from ruin, and yet the world goes booming along, getting better all the time. An illustration of this fact is seen in the solid value and honest service obtained at the golden lion by those who order from the dress and mantle department. The present stock of goods is an attractive combination of material and trimmings. Miss Neil, in charged of the department, is well skilled and lady customers express themselves as well satisfied with the excellent work sent out.

By Express.

The Hastings Star says that "A live express parcel, in the shape of a little girl about 8 years old, duly tagged, passed through here on Monday morning consigned to the Barnardo Home, Peterborough." She arrived here duly on time and was delighted to learn that on Friday afternoon a children's carnival will be held at the Lansdowne rink, which will be lit up with electric lights for the occasion. In the evening the carnival for the older folks will be held. For both occasions the list of prizes is larger and the articles of more value than ever were offered here before. Remember to-morrow afternoon and evening.

KIDD and his prices are both low, but the quality of his boots is the very best.

Cobourg Races.

The races at Cobourg were continued on Wednesday. The weather was fine, the attendance was very large, but as the track was heavy the time made was rather slow. The 2.40 open race was won by Mr. H. Winch's horse, without any difficulty. The best time made was 2.57 and the places taken were as follows:—

"Sleepy Dan"	1
"F. O. P."	2
"Blue Jean"	3
"Lark"	4
"Royal Jim"	5
"Livery Maid"	6

In the local race the score was:—

"Modesty"	1
"Betty C."	2
"Grafton Dude"	3

The named race was not finished, three horses winning two heats each. The races continue to-day.

Black Knights.

At the annual meeting at Port Hope of the Provincial Grand Chapter of the Royal Black Knights of Ireland the following officers were elected:—Grand Master, Robert Robinson, Tweed; Deputy Grand Masters, Jas. Evans, Port Hope, John Smith, Peterborough; Grand Chaplain, Rev. W. T. Smithett, D. D., Omemee; Deputy Grand Chaplains, Rev. Andrew Gordon, D. City; L. S. White, Amherst Island; W. H. Howard, Morven; E. G. P. Sanderson, Kingston; Grand Registrar, L. McGowan, Napanee; Deputy Grand Registrar, J. L. Winters, Lindsay; Grand Treasurer, R. Weir, Peterborough; Deputy Grand Treasurer, J. H. Campbell, Peterborough; Grand Lecturers, John Shepard, Ottawa, Thomas Murtagh, Lindsay; Standard Bearers, W. H. Cragg, Tweed, James Elliott, Thomasburg; Grand Censors, Wm. Cairns, Ottawa, George W. Hall, Peterborough; Grand Pursuivant, W. R. King, Peterborough; Grand Committee—John Pearce, Cobourg; Joshua Scott, Lindsay; James Marshall, Kingston; G. B. Fraser, Compbellford; Capt. W. Duncan, Carleton; Albert Bradley, Hazledean; Joseph Brown, Lindsay.

Almost miraculous are some of the cures accomplished by the use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla. In the case of R. L. King, Richmond, Va., who suffered for 17 years with and aggravated form of scrofula, Ayer's Sarsaparilla effected astonishing results.

California Fruits.

Another arrival of fine evaporated California Peaches, Apricots, Plums and a full assortment of California fruits in tins at Elliot & Tierney's.

A Large Funeral.

The funeral of the late Mr. John A. Hartley took place on Wednesday afternoon and was one of the largest seen in town for some time. The interment took place at the Little Lake Cemetery.

In Ennismore.

The Rector of the Cathedral preached a beautiful sermon in the Ennismore church yesterday. Vicar-General Browne and seven other priests were present. The occasion was the month's mind mass for the repose of the soul of the late Mrs. Moloney.

Stocking Up.

The local merchants are commencing to cast their eyes towards the wholesale marts with a view to purchasing the latest novelties. This is particular applicable to the dry-goods dealers and with this object in view Mr. Robert Fair, of the Golden Lion, leaves for Toronto this evening.

Kept Busy.

The steam boiler owned by the Water Company is kept steadily employed at the pump house to prevent the troublesome anchor ice from interfering with the working of the wheels. Men are required to be on duty night and day or the town's supply of water might be greatly interfered with.

The New Temple.

Men are at work digging out the cellar of the new Salvation Army temple, on Simcoe-st. The frost is in the ground about four feet. The work is to be pushed ahead as rapidly as possible and the officers expect to hold the first meeting in the new premises in the course of a few months.

For Drill.

A practice drill of the members of the Fire Department will take place on Tuesday evening. Three new members have recently joined the brigade and it is to give these a chance to learn the ropes and the couplings that the drill is called for. There will not be any run out, but simply coupling, etc., inside the fire station. It hardly pays to hold wet drills during the winter months, as it takes so long to dry the hose.

Money Wanted.

In taking leave of absence on a trip to London and Leipzig markets to purchase furs for the next winter season, I return thanks to the public who have so liberally patronized the firm for the past 27 years, at the same time reminding those who are indebted to the firm, that money is wanted, as purchases at so early a season, favorable in itself, for cash, cannot be bought to advantage on credit. New stock of hats is the order of the day. W. LECH. 1d57

Talking Horse.

We understand that the Cannington people who own "Maud S.," formerly "Maud Bartlett," of Lindsay, are anxious to arrange a match race between that mare and Mr. H. Winch's "Sleepy Dan" for any amount of money from $100 to $1,000 a side. We are inclined to think that there is very little, if any, chance of the race coming off this winter, but at a later date something might be done. "Dan" is a good honest trotter, but he is young yet, while "Maud S." is an old campaigner compared with him.

Nuisances.

On Monday last a man who has only recently arrived here from England was engaged to draw some night soil. He was told that he could throw it anywhere he saw fit. He threw it on the ice near Douglas & Logan's shop. Acting-Chief Adams found out the circumstances and made him remove it. He engaged another man to do the job. Man number two removed it all right, but he in turn broke the law by dumping it on the road near the Driving Park, on the North Monaghan side. Then to cap all some other individual threw half a dozen barrels into Spaulding's Bay. This work must cease and the police intend to prosecute with the utmost vigor the guilty parties.

The Nuptial Knot.

St. Luke's Episcopal Church, Ashburnham, was well filled at 10 30 o'clock this morning by an interested assemblage to witness the marriage of Mr. Fred. R. S. Barlee, of Lakefield, to Miss Emma Strickland, daughter of Mr. H. T. Strickland, of Ashburnham. The Rev. Mr. Bradshaw officiated and the choir, of which the bride was an esteemed member, turned out in full force. Messrs. Walter D. Strickland, Hilliard, and D'Arcy Strickland, of Lakefield, assisted the groom, while Miss Minnie Strickland, sister, Miss Daisy Morgan and Miss Amy Barlee, of Lakefield, acted as bridesmaids. The toilets of the ladies were exceedingly handsome. After the ceremony, Prof. Jacques played the wedding march and the bridal party adjourned to the residence of the bride's father, when after a short sojourn, the happy couple left on the C.P.R. express for Montreal, where the honeymoon will be spent. The presents received by the bride were numerous and elegant. The newly married pair start on their married journey through life with the brightest prospects and that all their most sanguine hopes may be realized is the wish of a wide circle of friends and acquaintances.

Curlians.

The point game takes place this afternoon and evening. All the members of the club can take part if they so desire. Two rinks are used, up one and down the other.

The third draw in the game for the 13 point medal will soon be finished. There will be six players left and then comes the tug of war.

Skip Strickland, of Lakefield, is evidently anxious to purchase more flour for the Protestant Home. He telephoned down yesterday that he was not satisfied with the result of the last game with skip Ferguson and he wants a date for another match. He will be accommodated.

The picture presented to the club by Mr. J. H. Burnham is on exhibition at Messrs. P. Connal & Co's. It is indeed handsome and appropriate and is much admired.

The flour games are getting tiresome and it is now proposed to play a series of matches for chairs, each member of the losing rinks to purchase a chair to be placed in the club rooms.

Messrs. R. S. Davidson and W. G. Ferguson played their 13 point game this morning. The former won by 13 to 10.

The curlers who went up to Bobcaygeon, on Wednesday did not come home that night, but remained over to play another game this morning. We will publish the scores later on.

Your Cards.

All those who appear at the carnivals in costume to-morrow, will kindly leave a card with the name and the character represented with a gentlemen who will be at the door for the purpose of receiving them.

A Sale.

The sale of the stock, etc., at Walkerfield, took place on Wednesday afternoon. Dr. Kincaid purchased all the thoroughbred cattle. There were quite a number of stockmen present.

A Hard Job.

Caretaker Cousins has had a rather difficult job keeping the ice at the rink in good condition, during the last few days, on account of the water service freezing up. To-day he secured a line of hose and borrowed water from a neighbor and he now has all the ice in splendid condition for the carnivals to-morrow.

At Port Hope.

At Port Hope a man tendered to perform the duties of chief constable for $100 less than Chief Douglas was paid. The Council appointed him and the citizens held an indignation meeting and passed a strong resolution asking the Council to reconsider their action. Chief Douglas is one of the most efficient officers in central Canada and we are inclined to thing that a mistake was made in supplanting him.

In Trouble.

The Mail:—"A woman who gave her name as Margaret McCutcheon was arrested on Wednesday afternoon charged with the larceny of a dozen handkerchiefs from the dry goods store of J. Laidlaw." Margaret at one time resided in Peterborough and over a dozen convictions are recorded against her here. She was sent to the Mercer Reformatory and thus the town got rid of her.

Orangeism.

The charges made against Mr. J. B. McWilliams, by some local members of the Orange Order, after being investigated by a committee of the Grand Lodge, at Port Hope, were not sustained, the evidence being newspaper reports. As a majority of the primary lodges were not favourable to it the benevolent scheme fell through. A report in favor of large celebrations this year, in central places, was adopted.

At the Soo.

Mr. Wm. Kennealy has returned home from Sault Ste. Marie, where he has purchased a large hotel and livery stable business. He has taken full possession, but will not move his family up for about two months. Mr. Kennealy reports that trade on the Canadian side is pretty brisk, although this is the dull season, on account of the canals being closed. Every person up there is preparing for a great boom during the coming summer and a great future for the town is anticipated.

Fire.

About 10.30 o'clock on Wednesday night, fire was discovered in a long, storey and a half frame shed, used as a store house, by Messrs. Douglas & Logan, carriage makers. The building was on the edge of the creek just south of their premises at Brock and Aylmer-sts. An alarm brought out the brigade in lively order. A line of hose was attached to a neighboring hydrant, but it was at once seen that the building was doomed, as it was one seething mass of flames inside. The north end was partitioned off and was at one time used as a stable, in the loft was a small quantity of hay and the walls were double, the space between the sheeting being filled in with sawdust. In the other portion was stored a quantity of lumber, seven or eight new buggies and a phaeton, three or four old buggies, a large supply of hubs, spokes, fellowes and bent stuff of all kinds. These lent fuel to the flames, which threw out a great heat. The stable portion burned slowly and the hooks were brought into requisition to pull it to pieces. In about an hour every vestige of fire was extinguished. There is no doubt that the place was set on fire by some miscreant. Mr. W. J. Hall, who first discovered it, found the whole interior in flames and he was driven back, when attempting to remove some of the contents. The old building has stood for many years and although buildings on all sides of it have been burned, time after time, the old place stood the brunt until this occasion. Messrs. Douglas & Logan estimate their loss at upwards of $2,000, upon which they have an insurance of $1,500 in the Royal. The building was owned by Messrs. W. Paterson & Son, whose loss will be about $600, with an insurance of $400 in the Norwich Union.

Brevities.

—The Police Court calendar this morning was a blank.

—Now look out for a thaw, so a somewhat famous local weather prophet says.

—Garden truck, such as green onions, etc., may now be purchased at the grocery stores.

—Large numbers of men are coming down from the woods every day and soon all the shanties will be broken up.

—There was a large crowd at the fire last night. A Peterborough fire draws a larger crowd than anything that we know of.

—Nearly all the members of the Peterborough contingent, who went down to the Cobourg races, reached home this morning. The horses will be roaded up.

—Horse buyers are still busily engaged in this vicinity, and they manage to pick up some good animals. They are nearly all shipped to the Montreal market.

—The military class will meet for organization to-morrow evening in the orderly room at the drill shed. Sergt.-Major Rundle will be the instructor.

—We have "Lansdowne" lodge Sons of England and the new one is to be called "Stanley," in honor of the Governor-General who is to succeed the present popular occupant of that high office.

—The Patriarchs of Hiawatha Encampment will not assemble to-night, having postponed their meeting until Friday evening of next week, when their fine new outfit will have arrived from the manufacturers.

MARRIED.

BARLEE—STRICKLAND.—At St. Luke's Church, Ashburnham, on the 8th of March, by the Rev. W. C. Bradshaw, Rector, FREDERICK ROSS S. BARLEE, Esq., of Lakefield, to MISS EMMA MARGARET, daughter of H. T. Strickland, Esq., of Ashburnham.

DIED.

REVIEWS.

THE CENTURY.—The March number of The Century surpasses any of the previous numbers of the present volume in point of literary merit and beautiful workmanship. The exquisite clearness of the typography is remarkable and it is questionable if greater excellence will be attained. Among the feast of good things presented, the capital article "The Home Ranch," by Theodore Roosevelt, descriptive of life on the cattle ranges of the West. The article is profously illustrated with spirited engravings. "Salisbury Cathedral" deals with one of the most renowned of the English churches and is from the pen of Mrs. Van Rensselaer, with illustrations by Joseph Pennell. Col. Rose's "Tunnel at Libby Prison," by Capt. Moran, is an interesting contribution to the paper's description of the "late unpleasantness." The illustrations are graphic and striking. Of purely literary matter there is a large quantity, including instalments of "The Graysons," "Au Large" (concluded), and one of Kennan's papers on "Russian Prisons and Prisoners." Other matter fills the number, not forgetting a continuation of the Life of Lincoln.

ST. NICHOLAS.—Probably no publication brings greater joy to thousands of young hearts than St. Nicholas. It is the premier magazine for children. Its fresh and fanciful pages are replete with story and picture, with fact and incident. The March number is a beauty, and—if that were a possibility—more interesting than ever. "The Ancient Haunt of Pirates," is thoroughly a boy's article; "Tracks in the Snow," is an interesting exposition of the peculiarities in the footsteps of various animals, while "People we Meet" is a talkative and racy paper. The thought occurs to one that so good is St. Nicholas that if the Sunday schools of the land had on the shelves of their libraries a dozen bound volumes of St. Nicholas that the scholars would glean more solid information and enjoy a better class of reading than is now offered, considering the manner in which the average library is selected. St. Nicholas is a capital gift to child, say a birthday gift, and is published by the Century Co'y. of New York.

HARPER'S MAGAZINE.—The March number of this Magazine is prolific in good things, artistic and practical. The gem of the number is a sonnet of Wordsworth's illustrated by Mr. Albert Parsons, "In sight of the town of Cockermouth." The initial article is devoted to an interesting description of "Spanish Art and Artists," by Mr. Edward Bowen Prescott, accompanied by magnificent full page reproduction of some of the best pictures. Barbud's "Last Scene in Hamlet" forms the frontispiece of the number. Other articles, including "A visit to a Colonial Estate," "The Great Far West" "Little Swiss Sojourn," The Empress Eugene and the Court of Tuileries," are interesting. In fiction Mr. Wm. Black continues his "In Far Lochaber," and there are pleasant stories by other well known authors. All the departments are up to or even above the high standard of Harper's and the illustrations are suberb.

LINDSAY.

THE INDIAN NAME.—A local authority, conversant with the native tribes, says the Indian name for Lindsay—or the place where Lindsay now stands—is Potaghgoning. It is pronounced Potawgoning.

HOSPITAL.—The Lindsay and Ops boards of health have united, and have decided to purchase or erect a suitable building for a hospital for contagious cases at a cost not to exceed $800. Of this outlay Lindsay will bear 75 per cent. and Ops 25 per cent. As Lindsay is the natural centre for a large district it would be a good idea to have a regular hospital established here.

OBITUARY.—The venerable Mrs. O'Beirne, of Port Carling, for many years a resident of Lindsay, passed away on Sunday in her 70th year, from heart disease. The deceased had always been in good health and her death was unexpected. The remains were brought to Lindsay for interment on Thursday in the Riverside cemetery by her two sons, Mr. Joshua O'Beirne, of Montreal, and Mr. W. M. O'Beirne, of the Woodstock Standard, and her only brother, Mr. Pendry, of Millbrook. The funeral services were held at Port Carling; and a few old friends gathered at the railway station at five in the afternoon and escorted the remains to their last resting place.... Old friends will regret to learn that Mr. P. H. O'Beirne, the aged husband and father, is seriously ill at Port Carling and and cannot live long.—Post.

EVANGELISTIC.—The protracted meetings are going on in the church. People are going up to the front pretty freely this year.

RUSHING.—The Wonderful Cheapside and the village blacksmith are doing a rushing business.

NOT LOOKING WELL.—The people of this village are not looking very well. I think it is because the Scott Act is in force. There are a lot of old coons who miss their bitters.

LITERARY SOCIETY.—The Literary Society held their meeting on Thursday evening last. The audience was not so large as usual, owing to the evening being rather stormy. Quite a good programme was presented. The subject for debate this evening was "Resolved, that the Mental Capacity of Man is Greater than that of Woman." The debate was carried on in a very interesting and spirited manner, causing considerable amusement. Mr. J. Stephens occupied the chair and after a lengthy review of the arguments brought out by the speakers gave the decision in favour of the ladies. The decision was received with loud applause. The following young ladies kindly assisted in the programme:—Miss Maria McAllister gave an instrumental piece and also a song, Miss Galloway and Miss McClelland gave a song and accompaniment. In the audience were noticed visitors from Baillieboro, and also visitors from Otonabee, the distance being shortened to a pleasant drive by the aid of the ice bridge across the river.

BRIDGENORTH.

Correspondence of the Review.

ACCIDENT.—On Monday of last week Mr. Wm. Grant met with a serious accident while drawing logs in the woods north of this village. While putting the logs on his sleigh one of them slipped, and catching his left leg, broke the bone near the ankle. Assistance was rendered and he was removed to his father's house. At last accounts he was in a fair way to recover.

A GOOD ANIMAL.—Mr. L. G. Fobert of this village has just bought a spanking fine colt which promises to make a fast driver. It was bought from Mr. P. Keller, of Ennismore.

MORE POWER TO THE GIRLS.—That sidewalk is a foregone conclusion. An active committee have the details of another concert in hand, to be given later. It may develop some attractive leap year features, and the boys of the village are getting anxious to know what is what. It will not require a heap of money to lay the plank and the girls are satisfied they can make up the cost and have the walk. Mem.—Perhaps it will afford a chance—when finished—for some leap year proposals. 'Rah for the girls of Bridgenorth.

NEW SHOP.—Mr. Geo. Bell has commenced work in his shop as a blacksmith. He occupies Moore's old shop. Mr. B. is a good workman and means to suit the public every time. No occasion to go out of the village for work now.

PERSONAL.—Mrs. Jas. Succee is in Toronto, where she has gone to consult expert medical advice. We hope to hear of her returning in better health shortly.

COMFORTING.—We are happy to learn that the Misses Ida and Effie Wilde have entirely recovered from their illness and are about again.

AT IT AGAIN.—The work of peeling posts has again commenced. We presume from the number there are to peel that the business will last some time.

A GOOD WORK.—A Young People's Prayer meeting has been started, to meet every Tuesday evening.

BETHANY.

SPECIAL SERVICES.—The revival meetings are increasing, the number of converts most satisfactory, and our minister, Rev. Mr. Courtice, deserves the highest regard and respect for his noble work. His assistant, Miss Holman, is labouring very devoutly for the redemption of souls.

OBIT.—Hardly a week passed during this winter but we have had a death or two to chronicle and this week brings the sad news of the death of Mrs. Jane Falls, who departed from this life on Friday, after suffering for some weeks with consumption. Her remains were conveyed to Falls' burying ground by a large concourse of friends and acquaintances who mourn her loss.

To Save Life

Frequently requires prompt action. An hour's delay waiting for the doctor may be attended with serious consequences, especially in cases of Croup, Pneumonia, and other throat and lung troubles. Hence, no family should be without a bottle of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, which has proved itself, in thousands of cases, the best Emergency Medicine ever discovered. It gives prompt relief and prepares the way for a thorough cure, which is certain to be effected by its continued use.

S. H. Latimer, M. D., Mt. Vernon, Ga., says: "I have found Ayer's Cherry Pectoral a perfect cure for Croup in all cases. I have known the worst cases relieved in a very short time by its use and I advise all families to use it in sudden emergencies, for coughs, croup, &c."

A. J. Eidson, M. D., Middletown, Tenn., says: "I have used Ayer's Cherry Pectoral with the best effect in my practice. This wonderful preparation once saved my life. I had a constant cough, night sweats, was greatly reduced in flesh, and given up by my physician. One bottle and a half of the Pectoral cured me."

"I cannot say enough in praise of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral," writes E. Bragdon, of Palestine, Texas, "believing as I do that, but for its use, I should long since have died."

FREER TRADE RELATIONS.

ANOTHER LEAF OF FISHERIES CONFERENCE HISTORY.

Sir Charles Presents to the House a Proposal Made by the British Plenipotentiaries with Reference to Greater Freedom of Commercial Intercourse Between Canada, the United States and Newfoundland.

OTTAWA, March 7.—The House to-day was partly admitted into the secret of what Sir Charles meant by the proposals and counter-proposals for freer trade relations between Canada and the United States that formed part and parcel of the deliberations of the Fisheries Commissioners at the recent Washington conference. While Sir Charles read a statement purporting to outline these proposals and counter-proposals there is a deep seated feeling on both sides of the House that the whole "outfit," if I may use a present-day phrase, should be laid bare before Parliament and the country. Our plenipotentiary evidently desires to make this knowledge as complete as cold type can convey it, but he fears that it would be a breach of confidence to do so unless he obtains the tacit consent of the other plenipotentiaries, one of whom, Mr. Chamberlain, is on the high seas en route to England and cannot be interviewed until his arrival in Liverpool on Saturday or Sunday.

However, Sir Charles told the House this afternoon that he had obtained from Sir Lionel West and Mr. Bayard their consent to lay before Parliament a memorandum of the proposals and counter-proposals. Sir Charles Tupper begged leave, therefore, formally to hand in the following proposal from the British plenipotentiaries:

"That, with the view of removing all causes of difference in connection with the fisheries, it is proposed by Her Majesty's plenipotentiaries that the fishermen of both countries shall have all the privileges enjoyed during the existence of the fishery articles of the Treaty of Washington in consideration of a mutual arrangement providing for greater freedom of commercial intercourse between the United States and Canada and Newfoundland."

The following answer was returned:

"While continuing their proposal heretofore submitted on the 30th ult., and fully sharing the desire of Her Britannic Majesty's plenipotentiaries to remove all causes of differences in connection with fisheries, the American plenipotentiaries are constrained, after careful consideration, to decline to ask from the President the authority requisite to consider the proposal conveyed to them on the 3rd inst, as a means to the desired end, because the greater freedom of commercial intercourse so proposed would necessitate an adjustment of the present tariff of the United States by congressional action, which adjustment, the American plenipotentiaries consider to be manifestly impracticable of accomplishment through the medium of a treaty under the circumstances now existing. Nor could the American plenipotentiaries admit that such a mutual arrangement as is proposed by Her Britannic Majesty's plenipotentiaries could be accepted as constituting a suitable basis of negotiation concerning the rights and privileges claimed for American fishing vessels. It still appears to the American plenipotentiaries to be possible to find an adjustment of differences by agreeing on an interpretation or modification of the treaty of 1818 which will be honorable to both parties and remove the present causes of complaint, to which end they are now, as they have been from the beginning of this conference, ready to devote themselves."

Thus the American commissioners do not express any opinion as to the merits of Unrestricted Reciprocity or any other proposal looking to extended commercial intercourse between the two countries. They say that they have no power to consider anything but the fishery question, and that questions touching the tariff must be dealt with independently and by congressional action only.

Mr. Mitchell complained that the statement read by Sir Charles was very vague.

"I would like to know, and I am sure the whole country would like to know," continued Peter, "just how far the British plenipotentiaries intended to go in their overtures for freer commercial relations, and whether it extended beyond the raw materials and natural products of both countries. In fact I would like to know if it were the intention to include manufactured articles."

To this question Sir Charles would only answer that the proposals of the British plenipotentiaries were met by a categorical refusal on the part of the American plenipotentiaries, who said that the question of the tariff was for congressional action alone. All attempts to "pump" him further were entirely barren of result, but it is the general feeling that considerable interesting discussion passed between the British and American plenipotentiaries on international trade relations.

Sir Richard Cartwright made a certainty of the debate on his extended trade relations motion come on next Wednesday, whether Sir Charles gave the House any more information or not. The motion was made a firm order for Wednesday next.

MONA SCULLY;

—OR—

The Bride of an Englishman.

A STORY OF THESE TIMES.

"To you?" says her companion, staring at her, and drawing his breath a little hard. "Then, even if he should lose to me lands, title, nay, all he possesses, I should still count him a richer man than I am."

"Oh, poor Nicholas," says Mona, sadly, "and poor little Doatie!"

"You speak as if my victory was a foregone conclusion," says Rodney.—"How can you tell? He may yet gain the day, and I may be the outcast."

"I hope with all my heart you will," says Mona.

"Thank you," replies he, stiffly; "yet, after all, I think I should bet upon my own chance."

"I am afraid you are right," says Mona. "Oh, why did you come over at all?"

"I am very glad I did," replies he, doggedly. "At least I have seen you. They cannot take that from me. I shall always be able to call the remembrance of your face my own."

Paul, watching her, feels as though he is in the presence of some gentle saint, sent for a space to comfort sinful earth. A passionate admiration for her beauty and purity fills his breast; he could have fallen at her feet and cried aloud to her to take pity upon him, to let some loving thought for him—even him too—enter and find fruitful soil within her heart.

"Try not to hate me," he says, imploringly, in a broken voice, going suddenly up to her and taking one of her hands in his. His grasp is so hard as to almost hurt her. Mona, awakening from her reverie, turns from him with a start. Something in his face moves her.

"Indeed, I do not hate you," she says, impulsively. "Believe me, I do not. But still I fear you."

Some one is coming quickly towards them. Rodney, dropping Mona's hand, looks hurriedly round, only to see Lady Rodney approaching.

"Your husband is looking for you," she says to Mona, in an icy tone. "You had better go to him. This is no place for you."

Without vouchsafing a glance of recognition to the Australian, she sweeps past, leaving them again alone. Paul laughs aloud.

"'A haughty spirit comes before a fall,'" quotes he, contemptuously.

"I must go now. Good-night," says Mona, kindly, if coldly. He escorts her to the door of the conservatory. There Lauderdale, who is talking with some men, comes forward and offers her his arm to take her to the carriage. And then adieux are said, and the duke accompanies her down stairs, whilst Lady Rodney contents herself with one of her sons.

"Mona," says Geoffrey to her, suddenly, in a low whisper, throwing his arm round her (they are driving home alone in the small night-brougham),—"Mona, do you know what you have done to-night? The whole room went mad about you. They would talk of no one else. Do not let them turn your head."

"Turn it where, darling?" asks she, a little dreamily.

"Away from me," returns he, with some emotion, tightening his clasp round her.

"From you? Was there ever such a dear, silly old goose," says Mrs. Geoffrey, with a faint, loving laugh. And then, with a small sigh full of content, she forgets her cares for others for a while, and, nestling closer to him, lays her head upon his shoulder, and rests there happily until they reach the Towers.

CHAPTER XXII.

It is the morning after Lady Chetwoode's ball. Every one has got down to breakfast. Every one is in excellent spirits, in spite of the fact that the rain is racing down the window-panes in torrents, and that the post is late.

"I am always so glad when the post doesn't arrive in time for breakfast," Doatie is saying, gayly. "Once those horrid papers come, every one gets stupid and engrossed, and thinks it a positive injury to have to say even 'yes' or 'no' to a civil question. Now see how sociable we have been this morning, because that dear Jacob is late again. Ah! I spoke too soon," as the door opens and a servant enters with a most imposing pile of letters and papers.

"Don't throw me over that blue envelope, Nick," says Nolly; "I don't seem to care about it. I know it, I think; it seems familiar. You may have it, with my love. Mrs. Geoffrey, be so good as to tear it in two."

Jack is laughing over a letter written by one of the fellows in India; all are deep in their own correspondence.

Sir Nicholas, having gone leisurely through two of his letters, opens a third, and begins to peruse it rather carelessly. But hardly has he gone half way down the first page when his face changes; involuntarily his fingers tighten over the luckless letter, crimping it out of all shape. By a supreme effort he suppresses an exclamation. It is all over in a moment. Then he raises his head, and the color comes back to his lips. He smiles faintly, and, saying something about having many things to do this morning, and that therefore he hopes they will forgive him for running away from them in such a hurry, he rises and walks slowly from the room.

Nobody has noticed that anything is wrong. Only Doatie turns very pale, and glances nervously at Geoffrey, who answers her frightened look with a perplexed one of his own.

Then, as breakfast was virtually over before the letters came, they all rise, and disperse themselves as fancy dictates. But Geoffrey goes alone to where he knows he shall find Nicholas in his own den.

An hour later, coming out of it again, feeling harassed and anxious, he finds Dorothy walking restlessly up and down the corridor outside, as though listening for some sound she pines to hear. Her pretty face, usually so bright and debonnaire, is pale and sad. Her lips are trembling.

"May I not see Nicholas, if only for a moment?" she says, plaintively, gazing with entreaty at Geoffrey. At which Nicholas, hearing from within the voice that rings its changes on his heart from morn till eve, calls aloud to her—

"Come in, Dorothy. I want to speak to you."

So she goes in, and Geoffrey, closing the door behind her, leaves them together.

She would have gone to him then, and tried to console him in her own pretty fashion, but he motions her to stay where she is.

"Do not come any nearer," he says, hastily. "I can tell it all to you better, more easily, when I cannot see you. They—they have found that fellow,—old Elspeth's nephew," he says, in a husky tone.

To be Continued.

Right now is the time to use a good Blood Purifying Medicine. Lose no time in getting a bottle of Dr. Carson's Stomach Bitters. It will do you good. Sold by all druggists, 50 cents.

A FEW DOLLARS MIGHT BE SAVED.

It is a positive fact that money is thrown away every week. Why is this? You would imagine any one keen to save money in their purchases and yet they pay prices for goods, that could be bought much cheaper, if bought in the right place.

SHEPPARD

Has Some Very Cheap Goods, his importations for Spring now to hand are fully fifty per cent. cheaper than the same goods has been sold in Peterborough for before. Now if you want LACES go to SHEPPARD'S, or if you want CORSETS in all sizes, starting at 22½ up.

Beautiful BLACK and COLORED HOSE, two pairs for 25 cents.

A Circular Pillow Cotton, cheapest in town. White Cottons and Shirtings marked very low. Don't you buy anything in Spring Goods before making a bee line to Peterborough's Great Cheapside.

In Brief and to the Point.

Dyspepsia is dreadful. Disordered liver s misery. Indigestion is a foe to good nature.

The human digestive apparatus is one of the most complicated and wonderful things in existance. It is easily put out of order.

Greasy food, tough food, sloppy food, bad cookery, mental worry, late hours, irregular habits, and many other things which ought not to be, have made the American people a nation of dyspeptics.

But Green's August Flower has done a wonderful work in reforming this sad business and making the American people so healthy that they can enjoy their meals and be happy.

Remember:—No happiness without health. But Green's August Flower brings health and happiness to the dyspeptic. Ask your druggist for a bottle. Seventy-five cents

FRIDAY, MARCH 9, 1888

THE R. R. V. R. R. OR BLOOD.

Preliminary Conference of the Manitoba Delegation and Cabinet Ministers.

OTTAWA, March 8.—Premier Greenway and Attorney-Geueral Martin of Manitoba had a preliminary interview with Sir John Macdonald, Sir Charles Tupper, Sir Hector Langevin, the Minister of Justice, and Mr. J. H. Pope this morning. The conference was merely informal, the "situation" in the Prairie Province being carefully broached on both sides.

Mr. Greenway was casually asked what Manitoba wanted, and he replied that disallowance was to be positively abolished.

The conversation of the conference was on railway matters generally, and Mr. Greenway intimated that the Red River Valley road must be built. The people of Manitoba demanded it.

The Hudson Bay road was mentioned by Sir Charles Tupper, as were also other railways that are on the tapis in the great Northwest.

At the request of Sir John, who said several other conferences would have to be held, Mr. Greenway said he would postpone the reassembling of the Manitoba Legislature which was called for March 15.

Nothing further was decided upon. But it was agreed to summon the leading officials of the Canadian Pacific Railway to the Capital at once and they will take part in the "treaty."

I hear it on excellent authority to-night that no matter what concessions or privileges are allowed Manitoba, the right to build the Red River Valley Railroad will certainly not be allowed. Other compromises are talked about.

The Manitoba people, however, continue to cry "No surrender" and insist they will have the Red River road or blood.

Another meeting will be held to-morrow.

Public Accounts Committee.

OTTAWA, March 8.—At the Public Accounts Committee this morning Sir Richard Cartwright asked for the contracts and papers in connection with the printing of Dominion notes at a cost of $37,000.

Commissioner Miall of the Inland Revenue Department will be summoned to give explanations as to arrearages amounting to $113,000 for hydraulic and other rents.

Mr. Somerville asked that all the vouchers in connection with the expenses of the First Minister for cab hire for 1887 be laid before the committee.

Mr. McMullen wanted the papers in connection with Rideau Hall expenditure. He also moved for papers regarding Sir Adolphe Caron's bills for cab hire and traveling expenses.

Mr. Collingwood Schreiber will be summoned before the committee to give evidence with regard to railway expenditure.

A REVEREND FORGER.

An Unscrupulous Divine is Arrested on a Charge of Forgery.

TORONTO, March 9.—James W. C. Gibson, who calls himself a minister of the Gospel, was lodged in a police cell at headquarters yesterday afternoon on a charge of forgery.

The circumstances leading up to the arrest of this individual are somewhat curious. Mr. Gibson is a man of fine appearance, being 6 feet in height and 30 years of age. His parents reside about a mile from Dovercourt Postoffice, and are very respectable people. It is said that the prisoner was educated and ordained as a minister, and occasionally filled the pulpit in country towns during the absence of regular pastors. Some time ago the Rev. James went out to Dakota, and while there in some way got possession of twelve blank money orders belonging to the American Express Company. On Feb. 11 he arrived in Toronto and after having forged the name of the express company's agent at St. Mary's, Dakota, to one of the orders, cashed it at the branch of the Dominion Bank, Dundas-street. On the following Monday he cashed ten others, each one being for $49.50, at the branch of the Dominion Bank, corner of Queen and Esther-streets, and immediately afterwards disappeared. In due course the orders were handed over to Mr. Irwin, of the American Express Company in Toronto, and he at once gave his check for the amounts named in the eleven orders. When they were sent to New York for collection the forgeries were discovered, and a private detective was detailed to hunt Gibson down. He located the fugitive in Lockport, New York, and from there followed him to Toronto. Gibson arrived by the noon train and was at once arrested by Detective Davis.

The prisoner some two years ago occupied the pulpit of the Congregational Church, Bowmanville, for three months during the absence of Rev. Mr. Warner, the pastor, and preached again in Bowmanville two weeks ago. He had made an engagement to preach in the Methodist Church, Dovercourt, a week ago last Sunday, but skipped out as soon as he secured the cash on the forged money orders.

A Dwelling at Lindsay Burnt.

LINDSAY, March 8.—A brick dwelling house owned by Mrs. Welsh and occupied by Mrs. O'Connell was completely destroyed by fire to-day. The building was insured in the Imperial for $200; no insurance on contents; loss, $300. The fire is supposed to have been caused by children playing with matches.

PROVINCIAL EXHIBITION.

THE CUSTOMARY ANNUAL ALLOWANCE OF $10,000 GRANTED.

The Town of Cobourg's Indebtedness Under the Municipal Loan Fund Act—Reference to the German Emperor—St. Catharines Municipal Debentures.

TORONTO, March 9.—A number of petitions against the Friendly Societies Bill were presented in the Legislature yesterday.

On a question of privilege Dr. Widdifield took exception to a report in The Globe of yesterday morning, in which he had been made to say that he held a very poor opinion of the Chairman of the Private Bills Committee. He had not spoken in the debate, on either one side or the other, and he took this opportunity of saying that he held the very highest opinion of Mr. Gibson of Hamilton, as an independent and impartial chairman.

Mr. Wood (Hastings) rose to withdraw any remarks made by him in yesterday's debate which were capable of an offensive construction.

Mr. O'Connor said to render the love-feast complete he too would withdraw any remarks of his which had tended to cause any ill-feeling.

Mr. Meredith asked the Government to allow his motion for a committee to inquire into the timber and mineral wealth of the province to be taken up to-day.

Hon. Mr. Fraser asked the leader of the Opposition to consent to have it stand over till Tuesday next, on the plea that he was suffering from a severe attack of toothache.

Mr. Meredith remarked that he had no desire to take advantage of the indisposition of the Commissioner of Public Works, preferring to meet him when he was in his pristine vigor.

The House then went into committee of the whole, and advanced the Attorney-General's bill respecting auxiliary probates and letters of administration a stage, with a few slight amendments.

Hon. A. M. Ross moved that the House ratify an order-in-council accepting $25,000 in cash in full settlement of the bonds of the Town of Cobourg issued under the Municipal Loan Fund Act, 1873, for £8800 sterling. He gave a brief outline of the history of the Cobourg indebtedness and the arrangement that had been arrived at.

Mr. Craig (East Durham) said he did not question the wisdom of the Government in settling up this account, but contended that similar generous treatment should be extended to Port Hope. That town found it onerous to pay the instalments, and by the action of the Government in chartering lines of railway competing with the Midland the harbor dues had fallen, and this was a large source of revenue to the town. He urged the Government's leniency.

Mr. Wood (Hastings) and Mr. Meredith took the position that Hastings and London had been dealt unfairly with in regard to the municipal loan fund indebtedness.

Hon. A. M. Ross pointed out the impossibility of opening up the question and the motion carried.

Hon. A. M. Ross moved that the House ratify an order-in-council accepting from St. Catharines municipal debentures of the city for $4850, payable in five years, with interest at the rate of 5 per cent., payable half-yearly, in full settlement of the indebtedness of the city upon municipal loan fund debentures and coupons now held by the province.

The motion passed.

The House went into Committee of Supply and took up the agricultural estimates. On the question as to whether the usual grant to the Agricultural and Arts Association be made for the purpose of holding the Provincial Exhibition,

Mr. Metcalfe (Kingston) said it was understood that the Exhibition was to be held in Kingston this year, and on that understanding an expense of $20,000 to $30,000 had been incurred. He would like to hear the other members on the question. It would be a serious thing for the Kingston people if the grant were withdrawn. If the Provincial Show was to die, let it die where it was born. He thought it was born where the Attorney-General and himself were born. [Laughter.]

Hon. A. M. Ross said a large number of practical farmers opposed the grant. They thought the usefulness of the Provincial Exhibition was gone. It would be left to the House to say whether the grant be made or not.

Mr. Drury did not agree with the Commissioner of Agriculture that the usefulness of this exhibition was gone. He revered this exhibition for the good it had done, and its good would go on if it was not that special attractions to catch the wonder of the multitude diverted the attention from the practical object of the exhibition. Horse racing and the like were introduced to the detriment of the educational aspects of the exhibitions. If it was the intention to discontinue the exhibition they should first ascertain the views of the electoral district societies.

A motion will be made when the motion for concurrence in the report of the Committee of Supply is brought before the House, to insert the customary $10,000 grant in the estimates.

The agricultural estimates were partly considered and stood over at Mr. Clancy's request.

The sum of $27,954 was voted for refunds, $113,277.24 for hospitals and charities, and $68,100 for miscellaneous. The committee rose.

EXCITEMENT IN MANITOBA.

Halfbreeds Holding Meetings at St. Laurent at the Call of Gabriel Dumont.

WINNIPEG, March 8.—Some excitement exists here owing to despatches received from St. Laurent that the Halfbreeds are holding meetings at the call of Gabriel Dumont, now in New York.

Dumont writes that he is still working in their interests, but has changed his mind and will use only political means, in which he has the co-operation of leading politicians of the East.

The Mounted Police recently went to Batoche, presumably on account of this meeting. The best feeling exists between the police and the Metis.

Reports from Edmonton say that the Indians northwest of there are starving owing to failure of crops and fisheries.

King John, of Anysmis, hates the signt, taste and smell of tobacco, and he cuts off noses and lips of smokers and chewers in his dominions.

THE BRITISH COMMONS.

Lord Randolph Churchill's Comments on the Military Position of England.

LONDON, March 8.—The debate on the motion of Sir Walter B. Barttelot (Conservative) for the appointment of a Royal Commission to ascertain and report upon military measures necessary for the protection of the Empire was resumed in the House of Commons to-night by Lord Randolph Churchill. He commenced his speech by reminding the House that no less than 178 members were connected with the army and navy services, and that the debate had disclosed their absolute unanimity on one point, namely, that notwithstanding the immense increase in expenditure the military position of England was deplorably bad. The remedy of those members was the expenditure of more money, but his remedy was reform in the expenditure. Enough had already been paid to maintain both services in a state of splendid efficiency. But the English system was without a parallel in any other country—military men who had been trained in the business of arms being subordinate to civilians who were utterly untrained. It would be just as reasonable for the Premier to nominate Mr. Labouchere Archbishop of Canterbury, or to make Mr. Chaplin Lord Chancellor. [Laughter.] Military training seemed to disqualify a man from managing the war offices. That must be altered.

The financial control, after the estimates are granted, ought to be placed in the hands of responsible officers. English officers were made spending animals instead of like the German officers rivalling one another in economy. Stores for a German regiment could go to the front on twelve hours' notice without prolonged letters from the War Office. That could not be done in England without piles of files passing and repassing for several days. The German corps d'armee was maintained for £1,000,000, as against £7,000,000 for English corps.

This monstrous waste extended to every branch of the service. A rigid and vigorous inquiry and radical reforms were imperatively necessary. He could not vote confidence in the existing system; it was hopelessly bad. [Cheers.]

Mr. Stanhope, Secretary for War, intimated that the Government would sanction an inquiry into any definite matter connected with the estimates, but would resist the appointment of a Royal Commission of vague general character.

The motion for the appointment of a Royal Commission was negatived.

THE ENGINEERS' STRIKE.

What a Burlington Official Says—The Rock Island's Attitude.

CHICAGO, March 8.—An official of the Burlington road said to-night that the road had brought in forty cars of stock to-day, being the first stock transported since the strike. He said the Michigan Central, the Lake Shore and the Pittsburg, Fort Wayne and Chicago roads have notified the company that they would take all the freight it could send them. He declared that the strikers' places had been filled to a very great degree and that there was nothing to arbitrate.

The Rock Island's Reasons.

CHICAGO, March 8.—Manager St. John of the Rock Island Railroad Company, replying to a letter from General Manager Stone of the Burlington, in which he requests the former road to state its reasons for refusing to handle the Burlington cars, says its engineers and firemen positively refuse to handle freight received from or delivered to that road, and to discharge them would not enable it to exchange with the Burlington, while it would render it impossible to carry for anybody else.

After Us.

HAMILTON, March 8.—At a meeting of the Executive Committee of the Hamilton and Wentworth Agricultural Society this afternoon, it was decided to open the Central Fair on Monday, Sept. 30, the week following the Toronto Exhibition.

Over eighty applications for the five appointments to be made to the police force have been received.

There were no prisoners in the Police Court pen this morning.

Ex-Chief Stewart is in the city.

Suicide of a Canadian at Buffalo.

BUFFALO, March 8.—John Maddigan, who for some time past had been drinking heavily, rushed into Police Station No. 2 yesterday and announced that he had killed his wife. The statement was unfounded, and he was locked up to have his sanity inquired into. This morning his wife visited him and a half hour later he was found dead in his cell, having hanged himself with a silk handkerchief. He was a Canadian.

Agreed to Die Together.

CHICAGO, March 8.—Gracie McCullom, manager of a manicure establishment here, committed suicide last night. It was learned to-day that the young woman and Wm. S. Hartwell, in whose house she had formerly been employed as a domestic and with whom she fell in love, had agreed to die together. Hartwell shot himself in a bath tub yesterday.

BETWEEN LIFE AND DEATH

THE DREAD MESSENGER KNOCKS AT THE PALACE GATES.

But the Mighty Kaiser Not Yet Overcome by the Conqueror of Kings—The Last Rites of the Church Administered to the Dying Monarch.

BERLIN, March 8.—The official bulletin issued at 9 o'clock this evening announces that the Emperor lives and that on the whole his condition is more tranquil. The bulletin has reassured the people who had been intensely excited by the reports of his death which had been published in newspaper extras.

At midday the Emperor was feverish and his pulse was 108. It is stated that during an attack of delirium this morning the Emperor imagined he was reviewing a battalion of the Guards.

The physicians in attendance upon the Emperor have published an assurance that the somnolent condition of His Majesty is not the result of the injection of morphia. This has confirmed the belief that a crisis is imminent.

The session of the Reichstag will close to-morrow.

Sleeping Soundly at 2 this Morning.

At 2 o'clock all was quiet in the palace and the Emperor was sleeping soundly with some prospect of improvement.

The Last Sacrament.

At noon all the members of the Imperial family, except the Crown Prince and Crown Princess, were in a room adjoining that occupied by the Emperor. At 12.25 Chaplain Koegel gave the last sacrament to the Emperor. The Emperor was occasionally delirious before noon.

"Sorry to Cause Trouble."

The Emperor's pulse has fallen from 116 to 96. When awake he is fully conscious, showing an interest in what is passing around him. He asked the Grand Duchess of Baden, who sat by the bed, whether she had already dined and with whom, and then asked why she had not dined with the Empress. He expressed regret that he was "causing so much trouble."

Anxious Subjects.

Silent crowds stood outside the palace throughout the day. The scene was a deeply impressive one. A pin could almost be heard drop. Whoever came to the door of the palace was mutely interrogated by thousands of anxious eyes.

The people refused to believe the denial of the Emperor's death, thinking that the fact was being concealed. Some stated that a telegram had been sent to the Crown Prince asking his consent to the publication of the death of the Emperor.

Special Services in Berlin Churches.

Previous to the report that the Emperor had died special services were held in the various churches. All the edifices were crowded and the congregations joined fervently in the prayers. Many persons sobbed.

The Emperor fell into a swoon at 5 o'clock, and remained unconscious until 6 o'clock. He afterwads fell into a quiet sleep which lasted till 7 o'clock. Wine and other liquid nourishment are administered to him occasionally.

Prince William's Credentials.

Following is the text of the Imperial decree promulgated to-day declaring Prince William to be the representative of the Emperor in state affairs:

Considering the uncertain state of my health, which compels me temporarily to abtain from the transaction of affairs, and in view of the illness and prolonged absence of my son Frederick William, I charge Your Royal Highness with all cases where I believe representation necessary in current Government business, especially signing orders without a special order being requisite on every separate occasion.

The Vienna Freie Presse asserts that in the event of the Emperor's death the Imperial decree granting regency powers to Prince William, ipso facto, is nullified, and that Frederick William becomes Emperor by right of succession.

Not Officially Reported at London.

LONDON, March 9.—At 12.20 a.m. no official report of the death of the Emperor had reached the German Ambassy.

The Queen's Drawing Room has been postponed on account of the condition of Emperor William.

It is reported that Queen Victoria received a telegram from Berlin at 1 o'clock last night saying that the Emperor was still in a state of torpor.

There was intense excitement in the lobbies of the House of Parliament over the reports from Berlin. The House adjourned at the usual hour.

A report is current that the foreign office has a bulletin from Berlin saying the Emperor was conscious at a late hour last night.

A Paris Report.

PARIS, March 8.—The Soir says that Emperor William died at 5 p.m.

ADOPTED WHOLESALE.

When Mr. Mowat submitted the inter-provincial conference resolutions to the Legislature he stated that they would be voted on separately. But after the leader of the Opposition had spoken, he announced that the House would be asked to vote upon them as a whole. This would prevent fuller discussion of the resolutions. But when the vote was taken the Government played a trick—with the aid of their majority—that not only prevented full discussion of the various proposals, but also prevented the Conservative minority from placing on record their views. When an amendment was moved, Mr. Fraser moved an amendment to the amendment which applied the cloture and forced a vote at once upon the main motion.

Considering the importance of the questions the members of the House were asked to vote upon the application of cloture can only be considered an outrage. The resolutions propose important changes in the constitution of the Dominion—changes that are not in the interests of the country and which, we believe, will not be acceptable to the majority of the people. Yet Mr. Mowat and his colleagues force them through the Legislature by an abituary use of the rules of the House. They propose that the right of self-government shall be invaded, that the constitution of the Senate shall be altered in a manner that would, if it is now faulty, make it worse, and that Ontario shall be burdened for the benefit of other Provinces. And these and other proposals they forced through, without allowing the usual privilege and just right to those who opposed them of recording their opinions regarding them.

The resolutions should not have been passed until the people of the Province had an opportunity to express their opinion upon them, and the further action of the Government on Wednesday night made the matter still worse.

EMPEROR WILLIAM DEAD.

While the world watched the progress of the disease that seems to be carrying away the Crown Prince of Germany, suddenly it was announced that his father, the aged Emperor, was seriously ill, and the news of his death followed fast. The Emperor was born on March 22nd, 1797, and from his earliest years he received a military training, having been commissioned a subaltern when ten years of age. He was the second son of Frederick William III., King of Prussia, and succeeded to the throne in 1860, upon the death of his brother Frederick William IV., but he had really ruled as Regent for three years previous to that time and had been commander of the army much longer.

The Emperor was a military monarch, and he had crossed swords with Austria, Denmark and France, the result of the wars being the consolidation of Germany and his own elevation to the throne of the Empire. In 1862, two years after he ascended the throne of Prussia, he entrusted the Government to Count von Bismarck, who from that time was his trusted adviser, and the result of their policy was the extension of the kingdom and the building up of the Empire.

The Emperor for many years has been popular with his people, although at one time, when his brother sat on the throne, he was forced to seek refuge in England, he was so greatly disliked. His death will be mourned, and the illness—fatal illness, most probably—of the Crown Prince will add to the grief of the Germans.

The Emperor will be succeeded by the Crown Prince, who is married to the eldest daughter of Queen Victoria and is 56 years old. The Crown Prince's oldest son, who is 29 years of age, now becomes next heir to the throne.

Advice to Mothers.

Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup should always be used when children are cutting teeth It relieves the little sufferer at once; it produces natural, quiet sleep by relieving the child from pain, and the little cherub awakes as bright as a button." It is very pleasant to taste. It soothes the child, softens the gums, allays all pain, relieves wind, regulates the bowels, and is the best known remedy for diarrhœa whether arising from teething or otherwise. 25 cents a bottle. Be sure and ask for "Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup," and take no other kind.

LATEST MARKET REVIEW.

Toronto, March 8.

The grain and produce markets are generally firm and steady both at home and abroad, and show little change from yesterday.

On call at the Board of Trade to-day: No. 1 red 95c bid. No. 1 Manitoba hard 90c bid. No. 2 hard offered at 88c, to arrive 85c bid.

The car lots received at Chicago yesterday were: Winter wheat 9, spring 19, corn 239, oats 121, rye 2 and barley 21.

Halifax, N. S., March 8.—Flour market steady. Choice pastry, American, $5 to $5.25; choice pastry, Canadian, $5 to $5.25; family patent, $4.70 to $4.75; strong bakers' patent, $4.65 to $4.70; superior extra, $4.40 to $4.50; extra spring, $4.35; superfine, $4.

The flour market is without feature. The demand at present is for local consumption, very little export business being transacted.

The report of receipts of hogs from the Chicago stock yards to-day: Estimated receipts 18,000, official yesterday 15,732, shipments 7233, left over about 4000. Cattle receipts 8000. The market fairly active.

In Chicago to-day wheat opened unchanged at 80¾ and closed ½ lower. Corn opened unchanged at 53 and closed ¼ lower. Oats opened ¼ lower at 31⅜ and closed ¼ lower. Pork opened unchanged at $14.25, advanced to $14.10, and closed the same as last night. Lard opened unchanged at $7.70 and closed at that price.

The local and Montreal stock markets continue firm, while in New York stocks were irregular to-day and in London weaker. Grain and produce, both in the local and foreign markets, is generally firm though quiet.

ST. LAWRENCE MARKET.

The retail market continues quiet and prices are without change.

BEERBOHM'S REPORT.

Beerbohm reports to-day: Floating cargoes—Wheat and corn steady, arrivals wheat 1, corn 3, sold wheat 1, waiting orders wheat 2, corn 2. Cargoes on passage, wheat not much demand. French country markets, wheat firm. Paris quiet. Liverpool wheat rather more enquiry, corn heavy, corn 4s 7¾d, 1d cheaper, peas 5s 5d, 1d dearer.

LIVERPOOL MARKET.

Liverpool reports to-day: White wheat firm, fair demand, holders offer moderately, corn quiet, and steady, poor demand. Prices: Spring wheat 6s 7d to 6s 8d; red winter 6s 7d; No. 1 Cal. 6s 7d to 6s 8d; corn 4s 7¾d; peas 5s 4½d; pork 68s 9d; lard 39s; bacon 38s; cheese 56s; eol. 68s.

THE CITY AND SUBURBS

The Weather Probabilities.

East and south winds; fair weather, and higher temperature.

A Matter of Some Moment.

With the approach of spring weather a change of costume becomes a necessity. Ladies will be interested to learn that at fair's golden lion the opportunity to have the newest and most fashionable dress fabrics of all kinds made up in our dressmaking department at prices in keeping with the materials. This opportunity is being largely availed of by ladies who appreciate the results attained by our close attention to the details of style, fit and finish.

Curlians.

Belleville defeated Trenton by 16 shots.

Conductor Morris, in the 13 point game at Belleville, defeated his opponent by 14 to 4.

The Granites, of Toronto, defeated the Caledonians of the same city and won the the cup and championship of the city.

On Thursday Lindsay defeated Cobourg by 41 to 21 and on the same day Port Hope defeated Lindsay by 51 to 26. Flavelle and Wallace were the Lindsay skips.

No teams went to Millbrook to-day. A rumor to the effect that they would was a mistake.

The annual point game took place at the rink on Thursday afternoon and evening. The points were awarded for striking, guarding, drawing, unwicking, chap and lie, wick and curl in, raising, drawing through, port and chipping the winner. The result was as follows:—

C. McGill	20
R. S. Davidson	19
Geo. Walker	19
T. P. Attrill	19
Jas. Connal	19
S. Clegg	18
Jno. McClelland	17
Geo. Edmison	16
J. B. Feutland	15
Jno. Stanger	14
H. T. Strickland	13
R. C. Strickland	13
E. B. Edwards	12
A. Hall	11
Hon. R. Hamilton	11
Jno. Crane	11
W. G. Ferguson	10
H. M. Allen	7
D. Belleghem	7
R. Fair	6
D. Ullyott	5

This game was for the club cup, the winner to hold it for the year. It was presented by the late Mr. Jas. F. Dennistoun, Q. C. That the members of the club are improving as curlers is quite evident. Since the cup was first offered for competition, it has been won by the following scores, 1st year 9, 2nd 11, 3rd 13, 4th 14, 5th 17 and 6th 20. Secretary McGill, who is the winner this year, is certainly to be congratulated on the splendid score he made.

Port Hope is anxious to play with Peterborough and if Peterborough will play on their rink, the Port Hoopers promise to play here at an early date.

Lindsay and Peterborough will play here some day next week.

The Bobcaygeon curlers suffered two defeats at the hands of the two rinks who went up from Peterborough on Wednesday Our curlers reached home on Thursday after having spent an agreeable time. In the afternoon match the scores were, by rinks :—

PETERBOROUGH.	BOBCAYGEON
Rink No. 1.
T. Rutherford, s'k. 25	W. Read, s'k 12
Rink No. 2.
Judge Weller, s'k. 20	Capt. Bottum, s'k 14

Majority for Peterborough 19 shots.

In the evening another match was played, the skips being the same, but the other players different. The result was another victory for Peterborough by about the same number of shots, as in the morning game.

Carpenters Attention.

A meeting will be held in the old Music Hall, to-night, Friday, the 9th, to discuss objects of importance to the trade. Carpenters are especially requested to attend. The meeting will be addressed by Mane, of Toronto. To commence at 8 o'clock. 1d58

This Evening.

The fourth and last carnival of the season takes place at the Lansdowne rink this evening and there is no doubt that it will be a huge success. The decorations are handsome and the ice is in the best of condition. The prizes are numerous and valuable and a large attendance is confidently looked for. The band will be in attendance.

Ship Social and Concert

to be given in Bradburn's Hall, Monday, March 19th, under the management of the Ladies' Aid of Charlotte-st. Church. Refreshments served from 6 bells to 8 bells, at 10 cents each. At the 8 bells the Captain and crew will assemble on deck to enjoy a rare entertainment, for which each passenger will pay 25 cents. 2d58.

KIDD and his prices are both low, but the quality of his boots is the very best.

A Kicker.

The other evening a man in town placed turpertine on the hoofs of his horses to soften them. During the night some of the turpertine got in their fleesh and commenced to burn. The horses made a great racket and had to be taken out in the open air and allowed to roll in the snow. While leading one animal out, a man had a close call for his life as the horse kicked so wildly.

Scrap.

It is now said that the scrap iron purchased here and loaded on a C. P. R. car, only weighs seven tons, instead of nine, as was at first announced. The car is still at the depot here and is held by the bank. In the meantime the victims are walking around from one lawyer to another seeking to find out if there is any possible way of bringing the buyers to justice, but so far without avail.

To Fill Dick's Shoes.

The number of men willing to serve the town in the capacity of police constable, to fill the shoes of the departed Pidgeon, are numerous, to put it mildly. Applications are fairly flocking in and all are strongly recommended as fit and proper persons for the position. The members of the Town Council are being button-holed on every corner and the Mayor only escapes the infliction by remaining at Ottawa. There is likely to be a red hot contest over the matter in the committee and at the Council, and time alone will tell who the lucky man will be.

Upset and Break.

On Thursday evening a young man driving a horse hitched to a trotting sulky, went up Water-st. for the edification of somehorse buyers. He was doing some pretty lively speeding, when the sulky collided with a farmer's sleigh, standing near the Mechanics' Institute. The heavy rig did not budge, but the sulky did. It upset and threw the driver out on the road, but fortunately he was not injured any more than resulted from the general shake up. The shafts were broken, as were the whiffletrees. The horse was captured before he had a chance to show his speed without a rig behind him.

A Horse Stolen.

Charles Trotter is a young fellow about 13 years old. He makes a living by doing odd jobs about town and until last night he was the possessor of a bay horse, valued at about $50. Trotter boards at a house nearly opposite Paterson's tannery on Aylmer-st. and at the usual time on Thursday evening he put the horse in the stable, leaving the harness on him, as he had a job on hand for an early hour this morning. He got up before daylight and upon going to the stable he found that horse and harness had been stolen during the night. He has not the slightest clue as to who took them, but he has some hope that they were simply borrowed by a friend.

Brevities.

—The election in Prince Edward takes place to-morrow.

—The police court docket this morning did not contain the names of any wrong doers.

—A three year old grandson of Mr. R. Wilson, of Lindsay, was drowned at Detroit last week.

—The Lindsay baseball club will celebrate the 24th of May. The sports will include horse races.

—Midland and Penetang will soon be connected with outside places by the Bell Telephone Company's line.

—Mr. Thomas McFadden, of Peterborough, has tendered for the construction of the new school at Lindsay.

—A meeting of the cricket club banquet committee will be held at Mr. W. A. Stratton's office to-morrow evening.

—The military class, under Sergeant-Major Rundle, will meet for organization at the drill shed this evening.

—An incorrect rumor to the effect that the Emperor of Germany was dead, gained currency in town yesterday afternoon.

—The third and last carnival of the season will take place at Keene on Wednesday, March 14th. Handsome prizes are offered.

—A cockfight took place in front of the police station yesterday evening. The only spectator was a small boy who said "sick him."

—The Rev. E. F. Torrance, M. A., will preach in the Presbyterian Church, Cobourg, on Sunday. Rev. Mr. McCrae will occupy the pulpit of St. Paul's Church, Peterborough.

—The writ for West Hastings has been issued, nomination to be on the 17th, and polling on the 24th March. Mr. Geo. Denmark is appointed Returning Officer.

—The stovemakers are bound to keep up with the other tradesmen in keeping their shops in an attractive shape. Mr. T. L. Bayeur has had two very handsome signs placed in front of his place of business.

—During the week Jackson & Co., the local organ builders, have given some attention to the Charlotte-st. Methodist Church organ. In addition to renovating the instrument an alteration made has added a new stop, the "Voix Cleliste."

In the Town of Peterborough $350 was allow for forward allowances and $440 for rent, fuel and light. It cost $675 to carry the mails from Peterborough to Bobcaygeon, $276 from Peterborough to Warsaw, and $593.37 from the post office to the railway stations, 91 trips per week being made in the latter service. It cost $550 for the service between Apsley and Peterborough.

The money orders issued at the Peterborough office numbered 3,182, amounting to $42,367.12, for which the people paid in commission $351.38. The orders paid here amounted $35,741.67, and the compensation paid to the Postmaster on account of the money order business was $122.84.

The amount paid to stamp vendors, as commission in Peterborough was $200.10.

During the year no registered letters to or from this office were lost, but two unregistered letters, containing money, posted here for Ottawa, never reached their destination. One from Peterborough to Toronto and one from Toronto to Peterborough never were received. Each of these is said to have contained $5. One letter posted at Irish Creek for Peterborough, containing $55, also went astray.

A SUCCESSFUL CONCERT.

The Harmony Male Quartette and Miss Howden at the Opera House.

The concert given on Thursday evening under the auspices of the Y.M.C.A. was well attended, the hall being comfortably filled. Indeed so great was the demand for tickets that additional seats to the compliment usually placed on reserve were taken some days before the date. The programme was supplied by the Harmony Male Quartette of Toronto, Messrs. J. J. Jerome, F. T. Chambers, Jno. Kidner and F. G. Adamson, by Miss Annie Howden, of the Toronto Conservatory of Music, and Messrs. C. J. Baguley and W. H. Stephens, of this town. Mr. W. H. Dingle contributed to the programme and supplied the accompaniments.

The Harmony Quartette opened the programme with a selection "A Soldier Bold," and gave other concerated pieces during the evening. The gentlemen of the quartette are not professionals—but rather as yet in the amateur class—and made a very fair impression. They sang without accompaniment in excellent time and taste, and were frequently encored. Solos were given, the "Vagabond" by Mr. Chambers, "I am Waiting" by Mr. Jerome, and "The Chief Mate's Story" by Mr. Kidner, all of which were well received.

Miss Howden sang as her first solo, "Who Knows" by Clay, and responded to an encore with a very pretty song to which she played her accompaniment. Her second selection was a waltz song by Arditi, entitled "Ecstasy," very difficult and beautifully sung; this was heartily encored, when she sang Hoffman's "Lullaby" very sweetly. Miss Howden has established herself as a favorite with Peterborough audiences, and may be certain of hearty recognition when she appears.

Mr. Chas. Baguley gave in excellent voice "The Gay Hussar," a song not outside of Mr. Baguley's ability as a singer, but requiring clearer enunciation than it received. Mr. Baguley was heartily encored, and responded with "Jack's Yarn." Mr. Baguley and Mr. W. H. Stevens gave "The Lost Ship," a vocal duet, a very acceptable number on the programme and which gained the gentlemen a hearty round of applause. Mr. W. H. Dingle—so to speak—made his his debut as a pianist. While devoting his attention principally to the organ, Mr. Dingle has acquired excellent command of the piano and gave a brilliantly played solo, including "Fugue in C." and "Polish Dance." The accompaniments were also given with great good taste and well in harmony with the songs.

The Association are to be congratulated on the financial result attained, and which will make a substantial addition to the funds.

The Carpenters.

A gentleman is now travelling through the country organizing the carpenters into unions in connection with the Knights of Labor. He is expected here this evening, and arrangements were being made this afternoon to hold a public meeting in the Old Music Hall, at 8 o'clock.

Cleaned it Up.

During the small hours this morning all the night soil that was deposited in Spaulding's Bay and on the road near the Driving Park, was cleaned up and carted away. Evidently the prompt action of Acting-Chief Adams made things rather warm for the law breakers.

Children's Carnival.

The children's carnival is in progress at the rink as we go to press. The Fire Brigade Band is present and the youngsters are holding high revelry. Many of the costumes worn by the children are novel and elegant.

THE NEWS IN LONDON.

LONDON, March 9.—Flags are at half mast generally throughout England, on account of the death of Emperor William, at 11.15 o'clock this morning. Prince Henry of Battenburg conveyed a message from the Queen to Count von Hartzfeldt, the German Ambassador, expressing Her Majesty's sorrow at the Emperor's death. The balls which were to have been held at Dublin Castle to-night and on St. Patricks day, have been postponed.

Scrub and Thoroughbred.

To the Editor of the Review.

SIR.—I see the farmers of east and west Peterborough are bound to stick to the scrub animal. At a sale at Mr. Hatton's on on March 7th, they were offered two very handsome young Durham cows with very excellent pedigrees on the last revised herdbook. One sold at $75 and the other at $81. Those two young cows are three years old, one with a calf at her side and the other near calving. Quite a contrast—a farmer of Pickering came to Mr. Joseph Redmond of Elm Grove, on the Monday, and bought from him three calves, one 7 months, and the other 2 sixteen months old, at $150 each. Mr. Joseph Davidson, of Cherry Wood, was the buyer.

When Mr. Redmond imported this first lot of Durham heifers he was asked, did he think he could sell their produce to East and West Peterborough farmers? and he remarked "No, sir, I do not. I expect their produce will all go west. The farmers in our county are all rich, but they are bound to stick to the scrub."

Mr. John Davidson remarked to Mr. Redmond, "you have several of the best Durham cows I ever saw in my time, and I have seen a great many." Mr. Redmond said they were not bad for Peterborough, "but they are of no use here. You western men will get their produce." Mr. Redmond told me of a sale he was at near Peterborough a few days ago, and when the calves came out they were sold at from $2.50 to $6 each. He said that was the kind of cattle our farmers deal in.

Yours, &c.,

A Fine Prize.

In the window of Messrs. Mills Bros. store there is now on exhibition an oil painting of Miss Galley. It was awarded to the young lady at the last carnival as a prize for the best dressed girl in fancy costume. The character assumed was "Crazy Patchwork," and the portrait represents her in costume. The artist and donor of the prize was Mr. Thomas Workman, and the likeness and execution of the work does him the greatest credit. The prize is certainly the most costly and handsomest ever awarded in Peterborough, and it shows that the members of the Canton never do things by halves.

The Canton.

The members of Canton Peterborough No. 10 will parade in full uniform at 7.15 o'clock sharp this evening at the rink, and will parade through the principal streets, headed by the band, performing evolutions all along the line of march.

To Save Life

Frequently requires prompt action. An hour's delay waiting for the doctor may be attended with serious consequences, especially in cases of Croup, Pneumonia, and other throat and lung troubles. Hence, no family should be without a bottle of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, which has proved itself, in thousands of cases, the best Emergency Medicine ever discovered. It gives prompt relief and prepares the way for a thorough cure, which is certain to be effected by its continued use.

S. H. Latimer, M. D., Mt. Vernon, Ga., says: "I have found Ayer's Cherry Pectoral a perfect cure for Croup in all cases. I have known the worst cases relieved in a very short time by its use, and I advise all families to use it in sudden emergencies, for coughs, croup, &c."

A. J. Eidson, M. D., Middletown, Tenn., says: "I have used Ayer's Cherry Pectoral with the best effect in my practice. This wonderful preparation once saved my life. I had a constant cough, night sweats, was greatly reduced in flesh, and given up by my physician. One bottle and a half of the Pectoral cured me."

"I cannot say enough in praise of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral," writes E. Bragdon, of Palestine, Texas, "believing as I do that, but for its use, I should long since have died."

SIR CHARLES' DUAL ROLE.

OBJECTION TO HIS OFFICE AS HIGH COMMISSIONER.

Ministerial Cab Hire Also Raises a Breeze at the Capital—Government Control of Telegraph Will Not Be Enquired Into at Present—The Fisheries Protocols.

OTTAWA, March 8.—The House spent 2½ hours in supply this afternoon and only succeeded in passing three items: $187,705 for departmental contingencies, $10,000 for stationery and $2000 for contingencies in connection with the expenses of the High Commissioner in London, all under the heading of Civil Government.

Mr. Denison called up his motion for a select committee to enquire into the desirability of the Government acquiring all the electric telegraph lines in Canada. The gentleman from Toronto gave some interesting information about the Government telegraph lines of England and continental countries. From what he was able to gather the Government telegraph of England now paid a good dividend on the investment. Mr. Denison referred to the monopoly of the Associated Press, and the men who controlled the telegraph lines of the country which placed the people and the newspapers at their mercy. The question of cheaper telegraph tolls was also an important one, and if the Government owned these lines the rates could be considerably lessened.

Sir Hector Langevin said the matter was certainly an important one, and he thought the member for Toronto had done a great service in calling attention to the subject. The data he had prepared would undoubtedly be discussed by the press of the country who were deeply interested. But the Government was not prepared at present to grant the committee. He would therefore ask that the motion be withdrawn. This was accordingly done.

Mr. Boyle sent up his motion having reference to extending the powers of Clarke Wallace's "Combine" Committee so as to include the alleged combinations of fire insurance companies doing business in Canada.

Dr. Ferguson (Leeds): "Why don't you also include the Law Society of Ontario?"

Sir Richard Cartwright: "I think to handle the insurance 'combines' properly it would require the services of a special committee alone."

Mr. Boyle said he had no objection, but his motion as sent up was adopted by the House.

Mr. Laurier once more called up the question of the fisheries prootcols. He asked the Minister of Finance if the House was to be given no further information about the proposals and counter-proposals for freer trade relations made by the plenipotentiaries than was submitted yesterday.

Sir Charles Tupper practically repeated his answer given on other occasions. He said all the correspondence in connection with the treaty would be laid before the House in a few days. But as to the submission of other matters, he did not think that would take place, at least not without the consent of the other plenipotentiaries. The Minister of Marine was preparing the correspondence for submission to the House.

This announcement did not at all satisfy Sir Richard Cartwright, Mr. Mills, Mr. Edgar or Peter Mitchell.

Sir Richard said it was a disrespectful way to treat the Parliament of Canada. "I do not think," Sir Richard went on, "that the Finance Minister in his heart of hearts intends to treat us thus. The House and the country should be given the fullest and freest information about the exact wording and the arguments of the plenipotentiaries on both sides as to the proposals and counter-proposals for extended trade relations between the United States and Canada. It was given in the treaty of 1818, and why not now?"

Mr. Edgar wanted to know what was meant by the "30th ult." and the "3rd inst." contained in the information brought down yesterday.

Sir Charles: "'The 30th ult.' means 'Nov. 30,' and the '3rd inst.' means 'Dec. 3rd.' I may add that there is not one line of information that has been submitted to the United States Senate or that will be submitted to the Parliament of Great Britain that has not been laid before this House."

Further than this the Finance Minister would not go, although he was again warmly importuned by Peter Mitchell to tell him all about the nature of the proposals.

There is a pretty strong opinion around the House that the United States Senate will have the entire proceedings of the plenipotentiaries laid before it. Secretary Bayard has already handed in to the Senate copies of letters that passed between Sir Charles Tupper and himself before the conference met. As these letters were marked "personal and unofficial" Sir Charles said he had objection to bringing them down to-morrow. They however contain very little information.

Children Cry for Pitcher's Castoria

MONA SCULLY;

—OR—

The Bride of an Englishman.

A STORY OF THESE TIMES.

"Where?" asks Doatie, eagerly.

"In Sydney. In Paul Rodney's employ. In his very house."

"Ah!" says Doatie, clasping her hands. "And——"

"He says he knows nothing about any will."

Another pause, longer than the last.

"He denies all knowledge of it. I suppose he has been bought up by the other side. And now what remains for us to do? Parkins writes to me in despair."

"This is dreadful!" says Doatie.—"But"—brightening—"surely it is not so bad as death or disgrace, is it?"

"It means death to me," replies he in a low tone. "It means that I shall lose you."

"Nicholas," cries she, a little sharply, "what are you saying?"

"Hear me," he says, passionately; "if I am worsted in this fight—and I see no ray of hope anywhere—I am a ruined man. I shall then have literally only five hundred a year I can call my own. No home; no title. And such an income as that, to people bred as you and I have been, means simply penury. All must be at an end between us, Dorothy. We must try to forget that we have ever been more than ordinary friends."

"You may try just as hard as ever you like," she says, with dignity; "I shan't!"

"So you think now; but by and by you will find the pressure too great, and you will go with the tide. If I were to work for years, I could scarcely at the end achieve a position fit to offer you. Some other man, some one more fortunate, may perhaps——"

"You insult me," says Dorothy, growing even whiter than she was before, when you speak to me of—of——"

Then she breaks down, and, going over to him, deliberately lifts one of his arms and lays it round her neck, after which she places both hers gently round his, and so, having comfortably arranged herself, proceeds to indulge in a hearty burst of tears. This is, without exception, the very wisest course she could have taken, as it frightens the life out of Nicholas, and brings him to a more proper frame of mind in no time.

"Oh, Dorothy, don't do that! Don't, my dearest, my pet!" he entreats. "I won't say another word, not one, if you will only stop."

"You have said too much already, and there shan't be an end of it, as you declared just now," protests Doatie, vehemently, who declines to be comforted just yet, and is perhaps finding some powerful enjoyment in the situation. "I'll take very good care that there shan't. And I won't let you give me up. I don't care how poor you are. And I must say I think it is very rude and heartless of you, Nicholas, to want to hand me over to 'some other man,' as if I was a book or a parcel! 'Some other man,' indeed!" winds up Miss Darling, with a final sob and a heavy increase of righteous wrath.

"But what is to be done?" asks Nicholas, distractedly, though inexpressibly cheered by these professions of loyalty and devotion. "Your people won't hear of it."

"Oh, yes, they will," returns Doatie, emphatically. "They will probably hear a great deal of it! I shall speak of it morning, noon, and night, until out of sheer vexation of spirit they will come in a body and entreat you to remove me. Ah!" regretfully, "if only I had a fortune now, how sweet it would be! I never missed it before. We are really very unfortunate."

They are both silent for a little while, and then Dorothy says, gently,—

"Perhaps it will all come right at last. Oh! if some kind, good fairy would but come to our aid and help us to confound our enemies!"

"I am afraid there is only one fairy on earth just now, and that is you," says Nicholas, with a faint smile, smoothing back her pretty hair with loving fingers, and gazing fondly into the blue eyes that have grown so big and earnest during their discussion.

"I mean a real fairy," says Dorothy, shaking her head. "If she were to come now this moment and say, 'Dorothy'——"

"Dorothy," says a voice outside at this very instant, so exactly as Doatie pauses that both she and Nicholas start simultaneously.

"That is Mona's voice," says Doatie. "I must go. Finish your letters, and come for me then, and we can talk it all over again. Come in, Mona; I am here."

She opens the door, and runs almost into Mona's arms, who is evidently searching for her everywhere.

"Ah! now I have disturbed you," says Mrs. Geoffrey, pathetically, to whom lovers are a rare delight and a sacred study. "How stupid of me! Sure you needn't have come out, when you knew it was only me. And of course he wants you, poor dear fellow. I thought you were in the small drawing-room, or I shouldn't have called you at all."

"It doesn't matter. Come up-stairs with me, Mona. I want to tell you all about it," says Doatie. The reaction has set in, and she is again tearful, and reduced almost to despair.

"Alas! Geoffrey has told me everything," says Mona. "That is why I am now seeking for you. I thought, I knew you were unhappy, and I wanted to tell you how I suffer with you."

By this time they have reached Dorothy's room, and now, sitting down, gaze mournfully at each other.

Kneeling down by her, Dorothy lays her head upon Mona's knee, and bursts out crying afresh.

"Don't now," says Mona, in a low, soothing tone, folding her in a close embrace; "this is wrong, foolish. And when things come to the worst they mend."

"Not always," sobs Doatie. "I know how it will be. We shall be separated,—torn asunder,—and then, after awhile they will make me marry somebody else; and in a weak moment I shall do it! And then I shall be utterly wretched forever and ever."

"You malign yourself," says Mona. "It is all impossible. You will have no such weak moment, or I do not know you. You will be faithful always, until he can marry you, and, if he never can, why, then you can be faithful too, and go to your grave with his image only in your heart. That is not so bad a thought, is it?"

"N—ot very," says Doatie, dolefully.

"And, besides, you can always see him, you know," goes on Mona, cheerfully. "It is not as if death had stolen him from you. He will be always somewhere; and you can look into his eyes, and read how his love for you has survived everything. And perhaps, after some time, he may distinguish himself in some way and gain a position far grander than mere money or rank can afford, because you know he is wonderfully clever."

"He is," says Dorothy, with growing animation.

To be Continued.

Right now is the time to use a good Blood Purifying Medicine. Lose no time in getting a bottle of Dr. Carson's Stomach Bitters. It will do you good. Sold by all druggists, 50 cents.

A FEW DOLLARS MIGHT BE SAVED.

It is a positive fact that money is thrown away every week. Why is this? You would imagine any one keen to save money in their purchases and yet they pay prices for goods, that could be bought much cheaper, if bought in the right place.

SHEPPARD

Has Some Very Cheap Goods, his importations for Spring now to hand are fully fifty per cent. cheaper than the same goods has been sold in Peterborough for before. Now if you want LACES go to SHEPPARD'S, or if you want CORSETS in all sizes, starting at 22½ up.

Beautiful BLACK and COLORED HOSE, two pairs for 25 cents.

A Circular Pillow Cotton, cheapest in town. White Cottons and Shirtings marked very low. Don't you buy anything in Spring Goods before making a bee line to Peterborough's Great Cheapside.

In Brief and to the Point.

Dyspepsia is dreadful. Disordered liver s misery. Indigestion is a foe to good nature.

The human digestive apparatus is one of the most complicated and wonderful things in existance. It is easily put out of order. Greasy food, tough food, sloppy food, bad cookery, mental worry, late hours, irregular habits, and many other things which ought not to be, have made the American people a nation of dyspeptics.

But Green's August Flower has done a wonderful work in reforming this sad business and making the American people so healthy that they can enjoy their meals and be happy.

Remember:—No happiness without health. But Green's August Flower brings health and happiness to the dyspeptic. Ask your druggist for a bottle. Seventy-five cents

Oshawa Emeralds and True Blues.

OSHAWA, March 8.—The Emeralds of Oshawa have decided on not holding any festival on March 17.

Great preparations are being made for the reception of J. L. Hughes, who is to lecture here next Monday evening under the auspices of Victoria True Blues. His subject will be "Present Duty of Protestantism."

The French Copper Syndicate.

BOSTON, March 8.—At a meeting of the Osceola Mining Company to-day President Clarke announced that the Osceola has sold to the French syndicate its product for the next three years. He also said that the syndicate now virtually controls all the copper of the country.

Accident on the Central Pacific.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 8.—A despatch from Elko, Nev., says the east-bound passenger train on the Central Pacific Railroad, which left here Tuesday afternoon, was wrecked at Fenelon, Nev., last night with fatal results. The cause of the accident was a broken rail. No further particulars have been received.

An Early Fire.

INGERSOLL, March 8.—Mr. E. G. Pool's house, near Hagles' Corners, was destroyed by fire this morning at 4 o'clock. Loss $2000, insured in the Western for $1000. Some of the family had their feet frozen, not having had time to get their shoes or other clothing on.

Brutal Murder in Kentucky.

NICHOLSVILLE, Ky., March 8.—Miss Sallie O'Heir was found dead near this place yesterday with sixty-three bullet holes in her body. Amos Thomas and Frank and David Lewis are charged with the murder. No cause is known for it.

The San Remo Bulletins.

SAN REMO, March 9.—Bulletins concerning the condition of the Crown Prince will henceforth be issued only on alternate days.

The Crown Prince will go to Berlin by the Brenner route. He will stay in Berlin no longer than is absolutely necessary, going afterward to either Wiesbaden or Hamburg. Dr. Mackenzie will accompany him. The doctors are much opposed to the Crown Prince's return to Germany.

The Crown Prince passed a good day today. He walked in the villa garden. He is much distressed over the news from Berlin.

France Will Join England.

PARIS, March 8.—The Temps says that France will join England in declining to authorize the Porte to assume to protect Turkish territory on the Red Sea. Minister Flourens and Lord Salisbury agree that the Ottoman delegates shall preside at the annual meeting of the Suez Canal Commission and the senior foreign consul at ordinary meetings.

Between the Devil and the Deep Sea.

ROME, March 8.—A despatch from Massowah says the Soudanese beyond Gordon have occupied Ambaskara, and that the Abyssinians are stationary between Asmara-Goura and Debaro. King John appears to hesitate between attacking the Italians and returning to engage the Soudanese.

AT WORK ON COMBINES.

THE SELECT COMMITTEE GETS DOWN TO BUSINESS.

Full Text of the Sugar Agreement—Ontario Members of the "Combine"—Wholesale Grocers said to be the Authors of a Species of Highway Robbery.

OTTAWA, March 9.—Clarke Wallace's Select Committee on "Combines" got to work to-day. Two sessions were held, one in the morning and one this evening. The meetings are held in the "Tower Room."

The morning sitting was devoted to investigating the operations of The Dominion Wholesale Grocers' Guild, but more particularly with regard to its "combination" on sugar. Mr. George Lightbound of Lightbound, Raitson & Co., Montreal, and Mr. J. H. Mathewson of J. A. Mathewson & Co., Montreal, both gave lengthy testimony about the workings of the "combine." Mr. Lightbound described it as an illegal and tyrannical organization, and Mr. Mathewson, who has been a merchant in Montreal for over fifty years, likened the "combine" unto a highway robber, who with pistol in hand orders you to deliver your money or your life.

A copy of the "sugar agreement" was handed in. The document prescribes the mode by which the "combine" is held together. It was explained by Mr. Lightbound that a grocery firm could be brought into other "combines" as well as sugar. For instance, there was the tobacco, pickles, baking-powder and Eddy matches "combines." The sugar combine, however, was the largest and most important of any of them.

The "sugar agreement" is as follows:

I. We, the subscribers to this agreement, hereby covenant and agree for ourselves and with each other, to faithfully and honorably perform and carry out the terms and conditions hereinafter set forth for the regulation sale of all graded sugars such as ground, extra ground, Paris lump, cut loaf, grocers' A, standard A and granulated sugars.

2. Scale of minimum advance to be as follows: Under 15 bbls. to per lb., 15 bbls. and over in one sale to. This scale of advance to apply to each grade separately of the above specified sugars, viz., all graded sugars such as ground, extra ground, Paris lump, cut loaf, grocers' A, standard A and granulated sugars, (three boxes Paris lump to count as one barrel.)

3. (a) Scale of advance to be based upon refiners' prices in Montreal for carload quantities, said prices to be arranged by the president and vice-president of the Montreal Guild, or such other person or persons as may hereafter be authorized for the purpose by the Dominion Guild, with the refiners on Saturday morning of each week, and to be communicated by telegraph by them at the Guild's expense to the secretaries of the different Provincial Guilds on duty to shall be to give the information promptly to each party to this agreement within their respective territories, which on that day, with the advance as per agreement, shall be the selling price for the ensuing week commencing on that morning, unless there should be a change in value during the week, of which due notice would be given, and in cases where the travellers have not been advised of the price before orders to be taken at open prices to be charged and invoiced at prices established and ruling at the time; (b) all brands may be offered only as such and at prices not more than 5c. per lb. less than best brands.

4. Guild terms, namely 60 days, or 1 per cent. for cash paid within 15 days, or 2 per cent. within 30 days.

5. No net cash prices to be quoted.

6. Scale of advance not to apply to transactions between parties to this agreement, who are to be allowed to sell to each other on such terms as may be agreed upon.

7. Sales of sugars must not in any case be dated later than first delivery on such sale.

8. Parties to this agreement to have the privilege of selling to buyers in Montreal and also to buyers west of Montreal as far as Cotsau and all south of the River St. Lawrence at 1c. per lb. less than agreement prices exclusive of freight, and to be allowed to give ten days extra time on shipments from Montreal to points west of Toronto.

9. Sellers to be at liberty to prepay or allow buyers cost of freight to competing points only.

10. Parties to this arrangement to have the privilege of delivering sugars to all points where there are merchants who buy such sugars from the manufacturers direct, but no place shall be considered a competing point until after notice from the Secretary of the Dominion Wholesale Grocers' Guild to that effect has been mailed to the several signers of this agreement.

11. Parties to this agreement bind themselves not in any case or instance to sell, or allow their travelers to sell or offer to sell, other kinds of sugar, or other goods in connection with sugars covered by this agreement at lower prices, as an inducement for parties to purchase those sugars.

12. And we each of us hereby pledge our honor as merchants that we will ourselves carry out this agreement fully in spirit as well as in letter, and insist upon its being strictly adhered to by every person in our employ.

13. Should we hereafter desire to withdraw from this agreement we further pledge ourselves not to do so without giving two months' written notice of our intention, addressed to the Secretary of the Board of Trade of the city of Toronto, who will be the custodian of this document.

Louis Richter shot and killed his 17-year-old cousin Louisa Smith at Evansville, Ind., yesterday, because she would not love him, and then suicided.

GERMANY'S KAISER DEAD.

THE AGED EMPEROR SLEEPS WITH HIS FATHERS.

He Passes Quietly Away Holding the Hand of His Empress—His Death Announced to the Reichstag by the Iron Chancellor—Absence of Ceremonies from all Nations.

BERLIN, March 9.—Emperor William died at 8.30 this morning.

During the last few hours of his life he suffered no pain. Shortly after 4 o'clock all the members of the family staying at the palace, the Court dignitaries, generals and ministers of state were summoned to the chamber in which the Emperor lay dying. The Emperor was in a half sitting position on a camp bedstead. All the members of the royal family took places at the bedside. The room was crowded. Prince William stood nearest the Emperor, half bending over the couch. He earnestly watched the face of the dying monarch until he expired.

The Emperor died holding the Empress' hand. He had been in a stupor since 3 o'clock. He was delirious for a brief period at 5 o'clock, during which he is reported to have exclaimed: "I am a man of peace, but if Russia forces me to war I shall faithfully side with my ally, Austria."

The Reichstag assembled at 12.30 p.m. amid unusual excitement in the lobbies. It had been agreed that the ringing of the bell, the customary signal for the assemblage of the members, should be stopped and that the deputies should enter the hall quietly and without ceremony. All the benches in the House were speedily filled and the galleries were crowded. Profound silence reigned. A large number of Federal Councillors were in their places at the Federal Councillors' table from an early hour. Meanwhile the plenipotentiaries awaited Prince Bismarck in the lobby, and as soon as he arrived they went with him to the hall of the Federal Council, where they had a private conference.

At 12.30 the members of the Council entered the Reichstag and took positions to the left of the presidential chair. Immediately afterward the President was called away for an interview with Prince Bismarck.

At 12.32 Prince Bismarck appeared, and the members rose in a body. The chancellor, after a pause, said:

"The sad duty devolves upon me of making to you an official communication of what you already know: that since 8.30 o'clock His Majesty Emperor William has been at rest with his fathers. In consequence of this event the Prussian throne and with this, according to Article XI of the Imperial Constitution, the Imperial dignity has fallen upon His Majesty, Frederick the Third, King of Prussia.

The telegraphic intelligence received by me allows of the assumption that His Majesty, the reigning Emperor and King, will leave San Remo to-morrow, arriving in due course in Berlin.

During the last days of his life I received from the much-lamented King a confirmation of that power for work which only left him with his life, the signature of which lies before me and which empowers me to close the Reichstag at the usual time when its labors are finished. I addressed to the Emperor the request that he should sign only with the first letter of his name. His Majesty replied that he believed himself still able to write his name in full. In consequence of which the historical document with the last signature of His Majesty lies before me.

Under the circumstance I assume that it would be in accordance with the wish of the Reichstag as well as of the representatives of the Federal Government, not to separate just now but to remain in session until after the arrival of His Majesty the Emperor. I therefore do not make any use of the Imperial authorization beyond depositing it in the archives as an historical document and requesting your President to induce the adoption of resolutions which will reflect the feeling and conviction of the Reichstag.

It does not become me to give from this official place expression to the personal feelings with which the decease of my master, the departure of the first German Emperor from our midst, fills me. There is in fact no need of it, for the feelings which animate me live in the heart of every German.

But there is one thing which I believe I should not conceal from you. It does not concern any sentiments but my experiences. It is the fact that amid the care visitations with which the ruler just departed lived to see his house afflicted, there were two circumstances which filled him with satisfaction and comfort. One of them was the effect that the sufferings of his only son and successor, our present Sovereign Lord, had produced throughout the world—not only in Germany but in every part of the world. I received this very day from New York a telegram of sympathy showing what confidence the dynasty of the Imperial House has acquired among all nations. This is the legacy which the Emperor's long reign bequeaths to the German people. The confidence which his dynasty has won will be transferred to the nation despite anything that has happened.

The Staats Anziger publishes the following proclamation:

"It has pleased God to call His Majesty the Emperor and King, our most gracious master, from life after a short illness and after a richly blessed reign. The whole nation mourns with the Royal house the decease of the deeply beloved and venerable monarch, whose wisdom has ruled so long and gloriously over its fortunes in war and in peace.

THE MINISTER OF STATE."

The new King was proclaimed Frederick III. He signs "Frederick" without any reference to Emperor or King.

Fatal Fire in Dakota.

MITCHELL, Dak., March 9.—Fire broke out in the Methodist University at 3 o'clock this morning from the spontaneous combustion of oily rags in the oil rooms. There were forty inmates, including the faculty, students and servants. All but ten escaped without trouble. Horton Pitcher of Northville, Dak., received internal injuries from which he died in two hours, and Prof. R. H. Taylor had his skull fractured and cannot recover. Eight others were seriously injured.

The Balkanian Crisis.

ST. PETERSBURG, March 9.—The first steps that Russia has taken in regard to the Bulgarian question appear to satisfy public opinion, but a favorable issue of the crisis is considered impossible unless the Powers take speedy measures.

Death of a Railway Magnate.

WASHINGTON, March 9.—Thomas J. Potter, vice-President and General Manager of the Union Pacific Railway Company, died here this morning.

MR. GOSCHEN'S PROPOSALS.

His Plans for Diminishing the Financial Burdens of the British Empire.

LONDON, March 9.—In the House of Commons to-day Mr. Goschen, Chancellor of the Exchequer, submitted his proposal to lighten the country's financial burden. The time for a bold scheme for the conversion of the debt, he said, has arrived. Without anticipating the budget he had a balance to face any financial operation necessary.

He did not fear that foreign complications would interfere with the success of his plan. The Government were less anxious now re garding the political situation in Europe than they were two months ago.

He proposed that Parliament keep the power to pay off dissentients at such periods and in such manner as Parliament might determine upon. He would take 2½ per cent. as an indication of the credit of the country which the Government were bound to utilize in order to secure to the taxpayers some advantage. A system of gradual reduction of interest with each stock guaranteed for a certain number of years would be most successful.

Three sorts of stock now existed which were divided as follows: £833,000,000 of consols, £166,000,000 of new threes and £69,000,000 of reduced threes. Ten years' notice would be required to pay off the consols and reduced threes. The new threes could be paid off without notice.

He proposed to follow the principle that there should be one large stock, not stock of different denominations. He saw no reason why the threes should not be amalgamated into one great stock, with quarterly instead of half-yearly dividends.

There were strong arguments to offer in favor of the creation of 2½ per cent. stocks. Regarding annuitants and rates of interest, however, the Government had decided not to follow the course of a 2½ per cent. stock, but would accept a 2½ stock descending automatically after 15 years to a 2½ per cent., after which 2½ per cent. stock would be guaranteed for 20 years or more. He also proposed that assent should be presumed unless dissent was expressed by March 20 for the extension of the time for trustees to April 12. A clause would be inserted relieving them of responsibility connected with the conversion.

He offered holders of consols and reduced threes £100, 5s. for every £100 of stock if they would forego their right of one year's notice, provided they assented before April 12, otherwise the conversion would be at par.

Consol holders would be relieved, under the new scheme, from the constant fear of being paid off. If the scheme were accepted the country would save from April £1,400,000 and after 14 years it would save £2,800,000 annually.

Mr. Goschen's proposal was carried.

THE MANITOBA SITUATION.

An Interview With the Governor-General—A Constitutional Nightmare.

OTTAWA, March 9.—The Governor-General sent for Premier Greenway and Attorney-General Martin of Manitoba and had an hour's talk about the situation in the Prairie Province. His Excellency asked a great many questions about its affairs.

This little incident led Peter Mitchell to imagine that he had run up against a big constitutional nightmare, or something of that sort. When the House met in the afternoon he arose in his place and demanded of Sir Hector Langevin, who was "leading" in the temporary absence of Sir John, if it were true that such a conference had taken place between the Governor and the Manitoba statesmen. If it had, he wanted further to know if His Excellency acted so on the advice of his responsible ministers or whether it was of his own motion. If he were acting on the advice of the ministry it was certainly an extraordinary proceeding, and he would hold the Government responsible for it. Such an action by a Governor under ministerial advice was as fruitless with the principles of responsible Government.

Sir Hector said he was not prepared to answer the question in the absence of the First Minister, but as far as the responsibility was concerned the Government would assume all that.

Then Sir John slipped into the Chamber, dropped down beside Sir Charles Tupper and the windy Peter repeated his question.

The Premier said he did not know whether or not such a conference had taken place, but he saw no reason why His Excellency should not talk with any persons he pleased. None of the English Cabinet Ministers ever questioned Her Majesty's right to do so and she was often known to discourse with her subjects.

Then Mr. Laurier said: "I will take exception to what my hon. friend (Mr. Mitchell) says. These gentlemen from Manitoba are here to meet the Government and it is of little moment whether they should call upon His Excellency. So long as they are with His Excellency the Government are responsible."

This sentiment was received with applause all over the House.

Mr. Greenway did not confer with the Government to-day but is is expected that he will do so to-morrow. He telegraphed his colleagues in Winnipeg to-day to postpone the reassembling of the Legislature from March 15 to March 22.

The Exhibitions Adjourned.

WINNIPEG, March 9.—The Local Legislature has been adjourned for another week at the request of the delegates now at Ottawa.

THE BURLINGTON STRIKE.

United States Courts Take a Hand—The Interstate Commerce Law.

CHICAGO, March 9.—A despatch received at the headquarters of the Burlington system in Chicago this afternoon from the General Manager of the Burlington and Missouri Railroad at Omaha says:

"Judge Dundy of the United States Court has this day issued an order requiring the Union Pacific Railway Company to take our business in accordance with the Interstate Commerce Law, and restraining the engineers of the Union Pacific Company from refusing to take our business. Also restraining the engineers from striking, combining or conspiracies for the purpose of organizing or advising a strike."

Will Handle Burlington Freight.

MINNEAPOLIS, March 9.—The St. Paul and Duluth road has decided to handle Burlington freight, and a strike by the engineers is reported imminent at St. Paul.

Gen. Boulanger has completely passed out of existence as far as the French press is concerned.

ONTARIO LEGISLATURE.

THE NAIRN BILL REFERRED TO A SPECIAL COMMITTEE.

The Registration Clause Will Be Struck Out—Second Reading of the Bill Respecting the Early Closing of Shops—Around the Lobbies.

TORONTO, March 9.—Mr. French asked whether the attention of the Attorney-General had been drawn to the interpretation placed upon the words "occupied lands" in sub section 1 of section 2 of the Line Fences Act, whereby, as contended by some County Court judges in appeal, the whole act is rendered nugatory.

Mr. Mowat stated that his attention had not been drawn to the matter until he saw it on the order sheet. He considered the act still applicable to large sections of the country, but would be only too pleased to so amend it as to fulfil the original intention.

Mr. Whitney asked whether it was the intention of the Ministry to introduce, during the present session, legislation in the direction of increasing the severity of the penalties for corrupt practices at elections.

The Attorney-General stated that nothing would be done in this direction during the present session.

Mr. Field moved for an order of the House for a return showing the amount received from poll tax in each city, town and village in the province for the year 1886. Carried.

The Nairn bill, respecting hire receipts, came up for the second reading, and was discussed for an hour. All the objections urged by the manufacturers were rehearsed, and the ills of the law without being buttressed by this bill was set forth by Mr. Nairn. Messrs. O'Connor, Bishop and Whitney supported the bill, and Messrs. Fraser, Creighton, Craig, Hudson and others opposed it.

The chief objection urged by manufacturers to the bill, was that it compelled them to register at considerable expense, every sale made on which they took a lien, or failing this, that the amount of their lien and the amount paid on it from time to time be printed on the article on which the lien was held. The reason of placing this provision in the bill was explained. Cases were cited where articles, upon which liens were held, had been put up at auction and sold for cash. After a while the manufacturer came along and claimed the article and took it, while the party that held the sale had the money and the party who paid the money for the goods had nothing.

In order to meet the objections of the manufacturers to the cumbrous scheme at first proposed and at the same time to give the people a means to ascertain whether there was a lien on any article which might be put up for sale, it was suggested that the manufacturers be compelled to put their names on all machines made by them, and that all machines be numbered, and that information in regard to liens on such machines be supplied, under penalty, in case of refusal, by the manufacturers to all applicants for such information.

No amendment to meet the objections made by proprietors of supply stores was made.

The second reading was passed and the bill was referred to this committee: Messrs. O'Connor, Bishop, Drury, Phelps, French, Whitney, Clarke (Wellington), Meredith, Hudson, Awrey, Hardy and Guthrie.

Mr. Gilmour's amendment to the Assessment Act was given a second reading.

Mr. McAndrews' bill to prohibit the hunting or killing of deer or moose in the province till 1890 was read a second time and referred to the Game Committee.

Mr. Freeman's bill to prevent the seed grain fraud by making it unlawful for any traveling agent to sell any grain for more than three times the market price of ordinary grain of the same class was read a second time.

This Government bill was read a second time:

Mr. Fraser's, to regulate the closing of shops and the hours of labor therein for children and young persons.

As the bill now stands the chief provisions are: Any municipal council may, on being petitioned by two-thirds of those engaged in any line of trade, pass a bylaw making it illegal for those in that line of business to keep their stores open after a certain hour, to be fixed by the petitioners. The bylaw cannot be repealed unless more than a third of those engaged in this business petition for the repeal. The hours of labor are fixed at not more than 74 hours a week, with an hour and three quarters for dinner and supper each day subtracted. Chairs are to be supplied for young women in the stores when they are not engaged at work. Hotels and restaurants and druggists are exempted from the provisions of the bill, also those engaged in driving vans and express wagons.

Hon. G. W. Ross, to enable high schools or collegiate institutes to expropriate lands for high school purposes.

A deputation waited on the Attorney-General and the Minister of Education at 6 o'clock yesterday, to solicit aid for the establishment of night schools for stationary and marine engineers, so that they might get the advantage of the theoretical training that is given to mechanical and civil engineers in the school already established for them. These gentlemen composed the deputation: Messrs. John Galt, A. M. Wickins, Frank Sutton, Chas. McFallan, W. S. McMalcolm, W. P. McNielly, O. St. John, W. Polson, L. P. Montgomery, T. B. Cole, P. P. Keny, S. Mills, W. Kennedy, P. H. Ellis and E. W. Fox.

The Municipal Committee met yesterday and passed Mr. Waters' bill to define the duties of county councils in regard to keeping streams clear of driftwood and Mr. Guthrie's bill to authorize municipal councils to pass a bylaw fixing the time of nomination at 7 in the evening instead of at 12 noon. Mr. Waters' bill defining the duties of county councils as to maintenance of bridges and Mr. Monk's amendment to the Road Companies' Act were slaughtered.

The Myrtle Shooting Case.

WHITBY, March 9.—George Brown of the Myrtle shooting case was up for trial to-day before Police Magistrate Harper. He was committed for trial at the assizes, which will commence here on Monday next.

A New Industry at Whitby.

WHITBY, March 9.—King Bros. intend adding another branch of industry to their tannery here, that of boot and shoe laces. This will add largely to the prosperity of our town as they will employ a number of hands for this business alone.

Burglary at Oshawa.

OSHAWA, March 9.—The boot and shoe shop of Robert McCaw of this place was entered early this morning and a small sum of money and a number of pairs of boots stolen.

JUDICIAL SALARIES.

Manitoba Wearers of the Ermine Want "More"—A Lively Rumpus.

OTTAWA, March 9.—Attorney-General Martin saw the Minister of Justice to-day and presented a resolution passed by the Bar of Manitoba in favor of increased salaries to the judges of that province. The Chief Justice of Manitoba is paid a salary of $5000 and the puisne judges $4000. In Ontario and Quebec it is $6000 and $5000. The other and smaller provinces are somewhat less.

It is understood that the Minister of Justice gave Mr. Martin to understand that the Government intended to increase judges' salaries all round, but that those of Ontario and Quebec would in the future receive more than those of the other provinces.

While the House was in committee of supply in the afternoon the question of judges' stipends came up while an item was being passed.

Sir Richard Cartwright stated that it was a well-known fact that owing to the limited salaries paid the Government experienced the utmost difficulty in securing men of judicial ability to fill the recent vacancies on the bench of Ontario. Sir Richard said it was impossible to get men of undoubted ability and integrity to sit on the bench at the present salaries. The practice of law was far more lucrative.

Several members from other provinces followed with a kick-up in the way of complaint that their judges were paid miserly salaries.

Big Jack Haggart of Lanark thought the judges were now paid too much, and that Canada was a law-ridden country.

The Minister of Justice then told the House that the Government was considering a measure dealing with the salaries of judges, the details of which he would discuss when it was brought down.

Speaking of the judiciary, a lively rumpus was kicked up in the House in supply when the name of ex-Judge J. Travis was brought up. The statement of the Minister of Justice that the disgraced ex-Judge was a life pensioner on the country to the extent of $750 per annum caused Sir Richard Cartwright to smile and make several sarcastic remarks.

In the course of the talk the criticism of the ermine by the public press came up. Sir Richard, Mr. Mills, and Mr. Davies would not swallow the idea that the judiciary was above the criticism of the press or the public, and Mr. McNeill thought newspapers should be very careful how they criticised the actions of the judges.

The Minister of Justice said he did not think that any judge in the country could object to a good, honest, open criticism.

The Secret Ballot Question at Oshawa.

OSHAWA, March 9.—The Separate School ballot has given rise to a good deal of talk here. Protestants speak out loudly and independently on the subject, but Roman Catholics generally refrain from any expression of opinion.

Charged With Murder.

BONHAM, Tex., March 9.—An old man named Morgan, a miner, was murdered two years ago for $1300, which he had saved. Joel Barnett, a wealthy farmer, and six of his sons have been arrested on the charge of having murdered Morgan.

I.O.F. at Whitby.

WHITBY, March 9.—A new lodge of Independent Order of Foresters has been organized here with about twenty charter members, with every prospect of increasing.

THE LAST CARNIVAL.

THE CHILDREN IN THE AFTERNOON ENJOY THEMSELVES.

And the Older Folks do the Same at Night—The Little Folks do Themselves great Credit—Full List of the Prize Winners for Costumes and the Games.

On Friday afternoon at 3 o'clock, the Lansdowne rink was brightly illuminated with electric light, all the windows being darkened for the occasion, that of the first children's carnival of the season.

The attendance was good both of masquers and spectators and the costumes worn by the latter were the most elegant and diversified that have been seen on the ice this winter. The little ones must have gone to considerable trouble and expense in preparing their dresses and they deserve the highest praise for the exceedingly good display they made.

The rink was handsomely decorated and the fire brigade band furnished good music.

In addition to those who were awarded prizes by the judges, Helena Chamberlain, as "Lady Betty," Helen Boucher as "Calla Lily," Edith Elliott, as "A Fairy" and Ethel Galletly as "Sea Nymph" among the the girls, and C. Poussette as "A Hindoo," Waldo Poussette as "Court Page" and Alex Smith as "A Hindoo Gentleman" are well worthy of mention.

Edith Douglas.....Indian Princess
Mamie McNeil.....Fairy
Ethel Galletly.....Sea Nymph
Florence Pace.....Evening Star

Mrs. W. E. Sherwood, Miss Halliday and Miss Burnham, of Cobourg, acted as judges and awarded the following prizes:—

GIRLS.

FANCY COSTUME.—Mamie Boucher as "Catharine Seton."

SPECIAL PRIZE.—Eva Strain as "Maid of the Canton."

SMALLEST GIRL ON SKATES.—Mamie McNeil as "Fairy."

BOYS.

FANCY COSTUME.—Andrew Howson as "King George III."

SMALLEST BOY ON SKATES.—Bertie Stock as "Uncle Sam."

COMIC COSTUME.—Willie Allin, as "Uncle Jasper."

THE GAMES.

BARREL RACE.—Three entries, won by B. Hudson.

RACE THREE TIMES AROUND THE RINK.—Won by E. Roper. Four started.

IN THE EVENING.

About 7.30 o'clock in the evening the strains of martial music were heard and the large number of people who lined the sidewalks on both sides of the street anxiously awaited the appearance of the Canton. Soon the stentorian voice of the captain was heard and the rich uniforms came into view. During the march from Brock-st. down George and along Charlotte-st. to the rink, they performed many fancy evolutions in a highly creditable manner and the crowd followed down.

By 8 o'clock the rink was fairly filled with spectators, but the number of those in costume was rather small, in fact the smallest seen at any carnival this year.

The costumes were on the whole only fair and very few of them are worthy of special mention, outside of those awarded prizes by the judges.

The performing bear and his trainer were really good and the antics of bruin caused much amusement. The bear was dressed as every well regulated bear should be and on his back he bore a legend "Bare in mind that Fairweather's spring stock of hats and caps is now complete" and both skaters and spectators were anxious to see how the placard read, and when they found out they all agreed that Fairweather had struck a good thing in the advertising line and they mentally agreed to call and inspect his large and well assorted stock.

The band of the Fire Brigade played during the evening, a fine programme of music.

The following is a list of those in costume who handed in cards, as requested:—

LADIES.

Lou Canning.....Daughter of the Regiment
May McFarlane.....Spanish Dancing Girl
Edith Douglas.....Gipsy Queen
Mattie Loasby.....Peasant Lady
Ada Miller.....Patrician Lady
Maggie Norton.....Gipsy
Eva Thompson } .....Dairymaids
Annie Fawcett }
Pearl Walker } .....Normandy Peasants
May Richardson }
Jessie Neilson.....Tutti Frutti
May McInitosh.....Spanish Nurse
Laura M Brook.....Good Luck
H E Hagerman.....Gipsy Fortune Teller
Mabel Hill, Port Hope.....Flower Girl
Agnes Kerr.....Stars and Stripes
Louise Kerr.....Sunflower
Ida Graham.....Pond Lillies
Jennie E Dusk.....Scotch Lassie

Geo Kempt } .....Corby's I X L
J Way }
Jos Baker.....Monkey
W Britton.....Pontypool Clown
Thos J J Baker.....Trapezist
W Salisbury.....Spanish Don
P Irwin.....Romeo
W Mercer } .....Trainer and Performing Bear
W Logan }
M Kincaid.....Sailor
Volunteers, dudes, artillerymen, etc.

One noticeable feature of the affair was that there was not a single Indian or nigger on the ice, and the typical Irishman, the old woman and the small fry in general were conspicuous by their absence.

The judges were Mrs. (Hon. R.) Hamilton, Mrs. W. E. Sherwood, Hon. R. Hamilton and Mr. J. H. Burnham.

The prizes were awarded as follows:—

LADIES.

FANCY COSTUME.—Miss H. E. Hagerman "Gipsy Fortune Teller."

COMIC COSTUME.—Miss Annie McCarthy, "Gipsy Queen."

GENTLEMEN.

FANCY COSTUME.—Mr. A. E. Thompson, "Charles I."

COMIC COSTUME.—Mr. W. Logan, "Bear."

SPECIAL PRIZE.—Mr. Fred Quick, Bowmanville, "Private, Black Watch."

SPECIAL PRIZE.—Master McFarlane, "Page."

THE GAMES.

BARREL RACE.—B. Hudson won from three others after a well contested race.

BOYS' RACE, 5 TIMES AROUND THE RINK.—K. McClelland won with ease from four others.

This concludes the series of carnivals for the present winter and the members of the canton, and especially Captain McNeil, are deserving of great credit for the successful manner in which they have catered to the amusement loving public.

Almost miraculous are some of the cures accomplished by the use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla. In the case of R. L. King, Richmond, Va., who suffered for 7 years with and aggravated form of scrofula, Ayer's Sarsaparilla effected astonishing results.

IN MEMORIAM.

Lines written by a mother on the death of her infant son, who died in Peterborough, November 18th, 1888.

My precious baby treasure, my little loving boy,
I look around to see you who were my pride and joy;
I stretch my hands in longing I cry aloud to thee,
You do not seem to hear me, you do not come to me.
Why is it, "Jackie" darling, must mamma call in vain,
Is there no place, my baby, where we may meet again;
Must I forever mourn you nor ever see your face,
Must I always miss the presence that brightened every place;
No, no, my little baby, surely this may never
The Christ who died to save us has prepared a home for thee;
And though in God's great wisdom, we are called upon to part,
There will come a day of meeting when I'll press you to my heart.
Our Father who is in heaven will teach me how to walk,
While baby's small hand beckoning will lead me to the gate.
So decolate the world seems now our home so full of gloominess,
I seem to here my darlings voice in every silent room;
And once again his loving eyes are looking into mine,
No pain or sickness in their depths, only a love divine;
The pressure of his kisses sweet are yet upon my cheeks,
I feel again the little hand so softly mine it seeks,
And then again in dreams I see my little winsome pet,
In fond imagination loving arms embrace me yet,
But when I wake from dreaming the tiny form is fled,
And I only know my baby is numbered with the dead.
The agony of waking my heart could not sustain,
But that a voice from heaven tells me we shall meet again.
In the quiet of the church yard the little body lies,
But the soul that made it lovely dwells with Christ above the skies.
Oh, doubting heart! can'st thou not trust the Almighty Father's love,
And how that he will keep your child safe in his home above?
Has he not said to all the earth "Let little children come,"
"Forbid them not" is his command "of such is my bright home."
Then cease repining, look not at the darkness of the shroud,
But where the glory of God's love shines softly through the cloud;
The mighty depth of mother love that to a child is given,
God never meant to end below, 'twill bloom again in heaven.
Oh, Father, help me live so when this life is done,
I may go home to live with thee, a crown of glory won,
And in that fair celestial home, freed from all earthly stain,
I feel that I shall meet and know my babe again.

The Emperor's Death.

Few sovereigns live to long and hold the reigns of power as the late Emperor of Germany. It is a singular reflection that he was a young man of 23 years of age before the first sod was turned where the Town of Peterborough now stands. He antedates our life as a locality by 23 years. The memory of the oldest inhabitant goeth not so far back, but hundreds of the present generation will have profitable reasons for remembering the present spring months, if they buy at the golden lion their spring suit. Undeterred by the possible complications that may arise in European affairs, fair has packed in a superb stock of suitings, pantings and new tweeds, that are positively not to be beaten. The tailoring department is in charge of an experienced cutter and low prices are the rule. Then in all fairness give fair a fair trial.

A Fire.

On Friday evening, between 6 and 7 o'clock, a coal oil lamp in Mr. J. Miller's shoe shop, corner of McDonnel and George-sts., was about exploding. Mr. Miller picked it up and tried to throw it out of the door, but in doing so it struck against the door and broke. The oil was spilled on the wall and floor, and became ignited. It was soon put out with water and snow, but the floor, door post and window were scorched. In trying to open the door hurriedly two lights of glass were broken. Mr. Miller's arm was singed with the flames.

Coming Here.

We noticed the othe day that Mr. E. B. Wilson was down at Napanee looking after a woolen mill. He was not very successful in his negotiations, but he expects that things will pan out to his satisfaction. In the meantime Messrs. Cumming Bros., of Norwood, are negotiating for the lease of the mill built on the site of the Wilson mill) destroyed by fire some months ago. The Cumming Bros. are a live firm and one of them is now across the lines looking after machinery with which to equip their new establishment.

Police Court.

Wm. Marks was charged at the police court this morning by officer McGinty, with being drunk in a public place. It appeared that the prisoner was interfering with a ball at the True Blue's hall, when the officer was sent for and run him in. He pleaded guilty and was fined $2 and $4 costs and as he did not have the necessary funds about his person, the Magistrate very graciously allowed him two days in which to find the six.

A meeting of the Peterborough branch of the Imperial Federation League will be held on Monday evening, March 12th, at 8 o'clock, in the Forester's Hall, George-st., opposite the Golden Lion. Mr. J. H. Burnham will read a paper upon the general objects of the League, and Mr. Wm. Beatty will read a paper in favor of Annexation. The public are invited to attend. 2d59

Prepared to Sell.

We announced the other day that Mr. Wm. Kennedy had purchased a place at the "Soo," and was about to move his family up there. Mr. Kennedy did purchase a place at the seat of the boom, but he has had several tempting offers to sell out and as he puts it: "If I can make a thousand by selling out, you bet your life I will do it." He is now considering a nice offer and he may close the bargain.

Musical Talk.

The boys of the band are jubilant over the prospects of the coming band competition. They have received numerous letters from all over the country asking for information, but they are so modest that they will not let the common newspaper people look at them. However, we have it on the quiet that things are booming and bands as far away as Sarnia want to know what Peterborough intends to do. Arrangements are not yet completed, but when they are the world outside of Peterborough will be duly notified.

New Map of Ontario.

We have received from the publishers, Messrs. S. R. G. Penson & Co., Toronto, a copy of a new commercial and railway map of Ontario. It is a comprehensive and accurate map, compiled from the most recent surveys and plans in the possession of the Government, and shows the railways and stations, proposed railways, post offices, telegraph stations, harbors, rivers, canals, steamboat routes, lighthouses, etc. It is drawn in bold outline, beautifully lithographed and printed in ruled tints. Its size is 4 feet by 3 feet.

Fell Down the Elevator.

On Friday afternoon a young man named Ben Jinks fell from the third floor in the Auburn Woollen Mill and received serious injuries. He was employed about the mill as laborer and a part of his duties was to carry about the building the wool in process of manufacture. He had charge of the elevator and on the afternoon of Friday ran it up to the third flat, leaving the elevator at that floor. He returned with a parcel of waste and, without looking, moved sideways over the spot where the platform stands. In his absence the elevator had been lowered. The poor fellow dropped a distance of nearly forty feet and landed with fearful force on the floor. His left arm was broken in two places and other injuries sustained about the body. He was at once removed to his father's home and cared for, but lies in a critical condition. As the rules of the mill are very strict that none of the hands shall use or interfere with the elevator other than those engaged in shifting the goods, the accident was wholly due to the young man's carelessness.

Eli Will Get Mare.

One of the distressing incidents of the near future will be a lecture by the humorist, Eli Perkins. Why Eli did not select Lindsay for the infliction is one of those things hard to understand, but as he is coming here we will have to put up with him and make the best out of his lecture. The REVIEW has received from his agents a "season" ticket, which reads as follows:—"Season ticket. Eli Perkins at large. Admit the bearer or wife, his own wife, to Eli Perkins' lecture, anywhere in the world, for years and years. The lecturer will commence at 8 o'clock sharp, and continue until somebody requests him to stop. In case of an accident to the lecturer, or if he should die or be hung before the evening of the disturbance, this ticket will admit the bearer to a front seat at the funeral, where he can sit and enjoy himself the same as at the lecture. The highest priced seats, those nearest the door, are reserved for the particular friends of the speaker. Good anywhere on earth for 963 years." Thanks! But "years and years" of a lecture would be more than mortals could bear, though perhaps an hour or so would not be amiss.

W. C. T. U.

A meeting of the W.C.T.U. will be held in their hall on Monday afternoon, March 12th, at 4 o'clock.

No Bells.

We observed several single horses and teams going through the town to-day, without bells. The farmers and others should remember that the snow is still on the ground.

The Market.

The market this morning was a very good one. The attendance, both of buyers and sellers, was fair and the prices realized were pretty nearly according to our market reports.

On Monday.

The License and Applications for Office committees meet on Monday evening. Chairman Kendry of the inter committee requests all applicants for the office of constable to address their letters to the Town Clerk, who will be glad to receive them.

The Military Class.

A meeting of volunteers was held in the orderly room at the drill shed on Friday evening for the purpose of organizing a class for instruction in the subjects upon which candidates wishing to qualify for positions as non-commissioned officers will be examined. There was a good turn out, the orderly room being filled. The names of those present were enrolled as members of the class. Sergt.-Major Rundle gave a lecture on "Internal Economy." The class will meet on each Tuesday and Friday evenings at 7 o'clock.

Personal.

On Thursday afternoon Miss Bessie Matthews, daughter of Mr. George Matthews, was married at Lindsay to Mr. J. P. Ryley, of the firm of Ingle & Co. The bridesmaids were Miss Fannie Matthews and Miss Ryley, and Mr. A. Ryley, of Toronto, and Mr. W. E. Matthews, of Peterborough, supported the groom.

The many friends of Mr. Wm. Dumble, formerly cutter for the late I. Robinson will regret to hear of his death at Owen Sound on Thursday, 1st of March.

His Lordship the Bishop of Peterborough, will preach in St. Martin's Church, Eanlamore to-morrow at 11 a. m.

In This Particular Direction.

Strangers in town make it a point to walk to Simcoe-st. to view the handsome Hall, Innes & Co. business block, and the remark is made invariably that no finer premises exist in the foremost Canadian cities. The firm are progressive in all departments of their large trade and have taken steps to render the dressmaking department particularly satisfactory. In addition to carrying a magnificent stock in every desirable line of goods, they provide excellent facilities for making up the latest styles. They announce having procured the services of a lady in this department who comes with the highest testimonials as to ability, and with an extended experience gained in leading American cities. The assurance offered by the firm that all orders will be satisfactorily executed is unquestioned, and the opportunity to procure costumes in leading styles will no doubt be largely availed of.

Services To-morrow.

The following is a list of services in the several churches to-morrow:—

ST. PETER'S CATHEDRAL.—At St. Peter's Cathedral, Roman Catholic, there will be Divine Mass celebrated, the first at 7 a. m., the second at 8 a. m., and the third at 10.30 a. m. Vespers at 7 p. m.

ST. LUKE'S (Ashburnham).—Holy Communion at 8 a. m., Morning Prayer, Litany and Sermon at 11 a. m.; Evening Prayer and Sermon at 7 p. m. All seats free.

ST. JOHN'S CHURCH.—The regular services will be conducted as follows:—Holy Communion at 8.30 a. m.; Morning Prayer, Litany and sermon at 11 a.m.; Evening Prayer and sermon at 7 p.m.

ST. PAUL'S.—The usual services will be held. Rev. Mr. McCrea, of Cobourg, will preach the sermons.

BAPTIST CHURCH, Murray-St.—The Rev. P. C. Parker will preach both morning and evening.

METHODIST CHURCH, Charlotte-St.—At 11 a. m. and 7 p. m. the Rev. I. Tovell will conduct the services.

METHODIST CHURCH George-st.—The regular service at 11 a. m. and 7 p. m., conducted by the Rev. R. J. Thompson. Prayer and inquiry meeting at the close of the evening service.

ST. ANDREW'S CHURCH.—The usual services will be conducted. The Rev. Alex. Bell, pastor.

METHODIST CHURCH, Mark-st. (Ashburnham).—The usual services at 11 a. m. and 7 p. m. The Rev. J. C. Wilson, pastor.

Presented With a Gold Watch.

Mr. Robert Hamilton, who goes next week to San Francisco, California, to reside, was honored by the members of Peterborough Lodge I. O. O. F., of which he is N. G., on Thursday. Learning of his intended departure an address was presented to Mr. Hamilton by his brother Oddfellows. It was read by Mr. A. McFarlane, R. S., and referred in highly complimentary terms to Mr. Hamilton's industrious habits, kind and courteous disposition, and untiring energy as a private member of the Lodge and in the honorable position of Noble Grand, and Mr. Hamilton was assured that he had won not only the respect and esteem of his brethren, but also their confidence and love, and that he had placed them under a debt of gratitude which they found it difficult to repay. The address also feelingly expressed the regret each member felt in taking leave of him, and gave expression to their earnest wish for a prosperous career for him and the hope that they would all meet in the Grand Lodge above. The address was signed on behalf of the Lodge and of Mount Hebron Encampment by Messrs. Wm. Cowie, V. G., Andrew McFarlane, R. S., Joseph Mills, C. P., and R. W. Errett, S. Accompanying the address was a splendid gold watch, handsomely engraved and inscribed as follows:—"Presented to Bro. H. Hamilton, N. G., on the occasion of his leaving Peterborough by his brethren of Peterborough Lodge, No. 111, and Mount Hebron Encampment, No. 56, I. O. O. F., March 8th, 1888." Mr. Hamilton also received a handsome pocket Bible from Mr. Wm. Battisby, an Oddfellow and a warm friend. Mr. Hamilton, though taken by surprise, made a feeling reply, expressing his thanks and assuring the brethren that he would ever emember their kindness. He would, as in the past, endeavor to deserve the kind words spoken of him, and would do his utmost always to further the interests of the Order. The watch was purchased and engraved at Mr. W. A. Sanderson's jewellery store.

Concert.

The Masonic fraternity of Peterborough will give the best concert ever known in their Temple on Tuesday evening, 3rd April.

I. O. O. F.

A deputation from the I. O. O. F., of Norwood, were in town to-day, seeing how the lodge rooms here looked, with a view to selecting their furniture, etc., in town.

Y. M. C. A. Hall.

Mr. D. W. Dumble will deliver an address in the Association Hall to-morrow (Sunday) evening, at 8.30 o'clock. The Mais quartette of the Association will be present, and lead the singing. A hearty invitation is extended to all young men to be present.

The Carpenters and Joiners.

The Friday evening a meeting of the local carpenters and joiners was held in the Roller Rink, called for the purpose of discussing matters looking to the advancement of the interests of those following these trades. An address was delivered by Mr. John Kane, of Toronto, a delegate sent down by the American Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners. Mr. Kane's address reviewed the situation from many points and urged efforts to advance the interests of mechanics and to better the financial position of those interested. A local branch of the Brotherhood was formed with 16 charter members. One of the objects in view is to establish the apprenticeship system and set the trades interested on a firm footing. The shortening of the hours of labor will be a matter for discussion, and possibly action, in the future.

Brevities.

—Mr. R. Munro, of the Queen's Hotel Port Hope, was at the carnival last night.

—A little son of Mr. A. W. Pringle, Port Hope, died on Friday from diphtheria.

—It is probable that a meeting of the Board of Health will be held on Thursday evening next.

—An effort is being made to bring Mrs. Scott-Siddons here, in the course of a few weeks.

—The interest in the evangelistic services conducted in Belleville by Messrs. Crossley and Hunter is increasing.

—Mr. A. H. Macdonald, who has been attending the Boston Conservatory of Music, is visiting friends in town for a short time.

—Otonabee Lodge I. O. O. F., meets on Monday evening, when the final revision of the by-laws will be the principal business.

—Mr. W. H. Biggar, of Belleville, has been offered the Liberal nomination for West Hastings. He will probably accept.

—The Peterborough Presbytery meeting takes place on Tuesday next, at St. Paul's church.

—A meeting of the committee to consider the matter of the cricket club dinner, will take place at the office of Mr. W. A. Stratton this evening.

—The small frame buildings in the rear of the lot where the Salvation Army are erecting their barracks, were torn down this morning.

—The girls have got out their skipping ropes and a surer sign of spring the public cannot want, unless they are after clean sidewalks.

—The Port Hope Times says that Chief Douglas, of that town, has not yet been supplanted and intimates that he probably will be retained. Correct.

—The two young men, Featherstone and Giddy, arrested in Cobourg charged with incendiarism, have been acquitted. The trial was held with closed doors.

—His Lordship Bishop Dowling will deliver a lecture at St. Mary's Church, Lindsay, on Sunday evening, March 18th, for the benefit of the St. Vincent de Paul Society.

—Express business is growing so much at Campbellford that the Herald asks for a down town express office. With the new Grand Trunk station and an express office it would be quite certified.

—Mr. J. P. Dunn, the C. P. R. agent, has made arrangements to carry people from Peterborough to Norwood and return, in the evening of the Oddfellows concert, at that village, for one fare and a third.

—Norwood Register:—"Mr. David A. Lewis, of Dummer, has removed to the township of Smith. He has purchased a farm from Mr. J. J. Hartley, of Peterborough. It is situated about one mile from the town and is an excellent property."

—The Lindsay Y. M. C. A. has arranged for an entertainment on the night of March 15th, when a debate between members of the Peterborough and Lindsay Associations takes place. The Peterborough Y. M. C. A. "Harmony Quartette" will assist.

—Omemee Herald:—"Last week Mr. Robert Weir, of Emily, purchased the McKeown farm in the township of Smith about five miles from Peterborough. The price paid was $5000. This is one of the best farms in the district."

—Campbellford Herald:—"One day recently, Mr. Rhed. Stephens, of Campbellford, met with the misfortune of having two of his ribs broken. He is at present employed as cook for a company of shantymen in a camp north of Peterborough. His injuries laid him up only a few days."

—On Friday afternoon Mr. McQuade's cow mounted the railway track near the Auburn Mill and went for a short walk. The noon train approached. Mr. McQuade's cow turned a deaf ear to the solicitations of the engineer to clear the track. A trifling dispute for right of way followed. Mr. McQuade's cow was reduced to beef, and a butcher was called to skin such portions of the animal as were recognizable.

PLAYS AND ACTORS.

Lydia Thompson has reappeared upon the London stage.

Katie Putnam laid the corner stone of a new theatre at Augusta, Ga., a little while ago.

In May Richard Mansfield will produce a new classical drama in blank verse at the Boston Museum.

The first two months of "L'Abbe Constantin" at the Paris Gymnase brought to the theatre treasury the neat sum of $76,000.

The receipts for the seven first performances of Henry Irving and Miss Terry at the Boston Museum, were $21,500.

They call Buffalo Bill a millionaire now, and say he is the first American star who has been successful on the other side.

The sultan has decided to close the Turkish theatre at Constantinople, because he thinks it conduces to the demoralization of his subjects.

The duration of Mr. Alvary's kiss when he awakens the sleeping Brunhild in "Siegfried" has been timed by a stop watch. It lasts forty-one seconds.

Mr. N. C. Goodwin returns to New York Feb. 13, at the Fourteenth Street theatre, where he will be seen in "Turned Up" and "Lend Me Five Shillings."

Minna Gale, of the Booth-Barrett company, will return to Brooklyn at the end of the season, and, it is said, will follow the example of Annie Robe—marry and retire from the stage.

The mounting of "La Tosca," soon to be played by Fanny Davenport at the new theatre on Broadway, will cost $10,000. One hundred persons will assemble on the stage in one scene.

Helen Barry, who will return to the American stage next season and make a star tour under the direction of Mr. J. M. Hill, has begun a series of farewell performances at home. She lately had a "testimonial benefit" at Jersey.

Mr. Rudolph Aronson will commemorate the 700th performance of "Erminie" in New York, Feb. 20. He is preparing a souvenir for the occasion representing a scene of the second act of the opera. The actors are made to appear as children dancing the gavotte.

During the last three years the Paris Grand Opera house received 1,000,000 francs from sixty-four performances of Massenet's "Le Cid," 739,402 francs from forty-four of Paladilhe's "Patrie," 515,053 from thirty-three of "Rigoletto," and 764,000 from fifty-three of Reyers' "Ligurd"—the latter a Gallicised version of "Die Walkure."

Scott's Emulsion of Pure Cod Liver Oil, with Hypophosphites.

For Children and Pulmonary Troubles.

Dr. W. S. Hoy, Point Pleasant, W. Va., says: "I have made a thorough test with Scott's Emulsion in Pulmonary Troubles and General Debility, and have been astonished at the good results, for children with Rickets or Marasmus it is unequalled. Put up in 50c. and $1 sizes.

LIGHT AND AIRY.

A college man from Boston town,
One sunny day of summer leisure,
Was introduced to Betty Brown,
And thought that he would try pleasure;
For Betty taught a village school,
And doubtless in her life had never Heard much of olgies and ism,
In language dignified and clever.

The college man from Boston town,
Of cosmos and of protoplasm,
Talked like a book to Betty Brown,
And of the late seismic spasm;
Explained the reasons, using words
Unheard before in country places,
And spoke of ancient Greece spots, where
Explorers seek for antique traces.

Of abstruse questions new and old,
Of art, invention, progress, science,
With volubility he told,
While Betty listened with defiance:
At last, said he, "I understand
That you're a teacher on vacation."
"You're misinformed," said Betty Brown,
"I'm a Bored of Education."

To Save Life

Frequently requires prompt action. An hour's delay waiting for the doctor may be attended with serious consequences, especially in cases of Croup, Pneumonia, and other throat and lung troubles. Hence, no family should be without a bottle of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, which has proved itself, in thousands of cases, the best Emergency Medicine ever discovered. It gives prompt relief and prepares the way for a thorough cure, which is certain to be effected by its continued use.

S. H. Latimer, M. D., Mt. Vernon, Ga., says: "I have found Ayer's Cherry Pectoral a perfect cure for Croup in all cases. I have known the worst cases relieved in a very short time by its use; and I advise all families to use it in sudden emergencies, for coughs, croup, &c."

A. J. Eidson, M. D., Middletown, Tenn., says: "I have used Ayer's Cherry Pectoral with the best effect in my practice. This wonderful preparation once saved my life. I had a constant cough, night sweats, was greatly reduced in flesh, and given up by my physician. One bottle and a half of the Pectoral cured me."

"I cannot say enough in praise of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral," writes E. Bragdon, of Palestine, Texas, "believing as I do that, but for its use, I should long since have died."

A MISSING ALDERMAN.

The Ambitious City Searched For Him—Ex-Chief Stewart Robbed.

HAMILTON, March 9.—Dr. J. G. Ott of Philadelphia arrived in this city this morning in search of his brother, H. C. Ott, who came here some weeks ago from Alabama, and who left that state without telling his friends of his intention. He imagined he was a defaulter to the extent of $10,000 as manager of an iron company. His present whereabouts are unknown.

While in Albany, N.Y., ex-Chief Stewart had a cornelian breast-pin, a gold Masonic finger-ring, with an engraving upon it, and a Masonic royal arch charm, also with an inscription, stolen from him.

Capt. Hardy left here yesterday for New York, where he will take passage on one of the Inman Line steamers for Liverpool, and thence to Glasgow, where he will select his crew and start about May 1 with the new steel steamer Macassa for Hamilton.

COUNTERFEITERS AT PORT HURON.

A Gang of Queer-Shovers and a Complete Outfit of Tools Captured.

PORT HURON, Mich., March 9.—The police made a raid on a house on Seventh-street last night and arrested Wm. Slocum and Mrs. Slocum of this city and Pete Greenwood and wife of Wallaceburg, Ont., who were here visiting the Slocums. The officers found moulds, labels, metals, acid and a complete counterfeiters' outfit; also a cigar box full of counterfeit 25-cent pieces.

They also secured a memorandum book showing transactions between the Slocums and Beacroft, Ernest and Mack, who were arrested here some months ago for counterfeiting. There were memorandums showing several Port Huron saloon-keepers were handling the bogus money.

THE LATEST MARKET REVIEW.

TORONTO, March 10.

Local markets were steady and quiet to-day, while in Chicago there was a firmer tendency, and in Europe the markets were quiet but firm and steady.

On call at the Board of Trade to-day: No. 1 red winter wheat 86c bid. One car of Manitoba oats offered at 46c on the track to arrive, with 44c bid, and 44½c to arrive within 30 days.

The car lots received at Chicago yesterday were: Winter wheat 6, spring 27, corn 177, oats 87, rye 1 and barley 45.

The report of receipts of hogs from the Chicago Stock Yards to-day is: Estimated receipts 18,000, official yesterday 19,078. Shipments, 3697, left over about 8000. Cattle, receipts 6500. Market steady and firm.

The Board of Trade has received two photographs from Manitoba of the grain blockade at Glenboro, where the grain is lying out exposed to the snow.

BEERBOHM'S REPORT.

Beerbohm reports to-day: Floating cargoes—Wheat firmly held, corn steady. Cargoes on passage, wheat firmer, corn steady.

Mark Lane—Wheat and corn steady. English flour firm. American quiet. Paris—Wheat quiet, flour rather easier. Liverpool wheat quiet and steady, corn moderate demand.

LIVERPOOL MARKET.

Robert Cochran received the following cable to-day: Wheat flat, poor demand, holders offer freely, corn steady, fair demand. Prices: Spring wheat 6s 7d to 6s 8d; red winter 6s 7d to 6s 8; No. 1 Cal. 6s 6d to 6s 7d; corn 4s 7½d; peas 5s 4½d; pork 63s 9d; lard 38s 9d; bacon 38s; cheese 56s; white 30s.

OSWEGO BARLEY MARKET.

Oswego reports barley to-day quiet and unchanged at the following prices: No. 2 ex. Can. 92, No. 1 Can. 85, and No. 1 bright 98.

The Oil Market.

New York oil opened ¼ lower at 94½, then advanced, touching 95½, being the highest price of the day, and then declined to 94½, and closed at 95. The market was fairly active.

Oil City quotations to-day are: Opening 95c, highest 95c, lowest 94½c, closing 95c bid. Sales yesterday were 1,310,000 bbls., shipments 71,704, runs 12,338.

Robt. Cochran received the following despatch by private wire from Butler, Pa., to-day: Hagerson Bros. well is finished and shooting for 8 to 10 bbls. The Jennings well good for 12 a day.

The Saddest of All.

Oh, sad is the touch of a vanished hand,
And the sound of a voice that is still;
And sad is the winter without any ice—
The ice dealer's house to fill;
But saddest of all of the things I know
Is the toboggan slide without any snow.

MONA SCULLY;

—OR—

The Bride of an Englishman.

A STORY OF THESE TIMES.

"And perhaps, too, the law may be on his side; there is plenty of time yet for a missing will, or a useful witness to turn up. That will," says Mona, musingly, "must be somewhere. I cannot tell you why I think so, but I am quite sure it is still in existence, that no harm has come to it. It may be discovered yet."

She looks so full of belief in her own fancy that she inspires Doatie on the spot with a similar faith.

"Mona! There is no one so sweet or comforting as you are," she cries, giving her a grateful hug. "I really do think I feel a little better now."

"That's right, then," says Mona, quite pleased at her success.

Violet, coming in a few moments later, finds them still discussing the all important theme.

"It is unfortunate for every one," says Violet, disconsolately, sinking into a low chair. "Such a dear house, and to have it broken up and given into the possession of such a creature as that." She shrugs her shoulders with genuine disgust.

"You mean the Australian?" says Dorothy. "Oh, as for him, he is perfectly utter!—such a man to follow in Nicholas's footsteps!"

"I don't suppose any one will take the slightest notice of him," says Violet; "that is one comfort."

"I don't know that; Lillian Chetwoode made him welcome in her house last night," says Doatie, a little bitterly.

"That is because Nicholas will insist on proving to every one he bears him no malice, and speaks of him persistently as his cousin. Well, he may be his cousin; but there is a limit to everything," says Violet, with a slight frown.

"That is just what is so noble about Nicholas," returns Doatie, quickly.—"He supports him simply because it is his own quarrel. After all, it matters to nobody but Nicholas himself; no one else will suffer if that odious black man conquers."

"Yes, many will, Lady Rodney,—and—and Jack too. He also must lose by it," says Violet, with suppressed warmth.

"He may; but how little in comparison! Nobody need be thought of but my poor Nicholas," persists Doatie, who has not read between the lines, and fails therefore in putting a proper construction upon the faint delicate blush that is warming Violet's cheek.

But Mona has read, and understands perfectly.

"I think every one is to be pitied; and Jack more than most,—after dear Nicholas," she says, gently, with such a kindly glance at Violet as goes straight to that young woman's heart, and grows and blossoms there forever after.

CHAPTER XXIII.

"The day is done, and the darkness Falls from the wings of night."

The dusk is slowly creeping up over all the land; the twilight is coming on apace. Shadows come and go, and eerie thoughts oppress the breast:

"Whilst the scritch-owl, scritching loud,
Puts the wretch that lies in woe
In remembrance of a shroud."

"What a wretched evening!" says Violet, with a little shiver. "Geoffrey, draw the curtains closer."

"A fit ending to a miserable day," says Lady Rodney, gloomily.

"Night has always the effect of making bad look worse," says Doatie, with a sad attempt at cheerfulness. "Never mind; morning will soon be here again."

"But why should night produce melancholy?" says Nicholas, dreamily. "It is but a reflection of the greater light, after all. What does Richter call it?—'The great shadow and profile of day.' It is our own morbid fancies that make us dread it."

"Nevertheless, close the curtains, Geoffrey, and ask Lady Rodney if she would not like tea now," says Violet, with a little shudder.

Somebody pokes the fire, until a crimson light streams through the room. The huge logs are good-naturedly inclined, and burst their great sides in an endeavor to promote more soothing thought.

"What a miserable day we have had!" says Nolly, rousing himself. "It's been raining since early dawn. I feel right down cheap,—very nearly as depressed as last night, when Nicholas struck me to dance with the 'Æsthetic.'"

"Lady Lilias Eaton, you mean?" asks Lady Rodney. "That reminds me, we are bound to go over there to-morrow. At least, some of us."

"Mona must go," says Nicholas, quickly. "Lady Lilias made a point of it. You will go, Mona?"

"I should very much like to go," says Mona, gently, and with some eagerness. She has been sitting very quietly with her hands before her, hardly hearing what is passing around her—lost, buried in thought.

"Poor infant! It is her first essay," says Nolly, pitifully. "Wait till to-morrow evening, and see if you will feel as you do now. Your cheerful complaisance in this matter is much to be admired. And Nicholas should be grateful. But I think you will find one dose of Lady Lilias and her ancient Britons sufficient for your life-time."

"You used to be tremendous friends there at one time," says Geoffrey; "never out of the house."

"I used to stay there occasionally when old Lord Daintree was alive, if you mean that," says Nolly, meekly. "As far as I can recollect, I was always shipped there when naughty, or troublesome, or in the way at home; and as a rule I was always in the way. There is a connection between the Eatons and my mother, and Anadale saw a good deal of me off and on during the holidays. It was a sort of rod in pickle, or dark closet, that used to be held over my head when in disgrace."

Dorothy from her corner laughs gayly. "Poor old Noll," she says, "it was his unhappy childhood that blighted his later years, and made him the melancholy object he is."

"Well, you know, it was much too much,—it was really," says Mr. Darling, very earnestly. "Mrs. Geoffrey, won't you come to my rescue?"

"Mrs. Geoffrey, thus addressed, rouses herself, and says, "What can I do for you?" in a far-away tone that proves she has been in thought-land miles away from every one.

Through her brain some words are surging. Her mind has gone back to that scene in the conservatory last night when she and Paul Rodney had been together. What was it he had said? What were the words he had used? She lays [illegible] on her smooth white brow, and lets a little frown, born only of bewildered thought, contract its [illegible]

To be Continued.

Advice to Mothers.

Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup should always be used when children are cutting teeth. It relieves the little sufferer at once; it produces natural, quiet sleep by relieving the child from pain, and the little cherub awakes as bright as a button." It is very pleasant to taste. It soothes the child, softens the gums, allays all pain, relieves wind, regulates the bowels, and is the best known remedy for diarrhœa whether arising from teething or other causes. 25 cents a bottle. Be sure and ask for "Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup," and take no other kind.

A FEW DOLLARS MIGHT BE SAVED.

It is a positive fact that money is thrown away every week. Why is this? You would imagine any one keen to save money in their purchases and yet they pay prices for goods, that could be bought much cheaper, if bought in the right place.

SHEPPARD

Has Some Very Cheap Goods, his importations for Spring now to hand are fully fifty per cent. cheaper than the same goods has been sold in Peterborough for before. Now if you want LACES go to SHEPPARD'S, or if you want CORSETS in all sizes, starting at 22½ up.

Beautiful BLACK and COLORED HOSE, two pairs for 25 cents.

A Circular Pillow Cotton, cheapest in town. White Cottons and Shirtings marked very low. Don't you buy anything in Spring Goods before making a bee line to Peterborough's Great Cheapside.

SHEPPARD

George Street, Peterborough, Town Clock overhead.

In Brief and to the Point.

Dyspepsia is dreadful. Disordered liver a misery. Indigestion is a foe to good nature.

The human digestive apparatus is one of the most complicated and wonderful things in existance. It is easily put out of order. Greasy food, tough food, sloppy food, bad cookery, mental worry, late hours, irregular habits, and many other things which ought not to be, have made the American people a nation of dyspeptics.

But Green's August Flower has done a wonderful work in reforming this sad business and making the American people so healthy that they can enjoy their meals and be happy.

Remember:—No happiness without health. But Green's August Flower brings health and happiness to the dyspeptic. Ask your druggist for a bottle. Seventy-five cents.

THE SUN LIFE
Assurance Co. of Canada

has just closed the most prosperous year in its history. Its progress, considering the times and competition, is simply marvellous. Solidity, Liberality and prompt settlements of claims, accounts for its success.

TEA TABLE TALK.

A little brass letter weighing arrangement for the library table is having a wide sale and enables one to get the postage on letters just right.

Pocket pin cushions of stamped leather, with initial letter of surname on either side in silver emanate, it is said, from the Women's Exchange.

Enough women to fill a hall have yet to learn that turning down visiting cards is obsolete, and only an evidence of exceeding "mayba-kism."

There is nothing quite so conducive to out and out, downright, real ugliness as a tobogan suit on a girl of the period. "A fright" is no name for it.

The lamp and table combined is not only ornamental but useful, and the inventor is to be congratulated upon tilting to the top a "long felt want."

Just why men should wear cloth gaiters in winter is something in the line of a riddle, excepting, of course, they are all out of any but low cut shoes.

Lace trimmed table cloths and napkins are properly voted vulgar. "Our best people" cling to plain, heavy white damask, and they know they're right.

During Lent small personal ornaments of an ecclesiastical character, a leading jeweler says, will be fashionable here, as they were in Paris a year ago.

Etchings were never in such great demand as now. Society appears to have gone mad over them, and talks, too, about them, as if it were really crazy.

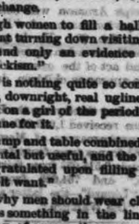
Men who have gold or silver mounted pistols usually shoot themselves somewhere when endeavoring to fire off the unnecessarily elegant weapons.

The newest Parisian Derby hat has a lower crown and wider brim than the one in vogue here. It is almost heavy enough to make little Frenchmen totter.

Hired girls do not take kindly to the new electric clock operated by a wire from milady's bed room, and regard it as a wicked invention of the enemy.

A reward of $75 for a pet cat that has gone astray, or has been purloined, to help line a circular for servant girls, indicates they are still in fashionable favor.

Those fancy straw Bar Harbor baskets are extensively used for German favors, and the girl who has the most can effectively hang them on an Alpine tripod.



Men who resort to manicures for dainty finger nails are the ones who, in the event of a fire, would escape themselves and forget to rescue women and children.

Some fur bonnets are seen, but are not to be admired for more than an hour at one sitting. Women who wear them probably do not mind being conspicuous.

A large fairy lamp in the center of the table, and smaller ones at each plate, is a dinner party fashion that is productive of pretty and brilliant results.

At the formal dinner party where caterers are employed no carving is done at the table by the host, and everything is passed. This on the authority of a fashion note.

THE BEAN-EATER'S MATCH.

MITCHELL FACES THE BOSTONIAN IN A 3-HOURS CONTEST.

The Battle Declared a Draw at the End of the Thirty-ninth Round—Sullivan Badly Punished by His Opponent—Details of the Fight.

CHANTILLY, France, March 10.—The much-talked-of prize fight between John L. Sullivan and Charles Mitchell took place to-day on the grounds of Baron Rothschild, near Criel. The battle was delayed until to-day in consequence of a wrangle over the selection of the ground. Finally three newspaper reporters went to Amiens and Criel last night to decide upon a suitable spot, and at 7 o'clock this morning the fighting party followed, taking carriages from Criel to the fighting ground. Mitchell carried himself in jaunty fashion, having entirely recovered from the effects of his seasickness and was accompanied by "Pony" Moore and his seconds, Baldock and Kilrain, Ashton, Holske and Barnett accompanied Sullivan, and Arthur Brisbane of The New York Sun, Mr. Bonsall of The New York World, Lord Wemple and the Hon. Michael Sandy, were among the party of forty who witnessed the fight. Sullivan entered the ring at 12.30 p.m. and Mitchell followed five minutes later. Sullivan appeared to be trained too fine and the result of the battle fully confirmed the opinion formed by his friends on this point that in reducing his weight he had impaired his strength. MacDonald and Ashton seconded Sullivan and Mr. Angle, a member of the London Stock Exchange, was chosen referee. Barnett acted as Sullivan's umpire, and Charley Rowell performed this service in behalf of Mitchell. Before hostilities began, Sullivan offered to bet Mitchell £500 that he would beat him. The offer was declined, and Phillips came forward with an offer of £500 to £200 on the Boston champion's success. This being also refused, Phillips declared that he would bet $300 to $100, which wager was promptly taken.

The formality of shaking hands was observed by the principals with a mutual exhibition of disgust at being obliged to touch one another save in the way of administering punishment, and the fight began.

Round 1—Sullivan stood over Mitchell. He looked too big for him and very spiteful. Mitchell was indulging in a laugh over the fact that he had won the toss for corner and put Sullivan face to the wind and sun and later on to the rain. Three to one on Sullivan was offered at the start. After half a minute's sparring Sullivan led off, when Mitchell dodged, got in his left on his opponent's chin and then ducked. Mitchell tried to draw out his man with his left, and the too artful Sullivan got home with his left on the cheek and right on the top of the head. Mitchell got home with his left on Sullivan's belly. Sullivan now several times stopped Mitchell's left, which was still aiming for the belly. Finally Sullivan cornered Mitchell, who dropped to avoid punishment.

Round 2—Mitchell commenced operations by hitting out viciously at Sullivan's eye. He hit short and Sullivan landed on the cheek with his left. Mitchell staggered from the counter, but tried his left again, this time with more success. They then closed, but broke away again almost immediately. Sullivan now rushed and hit Mitchell on the head with his right and gained the first knock-down.

Round 3—Mitchell led off with his left at the mark, and after a few exchanges they closed, Mitchell putting in a few half-arm blows. By mutual consent they separated, both laughing. The ground being clayey, somewhat hampered the movements of the men. When they resumed sparring Mitchell got in a blow with his left and they closed. Sullivan getting the best of the fibbing. On breaking away Sullivan requested Mitchell not to run round the ring and then straightway again landed with his right on Mitchell's temple, knocking him down.

Round 4—Mitchell came up with a lump on his left temple. He led with his left on the belly. The men then sparred for some time. Mitchell frequently led low and was well stopped. Sullivan tried his right and rushed it. They clinched but mutually drew away without wrestling. Sullivan after waiting a while rushed in again, but Mitchell cleverly slipped away from him. The round ended with Sullivan getting home with his right on Mitchell's left eye, the blow sending Mitchell down.

Round 5—Sullivan forced the fighting and there was a fast rally in the middle of the ring. Mitchell clinched and then separated. After a short round Mitchell went down from a right-hand blow.

Round 6—Mitchell opened this round with three left-handed shots on Sullivan's body. In the exchange which followed he had the worst of it, but stopped a heavy right-hand blow directed at his belly, though he was finally knocked down by a blow on the cheek.

Round 7—Mitchell led with his left at the belly. In the rally that ensued Sullivan fell with Mitchell on top of him. Sullivan after all the rounds walked to his corner, but Mitchell was generally carried.

Round 8—First blood was allowed for Mitchell. Mitchell got home several times on the belly, and avoided Sullivan's terrible right. After some heavy exchanges Mitchell landed a hot one on Sullivan's right eye, and got down to avoid a return.

Round 9—Sullivan got home with his right on Mitchell's neck. After a rally Mitchell's left met Sullivan's mouth and he then got home again on the ear. Sullivan landed twice with his left on the ear and temple and Mitchell went down from a right-handed blow on the arm.

Round 10—Mitchell showed a lump on his left temple, while Sullivan's right eye was in bad shape. Sullivan opened the round with a vicious rush at Mitchell, who got down.

Round 12—Mitchell got home twice with his left on the body. He was worked to his corner and got down to avoid punishment.

Round 12—Sullivan again opened with a vicious rush and Mitchell fell without a blow. Foul was claimed but not allowed. Sullivan was savage and made repeated efforts to corner Mitchell, but Mitchell slipped him and finally went down to avoid punishment.

Round 13—Sullivan led off with his left, landing on Mitchell's body. Sullivan, who had been waiting to use his right, finally sent Mitchell down with a blow on the neck.

Round 14—The round opened with a wild, but harmless rush, and in the exchange that followed Mitchell received a blow on the mouth that drew blood, and Sullivan got one in the temple in return. Sullivan then sent Mitchell down with his right on the ear, and now seemed sure of winning.

Round 15—Mitchell did most of the work, but went down to avoid punishment.

During rounds nine to fifteen a fearful storm prevailed, and nearly all but the principals and their seconds took shelter in a shed. In one of these rounds, which lasted twenty-five minutes, Mitchell received several nasty blows, especially on the temple, but Sullivan was evidently tiring. He was shivering visibly, and his teeth were chattering from the downpour which he had endured. By and by, however, the sun came out again quite warm, and with its appearance Sullivan seemed to recover. At times he made tremendous rushes but Mitchell's agility stood him in good stead, and he milled on the retreat most of the time.

Round 16—Sullivan went in to finish Mitchell, who cleverly got away from him. Slight exchanges followed. Sullivan now got in his right and Mitchell went down.

Round 17—Mitchell was shaky and was no sooner up than he went down.

Round 18—There were slight exchanges, but Mitchell quickly went down.

Round 19—Mitchell was queer, but game and active. In a rally Sullivan neatly downed him with a right-handed blow on the temple. Both were busy with the left on each other's bodies. Sullivan made a desperate rush and Mitchell got down to avoid him.

Round 20—Some brisk exchanges ended in Mitchell's going down.

Round 21—Mitchell nearly landed the "big fellow" with his right, but John got home twice on the ribs. In the rally which followed Mitchell went down.

Round 22—Mitchell was cheeky. Sullivan got home on Mitchell's chest with his left and on his neck with his right. Mitchell cleverly slipped Sullivan's next attempt in the same direction, but finally received a blow on the eye and went down.

Round 23—The ground was dreadfully slippery. Mitchell appeared to be improving in condition, while Sullivan was breathing hard. He fought Mitchell down, however.

Round 24—This was a long round. Mitchell got home twice on the mouth; but, finally, receiving a heavy thump on the neck from Sullivan's right, went down.

Rounds 25—Mitchell had the best of the fighting, scoring on the body. Sullivan tried a fine right for his ear, but Mitchell got down to avoid it.

Round 26—Mitchell got home twice, on the left eye and ear, and Sullivan got one in on the lump on Mitchell's forehead. Mitchell then went down to avoid punishment.

Round 27—There was heavy fighting for a while, but Mitchell went down to avoid Sullivan's blows.

Round 28—Sullivan cleverly forced Mitchell to prolong a fierce rally. Mitchell lightly landed his right on Sullivan's ear, but was then sent down.

Rounds 29 to 39—During these rounds Mitchell gained some advantage. Both men fought very fairly, and although Mitchell once twisted Sullivan onto the ropes and ought to have buttock him, neither would wrestle to end the rounds.

Sullivan did not relish some of Mitchell's hits, but was gracious enough to acknowledge them with such remarks as: "That's a good one, Charley," and so on. Sullivan's right eye gesting in mourning and lips swelling, while the lump on Mitchell's forehead had become redder and bigger. No blood came from the latter, Sullivan's nose and lips trickled carmine. He would not have his mustache removed.

Between 4 and 5 o'clock all got impatient, as the result seemed at least two hours off, though probably favorable to Mitchell. The latter said at last: "Well, let us shake hands or fight on, as John likes." Thereupon Baldock rushed in and joined their hands. Sullivan was nothing loth and both were tired greatly. When the fight was over all present crowded around the principals, desirous of shaking their hands.

Sullivan's body, right eye and mouth were more punished than Mitchell's, whose right eye and temple received the most damage. Sullivan and Kilrain shook hands after the fight. Mitchell has now shown himself to be a most clever fighter as well as boxer. Excessive quietness prevailed at the ring side and there was the utmost good order and generally speaking good humor all around.

It is reported that Sullivan and Mitchell and thirteen other persons have been arrested.

LONDON, March 11.—Sullivan and Mitchell have been released from custody by the French authorities and will arrive in London Monday.

Lord Lonsdale Gives Toronto the Go-by—A Robust Rumor.

OTTAWA, March 10.—A. T. Freed, editor of The Hamilton Spectator, is in the city. He will rejoin the Labor Commission in Quebec on Tuesday.

Geo. P. Drummond, President of the Montreal Board of Trade, accompanied by several other prominent Montreal business men, saw a committee of the Privy Council this afternoon with reference to the Government assuming the Lake St. Peter channel debt, which amounts to $200,000.

Premier Greenway of Manitoba went to Montreal this evening and will return on Monday. There were no new developments in the Manitoba situation to-day.

Lord Lonsdale left for the Mackenzie River via Winnipeg this evening. At the last moment His Lordship made up his mind not to visit Toronto for the present at least.

A dinner table rumor that is rather robust in its way is that on Wednesday next when Sir Richard Cartwright moves his Commercial Union motion all the Tory colonels in the House are to appear in the chamber with their uniforms on. Prominent among these gentlemen will be Col. Denison of Toronto, Col. Tyrwhitt of Simcoe, Col. Tisdale of Woodstock, and Gen. Laurie of Shelburne. This spectacle ought to strike terror into Sir Richard's camp.

PRINCE WILLIAM IGNORED

HIS NAME NOT MENTIONED IN THE EMPEROR'S DESPATCHES.

Frederick's Journey From San Remo to the German Capital—An Affecting Meeting With King Humbert—The Funeral of the Late Monarch Fixed For Thursday.

BERLIN, March 10.—Court interest is becoming centered in the question of the coronation and the position of the new Emperor towards Prince William. In messages coming from the Emperor to officials here his son, Prince William, is studiously ignored and his name is not mentioned. Among the orders issued to-day it is directed that the oath of allegiance be taken by the troops without delay, that the ministers of state proceed to Bettenfeld to-morrow to receive the Emperor, and that no reception be held until after the funeral.

The aspect of Berlin to-night is more and more indicative of the national mourning. The rain has ceased and the streets are filled with young and old in mourning garb; officers and soldiers all wear crape on their uniforms. The dense crowd assembled in Unter den Linden watches the court carriages conveying persons of high rank to and from the palace. Windows and balconies throughout the city are draped and most of the shops are closed. Mourning wreaths are displayed everywhere.

The Emperor Frederick's order empowering Prince Bismarck to close the session of the Reichstag was shown by the Chancellor to the members of that body yesterday. It has been copied by the Imperial press, and copies have been distributed among the members of the Reichstag and the Bundesrath.

Dr. Bergmann has arrived here. He says the Emperor is attended by Drs. Mackenzie and Krause, and that he is safe, and will reach Berlin in fairly good condition.

The Lower House of the Prussian Diet met this evening and received the formal announcement of the accession of Emperor Frederick to the throne.

The soldiers took the oath of allegiance to the new Emperor to-day.

The accession of Frederick William to the throne tends to strengthen the hopes that peace will be maintained.

It is stated that Emperor Frederick's reply to the message of condolence sent by President Carnot of France was very cordial and that he expressed the hope that the relations between the two countries might continue friendly.

Emperor Frederick's reply to President Carnot was sent without consultation with Prince Bismarck.

The Cologne Gazette states that the Czar will attend the funeral of the Emperor in person. No service will be held in the cathedral to-morrow. Preparations for the lying in state of the body began to-night. Many strangers are arriving in the city. It is expected the public will be admitted to view the obsequies. The interment will take place on Thursday unless Emperor Frederick alters the present arrangement.

The Emperor in his reply to the Pope's message of condolence expressed a desire for the continuance of the existing good relation between Germany and the Vatican.

The Emperor Starts for Berlin.

SAN REMO, March 10.—Emperor Frederick passed a good night. He feels extremely well. He drove to the station at 9 o'clock this morning, accompanied by the Empress Victoria, to take the special train in waiting to convey him to Berlin. The largest crowd ever seen in San Remo gathered to witness his departure. The new Emperor was enthusiastically cheered by the crowd, and he repeatedly bowed his acknowledgments of their greetings.

Greeted at Milan.

MILAN, March 10.—The Duke of Aosta and numerous army officers and Government officials and German residents formed a guard of honor on the platform at the railway station here and silently saluted Emperor Frederick on his arrival. The Duke of Aosta entered the Imperial carriage while the Emperor partook of refreshments, and upon leaving the carriage kissed the hand of the Empress. The Emperor bowed his acknowledgments to the crowd bareheaded and resumed his journey.

King Humbert Meets Emperor Frederick.

ROME, March 11.—King Humbert traveled from Rome to San Pier d'Arena to meet Emperor Frederick. When the train reached the station King Humbert entered the coach occupied by the Emperor and embraced him. The scene at their meeting was a touching one. The Emperor was voiceless owing to his disease, but he wrote many notes, in one of which he expressed his thankfulness for the honor and respect paid his father and himself. Empress Victoria translated to King Humbert the signs made by the Emperor and conversed with the King in French.

The Emperor was suffering from fatigue, but otherwise he was in a normal condition. His throat was closely muffled, and he wore a hooded cap and heavy surtout. The silent parting between the two rulers was affecting. King Humbert's suite were impressed with the Emperor's comparative robustness.

During the interview with King Humbert this morning the Emperor exhibited unusual animation. Several times he turned to speak but failed, but kept up a conversation by means of small slips of paper, upon which he wrote with a pencil. On one of these, which escaped destruction, the Emperor says he hopes to show himself equal to the work before him, and thanks the Italian Government for helping Prince Bismarck in his present trials.

Since parting with him King Humbert has wired to Berlin that the Emperor looks surprisingly well.

Mourning at the Austrian Court.

VIENNA, March 11.—The Austrian Court will go into mourning for the dead Emperor for a month from Monday.

A Unique Career.

LONDON, March 10.—Queen Victoria has been in frequent communication with her daughter at San Remo, who informs her that her husband, although much affected by the death of Emperor William, is greatly improving in health.

The Daily Telegraph says: "What is destined to befall the German Empire no man knows, but all may take heart if they go on acting dutifully. The watchword seems to be still whispered and complied with in the Emperor's death-room: 'With God, for King and Fatherland!'"

The Times says he was the only Emperor who ever succeeded in making Germany a united nation. His career was unlike any found in modern history.

WALES' SILVER WEDDING DAY.

Reception at Marlborough House — The Queen Cheered by the Citizens.

LONDON, March 10.—The Queen, the Duke of Albany, Princess Beatrice and Prince Henry of Battenberg, all attired in deep mourning, drove to Marlborough House to-day to greet the Prince and Princess of Wales on their silver wedding day. A crowd assembled on the route and cheered heartily as the royal party passed. The party remained at Marlborough House half an hour. On their return they were again heartily cheered.

The reception at Marlborough House was very largely attended. The Princess of Wales wore a cream colored dress, while her daughters appeared in spring colors. The numerous lady visitors were all elegantly attired in material of different shades. On the Queen's arrival she greeted the Prince and Princess of Wales and family in the warmest and most affectionate manner. There were present the King of the Belgians, the King and Queen of Denmark, the Duke of Cambridge, Lord Salisbury and other persons of note.

Bouquets, baskets of flowers, hampers of exotics and the numerous presents to the Prince and Princess of Wales made a fine display.

The gloom caused by Emperor William's death is somewhat dispelled by the royal wedding festivity and the German embassy is forsaken.

Wreck of the Sierenia.

LONDON, March 10.—The Buxton life-boat while attempting to rescue the crew of the British ship Sierenia, which stranded at Asherfield, Isle of Wight, in a dense fog, capsized and several persons were drowned. The latest advices regarding the Sierenia state that the vessel is partly submerged. The captain's wife and children and twelve of the crew were landed safely but several were drowned.

Disastrous Collision at Sea.

LONDON, March 11.—The British bark Tasmania, Capt. Kohn, which sailed from London on March 5 for San Francisco, has returned badly damaged by a collision with the British ship City of Corinth, Capt. Taylor, from Iquique for Hamburg. The Tasmania is anchored off Folkestone. The City of Corinth sunk. It is believed that twenty-eight lives were lost.

French Public Worship Estimates.

PARIS, March 11.—The Chamber of Deputies has passed the public worship estimates with an amendment that no appointments to bishopric not provided for in the concordat shall be made on the death of the present occupants of sees. Credits for the maintenance of Catholic, Protestant and Jewish seminaries were rejected.

Major Burroughs Fined.

LONDON, March 11.—Major L. Burroughs, who was charged by his sister's husband, Lord Howard de Walden, with assault, has been found guilty and fined £400 and costs. He was also bound over to keep the peace.

LIGHT IN DARKNESS.

REV. MR. M'CREA OF COBOURG AT ST. PAUL'S CHURCH.

Preaches an Able Sermon and Explains How it is that Every Cloud has a Silver Lining.

The Rev. Mr. McCrea, of Cobourg, occupied the pulpit of St. Paul's Presbyterian church on Sunday, both morning and evening, the Rev. Mr. Torrance exchanging pulpits with him.

In the morning the congregation was not a large one, owing no doubt to the bad state of the weather. The rev. gentleman is a good speaker and his sermons were able ones. He chose for his text the 21st verse of the 37th chapter of the book of Job:

"And now men see not the bright light which is in the clouds; but the wind passeth, and cleanseth them."

He said that the world we live in is a world of cloud and darkness. The words of his text were true. No argument was required to prove it, as we have it impressed on us on all sides every day. There is indeed a bright light in every cloud, but the light is only seen by those who know God and trust in Him implicitly. In the olden days this bright light cheered on the children of God and baffled and dispersed their enemies and persecutors. The way of the wicked is all darkness and to see the light one must believe in God. Sometimes good Christian men do not see the light on account of human limitation. God's days are eternal while man's days are numbered. We cannot understand all of God's dealings, but all can trust in Him. We cannot expect in this world to fully understand God. He is always good, wise, loving and tender and all should fully repose their trust in Him. If Christians are not living in close communion with the blessed Saviour, they cannot expect to see the bright light in the clouds. Most people make a mistake in looking for God and peace elsewhere than in the clouds. The stars in the heavens above are seen only on account of the darkness by which they are surrounded, and the deeper the darkness the brighter the stars appear to us, and it is exactly the same with Christains, the firmer their belief in Christ is, the brighter the light in the cloud appears to them. He knew a mother who had lost an infant by death. The mother was sorely troubled and felt that the hand of God had fallen heavier on her than she deserved, but after a time she came to understand it, became a good Christain and saw a brigh light, where all was clouded with gloom but a short time before. When affliction falls on us we pray that the clouds may roll away and admit the sunlight and we are impatient until the clouds are dispelled. The cloud is God's chariot. It is a blessing and brings us the choices gifts that man can obtain on earth. A true Christian will disperse every cloud and see nothing but the bright light. St. Paul had asked Christ no less than three times to dispel the cloud that hung over him and when it was dispelled he saw better and brighter than ever before. The patriarch Job was sorely tried and he had asked God for an explanation of the cloud that hung over him. He looked in every direction but the right one for an explanation, but when he looked at the cloud he was satisfied. He heard the voice of God from out of the darkness and forever afterwards he was a much better man and led a better life. When we see clouds of sorrow and disappointment hanging over us we should look at the clouds until we see the bright light. He had heard of a prominent business man of New York, a man of the world, whose wife had died. She was the light of his soul and a dense, black cloud hung over him. He watched the cloud until he saw the bright light, surrendered his heart to Christ and found that in his conversion he had a blessing worth more than all the others he had ever got. What is the whole world to a man if he loses his own soul? We have looked up to Heaven but did not see the light. God is in the clouds, He saw us and He has us continually under His eye. He rejoices with us when we rejoice and sympathizes with us in time of trouble. The trouble is that we look too far, for God is always with us. We often forget about this, and when we speak of the ups and downs of the world we are only looking at the dark side of the cloud. The providence of God should make the downs up, as there are really no downs, and lift us to a higher and nobler position in life. A wise man had said that the clouds return after the rain, and that such is the case we all know well. A gentleman lost a child and when she was buried his conscience reproved him for every harsh word and cruel blow that he had given. He was fortured, but there was light in the cloud for him. He saw it and became a new man, a loving father and husband and a good, persevering Christian. We stand in a forest, we hear the wind through the trees, the hum of the insects, the noise of the birds, but if a human voice is heard, how quick we can tell the difference. It is the same in life. We hear the voice of God calling on us and we see the light. We know what it means and remember it. It calls on us to surrender to His will and become Christians. We should not forget that the trials and disappointments, whether of an individual, a community or a nation, all mean something. A voice speaks out of the darkness and pours down blessings on the earth. If the belief in a living and loving Jesus was taken away darkness would settle upon the earth. A sea of light fills all the vacant places if we believe and our souls are filled with thanksgiving to the living Christ. Eternal truth inspires people and a belief in Christ illuminates all the dark spots and enables us to look forward with confidence and joy to [illegible] beyond the grave. It will give us [illegible] every trial. It is guidance for our steps. Christ alone can do it, and to have Christ is to have all that is good on earth. We must suffer trials and tribulations to enter the Kingdom God, but there all is light.

In the evening Mr. McCrea preached another excellent and forcible sermon, to a good congregation.

A STAND-OFF IN ELECTIONS

THE RESULTS IN WEST MIDDLESEX AND PRINCE EDWARD.

The Conservative Candidate Again Carries the Former Constituency and Dr. Platt Again Elected for the Latter—Treasurer Jones Returned for Sheal Lake, Man.

STRATHROY, March 11.—In the election yesterday to fill the vacancy in the House of Commons caused by the unseating of Dr. W. F. Roome (Con.) he was elected by a majority of 117 over Mr. G. C. Elliott (Lib.).

Dr. Platt Elected in Prince Edward.

PICTON, March 11.—The election to fill the vacancy in the House of Commons for Prince Edward took place yesterday, when Dr. J. M. Platt, the unseated Liberal candidate, was elected by 170 majority over Mr. R. S. Clapp (Con.)

MANITOBA ELECTIONS.

Treasurer Jones Returned for Sheal Lake—Polling in North Dufferin To-day.

WINNIPEG, March 11.—Treasurer Jones is elected in Shoal Lake by a majority of 160, with two places to hear from according to The Call, and by 199, with one place to hear from according to The Free Press. Mr. Dinsmore is likely to lose his deposit. There was not a very large vote polled.

The election takes place in North Dufferin to-morrow. The Reform candidate is sure to be elected.

A COMMERCIAL UNION MEETING.

Restricted Reciprocity Abandoned—Nothing Will Now Do But C. U. Straight.

PORT DOVER, March 10.—Two mass meetings were held in the Town Hall here to-day under the auspices of the South Norfolk Farmers' Institute to discuss "the subject of extending our trade relations with the United States." The hall was crowded with farmers and villagers. The speakers were: R. Thomas Shaw, secretary of the C. U. club, Valency E. Fuller president of the Central Farmers' Institute, J. Ellis of Port Dover, on one side; and J. Nickerson of Simcoe, L. G. Morgan of Port Dover and W. F. Maclean of Toronto. At the close of the discussion and when the meeting had become quite lively the following motions were submitted:

Moved by J. Ellis, seconded by Hiram Bowlby, that in the opinion of this meeting partial reciprocity with the United States is not attainable, seeing that it has been repeatedly refused. It is further of the opinion that unrestricted trade between Canada and the United States will be advantageous to this country if it can be obtained on fair and equitable grounds.

Moved in amendment by W. F. Maclean, seconded by Dr. Walker, that while in the opinion of this meeting it is desirable to have as large a measure of reciprocity with the United States as can be obtained on an equitable basis yet we are not in favor of such a Commercial Union with the United States as would take the control of our own tariff laws out of our hands, and would discriminate against the Mother Country.

Moved in amendment to the amendment by Valency E. Fuller, seconded by Mr. Shaw, that in the opinion of this meeting it is desirable that as large a measure of reciprocity should be had with the United States as can possibly be obtained on an equitable basis even to the extent of Commercial Union, but that we are not in favor in such Commercial Union taking the control of our tariff laws out of our own hands.

The chairman declared the latter motion carried, though those who counted the show of hands claimed it to be a tie. At all events it was a close vote. Had not Messrs. Fuller and Shaw put in their amendment to the amendment the latter would have carried; as it was their amendment to the amendment in effect declared C.U. impossible, inasmuch as it begged the question and was on that ground acceptable to those opposed to the fad. Mr. Maclean had argued in the forencon meeting that it was undignified on the part of Canada to supplicate the Americans any longer for reciprocity, seeing that they had refused it so often, and in answering him Mr. Shaw admitted that he had made out his case, but that it therefore became our duty to ask for unrestricted reciprocity. Mr. Fuller also admitted that restricted reciprocity, reciprocity in raw products, would never be granted; that what the Americans wanted was the Canadian markets for their manufactures in exchange for their markets for our products.

PLAYS AND ACTORS.

George and Edward Hanlon have become American citizens.

The meaning of "Cushla Ma Chree," Dion Boucicault's new play, is "Throb of My Heart."

Mrs. John Drew will be with Joseph Jefferson in his revival of "The Rivals" next spring.

Myra Goodwin has gone on the road again with Mr. Kidder's "Philopena." She is in New England.

W. T. Scanlan has written a comic opera—words and music—all by himself. He calls it "The West Point Cadet."

Lillian Olcott has insured her life for $90,000, but is not allowed by the insurance company to tame lions.

Blondin was an infant prodigy, too. He began to walk the tight rope at the age of 4, and appeared before the king of Italy when he was 8 years old.

Wilson Barrett contemplates another professional visit to this country, but whether he will come here next fall or wait until after the excitement of the presidential election rolls by has not yet been finally determined.

Grace Hawthorne has dramatized Fergus Henne's novel, "The Mystery of a Hansom Cab," and the play will be produced at the Princess' theatre, London, on Feb. 22.

About $800 has thus far been contributed by actors and managers toward the monument to John T. Raymond that it is proposed to erect in Evergreen cemetery. The cost of the monument will be about $1,400.

Manager Abbey has signed a contract with the father of Josef Hofmann, the boy pianist, by the terms of which the lad will give a series of 100 concerts under the management of Abbey, Schoeffel and Grau next season. The new series will begin in October, and the tour will include this country, Mexico, Havana and the large cities of Canada.

Messrs. Booth and Barrett are to be the central figures of a "dramatic festival," to be held in Louisville, Ky., on May 10, 11 and 12. The great exposition building has been secured and will be transformed into a theatre, on the stage of which "Hamlet," "Othello" and "Julius Cæsar" will be presented on successive evenings.

The Parisians have revolted against the introduction of horses on the lyric stage. Twelve equines appear at once in the new opera of "La Dame de Monsereau," and the audiences have kicked. The discussion upon this subject has developed the fact that Thackeray once wrote a play which the manager refused, because one scene included "a hansom cab drawn by a live horse," and the author wouldn't give it up.

MINDEN.

SMOTHERED IN THE SNOW.—A letter has been received from Neepaw, Manitoba, containing the sad news of the death of Mr. John Freed, son of Jesse Freed, Esq., of Minden township. It seems the unfortunate man was engaged moving a threshing machine, when his team got stuck in a snow drift. It was necessary to unhitch them and before this was accomplished they started away, upsetting the "cleaner" on on top of him. There was another man with him, who immediately started for the nearest neighbors (half a mile distant) for assistance. It was some time before the body was recovered, when it was found that he had smothered in the snow, there being no signs of a bruise on his person. Mr. Freed left this county about eight years ago. The relatives of deceased have the sympathy of the entire community.—Echo.

FACTS WORTH KNOWING.

Hold a hot shovel over furniture to remove white spots.

To give a good oak color to a pine floor wash in a solution of one pound of copperas dissolved in a gallon of strong lye.

To whiten the hands melt half an ounce of camphor gum, half an ounce of glycerine and one pound of mutton tallow, and apply every night.

A hornet's nest which has been deserted by the hornets, bound on the throat with a piece of flannel, will cure the most malignant sore throat.

Salt and water will prevent the hair from falling out, and will cause new hair to grow. Do not use so strong as to leave white particles upon the hair when dry.

To restore gilding to picture frames, remove all dust with a soft brush and wash the gilding in warm water in which an onion has been boiled; dry quickly with soft rags.

Mahogany furniture should be washed with warm water and soap; an application of beeswax and sweet oil upon a soft cloth, and polished with chamois, gives a rich finish.

Blackheads may be removed by washing the face at night with hot water, then drying briskly with a crash towel and applying a mixture of one ounce of liquor of potass and two ounces of cologne.

A free application of soft soap to a fresh burn almost instantly removes the fire from the flesh. If the injury is very severe, as soon as the pain ceases apply linseed oil and then dust over with fine flour. When this covering drys hard repeat the oil and flour dressing until a good coating is obtained. When the latter dries allow it to stand until it cracks and falls off, as it will do in a day or two, and a new skin will be found to have formed where the skin was burned.

ON THE TURF.

E. J. Baldwin's stable will leave the Pacific slope for the east in April.

One of the leading features of the grand circle trotting matches in 1888 will doubtless be double team races.

Trotting to sleigh by electric light is the latest thing in turf sports. New Yorkers have been enjoying it at old Fleetwood park.

Murphy will begin jogging Maud S. on Feb. 28, and will put her in condition to defend her laurels should a rival appear in the field.

Just at present, Green Morris says, Sir Dixon will start for the Kentucky Derby. As a matter of fact he is more likely to start him for the American Derby.

The betting on the English Derby remains practically unchanged. The latest London figures on the favorites are: Friar's Balsam, 3 to 1 against, with no takers; Orbit, 7 to 1 against, and Ayrshire, 8 to 1 against.

Two hundred and sixty horse owners and 119 jockeys are to be debarred from the tracks of the big jockey clubs next season for having engaged in racing at the half mile tracks at Clifton and Guttenberg.

It is estimated that at the spring sales of thoroughbreds in Kentucky there will be offerings to the number of 1,000 yearlings, which will include those of all the prominent breeding farms in Fayette, Woodford, Bourbon, Harrison and Franklin counties.

The Louisville Jockey club will perhaps pay the amount of the purses won as soon as the race is decided. That is a very old practice down south, the name "purse" being derived from the custom of having the cash in a purse and handing it to the winning jockey on the track.

BANKERS.—Bank of Toronto and Canadian Bank of Commerce
SOLICITORS.—Dumble & Leonard.

TO DEPOSITERS.—Deposits are received by this Company both on current account and for periods of one year or longer. The rate of interest paid on amount deposited on current account and which may be withdrawn by check in such sums as the depositor may from time to time require, is four per cent., either paid or compounded half yearly, and the rate on yearly deposits is five per cent.

TO INVESTORS.—The five and ten years five per cent debentures of this Company which are issued in denominations of $100, $200, $500 and $1,000 each, transferable by endorsement, with half-yearly interest coupons attached, payable at the Head Office of the Company in Peterborough, or at any Branch of the Bank of Toronto in Canada, afford a safe and convenient mode of investment.

The funds of the Company being invested with the utmost care and precaution, no better security can be offered to depositors or debenture-holders, they having a first claim or mortgage on the whole Assets of the Company, the Shareholders having the second. The last audit shows that the amount so invested was over $1,310,223.69, and on securities of at least double that value.

By the Laws of Ontario, Trustees, Executors and Administrators may deposit Trust Funds of the estates which they control in this Company, and are free from all further liability, a privilege of which many have largely availed themselves.

TO BORROWERS.—Money is obtainable from this Company on approved Real Estate Security at the Lowest Current Rates of Interest. The Mortgage may be paid by yearly instalments or otherwise, as may be agreed upon, the interest ceasing at once on all amounts paid on account of the sum borrowed. Applications may be made either to the Head Office, or to any of the Agents.

THE CITY AND SUBURBS

The Weather Probabilities.

Fresh west and northwest winds; fine, cold weather.

Shall They Run on Sunday.

An enquiry is made as to whether it is right for the public convenience that the snow ploughs should be had out to clear the walks on a stormy Suuday such as yesterday. There is no doubt that clear walks on Sunday would be a great convenience and if prepared in the interests of church goers might be allowed as a work of necessity. On the other hand if our correspondent is looking out for clear walking on Monday, say to visit the golden lion, he may as well know that, rain or hail, wet or dry, the excellent bargains offered are always ready, and just now particularly attractive.

The Fire Apparatus.

The boys at the fire hall have have had a rather curious experience during the last month or more. Whenever a thaw set in the apparatus was placed on wheels. When the snow came the runners were used. At least a dozen changes have been made, the last of which was on Saturday, but now runners are again in use....Terry Smith's new team for the hose waggon will be here to-morrow....Terry Smith has sold old "Tom" to a Montreal buyer and he left on Saturday....The new, double, patent swinging harness for the hose waggon will be ready in a day or two. The delay has been caused by the manufacturer of the harness not doing his work by the time agreed on.

A Stray Horse.

A resident of Smith-st. was rather surprised the other morning, when he arose from bed, to find a strange horse and cutter standing in his yard. He investigated and the only clue he could get was a filled flask, of gigantic dimensions, which was snugly stowed away under the seat of the cutter. He drove the rig down town and found an owner in the person of a livery stable keeper. A young man had hired the horse on the previous evening and had left the horse standing on the street, while he went into a house. When he came out the horse was gone and he concluded that the animal had started for home, so he did not bother himself about it any further, with the above result.

The Ballot Question.

The following letter from the Bishop of Peterborough appears in the Empire:—

ST. PETER'S CATHEDRAL,
Peterborough, March 9, 1888.

His Grace the Archbishop of Toronto:

MY DEAR LORD ARCHBISHOP,—I am glad that your timely protest in the name of the bishops, clergy and laity had the good effect of making the Toronto Separate School Board attend to its own legitimate business. The agitation in the ballot question I have regarded all along as a purely local affair referring to the Toronto board alone, and therefore to be dealt with as it has been so successfully by the chief pastor of the diocese. However, in order to obtain an expression of opinion as far as this diocese is concerned, I took the trouble of communicating with several boards of separate school trustees and of taking counsel with the diocesan clergy, assembled this week on the festival of St. Thomas Aquinas. The result of my enquiries enables me to inform your Grace that both priests and people in the diocese of Peterborough are quite satisfied with the present system of open voting and that no desire exists here for the introduction of the ballot. From personal and intimate acquaintance with the clergy and laity of Hamilton, I think I may safely say the same of that diocese, with which I was associated as priest and separate school trustee for more than twenty-two years. All good Catholics know and appreciate the sacrifices made by their zealous pastors for the establishment and maintenance of parochial schools, many of which, to my own knowledge, owe their foundation to the zeal of the priest and would soon cease to exist if his annual donation towards their support happened to be withdrawn. Whenever, therefore, changes in the school law become desirable we have a right to expect that all good Catholics will look for light and direction to the divinely constituted authorities of the Church, who are the proguardians of Catholic education and not to the few refractory Toronto school trustees who have been so disrespectful to their Archbishop and to the venerable chairman of their board and whose wicked efforts to sow dissension between priests and people only give joy to the enemies of our holy faith.

I have the honor to be,
You grace's most devoted brother in Christ.
†THOMAS JOSEPH DOWLING,
Bishop of Peterborough."

Fish For Lent.

A large stock of salt and fresh fish at the Palace Grocery, lowest prices. For fine groceries try Elliott & Tierney.

Finished.

The two new stores next to the fire station, fixed up by Mayor Stevenson, are now ready for occupation. They are small but exceedingly neat.

The Auditors.

The town auditors have just about completed their labors and they will probably hand in a report at the next meeting of the Town Council.

The Assessors.

The assessors are now working in the third ward, having finished the first. They will take the fourth next and then the most important of all, the second, will be duly attended to.

A Show Room.

The Ontario Canoe Company of Ashburnham have rented a portion of the building occupied by Messrs. Fitzgerald & Stanger and it is the intention to use it as a show room for their fine canoes, boats, paddles, etc.

Congratulatory.

Rev. Father McEvay has been officially gazetted Rector of the Cathedral and Chancellor of the Diocese. Everybody is congratulating him and messages are pouring in from many parts of the United States and Canada.

Imported Direct.

Ladies will find a beautiful range of Dress Goods at H. S. Griffin & Co.'s, imported direct by them. The shades are entirely new and value unsurpassed. Also silks in the very newest shades. H. S. Griffin & Co. make a specialty of fine goods at prices within the reach of all. 1d60

On Strike.

The members of the Peterborough branch of the Iron Moulders Union are on strike. They demand an increase of 10 per cent. and so far the employers have not seen fit to accede to the demand. This union is one of the strongest on the continent and the local branch will be sustained as long as they hold out.

Stopped.

The wires in front of the faces of the town clock served a good purpose in keeping the pigeons away, but during a snow storm they do harm in collecting the snow and stopping the hands. Such was the case on Sunday and the public were rather annoyed thereat, but it is one of those things that no person can prevent.

Others are In.

It appears that at least one Port Hope scrap iron dealer was bitten, probably by the same gentlemen who worked this section of the country. At any rate a Port Hoper has written here asking for information and he intimates his intention of coming out to Peterborough and joining with the local dealers in prosecuting the cases as far as they can possibly go.

Imperial Federation League.

A meeting of the Peterborough branch of the Imperial Federation League will be held on Monday evening, March 12th, at 8 o'clock, in the Forester's Hall, George-st., opposite the Golden Lion. Mr. J. H. Burnham will read a paper upon the general objects of the League, and Mr. Wm. Beatty will read a paper in favor of Annexation. The public are invited to attend. 2d59

Only Smoke.

On Sunday afternoon heavy volumes of black smoke were observed rising from the roof of Hall, Innes & Co's. fine premises. The men in the fire station opposite were prepared for a run out, but it was soon learned that there was not the slightest danger, as the smoke came from the furnace. Owing to the cold weather a hot fire had been started, and hence the smoke.

Be on Time.

We observe year after year that a numerous class of people complain about their assessment for municipal purposes, but as they always wait until after the Court of Revision is over before putting in appeals they cannot do anything to remedy matters and do nothing else but growl the rest of the year. This year they should not fail to be on time, if they have any complaints to make.

Emperor William is dead, and although very old he may never have had a chance to buy boots as cheap as kidd the boot man sells them.

Personal.

Mr. George Menzies, son of Mr. Wm. Menzies, of the Examiner, leaves to-morrow for Chatham, where he has secured a good situation as carriage painter, under Mr. Walter Wing, one of the best artists in his line that ever handled a brush in Peterborough. Mr. Menzies is already quite proficient in his business and we have no doubt under the instructions of his new teacher he will profit much, and do credit to himself.

Asking for Amendment.

The town of Collingwood, like the town of Peterborough, is separated from the county for municipal purposes. Like us, too, they have the Scoot Act in force and the Council has taken steps to memorializing the Dominion Government to have the Scott Act so amended that towns with upwards of 4,000 inhabitants may be put in the same position as cities and may adopt or reject the Scott Act, as separate and independent municipalities.

Curlana.

On Saturday afternoon a match was played in Millbrook between two rinks of young men from Peterborough and Millbrook, resulting in a victory for Peterborough by 13 shots. The following was the score:—

MILLBROOK	PETERBOROUGH
J. Wilger	A. Robertson
Capt. Winslow	F. Kingan
R. Kelis	Max Hamilton
D. Hampton, sk., 8	W. F. Hamilton, sk., 21

Our boys speak in the highest terms of the princely manner in which they were entertained.

Two rinks from Millbrook will play here on Wednesday next.

The Peterborough and Lakefield juniors are playing here this afternoon.

The Lindsay and Peterborough juniors will cross brooms here to-morrow.

The following are copies of the reports made by the Inspector to the Government upon the Home:—

"I made an inspection of the Protestant Home, Peterborough, on the 18th May. There were 13 adult inmates being cared for on that date, viz: 7 males and 6 females. There were also 4 youths under twelve years.

"The apartments were thoroughly clean and well kept, and the inmates were evidently receiving proper care and attention."

"I have the honor to report that, as instructed by you, I paid a visit to the Protestant Home, Peterborough, on the 31st August, 1887, on which occasion there were ten old people in residence, 5 men and 5 women, together with 4 boys under 12 years of age. I saw all the adults, who, although very old and some of them quite helpless, appeared to be as happy and comfortable as it is possible to be in such a state.

"The building, an old one, and not suited for the purposes for which it is used, is clean and nicely kept throughout.

"The books were properly entered up to date."

Social.

Remember the social at Mrs. W. Walsh's on Thursday, 15th March. A good programme has been provided. Refreshments will be served. Admission, 25 cents. 3d59

Fix It.

The property committee should see that the wires and ledges about the faces of the town clock are fixed at once, or considerable damage may result. The caretaker cannot be expected to give satisfaction until this matter is attended to.

The Storm.

The storm of yesterday was a sample of genuine March weather. The quantity of snow that fell was not great, but the high wind drifted it considerably and the roads and sidewalks were badly drifted in some places. It did not interfere to any extent with railway traffic.

Brevities.

—One tramp strayed into police headquarters last night.

—The Salvation Army services were largely attended yesterday.

—Chimney fires were numerous last evening, owing to the high wind.

—The Court of Chancery opens on Friday. The docket is a small one.

—The I. O. O. F. concert at Norwood takes place to-morrow evening.

—The corporation snow ploughs were found useful again this morning.

—The volunteer class meets on Tuesday and Friday evenings of each week.

—The Rev. Dr. Shaw, of Toronto, preached educational sermons at Keene on Sunday.

—Mrs. Scott-Siddons will appear at the Opera House, on Friday evening, March 16th.

—The Peterborough Presbytery meets at St. Paul's church at 10 o'clock a.m. to-morrow.

—The Appointment to Office and License Committees of the Town Council meet this evening.

—Mayor Stevenson, M.P., is home from Ottawa. He will leave again this evening or to-morrow.

—The thermometer on Saturday night registered 31 deg. above zero and on Sunday night 10 deg. above.

—The link between the Grand Trunk and the Rome, Watertown & Ogdensburg railway has been completed.

—The road between here and Lakefield on this side of the river is so badly blocked that it is almost impassible.

—Except while the people were going to and returning from church on Sunday the streets were almost deserted.

—The Rev. Mr. McCrea during prayers yesterday made a touching reference to the death of the Emperor William.

—Wooden steps have been placed over the stones at the "drop" door of the post office, to prevent people from slipping.

—A young man in military uniform was rather noisy at the Salvation Army meeting on Sunday night and was promptly lectured by the captain.

—The cold and disagreeable weather yesterday told greatly on the attendance at the churches and slim congregations were the rule.

—At a meeting of the banquet committee of the cricket club on Saturday evening, it was decided to hold the banquet on the 22nd of March.

—A case of embezzlement was before the Police Magistrate this morning. It was dismissed without the defendant's witnesses being called on.

—His Lordship the Bishop of Peterborough preached a beautiful sermon in the Emismore church yesterday on devotion to St. Patriet and St. Joseph.

—Officers McGinty and Stewart had some trouble on Saturday night in persuading a rather noisy individual to start home, but a threat of placing him in the coop had the desired effect.

—The river is still frozen solidly from shore to shore. That much quoted individual, the oldest inhabitant, never knew such a state of affairs to exist for such a long, steady period before.

—A deputation from Port Hope and Cobourg have been endeavoring to induce the Government to purchase the road between the two places and free it from tolls. These so called relics of barbarism are an unknown quantity in our county.

Organized.

At a meeting held in the Water-st. roller rink on Saturday evening, a branch of the Amalgamated Society of Carpenters and Joiners, was organized for the town of Peterborough.

Gospel Hall.

Mr. Andrew Fraser, of Belfast, Ireland, will conduct a series of meetings in the Gospel Hall (over China Hall) beginning to-night and continuing so far as now known until Friday night. The addresses will be to Christians and all converted people are invited. Open at 8 o'clock.

Shipment of Horses.

Saturday was a busy day among the horse buyers. In the evening four car loads of horses, seventy head altogether, were shipped from Peterborough to Montreal, via the Canadian Pacific by Messrs. Jacobs and Lefaivre. The animals cost about $115 each on an average. In spite of the fact that hundreds of animals have been shipped during the last few months, the supply still far exceeds the demand, and on Saturday the buyers were shown ten horses for every one they purchased.

NORTH SMITH.

Correspondence of the Review.

SOCIAL AND PRESENTATION.—A parlor social was held at the residence of Mr. James Northey, at which a good and pleasant evening was spent. After satisfying the inner man the entertainment was opened in orderly form, a long and interesting programme having been prepared, consisting of singing, recitations, reading and addresses. The proceeds were given to the Rev. A. L. Adam, pastor, with the following address:—

Mr. A. L. Adam,

DEAR SIR,—We, the members of the church and congregation of the Wesley appointment, beg to offer to you the proceeds of this evening's social as a slight expression of our sympathy with yourself and Mrs. Adam in your great and long continued affliction, with the hope that she may speedily recover and be spared for many years to help in your important and arduous labors. With hearty prayers that God may bless you both.

(Signed.) D. W. BLEWITT,
W. J. NORTHEY,
STEPHEN HARRISON,
S. A. NORTHEY.

Mr. Adam made a suitable reply, showing his gratitude to the people in showing their true benevolence towards Mr. and Mrs. Adam.

BOBCAYGEON.

FIRES.—The Independent says that two narrow escapes from fires occurred Saturday and Sunday. On Saturday afternoon, Mr. H. Thompson, whose family is away from home, had occasion to go over to the house, and to his suprise found it filled with smoke. On opening the dining room door, the fire which must have been smouldering, burst into a violent blaze with the draught, and Mr. Thompson had some difficulty in extinguishing it. It is supposed a spark had dropped from the stove. A large part of the floor was burnt, and a carpet and furniture destroyed. The house used to belong to Mr. Joseph Brown, and is popularly considered as fire proof. Several buildings have been burnt on each side of it, and it has always escaped with scarcely a singe. Sunday night Mrs. William Bottum was awakened by a sense of suffocation, and on Mr. Bottum making investigation it was found that the hall was on fire. On coming home Mr. Bottum had put his pipe in his overcoat pocket and hung it on the hat rack. The coat was entirely consumed, with part of the rack and a portion of the floor. It was fortunate that it was discovered in time.

CAMPBELLFORD.

AN OLD RESIDENT DEAD.—Mr. John Free, another resident of Seymour, whose name is associated with the settlers who first opened up the way in this section of the country, passed away to the other world, at midnight on Tuesday. He had reached the age of 82 years and some months.

BITTEN BY A HORSE.—One day during the week, Chas. Bedford, son of Mr. G. Bedford, of Seymour east, was bitten by a horse and had a large piece of flesh taken out of his lip. The animal was harnessed with another horse and the two were driven into the stable together. While Mr. Bedford was at their heads one threw its head to bite the other and caught him by the lip, inflicting a serious wound.—Herald.

The extraordinary popularity of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral is the natural result of its use by all classes of people for over 40 years. It has proven itself the very best specific for colds, coughs, and pulmonary complaints.

BETHANY.

FIRE.—On Sunday morning about four o'clock the saw, shingle and planing mill and door and sash factory belonging to Mr. F. W. Galbraith was discovered to be on fire. In a short time the buildings were reduced to ashes along with the quantity of lumber. Mr. Galbraith has spent the whole winter improving the factory and putting in new machinery and had only cut a few days. His loss will be very heavy, about $3,000, and there is only $1,000 insurance. The citizens propose offering Mr. Galbraith a bonus to rebuild.

LINDSAY.

A LITTLE CHILD POISONED.—We regret to learn that Mr. Andrew Leary, who lately kept the Dominion hotel on William-st. and now of the Ontario house, Chicago, has sustained a severe loss by the death of his youngest child, Steven Leo, under distressing circumstances. On Wednesday of last week, about ten o'clock, while in the laundry little Steven in some way or other managed to get hold of a dish containing oatmeal and rat poison which had been placed on a high table in the back end three days previous. Being fond of oatmeal he partook freely of this and in a few minutes began to vomit. A doctor was quickly called, but notwithstanding his best endeavors Steven sank steadily and at six o'clock quietly expired. We sincerely sympathize with Mr. Leary in his affliction.—Post.

The Worth of a Man

To his business—his estate—is the measure of his need of Life Insurance, because he ceases to be worth anything to it when he dies. Other brains must direct and other hands perform—if they can—what was formerly directed and done by brain and hands that will be but dust. And as every one works for himself and for his own, even if the work is well done, it is done for the doer and no for the dead. All a man is worth to his business or his estate, is therefore a dead loss when he dies—unless his life is insured. The man who rates his own ability high ought, for this reason, to insure his life for a large amount.

ADVERTISE IN THE DAILY REVIEW.

"Did n't Know 't was Loaded"

May do for a stupid boy's excuse; but what can be said for the parent who sees his child languishing daily and fails to recognize the want of a tonic and blood-purifier? Formerly, a course of bitters, or sulphur and molasses, was the rule in well-regulated families; but now all intelligent households keep Ayer's Sarsaparilla, which is at once pleasant to the taste, and the most searching and effective blood medicine ever discovered.

Nathan S. Cleveland, 27 E. Canton st., Boston, writes: "My daughter, now 21 years old, was in perfect health until a year ago when she began to complain of fatigue, headache, debility, dizziness, indigestion, and loss of appetite. I concluded that all her complaints originated in impure blood, and induced her to take Ayer's Sarsaparilla. This medicine soon restored her blood-making organs to healthy action, and in due time reëstablished her former health. I find Ayer's Sarsaparilla a most valuable remedy for the lassitude and debility incident to spring time."

J. Castright, Brooklyn Power Co., Brooklyn, N. Y., says: "As a Spring Medicine, I find a splendid substitute for the old-time compounds in Ayer's Sarsaparilla, with a few doses of Ayer's Pills. After their use, I feel fresher and stronger to go through the summer."

Ayer's Sarsaparilla,

THE PLAN APPROVED.

Mr. Goschen's Financial Proposition Favored in London Monetary Circles.

LONDON, March 11.—The Stock Exchange and monetary circles generally approve Mr. Goschen's financial proposals. Large revenue payments restrict the available supply of money. The Bank of England returns showing £12,500,000 public deposits has caused short loans to rise nearly to the level of the bank minimum. Apart from these temporary influences the present monetary position is very strong in every way, with a bank reserve exceeding £10,000,000 and £23,000,000 gold on hand. Foreign exchanges are showing no indication of a demand for bullion. The low and steady money market with the ample supply of funds seems to assure the success of Mr. Goschen's conversion scheme.

The death of Emperor William has had a depressing effect on the money market, the immediate result being to check business, people being inclined to hold their hands until they see how events are likely to move.

On the Stock Exchange during the week a cheerful feeling prevailed, the activity in investment securities producing a belief that further movement of the same description will follow Mr. Goschen's conversion of the national debt. Foreign securities were steady, being supported by purchases of stock sold in anticipation of the death of Emperor William, it being generally conceded that the death has not affected materially the political situation. It is believed that the London advance is likely to be reflected before long in Paris and Berlin.

LEFT THE TRACK.

Serious Accident to a Passenger Train on the Erie Railway.

ROCHESTER, March 11.—A special despatch from Belmont, N.Y., says: A serious accident occurred at Scio, about eight miles from here on the Western Division of the Erie Railway, at 4 o'clock this morning. Train No. 2, composed of baggage car, smoker, day coach and two sleepers—the Tisonia, a through car for Chicago, and the Cicero, a through car for St. Louis, was about twenty-five minutes late and was running at the rate of thirty-five or forty miles an hour. At a crossing twenty rods east of the depot the forward drivers of the engine left the track, as did also the rear trucks of the Tisonia and the forward trucks of the Cicero. The Tisonia grazed the brick tank situated at the end of the station platform, breaking the glass and sadly marring the car. Of the fifteen passengers in this car only one, a Mr. Erecksl, was injured and he but slightly. The forward corner of the Cicero struck the corner of the tank, tearing away nearly the whole side of the car. The train rushed past the station, carrying away the west half of the platform and striking the wooden water-tank at the west end, which was moved over two feet on its foundation. This brought the train to a stop, the track being slippery and the air brakes failing to check the train. The only cause that could be given for the accident was a depression of one of the rails at a joint, caused by the softening of the ground by the thaw.

The following are among the injured: Mrs. J. H. Bronner, a widow, of Louisville, Ky., fracture of skull, cannot recover; Mrs. R. Bronner, Louisville, Ky., badly bruised; L. H. Howe, Boston, Mass., internal injuries; L. Wyse, Yazoo City, Miss., head, back and leg bruised; Lillian Charteress, Ravenwood, Ill., sprained ankle; Edward Short, Newark, N.J.; Thomas P. Everett, Brooklyn; R. W. Hess, New York; Dr. Russell, Gadsden, Ala., and others received slight injuries.

A JUST COMPROMISE.

Mr. Chamberlain Makes a Speech on Board the Umbria About the Treaty.

LONDON, March 11.—Mr. Joseph Chamberlain presided at a concert given on board the steamer Umbria and made a speech on the occasion. He said the fisheries dispute had been settled on a basis far more satisfactory than he had expected. Exceptions would be doubtless taken to many provisions of the treaty, but only by parties who opposed the respective governments concerned. Unprejudiced judgment will infer that a just compromise was the ruling principle in the treatment of the negotiations.

It was not to be expected that a treaty giving an unqualified advantage to one side would be acceptable or fair to the other side. But it was a good augury when both sides grumbled, as it showed that each side had made sacrifices to arrive at a satisfactory conclusion.

He spoke in the highest terms of the kindness and hospitality he had received at the hands of the Americans with whom he came in contact.

Advice to Mothers.

Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup should always be used when children are cutting teeth. It relieves the little sufferer at once; it produces natural, quiet sleep by relieving the child from pain, and the little cherub awakes as bright as a button." It is very pleasant to taste. It soothes the child, softens the gums, allays all pain, relieves wind, regulates the bowels, and is the best known remedy for diarrhœa whether arising from teething or other causes. 25 cents a bottle. Be sure and ask for "Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup," and take no other kind.

MONA SCULLY;

—OR—

The Bride of an Englishman.

A STORY OF THESE TIMES.

"A scheme," he had said, and then in a moment the right words flash across her brain. "A brilliant chance, a splendid scheme." What words for an honest man to use! Could he be honest? Was there any flaw, any damning clause anywhere in all this careful plot, so cleverly constructed to bring ruin upon the heads of these people who have crept into her tender heart?

"Where are you now, Mona?" asks Geoffrey, suddenly, laying his hand with a loving pressure on her shoulder. "In Afghanistan, or Timbuctoo? Far from us, at least." There is a little vague reproach and uneasiness in his tone.

"No, very near you,—nearer than you think," says Mona, quick to notice any variation in his tone, awaking from her reverie with a start, and laying one of her hands over his. "Geoffrey," earnestly, "what is the exact meaning of the word 'scheme?' Would an honest man (surely he would not) talk of scheming?"

"Well that is rather a difficult question to answer," says Geoffrey. "Monsieur de Lesseps, when dreaming out the Suez Canal, called it a scheme; and he, I presume, is an honest man.—Whereas, on the other side, if a burglar were arranging to steal all your old silver, I suppose he would call that a scheme too. What have you on the brain now, darling? You are not going to defraud your neighbor, I hope?"

"It is very strange," says Mona, with a dissatisfied sigh; "but I'll tell you all about it by and by."

Instinct warns her of treachery; common sense belies the warning. To which shall she give ear?

"Shall we ask the Carsons to our dance, Nicholas?" asks his mother, at this moment.

"Ask any one you like,—any one, I mean, that is not quite impossible," says Nicholas.

"Edith Carson is very nearly so, I think."

"Is that the girl who spoke to you, Geoffrey, at the tea-room door?" asks Mona, with some animation.

"Yes. Girl with light frizzy hair and green eyes."

"A strange girl, I thought, but very pretty. Yet, was it English she talked?"

"Of the purest," says Geoffrey.

"What did she say, Mona?" inquired Doatie.

"I am not sure that I can tell you,—at least not exactly as she said it," says Mona, with hesitation. "I didn't quite understand her; but Geoffrey asked her how she was enjoying herself, and she said it was 'fun all through;' and that she was amusing herself just then by hiding from her partner, Captain Dunscombe, who was hunting for her 'all over the shop,'—it was 'shop' she said, wasn't it, Geoff? And that it did her good to see him in a tearing rage, in fact, on a regular 'champ,' because it vexed Tricksy Newcombe, whose own particular he was in the way of 'pals.'"

Everybody laughs. In fact, Nolly roars.

"Did she stop there?" he says; "that was unworthy of her. Breath for once must have failed her, as nothing so trivial as want of words could have influenced Miss Carson."

"You should have seen Mona," says Geoffrey. "She opened her eyes and her lips, and gazed fixedly upon the lively Edith. Curiosity largely mingled with awe depicted itself upon her expressive countenance. She was wondering whether she should have to conquer that extraordinary jargon before being pronounced fit for polite society."

"No, indeed," says Mona, laughing. "But it surely wasn't English, was it? That is not the way everybody talks, surely."

"Everybody," says Geoffrey, "that is, all specially nice people. You won't be in the swim at all, unless you take to that sort of thing."

"Then you are not a nice person yourself."

"I am far from it, I regret to say; but time cures all things, and I trust to that and careful observation to reform me."

"And I am to say 'pals' for friends, and call it pure English?"

"It is not more extraordinary, surely, than calling a drunken young man 'tight,'" says Lady Rodney, with calm but cruel meaning.

Mona blushes painfully.

"Well, no; but that is pure Irish," says Geoffrey, unmoved. Mona, with lowered head, turns her wedding-ring round and round upon her finger, and repents bitterly that little slip of hers when talking with the duchess last night.

"If I must ask Edith Carson I shall feel I am doing something against my will," says Lady Rodney.

"We have all to do that at times," says Sir Nicholas. "And there is another person, mother, I shall be glad if you will send a card to."

"Certainly, dear; who is it?"

"Paul Rodney," replies he, very distinctly.

"Nicholas!" cries his mother, faintly; "this is too much."

"Nevertheless, to oblige me," entreats he, hastily.

"But this is morbid,—a foolish pride," protests she, passionately, whilst all the others are struck dumb at this suggestion from Nicholas. Is his brain failing? Is his intellect growing weak, that he should propose such a thing? Even Doatie, who as a rule supports Nicholas through evil report and good, sits silent and aghast at his proposition.

"What has he done that he should be excluded?" demands Nicholas, a little excitedly. "If he can prove a first right to claim this property, is that a crime? He is our cousin; why should we be the only people in the whole country side to treat him with contempt? He has committed no violation of the law, no vile sin has been laid to his charge beyond this fatal one of wanting his own—and—and——"

He pauses, in the darkness a loving, clinging hand has again crept into his, full of sweet entreaty, and by a gentle pressure has reduced him to calmness.

"Ask him, if only to please me," he says, wearily.

"Everything shall be just as you wish it, dearest," says his mother, with unwonted tenderness, and then silence falls upon them all.

The fire blazes up fiercely, and anon drops its flame and sinks into insignificance once more. Again the words that bear some vague but as yet undiscovered meaning haunt Mona's brain: "A splendid scheme." A vile conspiracy, perhaps. Oh, that she might be instrumental in saving these people from ruin, among whom her lot has been cast! But how weak her arm! How insufficient her mind to cope with an emergency like this!

A FEW DOLLARS MIGHT BE SAVED.

It is a positive fact that money is thrown away every week. Why is this? You would imagine any one keen to save money in their purchases and yet they pay prices for goods, that could be bought much cheaper, if bought in the right place.

SHEPPARD

Has Some Very Cheap Goods, his importations for Spring now to hand are fully fifty per cent. cheaper than the same goods has been sold in Peterborough for before. Now if you want LACES go to SHEPPARD'S, or if you want CORSETS in all sizes, starting at 22½ up.

Beautiful BLACK and COLORED HOSE, two pairs for 25 cents.

A Circular Pillow Cotton, cheapest in town. White Cottons and Shirtings marked very low. Don't you buy anything in Spring Goods before making a bee line to Peterborough's Great Cheapside.

Give them a Chance.

That is to say, your lungs. Also all your breathing machinery. Very wonderful machinery it is. Not only the larger air-passages, but the thousands of little tubes and cavities leading from them.

When these are clogged and choked with matter which ought not to be there, your lungs cannot half do their work. And what they do, they cannot do well.

Call it cold, cough, pneumonia, catarrh, consumption or any of the family of throat and nose and head and lung obstructions, all are bad. All ought to be got rid of. There is just one sure way to get rid of them. That is to take Boschee's German Syrup, which any druggist will sell you at 75 cents a bottle. Even if everything else has failed you you may depend upon this for certain.

THE ALLISTON AFFRAY.

Morrison and Hanks Committed for Trial —Condition of the Wounded Men.

ALLISTON, March 11.—Scott Act Constable Morrison was brought before Magistrates Kelly, Hood, Stewart and Gray yesterday, charged with shooting Patrick Carroll and Dominick Foley. Patrick Donnelly, the complaining witness, swore that he saw Carroll and Foley backing up followed by the prisoner. Carroll was armed with an empty bottle. Morrison fired several shots. Carroll and Foley were making no resistance. Morrison fired when their backs were turned. Witness saw Carroll lying on the floor of the Queen's Hotel. Carroll said, "Donnelly, I'm done." Witness saw Morrison point a revolver at Carroll and Foley and heard revolvers going off. He saw another party with the prisoner, supposed to be Hanks, to whom he handed a revolver and told him to use it.

Herbert Mann and Owen McHugh gave evidence of a similar nature, and Drs. Armstrong and Madill testified as to the condition of the wounded men, Dr. Armstrong stating that the chances for his patient Foley were favorable unless blood-poisoning supervened, and Dr. Madill saying that Carroll may possibly recover.

The prisoner refused to make a statement, and was committed to Barrie jail to stand trial on May 1.

Prisoner Hanks was then called on a charge of aiding and abetting Morrison. He was also committed.

Foley's case is still considered doubtful in the extreme. The bullet has been extracted from Carroll's wound, and it is thought he will recover.

The Paris Assault Case.

PARIS, March 10.—The assault with intent to kill in the case of Gilbert on Blake, which caused considerable excitement a few weeks ago, will probably be tried next week. Extradition papers were procured to-day from the Government to bring Gilbert here to stand his trial. It may be mentioned that the young man Blake is now out of danger, and is improving sufficiently to be able to testify to the treatment he received at the hands of Gilbert.

THE TRENT CANAL.

The Superintending Engineer's Report for Last Year.

The report of the Minister of Railways and Canals contains the following report, dated Peterborough, August 20th, 1887, from the Superintending Engineer:—

SIR,—I have the honor to submit my annual report on the works under my charge for the fiscal year ended 30th June, 1887.

Navigation closed on the 23rd November and opened on the 27th March. The water on the several stretches has been maintained at the standard level, viz., five feet on the mitre sills of the locks. The total number of lockages during the season was 1,574. There was no interruption to navigation during the season. The following repairs have been executed:—

Fenelon Falls.

No extensive repairs were done here owing to the probability of the change in the position of the slide in connection with the new works at this station.

Scugog River.

The snags in the river were removed. The beacon at the mouth of the river was repaired and a light was kept on it, which proved a great benefit to navigation. There is and increase of navigation on this stretch.

Bobcaygeon.

A number of old sunken piers, which were formerly used in connection with the old saw mill and which were an obstruction to navigation, were removed. The dam was gravelled, and many of the braces, which were removed by the ice, were replaced. The repairing of this dam is an annual expense. The dam is very old and in a very delapidated condition. A new dam is greatly needed, and there is every facility for building it on the flat rock below the dam, on which, at this season of the year, there is little or no water.

Buckhorn.

The works under this department, at this station, are in a fair condition. Some new sluiceways on the south side are needed, to increase the area for water at seasons of high water. The new locks here are about completed and by next season navigation will be open through.

Lovesick and Burleigh.

The locks and dams at these stations will be completed by the end of the year, and will be ready for navigation next season.

Young's Point.

The new dam recently constructed has answered the purpose for which it was built. The lock here is under the control of the Provincial Government, through which there is considerable traffic.

Lakefield.

The dam at this station is now finished, and has retained the water in the lake above at good navigable height, throughout the season.

Peterborough.

The sawdust is still being thrown into the river, and causes the same trouble to navigation as mentioned in my previous reports. A new breast work was constructed at the upper entrance to the lock, on the west side, and has been a great improvement to navigation. Two new upper coarses were put on all the gates. New guide booms were placed on the east side of the upper entrance, to protect vessels from the heavy draught of water passing through the slides. Several of the guard piers, which were injured by the ice, were repaired.

Hastings.

The dam, which was in a very leaky condition, was repaired. A coffer dam 650 feet long was placed across the river to shut off the water from the dam. The debris, to the depth of 8 or 10 feet along the whole length of the dam, was removed to the bed rock. It was found on clearing this away that there never was a cross sill, or any kind of a stop water chamber, in front of the dam, but that the mud sills and bents, which were of different sizes and lengths, were merely covered with loose stones and gravel (from which all the sand and small stones were washed out). The mud sills were cut off even, and a tier of timber 12 by 12 feet, from one to two sticks in height, were scribed to the bed rock and rock bolted. The whole of the dam on the upper side was double sheeted with 2-inch plank, from the cap to the cross sill. The face of the cross sill was puddled with clay, and on this a layer of gravel to the depth of 4 feet on the lower side, and on this the loose shale rock was thrown. The dam is now perfectly tight.

The ice removed part of the old sheeting on the lower side of the dam, and took out about 50 feet of the cribwork on which the lower apron rested.

Chisholm's.

Two piers were built at the entrance of the canal in which stop-log checks were placed and stop-logs provided therefor. The locks are in good working order, and navigation would be uninterrupted for a distance of twenty-five miles were it not for the fixed bridges of the Central Ontario Railway and county over the canal.

I have, etc.,

RICHARD B. ROGERS,
Superintending Engineer.

The Minister in his report, referring to the works then under construction, says:—"Their completion will give communication between Lakefield, 9¼ miles from Peterborough, and Balsam Lake, the headwaters of the system, opening up a total of about 150 miles of direct and lateral navigation."

The estimates for 1889 contain $30,000 for improving the Trent Navigation, $15,000 of which is for a dam at Bobcaygeon, and $38,000 for the "construction of locks and improvement of navigation between Lakefield and Balsam Lake."

IMPERIAL FEDERATION LEAGUE.

The Members Listen to Opposite Views from an Annexationist.

A meeting of the Peterborough branch of the Imperial Federation League was held in the Forester's Hall, George-st., on Monday evening.

The CHAIRMAN, Mr. J. H. Long, in opening the meeting, said that they still hoped that Mr. Dalton McCarthy would visit Peterborough. He also said that Lord Stanley, the new Governor-General of Canada, was an Imperial Federationist.

COMMERCIAL UNION.

Mr. J. H. BURNHAM being called on, said that they were canvassing the different views taken of the future of the country. It had struck him that it had not been contended that the manufactures or other industries wanted commercial union, except the farmers. He quoted the Toronto prices of hogs, wheat and oats and their prices in United States markets, showing that they were higher in Toronto. The only grain the price of which would be benefitted was barley, and it was only a very small portion of the total exports. He believed that Imperial Federation was what they should look to.

ANNEXATION.

Mr. WM. BEATTY was invited to read a paper on "Annexation." He said that he had come to the conclusion that annexation was the proper destiny of this country. The country which a man had selected for his home was the most important one to him. From a British point of view a consolitated Empire was desirable, and with these views some had banded themselves into what he called an "Anti-Geographical Club." He dwelt on what might be the result of a Parliament of the Empire in which the different sections of the Empire were represented according to population. He thought that if the United States had separated peacefully from Great Britain, Canada would have been a part of the Republic. He described the huge armaments of Europe and said that there was no need for such things on the continent. By imperial federation our taxes would be increased by contributing to the support of the army and navy. On the other hand he could not see that injurious results would follow being joined in the progressive Republic that was paying off its debt. Annexation would put an end to Canada being a refuge for United States embezzlers and would save money by doing away with the court and government at Ottawa, which city would then sink into Bytown. Annexation would benefit our mines and ship building. Manufacturing had increased in the Southern States, and he did not see why it should be injured here, and the interests of the farming community would be benefitted. Referring to the Fisheries Commission, he said Mr. Chamberlain was about to carry out annexation by marrying an American lady. He also took up the "exodus" argument. He thought that on account of Canada having no winter port on the Atlantic, a similar climate throughout, and a population divided in religion, it could not be independent, and the alternative was annexation. Then the Chinese wall of restriction would be destroyed by the dynamite of common sense, and no vexatious questions regarding boundaries or bait would harrass us, while we would have the whole continent for free and unrestricted trade.

The CHAIRMAN complimented Mr. Beatty on the ability he had shown in his paper. He did not agree with the sentiments expressed, as Mr. Beatty had clothed fallacies in beautiful language.

Mr. HILLIARD said that contrasting their position with what it was fifty years ago, he considered they had made remarkable progress in Canada. He referred to the depression in Canada at that time, caused by the scarcity of money (through the settlers, the U. E. Loyalists, coming here without their wealth), but its progress had been rapid since the construction of the Grand Trunk was commenced. The number of Canadians in the United States was owing to the fact that our north and Northwest was not opened and accessible for settlement, and the young men had crossed the lines, but this was changed now. The man who was not satisfied with the progress of the Dominion must have something wrong with his constitution. There was no evidence that the United States people were better off than us, or that we would be better of if annexed. There was not a state in the Union in which the farmers were in a better position than the farmers of Ontario. He was proud of Canada and was satisfied with things as they were.

The CHAIRMAN read an extract from a letter written by Mr. H. Norman, of the London, Eng., Pall Mall Gazette, published in Saturday's Globe, in which Dakota was compared very unfavourably with Manitoba, he believing that Manitoba was preferable. Mr. Norman also said that an "exodus" from Manitoba did not exist, and he accounted for the presence of Canadians in Dakota, in the same way as Mr. Hilliard did, by the fact that Manitoba had not been opened up. The taxes were enormously higher in Dakota than in Manitoba, and as regards debt, the Dakota farmers were much worse off. The Chairman also referred, as one thing that was threatening the United States, to the fearful laxity of the marriage laws. In Canada there had been 22 divorces in 21 years, while in some places in the States the judges would grant that many in an hour. Though our marriage laws would not necessarily have to be changed, the virus would be introduced and would have its baneful effect. He believed it was nonsense to talk of independence, and British connection was the anchor that held Canada from the States. He believed that annexation would be a terrible material and moral catastrophe.

Mr. BEATTY did not think that Canadians would be contaminated by the United States marriage laws.

The CHAIRMAN pointed out that instead of avoiding wars by having joined the United States, Canada would have had to take part in several wars, one of them the most disastrous of the times.

Mr. HILLIARD said that if the English dealers were slow in doing business, as stated by Mr Beatty, even if we did send our cheese, and other produce also, to the United States, it would still have to go to the English markets. He dwelt on the great work accomplished by Canadians in building the Canadian Pacific Railway.

Mr. F. E. Bell said that people could only want annexation to benefit themselves. If Canada was the barren, debt-ridden country that it was said to be, why did the United States want it? Besides, the people knew the circumstances of the two countries, and very few in Canada wanted to unite with the States.

Mr. PARKER argued that the United States was not a homogeneous whole and referred to the socialistic, anarchistic and other disturbing elements in that coubtry.

Mr. F. FOOTE compared Mr. Beatty's paper to a beautiful dream—pleasant but unsubstantial. It had not been shown that the Canadian mechanics are farmers were not as well off as those of the United States. He failed to see when Canada would be benefitted by annexation.

Mr. HUGHES said that after annexation our taxes for federal purposes would be $5 per head, now it was $3, and under imperial federation it would be $1.60.

Mr. W. S. ROBINSON said that the mechanics were as prosperous here as in the United States. This was shown by the absence of strikes in this country. Canadian mechanics were in demand in the States, being more steady and industrious. He said the farmers were always ready to grumble and complain.

Mr. J. NUGENT referred to the excessive direct taxation of the United States. He also contrasted the judicial systems of the two countries and greatly preferred the Canadian system.

Mr. S. R. ARMSTRONG objected to references made to the farmers, and believed that if annexation or commercial union should come to a vote they would be found to take an intelligent view of the schemes and reject them. As to the Dominion debt, it had been pointed out that the States received no aid from the federal treasuries, while the Provinces had received federal aid to an amount about equal to the whole Dominion debt.

Mr. HILLIARD said that the loss of the revenue through commercial union would necessitate direct taxation, which would bear upon the landowners. He did not think that the price of even barley would be benefitted.

The CHAIRMAN said that the question was, could a man do better in Peterborough with annexation than he does now? He referred to lawlessness in the States, and to the greater liberty exercised in Canada, as a meeting such as this, for instance, could not be held there. This liberty would be lost by annexation

After further discussion the meeting adjourned.

LITERARY LIGHTS.

Ex-President Porter, of Yale, has just published a volume of his sermons.

Mr. Frank Stockton is ably assisted by his wife in his literary labors. She acts as his amanuensis, and enjoys the work.

Edgar Fawcett does not admire Walt Whitman. He says that "Leaves of Grass" is the dullest and most tedious book he has ever read.

Sir Edwin Arnold, it is stated, is likely to be appointed post laureate in succession to Lord Tennyson, as the queen warmly favors the author of "Light of Asia."

Mr. W. D. Howells has left Buffalo to take up his residence in New York, and the Buffalonians speed the parting guest with quite effusive demonstrations.

Queen Elizabeth of Roumania is writing a novel which will include scenes from the Turco-Russian war, and will give some romantic, but truthful, details of the siege of Plevna.

Mr. Ruskin is voted a pet by English girls since he wrote his famous letter to The London Telegraph upon heroines in fiction. "Such a nice letter, don't you know."

William Preston Johnston, son of the Gen. Johnston who died at Shiloh, is president of Tulane university and a Shakespearean expert. He has not a single hair on his head or face. Even his eyebrows and eyelashes have disappeared.

Miss Braddon, whose real name is Mrs. John Maxwell, is living at Richmond, near London. In her library, French books predominate; indeed, she says that she has read more French stories than English. Wilkie Collins, however, she calls her "literary father," declaring that all her best work has been done while under the influence of his novels.

SPORTING AND ATHLETIC.

Paddy Ryan will settle in Oregon.

Detroit is to have a great chicken show from Feb. 15 to 18.

Rowe, the bicyclist, has been matched in England against Howell for $1,000, to ride one and ten miles.

Bob Murphy, of Lowell, and Jim Sullivan, of Boston, are shortly to fight for the 120 pound championship of New England.

The coming of Toff Wall to America for the express purpose of meeting Jack Dempsey will be a great event in sporting circles.

Mr Leonard W. Jerome is now on his way home from England, where he has spent the best portion of the winter.

Pat Killen is to go to San Francisco to box McAuliffe, the man who knocked out Paddy Ryan. The match is set for March 15 and Killen is guaranteed $1,000.

John L. Sullivan has written for his brother Mike and Patsey Sheppard to come over and assoul him in his fight with Charley Mitchell, which is to take place between March 5 and 12.

Boston is to have running races in the future. Arrangements have been made to convert the old half-mile track at the Point of Pines into a three-quarters track. Races will be given three days a week during the summer.

The trotting congress voted to abolish the use of the word "distanced" and to substitute therefor "ruled out." Just why this change was made it would be hard to say.

The Irish Gentlemen's cricket team that will visit the United States this summer will probably play games at New York, Philadelphia, Boston, Chicago, Detroit, Toronto, Ottawa and Hamilton.

A conference of Australian cricketers have resolved that international cricket has been overdone. They will withdraw patronage from "any Australian team visiting England for four years," and from "any English team visiting the colonies for three years." They favored six balls to an over.

Harry Phillips, Sullivan's manager, has arrived in Montreal. He denies that he had a falling out with the great fighter. He says he left Sullivan in competent hands, and that the Boston slugger is training hard for the coming battle with Mitchell for $2,500. Phillips expects to return to England in time for the great contest.

EUROPEAN JOTTINGS.

War balloons cost £200, and Russia has lately invested.

A new thirty-eight ton gun burst at Woolwich when under trial.

The four girders of the Eiffel tower are in place, and the work is rising fast.

Forty thousand pounds have been granted by the Irish board of works for "reafforesting" a part of the west of Ireland.

The anti-foreign craze in France grows. The minister of agriculture has directed his subordinates to employ none but Frenchmen.

Flechettes, a new in or out door game, has taken Paris by storm. It consists in throwing feathered darts, like javelins, at a target.

The experiment is to be tried of connecting all the British lightships with the shore by submarine cables. A good suggestion for this country.

London opera has indeed gone down. Her Majesty's theatre is to be transformed into an immense concert room, capable of holding 4,000 persons, and called Her Majesty's Concert hall.

Recent returns give the population of the Russian empire as 108,787,235. European Russia has 81,735,185; the Vistula region, 7,960,304; Finland, 2,176,421; the Caucasus, 7,284,547; Siberia, 4,313,680, and Central Asia, 5,327,098.

Oxford's chances in the coming boat race with Cambridge are considered poor. Mr. Lean, the president of the boat club, has just died of typhoid fever, the most promising new oar is laid up with a sprain, and Tithergington, the stroke of last year, refuses to row.

Eighteen deserters from the French army in Tonquin were drawn up in line for execution, when the adjutant, seeing that the line was poor, said: "Can't you fellows dress better than that? Right dress." The unfortunates straightened themselves with military promptness and perfection, and the next moment the whole eighteen went down before the murderous volley.

ROUGH ON 'RAS.

MR. WIMAN'S followers are becoming less in Canada. It is true that a resolution has been proposed in the House of Commons by the Opposition that savors strongly of Mr. Wiman's commercial union scheme, but the Globe, which once praised him with unstinted praise, now turns upon him with ill-concealed wrath.

It says that his disposition is "to give liberally of anything whatever that he thinks a guest may relish." A true discription of his "disposition." That is why he tells the Canadian farmers that by his little scheme they would make money by saving the duties, while he tells the United States people that the Canadian farmers do not pay the duties at all and that they (the people of the United States) pay them and could save the money. That is why he tells Montreal that her trade could be enlarged (of course by adopting his scheme), while he shows New York how she could secure Montreal's trade (by the same means, of course). That is why he tells Canadians they could obtain a market of 60,000,000 of people, while he invites the Americans to come and take possession of the Canadian markets. He thinks they will relish hearing such things—and he deals them out liberally. And this good friend of his, the Globe, tells us why he does. It is because he "acts on the wise emendation, 'cast thy bread upon the waters, for thou shalt find it after many days'—buttered!" That's it! Mr. Wiman's want's his bread buttered and he deals out taffy to others.

It was cruel enough of the Globe to have said this of its old friend, but when it picks up and flings at him the assertion that, "we know you didn't quite understand what you were saying. We know that you scarcely ever do when you are on your legs," it is more than cruel—because it was his friend. But the Globe has found him out!

Mr. Wiman's talk on the fishery treaty riled the organ. But its attack on him is none the less rough, especially when it insinuates that he "arranges" with some Canadian newspapers what opinions they will express. This has been hinted at before, but for the Globe to come out that way! Et tu, Brute!

SOME American cities print their assessment rolls in cheap form for the information of the public. There is no doubt that if this example were followed in Toronto the city would gain hundreds of dollars for every dollar spent in printing.—Toronto Globe.

The same plan has been adopted by several municipalities in Canada. If they find it a good one, and if it would pay in Toronto as the Globe says, would it not pay in Peterborough? Those municipalities that have begun printing the rolls in this way show no desire to return to the old method of compelling each ratepayer to go to the trouble of searching the original rolls for information about the assessment or go without it.

WHEN the fishery commission was appointed the Globe said that "our neighbors want perpetual access to the fishhries on exactly the same terms as British subjects." They did not get that, so the Globe must be wrong when it says they obtained all they wanted.

LIBERAL papers are quoting a portion of a letter written by Sir Charles Tupper to try to show that he favors commercial union. In the same letter from which they quote Sir Charles said that scheme was impracticable.

DURING the month of February the net debt of the Dominion was decreased by $619,136. The receipts and expenditures for the current fiscal year up to the end of the same month show a surplus of $558,466.

OMEMEE.

RACES.—On Wednesday afternoon last a race took place on the Omemee ice course when quite a crowd was present, and we ar[illegible] that there was more fun than at the [illegible] annual races. A closely contested running race took place between McGregor's brown mare and D. J. Scully's grey horse, the mare coming in about a neck ahead. Below are the names of the horses competing in the trot:—

F. Jordan's sorrel horse	1 1 1
Dewan's brown mare	2 2 2
Mulcahy's b. m.	3 4 3
Brown's chestnut mare	4 3 draw

BASEBALL TALK.

The Chicagos will leave for Hot Springs March 1.

Ryan says he will play center field for Chicago, but his pitching days are over.

Titcomb says he was changed about three times last season and yet cleared $2,700.

The salary of League umpires will be $1,500 and expenses.

A New Orleans firm has put up a silver cup for the Southern league clubs to contest for.

Clarkson thinks that with himself, Smith and Andrews, Boston would have a championship team.

Tom Brown signed with Boston for $1,900.

Sadie Houck has signed with Charleston.

Dave Foutz is running such a profitable poker game in 'Frisco that he will not come east until ordered to do so.

Conway and Twitchell have signed with Detroit. Eight men are now still unsigned, namely, Bennett, Baldwin, Getzein, Brouthers, Richardson, Rowe, White and Hanlon.

The old Union Baseball park at St. Louis may be used for athletic meetings, six day walking matches and other sporting events next season.

Binghamton, N. Y., may sacrifice its place in the Central Ball League because of inability to pay the required guarantee and raise advance money for its players.

Beasley's brother Reb will play with the Camden club next year. He is a third baseman, and is as good in that position as his brother is at catching.

Clarkson being asked whom he thought the best pitchers in the country replied that Keefe was his first choice, with Ferguson, Getzein and Whitney coming next, but not in that order of excellence, as he was undecided which of the latter three was the best.

The San Francisco Chronicle says the winter baseball season has been a financial failure to the managers, the players having been paid all the money that was taken in.

There are 350 men in the country who are willing to endure the hardships of an umpire if given an opportunity; at least there are that number of applicants for the position in the League.

The Delaware club, of New York, has been formed and the following officers elected: Edward Maher, president; Frank Merritt, secretary; Frank Simons, treasurer. They have secured Peter Troy, brother of John, as manager.

The only one eyed player in the profession is pitcher Irwin, whom the arbitration committee has just awarded to Manchester. Despite the fact that he has but a single optic, he watches the bases extremely well, better, in fact, than many pitchers with the usual complement of orbs.

The National league, American association, International association, Central league, New England league, Ohio league, Western association, Southern league, Central Interstate league and Texas league are all under the protection of the National Agreement.

Manager Barnes, of Minneapolis, offered Pitcher Shaw, "The Wizard," $2,500 for his services this year; $500 of it to be advance money. Shaw wanted $1,000 advance, which was refused, and the deal hangs fire on that point.

If Andrews is secured by the Detroit club he will be made captain of it. Andrews was captain of the Philadelphia club for a while, but was not very successful, and is a question whether he would prove as good a man in that position as Hanlon was.

The Cleveland club will not, in all probability, be scheduled for Sunday games at home next season. The club would probably not object, but local sentiment is opposed to Sunday games.

Each minor league club desiring the right to reserve players must, by May 1, pay to the League and Association $250. Probably about sixty clubs will pay, and this will make $15,000 for the old organizations to divide between them.

DAUGHTERS OF EVE.

Mrs. Adelaide R. Kenney, is a director of the Genesee County bank, of Batavia, N. Y.

The empress of Austria, having been forced to give up hunting, has taken up fencing for exercise.

Queen Victoria is very well satisfied with the condition of Ireland. She has never been there since she ascended the throne.

Baroness Burdett-Coutts is about to establish workshops equipped with sewing machines, where poor seamstresses can go and use them at a low charge.

Miss Minnie Freeman, the heroic little Nebraska school teacher, has already received nine offers of marriage since the story of her bravery got into print.

Miss Van Wart, granddaughter of the late Marshall O. Roberts, is believed to be the wealthiest young woman in America. She inherits something near $3,000,000.

It is said that of 2,619 female graduates of American colleges 998 are married, 949 are teachers, 133 are in other occupations, and 539 are not engaged in remunerative work.

Christine Nilsson writes, in a letter to a Philadelphia friend, that she is a constant sufferer from rheumatism, and fears that she will be obliged to close her professional career at once.

Miss Eunice Hooser, of Elkton, Ky., has just completed a calico quilt that is composed of 24,080 pieces, and the local newspapers say that she is not only a skillful needlewoman, but one of the prettiest young ladies in the county.

Mary Dixon, who was brought to this country from Africa in 1799, is yet living in Monroe county, N. C., and is believed to be 135 years old. She is small in stature, has very little flesh on her bones, and is positively hideous in her ugliness.

The queen of the Cowlits River tribe of Indians died near Freeport, W. T., a few days ago and was buried with a great Indian pow-wow. She was more than 100 years old and was one of the few surviving members of a tribe that was once a power among the Indians of the northwest.

MATRIMONIAL FREAKS.

Divorces were granted to a mother and her daughter on the same day in the circuit court at Gladwin, Mich.

When Silas Groshan, of Mechanicsville, Ga., lost his first wife he married again within a month. He lost his second wife a month ago, and with equal dispatch has taken a third one. Procrastination is the thief of time.

Runaway marriages are not encouraged in Russia. When a sweet girl graduate elopes the horrid old candle eaters put her in prison and cut her out of her share of the family estate. They couldn't cough an American eloping girl down that way.

In Liberty county, Fla., a youth and maiden had been engaged, but their parents objected to their union. The other day they happened to meet at the grist-mill, and as the miller is the county judge the marriage ceremony was performed then and there.

The 26th of February is the day designated in the Presbyterian church for recounting the past hundred years in the Sabbath schools. The board of publication and Sabbath school work has prepared a suitable special exercise for that day, historical, doctrinal and practical. A collection for the $1,000,000 for the relief fund will be taken in the schools on that day.

KINMOUNT.

A GOOD SEASON.—The shanties are breaking up and the men and teams are coming out. It has been a great season, and the number of logs cut is very large.

HYMENEAL.—The marriage of Mr. M. Mansfield, the popular Reeve of Galway, was the latest sensation. Mr. Mansfield and bride returned home on Friday, and were serenaded by the Brass Band in right royal style. They have the good wishes of the entire neighborhood.—Independent.

RELIGIOUS GLEANINGS.

Feb. 26 is centennial day for the Presbyterian Sunday schools.

The total amount of the permanent fund for church erection in the Episcopalian body is now $121,000.

Within a certain area of New York city, comprising eight districts, and having a population of 350,000, there are 3,018 saloons, and but thirty-one Protestant churches.

One of Philadelphia's most popular Baptist ministers, Rev. Dr. Wayland Hoyt, has declined the pastorate of the First Baptist church of St. Louis, Mo., at a salary of $10,000 a year.

Of the seven missionaries of the English Baptish Mission on the Congo, who went out in 1885, four have died. Rev. H. G. Whitley and Rev. J. E. Biggs are the two latest victims to African fever.

Next summer the corner stone of the Adoniram Judson Memorial church will be laid at Mandelay, India. The church will cost $10,000, a large part of which has been subscribed by Burmese Christians.

The Methodists of New Haven, Conn., have given during the past six years for church building, improvements and indebtedness, $106,000. Of the eight churches in New Haven three only have debts.

It is thought that the next Methodist general conference will appoint five new bishops, besides filling the places of the late Bishops Simpson and Harris. Dr. Thorburn is urged as missionary bishop for India.

The Methodists having successfully crossed the million dollar line, have now pledged $1,200,000 for mission work during the coming year. They believe in setting their mark higher, and then nobly striving to reach it.

Probably one of the oldest meeting houses in the world is the Bangund church, in Norway, the age of which is 800 years. The pagoda like structure is covered with shingles and an inch or two of tar. Runic inscriptions, interesting to scholars, are on the building.

The Congregational church, which has had an existence in this country since 1630, now numbers 4,377 churches, 4,090 ministers and 436,379 communicants. The net gain during the past four years has been 341 churches, 267 ministers and 48,760 communicants. An increasing activity, especially in the west, promises still greater results in the four years to come.

CURIOUS THINGS OF LIFE.

A girl in Oconee county, Ga., married at the age of 9 years, her husband being 45 years old.

Invitations to a ball given by a colored society of Fort Dodge, Ia., contained the information that no distinction would be made between plain and colored people.

Eighteen young men of Mountain Home, Ark., swore off from the tobacco habit on the first of the present year. Whoever returns to the habit is to be ducked in a pond of water.

An odd combination of wares is offered by a shop in the Italian city of Bari, on the Adriatic. A sign informs would be customers that within can be obtained: "Leeches, bread sold in slices or loaves, and tuition in mathematics."

With the mercury at 37 degs. below at Eagle Rock, Idaho, a locomotive taking water from a tank, the flow of which could not be stopped, was frozen instantly in a bed of ice extending three car lengths and to the tops of the rails.

A good woman in Deer Isle, Me., crocheted a baby's sacque for a church fair. The sacque was raffled off, and she took a share and won. She offered it to the fair again if they'd give her a chance. She won again. If the fair had kept on she would, too.

John Sellers, an old farmer of New Philadelphia, O., who died the other day, had a remarkable crop of hair and a very long beard. This was because he had never shaved or had his hair cut, thinking, as he said, that it was interfering with the provisions of nature for a man to cut or even trim his hair.

When Baby was sick, we gave her Castoria,
When she was a Child, she cried for Castoria,
When she became Miss, she clung to Castoria,
When she had Children, she gave them Castoria.

A Clock for the Post Office.

The Government has decided to put a clock in the tower of the new post office building. It will probably be an illuminated timepiece, so that the time may be seen at night as well as in the day time, similar to the clock at the public building in Ottawa.

Stocking up the Library.

The library of the George-st. Methodist Sunday school will soon be augmented by the addition of a number of new books. A large selection are now on the way for approval. About $200 worth of literature will be added to the library, and the pupils will have more new and interesting books to peruse.

THE best teacher in the Collegiate Institute says he has not had a cold this winter. And the reason is because he wears a pair of KIDD'S waterproof boots, and it is true, too.

A New Firm.

Mr. Muckleston, of Kingston, a member of a large hardware house in that city, is negotiating to commence a branch of their business here. He has his eye on the corner where the Stewart House is and is endeavoring to secure it, with good prospects of success. Canny business men from different places are casting their eyes this way, Peterborough being regarded in commercial circles as one of the most solid towns in the Dominion.

A Good Move.

We understand that it is the intention of the Committee on Appointments to recommend Street Inspector Pope for the position of Building Inspector and further that he be instructed to fully carry out all the provisions of the by-law. Our building by-law is one of the best in Canada and if the Councillors do not interfere with Mr. Pope in the discharge of his duties we are confident that he will give satisfaction. Of course Mr. Pope will retain the Street Inspectorship, and for the dual office the salary is fixed at $600.

On the Trail.

The Manchester Union (N. H.) says:—"Standing room only is rare at the opera house, but it was the rule last evening at the presentation of "On the Trail." The entrance to the theatre was packed at an early hour and so great was the crowd that the folding doors gave way and compelled the taking of tickets before the advertised time. The piece is a border drama of the time of Daniel Boone, full of pleasing incident, has some shooting, several hunters, a tribe of Indians, several good horses and considerable comedy acting by a colored man and an Irishman. The company is sufficiently strong to bring out the story of the play and is sure to please lovers of the pioneer drama." This excellent company will play for one night only at Opera House, Peterborough, on Wednesday evening, March 21st. Further announcements to follow. 1d61

Pushing Ahead.

Councillor Langford is pushing ahead his scheme for numbering the streets. The Town Engineer is preparing a plan and it will be submitted at the next Council meeting and such further arrangements made as are necessary, to complete the work at as early a date as possible.

Complaints.

Complaints are heard on every hand regarding the stoppage of the town clock. The public miss it much. As we pointed out yesterday, the Property Committee should see that some necessary alterations are made in front of the face, if it is not desired to pay a big big bill for repairs.

Billiard Licenses.

The License Committee held a meeting last night and discussed billiard and pool table licenses. Under the by-law of last year the price is $50 per table, but those holding licenses petitioned for a reduction. Several sliding scales were proposed, but none of them were accepted, the result being a deadlock. The Council will have to decide.

Up North.

A house at the north end of the town is giving the police considerable trouble. It appears that almost every night the officers are called in to drive away a gang of young men who are in the habit of raising a row in that vicinity. The police have gone up at least a dozen times, but they always find everything quiet. Some person will get nipped yet unless these rows cease.

They Would a Hunting Go.

A hunting party composed of half a dozen young men, as many guns and several dogs started off south, down the Grand Trunk track, yesterday morning, bound to chase, shoot and kill the sly fox and the festive jack rabbit. The chase pact was all right and so was the shoot, but the kill portion failed to connect. The weather was cold, the wind was raw and it had a full sweep over the plains with the result that shortly before the supper hour half a dozen forlorn looking hunters reached the town with tanned faces and frozen ears, but without game of any kind. They will not go shooting again until the warm weather reaches this latitude.

Ell is Coming.

A Methodist Sunday-school teacher in Berea, where Ell Perkins was billed to lecture under the auspices of Baldwin University, was examining his Sunday-school class. Among others he asked his class this question:—

"What did Samuel say to Ell?

No answer was given for a moment, then a sweet little girl spoke up and said:

"I know."

"Well," said the teacher, "what did Samuel say?"

"He said, 'get there, Ell!'" was the prompt reply.

Ell will "get" here, on Friday evening, March 23rd, when he will deliver one of his great lectures at the Opera House.

Police Court.

Wm. Brown and Patrick McDonough were charged at the Police Court this morning by officer Adams with depositing night soil on Rink-st. Both pleaded guilty. The Magistrate said he was bound to put a stop to such work and as the defendants had deliberately gone and placed the filth right under a placard put up by the Board of Health, he would impose a fine of $10 and costs. As the men only received one dollar for doing the work, when they pay the fine their margin if profit will not be large. Patriek Kane was also charged with a similar offence. He too was fined $10 and costs. The Magistrate desires it to be known that as the town provides a place for disposing of filth and rubbish, he will impose the highest penalty the law allows upon the next person brought before him on this charge.

Canoeists as Debaters.

The regular weekly meeting of the Otonabee Canoe Club, was held at the Commodore's quarters, on Monday evening. Mr. W. H. Hill occupied the chair and there was a very fair attendance. After routine and the discussion of matters referring to the club, the debate commenced. The subject was "Are labor unions beneficial to mankind, socially, morally and commercially?" Mr. A. Clegg led the affirmative and he was assisted by Messrs. James Little, F. Mason and Gordon Smith, B. A. The leader of the negative was Commodore John Miller, M. A., and his lieutenants were Messrs. A. E. Dixon, Thomas Barrie and Ernest Mason. The speakers on both sides handled the question in a masterly manner, particularly the leaders and their immediate supporters. The chairman after summing up all the points decided in favor of the affirmative by 4 points, the score standing 50 to 54. As there was no critic, at the conclusion of the debate quite a critical discussion took place in which nearly all those who were present took part and the various speakers were criticized all around the board. The next meeting will take place on Tuesday evening, March 20th, when the subject for debate will be "Resolved, that the system of municipal bonusing of industries and railways should be abolished." Messrs. A. E. Dixon and and H. W. Stock will support the affirmative and Messrs. C. H. Allison and Thomas Barrie will do battle far the negative side. Mr. A. Clegg will occupy the chair and Mr. Gordon Smith, B. A., will act as critic.

THE SNOW BLOCKADE.

All Trains, Except the Grand Junction, Greatly Delayed.

The storm of Monday night was the worst that the railway men have had to deal with this season, and in fact for several seasons. The only trains that ran anything like on schedule time were those on the Grand Junction and it is a fact worthy of remark that this line has been remarkably free from snow drifts all this season, the delays that have occurred from this cause being of very little consequence.

On the main line of the Grand Trunk delays have not been numerous this winter, but this storm was a sticker. The express from Toronto due here at 11.55 a. m. was cancelled, as were the trains on the Coboconk and Sutton branches. The morning express from Port Hope due at 8.20 was stuck at the Summit between Millbrook and Port Hope and it had not reached town at the time of going to press. Of course no train went to Lakefield and the other out trains cannot start until the tracks are cleared, at which work snowploughs have been busily engaged all day.

On the C. P. R., the Toronto express which should have got in at 11.40 on Monday night, has not yet reached town, being stuck at Myrtle. Behind her is the "noon" express from Toronto and on this side the local from Havelock, which went through this morning. The express from Montreal, due here at 5.10 this morning, passed through about 1 p. m.

Large gangs of men are at work and the railway officials expect to have things in good running order by to-night.

Masonic.

An invitation has been received by the Peterborough Royal Arch Chapter and many of the brethren to attend a re-union of Hamilton Chapter No. 61, R.A.M., at Rochester, N.Y., on March 22nd.

Equinoctial Gales.

The equinoctial gales have struck town evidently. The sun will cross the line on the 21st of March, and this kind of weather is usual either just before or just after that date.

The New Team.

Terry Smith's new team for the hose wagon reached town last night. They are iron greys and look likely looking birds. Terry will soon have them in the best of condition and he has already commenced to train them.

Got His Horse.

The young man, Charles Trotter, who had a horse stolen from his stable, on Aylmer-st., some days ago, has recovered his steed. He found him in a shed on Brock-st., but how he got there or who put him there he does not know.

A FIRST CLASS DRESSMAKER now in the employ of Hall, Innes & Co. 6d59eod-1w11

At the Gospel Hall.

At the Gospel Hall last evening Mr. Andrew Fraser, of Belfast, Ireland, addressed a meeting. His address, which was practical and delivered in an easy yet earnest manner, was especially intended for Christians. He will speak at the same hall again to-night.

The Storm.

The storm on Monday night was undoubtedly the most severe of the season, as far as this portion of the province is concerned. The high wind was of the most cutting character and the snow was badly drifted in all directions, so much so in fact that the roads are almost impassible in all sections.

The Presbytery.

The regular meeting of the Peterborough Presbytery commenced this afternoon at St. Paul's church, with the Rev. Mr. Bell in the chair. Owing to the snowstorm the attendance was very small, only those from town and the immediate neighborhood being present. Even Mr. Bennett, the Secretary, who only resides six or seven miles from Peterborough, and who has all the books and the docket of business, could not get in. However, a meeting was organized and general business taken up.

The Police.

The Committee on Appointments debated police matters for over two hours last evening. It was agreed by the eight members present that the police force should consist of four members, a chief and three privates. That left two officers to be appointed. After taking half a dozen votes, Messrs. Adams, McGinty, Michael Fee and Jos. Stewart were decided on for recommendation to the Council. A motion to appoint Mr. John Douglas, of Port Hope, as Chief, was defeated. As there was a considerable difference of opinion, the whole question will come before the Council at the next meeting when it will probably be thoroughly discussed.

An Old Claim.

Grand Trunk engineers have been chaining along the bank of the river from King street up as far as the Dickson Company's property. They want to find out just how the land lies, as under an old charter and purchase it is claimed that the Grand Trunk have the right of way along the river. It will be remembered that in the days of the Port Hope, Lindsay and Beaverton Railway, when the construction of the Lakefield branch was first undertaken, it was the intention to run up this way, and a large amount of money was spent in grading the road bed, but through a misunderstanding with certain property owners the route was abandoned and the Bethune Street line taken instead.

Y. P. A.

The regular meeting of the Young People's Association, in connection with the George-st. Methodist Church, was held on Monday evening at the school room. There was a very fair attendance and the proceeds of the silver collection were added to the piano fund. The meeting was an open one and the President, Mr. Geo. S. Bean, occupied the chair. The programme opened with a vocal solo, "The Bitter Sweet," by Miss Sophie Cameron, who in response to an encore sang "Robin Adair." Miss Cameron was in good voice and sang excellently. An instrumental duet by Miss Wrighton and Mr. W. H. Dingle followed and won hearty applause for the finished and artistic manner in which it was executed. Mr. F. C. Colbeck gave a lecture of an hours' duration descriptive of a trip to and from California and the scenery of the last named place. He described in an eloquent manner the many places and things that he had seen, including a mirage when crossing the desert. The lecture was listened to throughout with wrapt attention and the speaker concluded by advising all to take the trip and see for themselves the many beauties and wonders of the western world. Mr James Edgecumbe varied the programme with a solo accompanied on the piano by Mrs. J. D. Craig, who also assisted in the chorus. It was well received. A violin solo by Miss Jennie Moyes, accompanied by Miss Chalaupka, was so much appreciated that the little lady had to play an additional number. An exceedingly enjoyable evening was brought to a close by the company singing "God Save the Queen."

Brevities.

—His Honor, Judge Dean, of Lindsay, is in town to-day.

Regular meeting of Peterborough Lodge, A. O. U. W. this, Tuesday, evening. 1d61

Death of Senator Plumb.

The death is announced of the Hon. J. Burr Plumb, of Niagara. Mr. Plumb was in Ottawa last week attending to his Parliamentary duties and his death was unexpected. He was the son of an Episcopal clergymen and was born at East Haven, Conn., in 1816. He was married in 1845 to a daughter of the late Hon. S. Street, of Niagara Falls. He was first returned to Parliament for Niagara in 1874, and being unseated was again elected. In 1878 his opponent was declared elected by a majority of two votes, but he was subsequently disqualified and the seat awarded to Mr. Plumb. He was an unsuccessful candidate for North Wellington in 1882 and was called to the Senate in 1883. He was a Conservative, a good speaker and did good service for his principles in Parliament and on the platform.

CURIOSITIES OF LIFE.

At a Hot Springs, Ark., ball a young lady, her mother, grandmother and great-grandmother danced in the same set.

A house in New Jersey, which had been kept insured for eighty-nine years, burned up the other day between the lapse of one policy and the taking out of another.

In front of the postoffice of Versailles, Mo., there is a placard on which is the following announcement: Stamps, two cents; stamps licked, three cents; stamps licked and stuck, four cents.

The engineer in a Montreal printing office saw what he thought was a large piece of paper on the inner rim of the flywheel of the engine, but five hours later, when the engine was stopped, the object was found to be a cat, very much demoralized by its long ride.

At a recent reception at Bridgeport, Conn., Miss Bustram made a misstep in getting out of her carriage and lost a diamond brooch. By a singular coincidence Mrs. Lucien Shepard lost a brooch in a similar manner. The aggregate value of the jewels was $1,500. By digging up the snow and ice and melting it in a kettle the jewels were finally found after the entire night had been spent in the search.

RELIGIOUS GLEANINGS.

Two ladies in Philadelphia have offered to head a roll of fifty Presbyterian women to give $1,000 apiece toward the Million Relief fund.

The Church Army, an organization of the Church of England similar to the Salvation Army, has just dispatched three missionaries to India.

The Lutheran Church consistory of Dresden, Saxony, has passed a resolution that persons known to be adherents of spiritualism shall not be admitted to the holy communion.

Rev. Dr. Judson Smith reports cheering prospects for Christianity among the Mongols. The fact that the number of converts in China has doubled within ten years, and now exceeds 30,000, is at once a proof that Christian work is grandly successful there, and is a powerful stimulus to more abundant labors.

At the twentieth anniversary of Women's Board of Missions (Congregational), Boston, 170 delegates were present from various parts of the country. The reports show that the society has 119 missionaries with mission schools in large numbers, in various parts of the world. The receipts for the year were $128,220, and the expenses $130,855.

The Worth of a Man

To his business—his estate—is the measure of his need of Life Insurance, because he ceases to be worth anything to it when he dies. Other brains must direct and other hands perform—if they can—what was formerly directed and done by brain and hands that will be but dust. And as every one works for himself and for his own, even if the work is well done, it is done for the door and not for the dead. All a man is worth to his business or his estate, is therefore a dead loss when he dies—unless his life is insured. The man who rates his own ability high ought, for this reason, to insure his life for a large amount.

"Did n't Know 't was Loaded"

May do for a stupid boy's excuse; but what can be said for the parent who sees his child languishing daily and fails to recognize the want of a tonic and blood-purifier? Formerly, a course of bitters, or sulphur and molasses, was the rule in well-regulated families; but now all intelligent households keep Ayer's Sarsaparilla, which is at once pleasant to the taste, and the most searching and effective blood medicine ever discovered.

Nathan S. Cleveland, 27 E. Canton st., Boston, writes: "My daughter, now 21 years old, was in perfect health until a year ago when she began to complain of fatigue, headache, debility, dizziness, indigestion, and loss of appetite. I concluded that all her complaints originated in impure blood, and induced her to take Ayer's Sarsaparilla. This medicine soon restored her blood-making organs to healthy action, and in due time reëstablished her former health. I find Ayer's Sarsaparilla a most valuable remedy for the lassitude and debility incident to spring time."

J. Castright, Brooklyn Power Co., Brooklyn, N. Y., says: "As a Spring Medicine, I find a splendid substitute for the old-time compounds in Ayer's Sarsaparilla, with a few doses of Ayer's Pills. After their use, I feel fresher and stronger to go through the summer."

GASTRONOMICAL TIDBITS.

The unkindest gastronomic cut of all is lobster salad from the canned article.

Look not upon the orange when it is frozen, for therein lies several hours of suffering.

Oysters, temporarily scarce during the cold snap, are now in very good supply once more.

Ice box game is plentiful enough for those who like it in that very indifferent condition.

Dealers and housekeepers say it has been a splendid winter for sausages and buckwheat cakes.

In the matter of price, diamond back terrapin are now to be compared with church steeples.

New importations of French beans in glass are voted among the palatable things in winter vegetables.

Even the English visitor, prone to prejudice, admits that our roast beef equals the best they have at home.

Snow pudding is certainly seasonable now, and when properly made and served, a dessert by no means to be slighted.

Sandwiches of grated turkey or chicken, very highly seasoned, have had an unusual run this season at the fashionable luncheon parties.

They have a new cheese in Paris described as of "bright, golden yellow and very strong." It would not be surprising if it was found to have come from this country.

There seems to be an increase of medical advisers who now preach only two meals a day and "no nibbling" between meals. Those who advocate economy in this life applaud the recommendation.

They have secured for the phœnix Hotel Del Monte, at Monterey, Cal., as chef, the celebrated Jules Harder, so long of the Palace hotel, San Francisco, and originally in the services of kings and noblemen of the old world. This means a reputation for the Del Monte for superior cuisine, at all events.

Periodical nonsense appears about the alleged luxuries and dainties served to people who frequent Florida hotels at this season, and alligator pears, fresh peas, asparagus, etc., are enumerated. As a matter of fact, none of these things are served at the Florida hotel as a regular custom, and the table d'hote is ordinary in every sense, and often very inferior to the best hotels of the north. Condensed milk and canned vegetables "have the call," and most of the "luxuries" and "dainties" come from New York.

The value of condiments in the preparation of food is being discussed. Authorities that may be considered reliable assert that red pepper and salt are specially valuable as aids to appetite and digestion. Various herbs and spices are also good, while all the condiments used in salads promote digestion and the assimilation of food.

Extended observations at Paris and at Munich indicate that the sanitary condition of a locality depends on the amount of water contained in the ground. The years in which there has been a large quantity of ground water present have invariably been the healthiest, while those in which there has been a smaller quantity have invariably been the unhealthiest.

The apparent paradox that the most transparent water is at the same time perfectly opaque from a certain point of view is shown by a simple experiment. Partly fill a glass goblet with clear water and hold it a little above the level of the eye and distant a foot or more. No object can be seen when held just over the surface of the water, but the water surface appears like a burnished mirror.

Russian observations have shown that teeth decay in a quite regular order, the lower third molar being the first attacked, then the upper, then the lower fourth molar and so on, the lower incisors and canine teeth being the last affected. Upper teeth, as a rule, are more durable than lower, right than left, those of dark persons than those of blondes, those of short persons than those of tall.

The bacillus of whooping cough is the latest arrival. It differs from other bacteria, but is somewhat like Friedlander's pneumonia bacillus. Dr. Afanasieff, the discoverer, detected the bacillus in the sputum of his own and other children. That was stained with methyl violet, and the bacilli were detected in the pus corpuscles with a magnifying power of 700-1,000 on a 1-12 oil immersion objective.

The extraordinary popularity of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral is the natural result of its use by all classes of people for over 40 years. It has proven itself the very best specific for colds, coughs, and pulmonary complaints.

"I swear by those tall elms in yonder park—" he commenced, but she interrupted him. "Swear not by them," she said imploringly. "Why not?" "Because these trees are slippery elms," she said simply.

MONA SCULLY;

—OR—

The Bride of an Englishman.

A STORY OF THESE TIMES.

CHAPTER XXIV.

About half-past two the next day they start for Anadale. Not Violet, or Captain Rodney, who have elected to go on a mission of their own, nor Nicholas, who has gone up to London.

But before they reach the hall door Geoffrey feels it his duty to bestow upon them a word or two of warning.

"Now, look here," he says, impressively; "I hope nobody is going to indulge in so much as a covert smile today." He glances severely at Nolly, who is already wreathed in smiles. "Because the Æsthetic won't have it. She wouldn't hear of it at any price. We must all be intense! If you don't understand what that means, Mona, you had better learn at once. You are to be silent, wrapt, lifted far above all the vulgar commonplaces of life. You may, if you like, go into a rapture over a colorless pebble, or shed tears of joy above a sickly lily; but avoid ordinary admiration."

"The only time I shed tears," says Mr. Darling, irrelevantly, "for many years, was when I heard of the old chap's death. And they were drops of rich content. Do you know I think unconsciously he impregnated her with her present notions; because he was as like an 'ancient Briton' himself before he died as if he had posed for it."

"He was very eccentric, but quite correct," says Lady Rodney, reprovingly.

"He was a man who never took off his hat," begins Geoffrey.

"But why?" asks Mona, in amazement. "Didn't he wear one?"

"Yes, but he always doffed it; and he never put one on like ordinary mortals, he always donned it. You can't think what a difference it makes."

"What a silly boy you are, Geoff," says his wife, laughing.

"Thank you, darling," replies he, meekly.

"But what is Lady Lilias like? I did not notice her the other night," says Mona.

"She has got one nose and two eyes, just like every one else," says Nolly. "That is rather disappointing, is it not? And she attitudinizes a good deal. Sometimes she reclines full length upon the grass, with her bony elbow well squared and her chin buried in her palm. Sometimes she stands beside a sun-dial, with her head to one side, and a carefully educated and very much superannuated peacock beside her. But, I dare say she will do the greyhound pose to-day. In summer she goes abroad with a huge wooden fan with which she kills the bumble bee as it floats by her. And she gowns herself in colors that make one's teeth on edge. I am sure it is her life-long regret that she must clothe herself at all, as she has dreams of savage nakedness, and a liberal use of the fetching woad."

"My dear Oliver," protests Lady Rodney, mildly.

"If she presses refreshments on you, Mona, say 'No, thank you,' without hesitation," says Geoffrey, with anxious haste, seeing they are near their journey's end. "Because, if you don't she will compel you to partake of methegline and unleavened bread, which means sudden death. Forewarned is forearmed! Nolly and I have done what we can for you."

"Is she by herself? Is there nobody living with her?" asks Mona, somewhat nervously.

"Well, practically speaking, no. But I believe she has a sister somewhere."

At this point the house comes in view, and conversation languishes. The women give a small touch to their furs and laces, the men indulge in a final yawn that is to last them until the gates of Anadale close behind them again.

A terrace runs along one side of the house, which is exposed to view from the avenue. And here, with a gaunt but handsome greyhound beside her, stands a girl tall and slim, yet beautifully molded. Her eyes are gray, yet might at certain moments be termed blue. Her mouth is large, but not unpleasing. Her hair is quite dark, and drawn back into a loose and artistic coil behind. She is clad in an impossible gown of sage green, that clings closely to her slight figure, nay, almost desperately, as though afraid to lose her.

One hand is resting lightly with a faintly theatrical touch upon the head of the lean greyhound, the other is raised to her forehead as though to shield her eyes from the bright sun.

Altogether she is a picture, which, if slightly suggestive of artificiality, is yet very nearly perfection. Mona is therefore agreeably surprised, and, being—as all her nation is—susceptible to outward beauty, feels drawn towards this odd young woman in sickly green, with her canine friend beside her.

Lady Lilias, slowly descending the steps with the hound Egbert behind her, advances to meet Lady Rodney. She greets them all with a solemn cordiality that impresses everybody but Mona, who is gazing dreamily into the gray eyes of her hostess and wondering vaguely if her lips have ever smiled. Her hostess in return is gazing at her, perhaps in silent admiration of her soft loveliness.

"You will come first and see Philippa?" she says, in a slow, peculiar tone that sounds as if it had been dug up and is quite an antique in its own way. It savors of dust and feudal days. Every one says he or she will be delighted, and all try to look as if the entire hope of their existence is centered in the thought that they shall soon lay longing eyes on Philippa,—whose name is in reality Anne, but who has been re-christened by her enterprising sister. Anne is all very well for every-day life, or for Blue-Eagle's sister-in-law; but Philippa is art to the very highest description. So Philippa she is, poor soul, whether she likes it or not.

She has sprained her ankle, and is now lying on a couch in a small drawing-room as the Rodneys are ushered in. She is rather glad to see them, as life with an "intense" sister is at times trying, and the ritualistic corsets from home. So she smiles upon them, and manages to look as amiable as plain people ever can look.

The drawing-room is very much the same as the ordinary run of drawing-rooms, at which Mona feels distinct disappointment, until, glancing at Lady Lilias, she notices a shudder of disgust run through her frame.

Advice to Mothers.

Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup should always be used when children are teething. It relieves the little sufferer at once; it produces natural, quiet sleep by relieving the child from pain, and the little cherub awakes as bright as a button. It is pleasant to taste. It soothes the child, softens the gums, allays all pain, relieves wind, regulates the bowels, and is the best known remedy for diarrhœa whether arising from teething or from any other cause. Twenty-five cents a bottle. Be sure and ask for "Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup," and take no other kind.

A FEW DOLLARS MIGHT BE SAVED.

It is a positive fact that money is thrown away every week. Why is this? You would imagine any one keen to save money in their purchases and yet they pay prices for goods, that could be bought much cheaper, if bought in the right place.

SHEPPARD

Beautiful BLACK and COLORED HOSE, two pairs for 25 cents.

A Circular Pillow Cotton, cheapest in town. White Cottons and Shirtings marked very low. Don't you buy anything in Spring Goods before making a bee line to Peterborough's Great Cheapside.

Give them a Chance.

That is to say, your lungs. Also all your breathing machinery. Very wonderful machinery it is. Not only the larger air-passages, but the thousands of little tubes and cavities leading from them.

When these are clogged and choked with matter which ought not to be there, your lungs cannot half do their work. And what they do, they cannot do well.

Call it cold, cough, pneumonia, catarrh, consumption or any of the family of throat and nose and head and lung obstructions, all are bad. All ought to be got rid of. There is just one sure way to get rid of them. That is to take Boschee's German Syrup, which any druggist will sell you at 75 cents a bottle. Even if everything else has failed you you may depend upon this for certain.

DAUGHTERS OF EVE.

A New York woman is making shirts for seven cents a dozen.

Belva Lockwood expects to make a small fortune from her lectures in defense of Mormonism.

They say that the queen regent of Spain has asked President Cleveland's wife for her photograph.

In Morocco women who talk scandals are punished by having cayenne pepper rubbed into their lips.

Mrs. Lewis and her husband have been doing Europe on a tricycle. They are Americans, of course.

Ex-Queen Isabella has packed her carpet bag and left Spain once more on an "intimation" by the government.

Mrs. Charlotte Cain, of Milton, Mass., is 94 years old, and has a green parrot which is not less than 55 years of age.

Mrs. Harriet Beecher Stowe, in spite of her advanced age, is fond of outdoor exercise and walks from five to seven miles daily.

Imitation is the sincerest flattery in England as elsewhere. London girls have taken to dressing their hair a la Mary Anderson.

One of the ladies present at a recent fancy costume ball in Denver wore a dress of white satin completely covered with copies of a local newspaper.

There is a rumor that Dr. Mary Walker will celebrate her jubilee year by returning to the costume of her maternal ancestors, but it lacks confirmation.

Miss Sibyl Sanderson is an American who promises to make a name for her voice. She is now in Paris, and Massenet has become greatly interested in her.

The ex-Empress Eugenie had the remains of her husband and son removed to Farnborough privately in order not to give Plon Plon a chance to exploit himself.

Mrs. Henry Ward Beecher has been very liberal to the soldiers' home at Leavenworth, having presented it with 2,000 books from the great Henry Ward's library.

There are more ladies in Washington at present trying to get into the departments than there have been for many years. There are about fifty applicants for every position.

Mrs. Reid, widow of Mayne Reid, the novelist, is engaged in writing her husband's life, and is searching for information of his life and adventures here before and after the Mexican war.

Miss Frances Lord was for years superintendent of the kindergarten system in England. She claims to be the only living woman who has held a public office in that country, save Queen Victoria.

Mrs. Charlotte Simonton, of New Richmond, Wis., has reached the full term of 100 years. Her only care is that her young son—he was 81 last birthday—may learn to smoke, like the other bad boys.

Miss Mouk Meyer, a grandniece of Anton Rubenstein and a pupil of Liszt, is the musical prodigy of Vienna. She is not yet 13 years old, but she has composed the music and written the libretto of an opera.

Miss Louisa M. Alcott does most of her writing in Boston. There she takes a room where she can be perfectly retired and quiet, and with a bottle of ink by her side and a lap tablet on her knee, she writes until her task is done.

BOBCAYGEON.

Correspondence of the Review.

OBIT.—Death has been marking its victims during these last eight or ten days, in this vicinity; for no less than three deaths have taken place in the surrounding locality and one in the village during the above time. The first death was that of Mrs. S. White of North Verulum, which took place on the 3rd inst; the second, was a son (a young man) of Mr. James Cambell, who resides about three miles south of this place; the third was Miss Currier, who was performing the duties of a servant here, and the fourth was Miss Lizzie Robertson, a young woman about 27 years of age and daughter of Mr. Alexander Robertson, of South Verulum, on the Scotch Line. The respective families have the deep sympathy of the whole village and vicinity in their sad bereavements.

OUR BAND.—The band here is fully reorganized, and is having regular practice, and will no doubt be able to treat the villagers to some enlivening music when the nice spring evenings return.

SPECIAL MEETINGS.—The Rev. Mr. McClure, the evangelist, has begun a series of revival meetings in the Baptist church here.

BRIDGENORTH.

Correspondence of the Review.

CONCERT.—A concert will be held in the Town Hall at Bridgenorth, on Monday, March 19th; admission 15 cents. The following will be the programme:—Music (instrumental), reading, song, dialogue, music (instrumental), tableau, music (instrumental), reading, song, dialogue, music (instrumental, reading, song, reading, music (instrumental), dialogue, song, music (instrumental), tableau, music (instrumental). Miss Snowden, of Peterborough, and Mr. H. Kearney, of Young's Point, have kindly offered to assist.

PERSONAL.—Miss B. Walton, of Lakefield, is visiting friends in Bridgenorth.... Misses A. Jacques and W. Hinman, of Brighton, are spending a few days in Bridgenorth.

THE ARMY.—The storm on Sunday did not prevent people attending the Salvation Army. They got one convert.

IN RUNNING ORDER.—We are pleased to hear that Mr. Dean's grist mill will be in running order in a few weeks.

EVENINGS EMPLOYED.—The young people of Bridgenorth are spending their evenings practising for the coming concert on March 19th.

The East River Frozen.

NEW YORK, March 13.—The mercury was down to zero this morning, and embargo on travel and traffic still remains. The Railways are still blocked, and no street cars are running in New York or Brooklyn. The elevated railways are partially in operation. The East River is frozen over, and thousand of people are crossing on the ice. No ferry boats are running there. Trains with two engines are being run about every fifteen minutes on the Brooklyn bridge. The roadway is closed. The snow ceased falling during the night, but it is still cloudy and a further fall is threatened. Immense drifts block up the streets, and locomotoin is difficult and far from pleasant.

Happy North-west.

WINNIPEG, March 13.—The Canadian North-west has again escaped the severe storm that has been raging throughout the American North-west and which has extended to the East with such disastrous effects. The weather report for to-day is as follows:—New Westminster, B. C., fine, 45 above zero; Donald, B. C., 30 above, raining hard; Banff, N. W. T., 30 above, cloudy; Calgary, N. W. T., 35 above, cloudy; Medicine Hat, N. W. T., 35 above, clear, light south-west wind; Swift Current, N. W. T., 30 above, cloudy, south-west wind; Moose-jaw, N. W. T., zero, clear and fine; Broadview, N. W. T., 5 above, clear and fine; Winnipeg, 10 above, cloudy, south-east wind.

Storm Fatalities.

NEW YORK, March 13.—The hospitals report a great number of patients who were severely bruised and overcome by yesterday's storm. Fifteen of the sufferers among whom is Mr. Baumann, editor of the News, are in a painful condition. The bodies of two men and one woman found on the streets were taken to the morgue.

Purely for Romantic Reasons.

She—Mr. Qualkcharry, do you ever rise in the morning early enough to see the gorgeous sunrise? I can imagine nothing more beautiful than that. The golden glow falls upon the earth so softly and lovingly, the heavens smile in unison, and all nature seems to wake and rejoice.

"Yes, it's very nice."

"Do you see the sunrise often?"

"Every morning. You see, I have to get my milk wagons started before 6 o'clock."—Lincoln Journal.

A Powerful Plug.

Landlady—Really, Mr. Smith, I am so annoyed I know not what to do.

Boarder—Why, what is the matter?

Landlady—There is a rat hole in my pantry, and no matter what I stop the hole with the rat gnaws his way through again. What would you do?

Boarder—Well, I don't know; but you might try plugging the hole with one of the breakfast biscuits.—Boston Budget.

The extraordinary popularity of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral is the natural result of its use by all classes of people for over 40 years. It has proven itself the very best specific for colds, coughs, and pulmonary complaints.

Children Cry for Pitcher's Castoria.

SERIOUS COLLISION.

Two Engines Wrecked at St. Thomas—Several Men Seriously Injured.

ST. THOMAS, Ont., March 13.—A serious collision occurred this morning, about 11 o'clock, in the Michigan Central yard, here, between a switch engine and a freight engine. The yard engine was in the act of crossing over the main line at the east end of the yard when the freight engine struck her with terrific force. The engineer, J. Dennis, of the yard engine, jumped and escaped uninjured, but his fireman, Arch. McKay, was not so fortunate, and was buried under the wreck. He was released as speedily as possible and taken to his home on Redan street, where it was found that his back was severely hurt, and that he had received internal injuries. Engineer J. Covey and Fireman H. Donnelly, of the freight engine, jumped. Covey escaped but Donnelly's head was badly cut and he was bruised about the body. H. McCoffery, brakeman, who was on the engine, received painful injuries about the legs and body, his clothing being literally torn from his body. Although badly injured none of the men are thought to be fatally, but will be confined to their homes for some time. All are married men. Both engines were badly wrecked.

BY THE BY.

It was Mrs. Parvenu who wanted her dressmaker to furnish her with "one of them elegant French robes, in the directory style!"

Madeira is to be one of the new spring colors, but if based on the hue of Madeira wines we have nowadays will be difficult to recognize.

As men are said to be known by the company they keep, so the imitation sealskin sacque is detected by the miserable odor of dye it emits.

The true lovers' knot in silver is a new design in umbrella handles which is silly enough to indicate that the designers have got to the end of their rope.

Spring trousers are to have a welted seam or cord of the same material down the side, and, if tailors are prophets, will be just as wide as they are now.

Dainty little sewing baskets, filled with all the fashionable sewer is likely to require, have come out in advance of the meetings of the Lenten sewing classes.

A man who goes about with a shawl over his shoulders may be a philosopher, or philanthropist, or both, but he looks like Farmer Wayback, all the same.

Fashionable phraseology becomes less and less elegant, if more expressive, and has lately revived some slang that gentle people hoped had been forgotten.

Specialists will soon be required for the many women whose use of lotions and cosmetics for the complexion has distorted and paralyzed their ugly faces.

"Now you're in the height of fashion," said young Guy to the lady at a reception, over whose dress he had upset a glass of ice water, "for you have on a watered silk."

Musical boxes operated by electricity are something new in Europe, and at receptions, one writer says, take the place of a band of music. This, however, may be a "harmony in falsehood."

Emmeline Raymond, The Bazar's Paris correspondent, says, apropos of gloves, that the very lightest tints, almost white, are more and more used by ladies for ceremonious afternoon calls in the French capital.

PERSONAL PICKINGS.

Congressman Tillman, of South Carolina, says that the overcoat is a northern luxury unworthy of a man with blood in his veins.

Dr. Schliemann has gone to Alexandria with Professor Virchow, and will spend several months in Egypt making explorations.

Lord Salisbury suffers martyrdom from neuralgia, and some of his bitter speeches are said to be largely influenced by his physical suffering.

Dr. William Hammond is stated to be a firm believer in Buddha, and many valuable works on the Oriental religion are to be found in his library.

Prince William of Prussia, says he fears no man on earth. A few rounds between William and John L. Sullivan would be a most interesting affair.

The new president of the California State university, Mr. Horace Davis, is 50 years old, a graduate of Harvard and a nephew of Bancroft, the historian.

The most tragic outcome of the walking match at the Madison Square garden is the fact that the Rev. Mr. Tilly, one of the contestants, intends to lecture on pedestrianism.

King Ja Ja, the African potentate who recently had to stand trial on board her majesty's ship Royalist, has been given the choice of certain islands in the Pacific as a place of exile.

It is estimated that in order to be able to wear all his decorations and orders at one time Prince Bismarck would require a breast thirty feet in breadth. Their weight amounts to a little over forty pounds.

King Leopold of Belgium, has sent the sultan of Morocco a railroad locomotive as a New Year's gift. The African potentate will find his present of a white elephant nature, as there is not a railway in his dominion.

Senator George Hearst, of California, is described by a Washington correspondent as a type of the old forty-niner—shrewd, liberal, dashing, warm hearted, open handed, and one of the boys. He lives high, drives stylish carriages and entertains splendidly.

The King of Portugal, owing to ill health, was unable to attend the recent Patti concerts in Lisbon. He sat in his palace, however, with a telephone at his ear, heard the great diva as she sang in the San Carlos theatre, and seemed to enjoy the entertainment.

Congressman S. S. Cox has moved into his new house in Dupont circle, Washington. Mr. Cox now has one of the the handsomest homes in the nation's capital. Mr. and Mrs. Cox are temporarily in social retirement, owing to the death of a near relative of the latter.

The Duke of Westminster is reputed to have a larger income than any other subject of Great Britain. He owns row upon row of tenement houses and possesses many square miles of farming land. He receives $50 a minute the year round, or $3,000 an hour, or $72,000 a day.

A Tiring Process.

She was very stout, very jolly and a little sarcastic, and she was chiding Mr. De Dood for not speaking to her at a reception the day before.

"Aw, Miss Laura," he pleaded, "I wanted to, but you wouldn't recognize me. Really, don't you know, I walked all around you, but you wouldn't see me."

"Clear around me, Mr. De Dood!" she said sympathetically. "How tired it must have made you!"—Washington Critic.

GERMANY'S FUTURE COURSE.

The New Emperor Thought to be Opposed to Bismarck's Policy.

LONDON, March 13.—The Russian and the French newspapers devote more space than those of any other nation to speculations upon the probable future course of Germany. The St. Petersburg press is especially active in this particular. The opinion in that capital proves to be that if the Emperor Frederick lives for any reasonable length of time there will be a marked change in the German policy, and one favorable to Russia and her schemes. Emperor Frederick is believed by the Russians to be opposed to Prince Bismarck's scheme of alliance against the Czar. It is felt that even if the illness of the Emperor deprives him of the energy or prestige required to overthrow Prince Bismarck's ascendancy, his wishes will be sufficient to prevent any warlike action, and matters will remain stationary. The Emperor, upon entering the Schloss at Charlottenburg, surprised the attendants by the erectness of his bearing, and the lightness of his step. He bore the appearance of a man in good health. He stood for a moment at the entrance to shake hands with Sir Edward Malet, the British Ambassador, who was the only stranger present. He then threw open his military overcoat and ascended the stairway with a firm tread. The officers were no less delighted than surprised, and did not conceal their gratification. If the Emperor was playing a part he carried out the role to perfection. There was not a trace of weakness or of pain visible. His manifestation of strength creates general skepticism as to the truth of the medical bulletins issued while his majesty was at San Remo.

HERE AND THERE.

Maine has fourteen cities, and Waterville will soon be added to the list.

The average Mexican laborer supports his family on ten cents per diem, invested in corn and beans.

There are forty-three log school houses in Iowa. This is the number given in the report of the state superintendent for 1887.

A low estimate puts the number of persons supported by all the forms of employment furnished by electricity at 5,000,000.

The "Great She" is the name of the latest gold mine speculative company in London. The mine is said to be in South Africa.

During 1887 eleven and one-half tons of postage stamps—nearly 170,000,000 in number—were sold at the New York post office.

A Greek named Dimitrius Antippa has just died at Constantinople at the age of 115. He knew Robespierre, and possessed several of his letters.

There were not fewer than 3,459 matriculated students at Edinburgh university last year, and the value of the scholarship and bursaries which were disposed of was $40,000.

A train on the Alabama and Great Southern railroad dashed through a drove of fifty mules at Akron recently and killed eight of them outright. The locomotive kept on its way without leaving the rails.

One hundred and twenty bull fights were given in the City of Mexico during the past year. Seventeen bull fighters were wounded, and one professional and two amateur fighters killed.

The prize for the effectual destruction of rabbits offered by the New South Wales government is being warmly contested. Already 386 inventions have been sent in to compete for the $250,000.

The Corean never cuts his hair, and he wears it in a braid down his back until he gets married, when he has the right to curl it on the top of his head. A man is not supposed to be a man until he can wear his hair on the top of his head.

The champion "Benedict" of the civilized world is Francois Sauron, wood ranger of Saint Paulien. He is 68 years old, and on Jan. 10 was married for the sixth time to a widow of 60. His last four marriages have occurred in the last four years.

More and more paper is taking the place of woodwork. Paper doors are now largely substituted for wooden doors. The paper doors are better for the reason that they are lighter; they do not shrink or swell with changes of weather; they are made from single sheets of paper molded into any desired pattern, and they are not dearer than wooden doors.

A Hartford man started a good fire in a sheet iron stove in his office, forgot to close the draught, locked the office door and went to drive. When he came back he found the fire out; but it had made itself felt before going out. Everything in the room was scorched, apples on a shelf were baked, and a dog that had been locked in was dead, evidently suffocated.

A rival to Dakota for the championship in low temperature is Werchojansk, in Siberia. The mean temperature in 1885 was 30 degs. below zero. For January and December it was 63 degs. below, and for July it rose to 60 degs. above zero. The lowest temperature in July was 39 degs. above, while in January a fall to 90 degs. below zero was experienced. This attractive winter resort is in latitude 67 degs. 34 mins., longitude 133 degs. 51 mins.

Gus—What is that red mark around your neck, Jack; somebody been trying to choke you?

Jack—No, I was tobogganing last night with a Vassar college girl.—New York Sun.

EUROPEAN JOTTINGS.

It is seven hours and a quarter now from London to Paris.

Electrical motors are to be introduced on the London undergrounds.

One hundred million cubic feet of gas are used in London in one day of fog.

The international committee for putting down gambling at Monte Carlo is now very active.

A good many have been cut up and built over, but there are still 444 burying grounds in London.

Two hundred and seventy-five thousand tons less of sugar beet root were grown in Europe during 1887 than in 1886.

Rear Admiral Louis Hutton Vesturme recently committed suicide by heating a poker red hot and thrusting it into his bowels.

As a result of John L. Sullivan's British career, a dealer has sold 300 sets of boxing gloves, as against about a dozen the year before.

The Jewish race made their entree into the court of Vienna for the first time on Jan. 20 in the person of Baron and Baroness Rothschild.

"Spodobs Volapuk" appears now at the head of German, French and Italian business houses, meaning "We correspond in Volapuk."

Germany has now more than seventy manufactories of "champagne francais." Of 450,000 bottles imported annually by Russia, Germany provides 300,000.

The stones of Temple Bar, after having been exposed for eleven years, have been built up into a gateway of a brewer's residence. It is now called "Temple Beer."

There is to be a grand international exhibition in Berlin next May of hunting trophies, of all sorts of game, ancient and modern arms, and implements used in hunting.

The famous Goodwin sands in the British channel are disappearing. They have receded toward the Kentish coast half a mile within a short time, and show signs of generally breaking up.

The iron horse crossed the Oxus on Jan. 15. A train carrying Gen. Annenkoff and the beg of the district passed over the great bridge, which is 6,575 feet long. The Russians and the gates of India are much nearer than they used to be.

The Vatican is the most polite court in Europe. Replies to all communications are addressed with the titles assumed by the original correspondents, be they counts, dukes, or princes. The pope never stops to ask whether the gentlemen are genuine noblemen or not.

PLAYS AND ACTORS.

Helen Dauvray's return to the stage is already forecast.

Manager J. H. Haverly again announces his retirement from theatrical affairs.

Mme. Modjeska has decided to become an American citizen, and will live in California.

Nate Salsbury is rich and says he will never work on the stage again, unless poverty compels him.

The five years' contract between Manager Pitou and W. J. Scanlan has been renewed for another five years.

Ada Dyas says that the silent acting of the letter reading scene in "Jim, the Penman," is a severer strain on her nerves than any other part of the play.

Manchester, England, has burst into unwonted enterprise. It has a burlesque of "Buffalo Bill" in one theatre and shows the heathen Chinee in another.

Conductor Neuendorff says that little Josef Hofmann is in first class condition, that his traveling about seems to brighten him all the more, and that as for his piano playing, that seems to be so natural to him as to be absolutely effortless. Mr. Neuendorff says: "He was born to play the piano."

M. Coquelin has started on another tour. He begins with Egypt, where he gives ten performances, and then goes to Nice, Cannes, Mentone, Trieste, Vienna, Prague, Bucharest, Belgrade and London. With the actor went his son Jean and a company of fourteen. The manager is again M. Th. de Glaser.

It is stated that Mrs. Abbey will shortly retire permanently from the stage. Mr. Abbey's laudable preference that his wife should act no longer has something to do with this, and she will probably accompany him shortly when he makes a trip westward to look after some of his numerous interests.

A Fatal Delay.

The young man had been trying to tell her how madly he loved her for over an hour, but couldn't pluck up the courage.

"Excuse me a moment, Mr. Featherly," she said, "I think I hear a ring at the telephone." And in her queenly way she swept into an adjoining room.

Presently she returned, and then his mad passion found a voice.

"I am sorry, Mr. Featherly," she said, "to cause you pain, but I am already engaged. Mr. Sampson, learning that you were here, has urged his suit through the telephone.—New York Sun.

WEDNESDAY, MARCH 14, 1888.

A NEW DRILL SHED.

The building at present used as a drill shed for the local militia has served that purpose for some twenty years, but it is no longer suitable for a drill shed or armory. It has not the necessary conveniences, it is old and delapidated and is a disfigurement of the central part of the town and of a spot that could be made a beautiful park. The officers and men of the local corps are taking a deep interest in their military duties and feel that they are entitled to better quarters than an old, leaky building, without suitable conveniences, for an armory.

Mr. Stevenson, M. P., has urged upon the Government the necessity for having a new drill shed erected, and the Minister of Militia has given a promise that one wil be built, conditional upon the town meeting a portion of the expenditure. This method of the municipality assisting to put up such buildings has been followed in other places; and it the town is willing to aid, the Government will make a substantial grant for the purpose. The Town Council should take the matter into consideration at its earliest convenience.

On the main question there can be no difference of opinion. The new building is required, and the Minister of Militia will show a proper appreciation of the situation by acting on Mr. Stevenson's representation, in which he is supported by reports made by divisional officers of the militia, and putting an appropriation in the supplementary estimates at this session for the new building.

NEWFOUNDLAND.

The question of adding the island of Newfoundland to the united provinces of the Dominion of Canada has again been brought forward by the Dominion Government inviting the Government of the island to send a delegation to Ottawa to consider the matter. Further than the fact that the invitation was sent, nothing has been made public, and as the Premier of Newfoundland has been to England, and has just returned, it is probable that no action has yet been taken by that Government in his absence. Newfoundland would probably have been a part of Canada ere this if her people had not, through a mistaken notion of the effect confederation would have upon them, objected to the union.

Newfoundland has a population of abou 200,000. Its chief industry is fishing, its fisheries being very valuable, and it also possesses valuable mineral deposits. Its chief city, St. John's, has a popuidtion of 28,500. The revenue in 1886 amounted to $1,078,775, and the expenditure to $1,736,105. The public debt in that year was $2,363,740. The total foreign trade of the island in 1886 was $10,853,790, made up of $4,833,755 in exports and $6,020,035 in imports. In that year its principal customers were Portugal, Great Britain and Brazil, while its chief purchases were made from Canada, Great Britain and the United States.

Winter Sports.

Now no lover from afar picks the twangulent guitar
To a melancholy Spanish serenade,
Nor do sweethearts, hand in hand, seek the ice cream vendor's stand,
Breathing taffy while they wait for orangeade.

But the nipping, eager air feeds the torch's lambent glare,
And the swift toboggan flashes down the slide;
Everybody has a girl, everybody takes his whirl,
And the bouillon man takes many a dime beside.
—Burlington Free Press.

Where the Delay Occurred.

"The climate in Dakota is something frightful, I understand," said a New York man to a citizen from that would-be part of the United States.

"Yes, indeed," was the reply.

"You are just from there, aren't you?"

"Yes, sir; and I would have been here a week sooner, but we got stuck in the snow between New York and Pokeepsie."—The Epoch.

Philosophy.

If I were a philosopher how happy I would be,
At care I'd snap my fingers, from annoyance I'd be free;
Philosophers are happy men; they neither sigh nor groan;
And everybody's troubles they can bear—except their own.

POINTS FOR GILDED YOUTH.

Bangle rings for male idiots are promised a run.

Bow knots are being worn extensively with everyday dress in Paris.

Combinations of moonstones and cat's eye or tiger eye stones for gentlemen's link sleeve buttons are new and poptular.

Striped neckwear is to take a short vacation. More and greater variety than ever before of broken figures will be the rule.

Cane heads are now popularly made to carry matches, a timepiece, cigarettes, cachous, gum, pins, change, scent, or a slug of rye.

In all classes of furnishing goods for the coming warm weather connoisseurs thereof will search for rather unique and delicate tints or shadings.

Astrakhan gloves with calf or kid palms are deservedly the most popular fancy hand covering found in years. They sell on sight at a remunerative price.

Some German fashion plates have peculiar styles in collars; they all seem to be comparatively low, and the front forms a letter half way between a U and a V.

Scarfs for spring will be much narrower than were last fall's productions, and, in the majority of styles, the outer apron will be slightly puffed close to the bottom of the knot.

A new rag among the dudes is to carry balanced between the thumb and forefinger of the right hand a huge cane, around the center of which is tied a bright colored ribbon with streamers. The girls tie them on.

Big furnishers have special figured silks woven for them in Paris, but say they lose in the long run, as no less than 100 yards can be had of any one pattern, and one failure will reduce the profit on the whole production.

Metallic shades, so called in furnishing goods silks, are popular and new varieties eagerly sought. All the glistening lines of gold, silver, copper and bronze have been caught and transferred to the loom, forming a novel and desirable line.—Clothier and Furnisher

WAYBACK NOTES.

The first Roman fleet was built in 260 B. C.

The earliest brokers were the Roman emperors, who lent money upon land.

Rolling mills, in the metal manufactories, were in use in England in the Seventeenth century.

A plague which broke out at Naples in 1656 carried off 400,000 of the population in six months.

George Peabody, the great American philanthropist, gave £500,000 to ameliorate the condition of the London poor.

Milan, Italy, is said to have been built by the Gauls, about 408 B. C. Its renowned cathedral was erected about 1385.

Democritus taught as early as 428 B. C. that the milky way consisted of stars, a fact which was proven by Galileo, 1610-42.

The first normal school for the instruction of teachers was established at Paris, by a law, Oct. 30, 1794, and opened Jan. 20, 1795. This school was the first of its class, and this design has since been followed in other countries, especially in the United States.

What is known in English history as the "Rye House Plot," was a plot, which, it is said, aimed to secure the Duke of Monmouth in place of the Duke of York, as successor to Charles II. Lord William Russell and Algernon Sidney were executed for being concerned in the conspiracy in 1683. The name was derived from the conspirators' place of meeting, the Rye house, Broxbourne, Hertfordshire.

Ill Effects of a Wrong Habit.

Oh, weak alike are pen and tongue
To picture Angelina's graces!
The amorous poets who have sung
Of fairy forms and angel faces
Ne'er looked upon a face so sweet,
An eye so bright, a lip so rosy,
A form so lovely, so complete—
Of female charms so fair a posy.

The beauty of her face outvies
The summer garden's rich adorning;
The tint her velvet cheek that dyes
Is like the new blown rose of morning.
Her tresses, black as jet, caress
A neck as white as alabaster,
Who looks upon her loveliness
Looks surely to his heart's disaster.

But not the beauty of her form,
Or face, which every eye enriches,
Is Angelina's chiefest charm,
Her sweet demeanor more bewitches.
Her smile is like the morning's eye
When opening spring the earth rejoices,
And like the richest melody
Of birds the music of her voice is.

But was there ever woman yet
Could stand a critical inspection?
Since Eve was made who ever met
One wholly free from imperfection?
And Angelina—muses weep!—
This maiden fairer than Aurora,
Has her defect; when she's asleep
She is a most tremendous snorer.
—Boston Courier.

No Ancestors.

"Mamma," said a little Murray Hill girl, "Adam never had a grandfather, did he?"

THE CITY AND SUBURBS

The Weather Probabilities.

High north and northwest winds; decreasing at night; partly cloudy weather.

They are Neat Fitting.

"It is," says an eminent English writer, "a poor limb that won't shape its own stocking." Fair's Jerseys—they sell rapidly—are all good fitting. They improve the figure and are neat and jaunty looking. All shades and sizes at the golden lion.

Go Up Head!

The Provincial Secretary on Monday brought down a Scott Act return showing the amount of fines received in the various counties. The total was $93,215 in counties and $31,466 in cities and towns. The largest amount from any one county was $10,094, from Middlesex. The largest from a town was $10,150, from Peterborough.

Fire Drill.

The members of the Fire Brigade met at the engine house last night for drill. There was a full turnout and the new men were put through a course of sprouts in coupling and uncoupling, until they became so expert that the old timers could not do the work much faster than them. A dry drill like this is of more use than half a dozen wet drills.

No Concert.

Owing to the fact that the trains on the Canadian Pacific, going east, did not run on Tuesday evening, the Peterborough ladies and gentlemen who were to take part in the Oddfellows concert at Norwood, as well as a large number of brethren of the three links who were to go down, failed to connect and in consequence the concert was indefinitely postponed. The date will be announced in a future issue.

THE best teacher in the Collegiate Institute says he has not had a cold this winter. And the reason is because he wears a pair of KIDD's waterproof boots, and it is true, too.

Revival on the Train.

The Rev. Mr. Hunter, the evangelist, was in Peterborough on Monday and returned to Belleville the same day. At the evening meeting in Belleville he said, as reported in the Intelligencer:—"He had had a peculiar experience through the day, he said, as he travelled by train to Peterborough. He had a kind of revival and some had promised to lead better lives. He had seen a man in the train with a little infant in his arms. He was just from his wife's new made grave, but he was drunk." The latter incident formed the basis of a temperance appeal.

The Queen in Ireland.

A lady writes to the REVIEW that a paragraph which inadvertently appeared in Tuesday's daily, stating that Queen Victoria had not visited Ireland since she ascended the throne, is incorrect. Our correspondent points out that Her Majesty visited Ireland in 1849, and she informs us that she has in her possession a medal with the Irish harp, rose, thistle and shamrock, surrounded by the words, "Ireland hails with joy the visit of her Sovereign, August, 1849." She also quotes from a sketch of Irish history this passage:—"In 1849 Queen Victoria visited Ireland to the great delight of all classes of Her Majesty's subjects." Also in the summer of 1853 the Queen visited the exhibition in Dublin. Our correspondent saw Her Majesty drive through the streets with the Prince Consort, the Prince of Wales, and Prince Alfred, now the Duke of Edinburgh. No wonder she was surprised when she read the paragraph referred to, but "mistakes will happen"—especially at a time of snow blockades.

Musical Instrument.

A "Woodstock Organ" is the latest addition to the convenience of the Business College. The College Glee Club has been organized and practice has commenced on college songs.

Buy Their Own.

The understanding arrived at by the Committee was that the police are to receive $450 per annum each and provide their own uniforms, so that when a man leaves and takes his clothing, he will not be carrying off town property.

The New Rector.

Father McEvay, the newly appointed Rector of the Cathedral and Chancellor of the Diocese, is quite young and has come to the front very rapidly. But priests and people say that he is a jolly good fellow and deserves it all.

Board of Health.

A meeting of the local Board of Health, for organization, is called for Friday evening next. It is to be hoped that all the members will be present, as there are several matters that require attention before the season opens and it is important that the Inspectors should receive their instructions.

On a Tear.

A woman complained at the police station this morning that, on Tuesday evening, her husband had gone crazy and during the spell he burned a large quantity of her clothing, abused her and smashed a silver watch to atoms. In proof of the latter statement, she produced a watch in about fifty pieces, wrapped up in a handkerchief. A Police Court case will probably result.

Gold at Madoc.

After many trials the Richardson gold mine at Madoc has had a fair test. Twenty-two tons of ore were crushed at the Malone mill and as the the machinery was somewhat out of repair the best possible results were not obtained. The ore was taken from a depth of from 20 to 24 feet and the yield was highly satisfactory. The company has secured a lease of the mine and the Bannockburn crusher for two years and work will be commenced at once. It is expected to crush 10 tons per day.

Disorderly.

On Tuesday evening a man named Samuel Levitt, an old sailor and a gentleman well known in police circles, was acting in a disorderly manner in a public place. Officer McGinty came across him and ordered him to start off home. Levitt refused and the officer landed him in the police station after quite a tussle. At the court this morning he was fined two dollars with the alternative of ten days in gaol. He was about to take the gaol when his wife took pity on him and paid the price necessary for his liberty.

Port Hope's Plan.

Port Hope is thoroughly aroused over the appointment of a Chief Constable. The attempt to supplant the present efficient Chief has raised a great storm of indignation among the ratepayers and at the Council meeting on Monday evening the chamber was crowded to the doors. Petitions in favor of retaining Chief Douglas were presented from the Ministerial Association of the town and from 380 ratepayers. It was agreed to leave the matter to a vote of the ratepayers to be taken on Monday next. We are inclined to think that there is not backbone enough in the Port Hope councillors sufficient for one sardine.

Go and Laugh.

God made us to laugh as well as to cry. The laugh of a child will make the holiest day more sacred still. Strike with hand of fire, O, weird musician, thy harp strung with Apollo's golden hair! Fill the vast cathedral aisles with symphonies sweet and dim, deft teacher of the organ keys! Blow, bugler, blow, until thy silver notes do touch and kiss the moonlit waves, charming the wandering lovers on the vine-clad hills; but know your sweetest strains are discords all compared with childhood's happy laugh—the laugh that fills the eyes with light, and dimples every cheek with joy. Oh, rippling river of laugher, thou art the blessed boundary line between the beast and man, and every wayward wave of time doth drown some fretful fiend of care. If you want to enjoy a real, hearty laugh, go and hear the great American humorist, Eli Perkings, at the Opera house, on Friday evening, March 23rd.

Close Enough.

The Port Hope Guide says that about ten o'clock on Monday night as Mr. W. T. R. Preston was being driven to the station to take the train for the East, in one of Smith's covered cabs, the driver left the team standing on John-st. while he went into the Queen's to see if there were any other passengers. While away the horses started, and Mr. Preston being locked inside was in a very precarious position, but with his usual presence of mind he drove his fist through the glass in one of the doors and succeeded in getting it open and then jumped while the team was at full speed. He had scarcely got out of the sleigh when at the corner of Augusta-st., in turning it was upset. The horses then turned on Pine-st. down Dorset-st. to the market square, where they were caught, but the $400 cab was badly smashed. Mr. Preston escaped with a cut hand from breaking the glass. It was a close call, and if he had not got the door open he undoubtedly would have been badly injured if not killed. This should be a warning not to leave a team without either being tied or with a driver.

Husband and Wife Dying.

BOLTON, Ont. March 13.—Mr. and Mrs. Forrester, who were so brutually assaulted by their hired man, Preston, on Friday afternoon last, are sinking fast.

Drifted.

Some of the sidewalks at the outskirts of the town are badly drifted with snow and pedestrains are obliged to take to the roads.

For Assault.

An assault case from the north end of the town will occupy the attention of the Police Magistrate on Friday morning. It was not at all serious as we understand it.

Farmers' Institute.

The third meeting of the West Peterborough Farmers' Institute will take place at Lakefield to-morrow, commencing at 10 a.m. There will be three sessions, morning, afternoon and evening.

Civic.

A meeting of the Finance Committee of the Town Council will be held at 8 o'clock Thureday evening....Councillor Langford's street numbering committee will meet immediately afterwards....The Street and Bridge Committee will convene at 7.30 o'clock.

Snowbound.

Prof. Carpmael, of the meteorological department, Toronto, is in town. He is also snowbound. His fellow prisoners poke great fun at "old probs." for not knowing that the storm was coming, but as the Prof. is an enthusiastic curler he takes things easy and "scops her up" in great shape.

Gone East.

Messrs. W. H. Hill, James Little and R. A. Hamilton left this morning for Montreal, to attend the annual meeting of the Sun Life Insurance Company, of which Mr. Hill is the general agent for this district. The report of the Company is said to be the best in its history. Mr. Hill intends visiting Quebec after the meeting, to see his friends in that part of the Dominion, and will be away a couple of weeks.

The Presbytery.

The members of the Peterborough Presbytery, after discussing general matters on Tuesday afternoon and evening, adjourned until this morning in the hope that the snowbound members, including the Secretary, would put in an appearance As the blockade was not raised during the night, the meeting this morning only lasted a few minutes, when it adjourned to meet again in two weeks.

Ship Social and Concert.

The great Ship Social and Concert under the management of the Ladies of Charlotte-st. church, will take place next Monday, 19th of March, in Bradburn's Hall. Tickets 25 cts. Refreshments 10 cts. extra, to be served from 6 bells to 8 bells. Captain J. B. Stratton, M.P.P., will invite the passengers to the deck at 8 bells to hear some fine seafaring music.

The Gun Club.

The annual meeting of the members of the Peterborough gun club will be held at Riverside Park, Ashburnham, on Friday afternoon at 3.30 o'clock. The election of officers for the current year and the transaction of general business is what the meeting is called for and all the members should make it a point to attend. After the meeting a sweepstakes match will take place.

A Snow Blockade of the Past.

During a conservation in the post office regarding the snow blockade of the railways, a gentleman related an experience of a snow blockade fifteen years ago. He was in Toronto with another gentleman from Norwood, and they went to the station to take the train for Port Hope to come to Peterborough. It was storming very hard and his companion said they had better stay in the city, as the road would be blocked, and he would prefer sleeping in a hotel to a car seat for a lodging place. Others got in the train and it started. The Peterborough gentleman regretted that he had not gone, but it was too late then. The next day they went to the station again, but there was no train, and for six days they waited, and on the sixth day the passengers who had gone on that train were brought back to Toronto in sleighs! The train was fast in a snow bank and all that time they had been in the cars. There were no more regrets for not having started and the men patiently waited until the road was clear.

Curlians.

On Monday a rink of Lakefield and Peterborough juniors played, with the following result:

LAKEFIELD.	PETERBOROUGH.
C. Clarin	V. C. McGill
E. Podger	B. B. Boucher
A. Strickland	G. Boucher
G. Balsdon, skip 18	W. Hamilton, skip 25

In the evening another game was played, Peterborough again winning by 19 to 10.

Owing to the snow blockade the Lindsay juniors did not get here yesterday as was expected.

Three rinks leave for Campbellford tomorrow morning, under Skips Judge Wellers, Thos. Rutherford and T. P. Attrill. They will play games with Belleville and Campbellford both.

Two rinks from Millbrook will arrive here on the 5.15 train, if it comes, this evening, and play a game with our local men.

Arrangements are being made for a game between Keene and Peterborough, two rinks a side, to take place here, on Saturday next.

We were shown to-day a challenge got up in gorgeous form, written in red ink and with numerous large seals of the law set like suns in the margin, reading as follows:—

"FUN! FIRE! BLOOD!

"W. G. Ferguson, Esquire, Skip of the Hero Curlers at Ottawa.

"I hereby challenge you with your rink who played at Ottawa, to play a friendly game of 18 ends, on Peterborough ice, next Friday evening, commencing as soon as possible after 7 o'clock, reserving to myself the right to act as skip or vice-skip on my rink, as I may see fit, giving you the same privelege.

"The losing rink to pay for the oysters.

"Yours in Friendship,

"GEO. EDMISON."

Skip Ferguson has accepted the challenge and there is fun and sport ahead.

Among those snowed up here are six members of the Granite Curling club, of Toronto. They are enjoying themselves hugely at the rink, Peterborough players been secured to give them a game.

There are only three players left in the competition for the 13 point medal. They are Messrs. Sam Ray, E. A. Peck and John Stanger.

RAISING THE BLOCKADE.

No Traffic on C. P. R. West The G. T. R. Opened Up.

The present is the worst snow blockade that we have had for many years. The Canadian Pacific between Peterborough and Toronto is still blocked, there being no less than seven trains stuck between the two places, while no trains have run since Monday at noon. On the eastern section things are not so bad, the regular trains reaching Peterborough all night, only a few hours late. The train that came in yesterday afternoon did not proceed any further west. Another came in this morning and also remained here, until about noon, when it was turned around and sent to Montreal. In the meantime the through passengers are located at the hotels, at the expense of the railway company, it is said. In the meantime great efforts are being made to dig out the blocked trains near Myrtle, and they may be expected along here sometime during the night. They contain the Toronto papers for two days and all the western mail matter.

On the Grand Trunk things are much better. The line is now clear from Port Hope to Uxbridge and a big push is being made to get through by to-night. The train from Port Hope arrived at 8.20 this morning and proceeded to Lindsay, returning to Port Hope again. It will come up at 5.15 this evening and go south at 8.50 to make connections east with the main line.

In the mean time the Grand Junction trains are running on schedule time.

A Picture of Frontier Life.

The Daniel Boone Company play in the Opera House, Peterborough, on Wednesday evening, March 21st. Of their excellent performance the Erie (Pa.) Despatch says:—"The Daniel Boome Company played to a big house last night and gave an excellent border drama. The company is a good one throughout. The drama abounds in thrilling incidents that are worked up to the pitch of intensity necessary in a play of that kind. W. A. Lavelle, as "Dan'l Boone," gave an excellent impersonation of that hero of pioneer days. "On the Trail," as the play is styled, is not filled with "blood and thunder," as might be inferred, but it is nevertheless a realistic picture of frontier life. There are several Indians in the company and many trained horses. A knife duel in the block house between "Daniel Boone" and "Blackfish," chief of the Shawnees, was an excellent piece of work over which the audience was wrought to the highest pitch. The fall of Mr. Ungerer, who impersonated Blackfish, after he received his death wound, was one of the best falls ever seen on the stage. There is good comedy in the play, and all through it was an excellent production." 1d62

—After the storm comes the calm, and today is as fine as one could wish for.

—Miss Anna Howden sings at the Kingston Opera House on Easter Monday, April 2nd.

—The cause of the blockade on the C. P. R. is due more to the drifting sand than the snow.

—Messrs. Crossley and Hunter, the evangelists, are drawing crowded houses at Belleville.

—The work of double tracking the Grand Trunk main line will be continued during the coming summer.

—Mr. C. K. Mortimer, the well known showman, is travelling this way with a strong dramatic company.

—The Guelph band made $444 out of their tournament last year. Our boys expect to do a good deal better than that in August next.

—We observe that a Kemptville hotel keeper was committed to gaol for sixty days for a "fourth" offence against the Scott Act. Wonder what he would get for a fifth?

—The Post Office clerks have been resting on their oars during the last two days, but they are hourly expecting a big rush and night and day work will then be in order.

—A gentleman who pays some attention to the weather states that a thaw occurred each time a new moon appeared this winter with the exception of the present month.

—The long haired corn doctor and sword swallower who hung around Peterborough for some weeks last summer is in the Guelph cooler, on a charge of assault with intent.

—The members of the Orange order are commencing to talk about celebrating the coming 12th of July. It is not probable that any demonstration will take place in Peterborough.

—Mr. Ed. Sailsbury, of the C. P. R. express line, and old Peterborough boy, is one of those snowed up here. He is renewing old acquaintances and would just as willingly remain here as any other place.

—Messrs. Senator O'Donohoe, W. T. R. Preston and Peter Ryan, well known Liberal politicians, on their way across the Bay of Quinte from Prince Edward, had a narrow escape from drowning, their horses having broken through the ice.

The Worth of a Man

To his business—his estate—is the measure of his need of Life Insurance, because he ceases to be worth anything to it when he dies. Other brains must direct and other hands perform—if they can—what was formerly directed and done by brain and hands that will be but dust. And as every one works for himself and for his own, even if the work is well done, it is done for the doer and no for the dead. All a man is worth to his business or his estate, is therefore a "dead loss when he dies—unless his life is insured. The man who rates his own ability high ought, for this reason, to insure his life for a large amount.

"Did n't Know 't was Loaded"

May do for a stupid boy's excuse; but what can be said for the parent who sees his child languishing daily and fails to recognize the want of a tonic and blood-purifier? Formerly, a course of bitters, or sulphur and molasses, was the rule in well-regulated families; but now all intelligent households keep Ayer's Sarsaparilla, which is at once pleasant to the taste, and the most searching and effective blood medicine ever discovered.

Nathan S. Cleveland, 27 E. Canton st., Boston, writes: "My daughter, now 21 years old, was in perfect health until a year ago when she began to complain of fatigue, headache, debility, dizziness, indigestion, and loss of appetite. I concluded that all her complaints originated in impure blood, and induced her to take Ayer's Sarsaparilla. This medicine soon restored her blood-making organs to healthy action, and in due time reestablished her former health. I find Ayer's Sarsaparilla a most valuable remedy for the lassitude and debility incident to spring time."

J. Castright, Brooklyn Power Co., Brooklyn, N. Y., says: "As a Spring Medicine, I find a splendid substitute for the old-time compounds in Ayer's Sarsaparilla, with a few doses of Ayer's Pills. After their use, I feel fresher and stronger to go through the summer."

WEDNESDAY, MARCH 14, 1888.

WHAT THEY WEAR.

Valentines are very cheap this year.

Red is much in favor for cloth dresses.

The latest fad on ball dresses is long angel sleeves.

Handkerchiefs entirely of lace are coming in vogue.

Easter bonnets will match the gowns worn with them.

The Tosca is the favorite French round hat, and it has a low crown.

Black, dark brown or gray furs trim red cloth dresses very tastefully.

The ideal house gown of the season has deliciously loose and easy sleeves.

All pale shades of green from reseda to sage will be in high favor for Easter bonnets.

There are many poke brimmed bonnets among the importations of spring millinery.

Aumonieres, or alms bags, and carved ivory rosaries are beautiful gifts for the Easter season.

The ribbons that trim the first production of Easter bonnets are wider than those of the passing season.

Apple green will be the spring color, but only girls with fresh pink and white complexions can wear it.

House gowns for Easter receptions have full front corsages, lapped corsage draperies, full plastron waistcoats and bretelles.

Shaded or ombre ribbons, watered or moire, and glace or changeable ribbons are all shown in new millinery importations.

The latest fancy in rosaries are those of ivory with each bead carved in a symbolic design representing a scene in the "Passion."

The white cloth tailor gown, with pinked edges and borders and fine gold or silver braiding, will be the fad among first spring costumes.

Hoops of steel in the back of ball gown underskirts make those of demi-train length float out cloudlike behind instead of trailing on the floor.

Ribbons printed in jardiniere patterns to match the designs on bengalines, China silks, and challes come among millinery novelties for early spring.

Some of the angel sleeves of ball gowns are dotted with palette spangles, this decoration being the only tinsel in the toilet except the spangled fan of crepe lisse.

The conical high crowned hat will be worn another season, but theatre bonnets only will be seen at plays, operas and concerts, or, at least, such is the prediction.

It is in good taste to wear the hat or bonnet of the same cloth as the jacket and trimmed with fur to match the same, and with an aigrette of feathers.

This is a skating season, and the prettiest skating suits are those of red or dark blue cloth bordered with Alaska or Russian sable, with muffs, collars, cuffs, and band of the cap to match.

All evening gowns, even dinner dresses, are airy, floating, gauzy, cloudlike creations of tulle or lace, with only a hint of velvet, moire, or peau de soie in the way of a low V-shaped bodice.

The newest toboggan suits are in one piece, and the preferred blankets for the same are white, pink, scarlet, blue and gray, with large shaded moons, in contrasting color for dots, the hoods and mittens matching the color of the moons.

The confirmation and first communion robe of this year is preferred to be of white woolen stuff, camel's hair, cashmere, or serge in cream or ivory tints; the bodices are finished with tucked betelles, and the plain plaited skirts have tucks ad libitum above a deep hem.

Tailor gowns for early spring wear are being made up of delicate tinted light weight cloths, and have the bodices lined with chamois, a light layer of wadding and an inside lining of light satin added, as the chamois sleeves do not slip on easily, and the chamois soils quicker than satin.

There is more attention paid to the artistic dressing of the feet this winter than ever before since the days of the French convention or the first empire. Slippers or low shoes for evening wear are of black, white, bronze and colored kid, of strips of ribbon, of velvet, satin, of suede and ribbon in strips; and the decorations in tinsel, beads, embroidery, ribbons and flowers, buckles and slides, are veritable works of art.

Senator Harrison H. Riddleberger is tall, straight and not bad looking; he has a long, thin face, a high, full forehead, and his brown hair, which is thinning rapidly at the crown, is combed well back. He refused, it is said, invitations to state dinners at the White House declined to go to a dinner party at Senator Palmer's because he had no dress coat and was too poor to buy one.

Take Ayer's Sarsaparilla, in the spring of the year, to purify the blood, invigorate the system, excite the liver to action, and restore healthy tone and vigor to the whole physical mechanism. Remember that quality, not quantity, constitutes the value of a medicine.

There are some men who never punctuate until the day of their death. Then they are compelled to come to a full stop.

Children Cry for Pitcher's Castoria.

MONA SCULLY;

—OR—

The Bride of an Englishman.

A STORY OF THESE TIMES.

"I really cannot help it," she explains to Mona, in her usual slow voice, "it all offends me so. But Philippa must be humored. All these glaring colors and hideous pieces of furniture take my breath away. And the light——. By and by you must come to some of my rooms; but first, if you are not tired, I should like you to look at my garden that is, if you can endure the cold."

They don't want to endure the cold but what can they say? Politeness forbids secession of any kind, and, after a few words with the saintly Philippa they follow their guide in all meekness through halls and corridors out into the garden she most affects.

And truly it is a very desirable garden, and well worth a visit. It is like a thought from another age.

Yew-trees—grown till they form high walls—are cut and shaped in prim and perfect order, some like the walls of ancient Troy, some like steps of stairs. Little doors are opened through them, and passing in and out one walks on for a mile almost, until one loses one's way and grows puzzled how to extricate one's self from so charming a maze.

Here and there are basins of water on which lilies can lie and sleep dreamily through a warm and sunny day. A sundial, old and green with honorable age, uprears itself upon a chilly bit of sward. Near it lie two gaudy peacocks fast asleep. All seems far from the world, drowsy, careless, indifferent to the weals and woes of suffering humanity.

"It is like the garden of the palace where the Sleeping Beauty dwelt," whispers Mona to Nolly; she is delighted, charmed, lost in admiration.

"You are doing it beautifully; keep it up," whispers he back; "she'll give you something nice if you sustain that look for five minutes longer. Now!—she is looking; hurry—make haste—put it on again!"

"I am not pretending," says Mona, indignantly; "I am delighted. It is the most enchanting place I ever saw. Really lovely."

"I didn't think it was in you," declares Mr. Darling, with wild but suppressed admiration. "You would make your fortune on the stage. Keep it up, I tell you; it couldn't be better."

"Is it possible you see nothing to admire?" says Mona, with intense disgust.

"I do. More than I can express. I see you," retorts he; at which they both give way to merriment, causing Geoffrey, who is walking with Lady Lilias, to dodge behind her back and bestow upon them an annihilating glance that Nolly afterwards describes as a "lurid glare."

The hound stalks on before them; the peacocks wake up and rend the air with a discordant scream. Lady Lilias, coming to the sun-dial, leans her arm upon it, and puts her head in the right position. A snail slowly traveling across a broad ivy-leaf attracts her attention; she lifts it slowly, leaf and all, and directs attention to the silvery trail it has left behind it.

"How tender! how touching!" she says, with a pensive smile, raising her luminous eyes to Geoffrey; whether it is the snail, or the leaf, or the slime, that is tender and touching, nobody knows; and nobody dares ask, lest he shall betray his ignorance. Nolly, I regret to say, gives way to emotion of a frivolous kind, and to cover it blows his nose sonorously. Whereupon Geoffrey, who is supernaturally grave, asks Lady Lilias if she will walk with him as far as the grotto.

"How could you laugh?" says Mona, reproachfully.

"How couldn't I?" replies he. "Come, let us follow it up to the bitter end."

"I never saw anything so clean as the walks," says Mona, presently; "there is not a leaf ro a weed to be seen, yet we have gone through so many of them. How does she manage it?"

"Don't you know?" says Mr. Darling, mysteriously. "It is a secret, but I know you can be trusted. Every morning early she has them carefully swept with tea-leaves to keep down the dust, and if the tea is strong it kills the weeds."

Then they do the grotto, and then Lady Lilias once more leads the way indoors.

"I want you to see my own work," she says, going up markedly to Mona. "I am glad my garden has pleased you. I could see by your eyes how well you appreciated it. To see the beautiful in everything, that is the only true religion." She smiles her careful absent smile again as she says this, and gazes earnestly at Mona. Perhaps, being true to her religion, she is noting "the beautiful" in her Irish guest.

With Philippa they have some tea, and then again follow their indefatigable hostess to a distant apartment that seems more or less to jut out from the house, and was in olden days a tiny chapel or oratory.

It is an octagon chamber of the most uncomfortable description, but no doubt artistic, and above all praise, according to some lights. To outsiders it presents a curious appearance, and might by the unlearned be regarded as a jumble of all ages, a make-up of objectionable bits from different centuries; but to Lady Lilias and her sympathizers it is simply perfection.

The furniture is composed of oak of the hardest and most severe. To sit down would be a labor of anything but love. The chairs are strictly Gothic. The table is a marvel within itself for ugliness and inutility.

There are no windows; but in their place are four unpleasant slits about two yards in length, let into the thick walls at studiously unequal distances. These are filled up with an opaque substance that perhaps in the Middle Ages was called glass.

There is no grate, and the fire, which has plainly made up its mind not to light, is composed of Yule-logs. The floor is shining with sand, rushes having palled on Lady Lilias.

Mona is quite pleased. All is new, which in itself is a pleasure to her, and the sanded floor, carries her back on the instant to the old parlor at home, which was their "best" at the Farm.

"This is nicer than anything," she says, turning in a state of childish enthusiasm to Lady Lilias. "It is just like the floor in my uncle's house at home."

"Ah! indeed! How interesting!" says Lady Lilias, rousing into something that very nearly borders on animation. "I did not think there was in England another room like this."

"Not in England, perhaps. When I spoke I was thinking of Ireland," says Mona.

Dr. W. S. Hoy, Point Pleasant, W.Va., says: "I have made a thorough test with Scott's Emulsion in Pulmonary Troubles and General Debility, and have been astonished at the good results; for children with Rickets or Marasmus it is unequalled." Put up in 50c. and $1 sizes.

A FEW DOLLARS MIGHT BE SAVED.

It is a positive fact that money is thrown away every week. Why is this? You would imagine any one keen to save money in their purchases and yet they pay prices for goods, that could be bought much cheaper, if bought in the right place.

SHEPPARD

Has Some Very Cheap Goods, his importations for Spring now to hand are fully fifty per cent. cheaper than the same goods has been sold in Peterborough for before. Now if you want LACES go to SHEPPARD'S, or if you want CORSETS in all sizes, starting at 22½ up.

Beautiful BLACK and COLORED HOSE, two pairs for 25 cents.

A Circular Pillow Cotton, cheapest in town. White Cottons and Shirtings marked very low. Don't you buy anything in Spring Goods before making a bee line to Peterborough's Great Cheapside.

SHEPPARD

Give them a Chance.

That is to say, your lungs. Also all your breathing machinery. Very wonderful machinery it is. Not only the larger air-passages, but the thousands of little tubes and cavities leading from them.

When these are clogged and choked with matter which ought not to be there, your lungs cannot half do their work. And what they do, they cannot do well.

Call it cold, cough, pneumonia, catarrh, consumption or any of the family of throat and nose and head and lung obstructions, all are bad. All ought to be got rid of. There is just one sure way to get rid of them. That is to take Boschee's German Syrup, which any druggist will sell you at 75 cents a bottle. Even if everything else has failed you you may depend upon this for certain.

ANIMALS, WILD AND TAME.

Two lumbermen of Lycoming county, Pa., while driving to their work in a sleigh the other night, were pursued for several miles by six wolves, one of which attempted to jump into the sleigh, but was shot.

A man in in Genesco, Ills., saw two mice in his stable. He hastily ran to a neighbors and borrowed a rat terrier. The terrier was thrown in the barrel, and at the first nab took off the head of one of the mice with a crack like breaking a clay pipe. Both the mice were frozen to death.

A farmer near Galena, Ills., saw a large owl sitting on a tree. He got a gun and blazed away, but didn't disturb the owl. His sons and his neighbors tried their skill at shooting with no better result. After all the ammunition on hand had been expended a boy climbed the tree and found that the owl was dead and frozen fast to the limb.

An English firm of pyrotechnists have at their factory a Newfoundland dog which positively revels in fireworks. He rushes into a shower of sparks with as much delight as most of his kind display in a cold bath, and on a lighted squib being thrown within his reach, he will run after the smoldering stump as if it were a bone, and trample it out with his paws.

The Hollencamp family, of Xenia, O., have a pet coon. They also had a lot of chickens, but woke up the other morning to find thirty-two of them stiff in death, with their throats cut and their blood all gone. The coon was about looking sleek and fat and so innocent that the family could not make up their minds whether he was the guilty one or not, and even yet they think it might have been the work of a weasel.

Samuel Wright, of Albany, Ga., for want of something better to pet, devoted his attention to a kitten. He afterward acquired an owl, and housed the two together in the same room, in the hopes of having a nucleus for a happy family. One day he went to look in upon his pets, but was surprised to find the room as silent as the graveyard of some deserted village. Instituting a search, he discovered evidences that the cat had been devoured by the voracious owl, and that his owlship had died of too much cat meat.

Beneath the Hood.

Beneath the hood her eyes were bright—
I shyly watched her where she stood—
Her tresses looked like scraps of night
Beneath the hood.

Such smiles would stir a hermit's blood,
Such lips—like flowers warm with light—
Would quickly melt the iciest mood.

I stole behind her—'twasn't right,
I call it neither wise nor good—
I put propriety to flight
Beneath the hood!
—William H. Hayne in Century.

Why He Never Played.

New York Man—I suppose they play poker a great deal out west?

Denver Man—Quite a bit.

New York Man—Do you play often?

Denver Man—No; I never tried it but once or twice.

New York Man—Why not? Aren't you lucky?

Denver Man—Oh, I'm lucky enough, and I play a pretty strong game, too; but I ain't quick enough with my gun.—Denver Republican.

LAKEFIELD.

Correspondence of the Review.

VILLAGE COUNCIL.—The regular meeting of the village Council was held in the Council Chamber on Monday evening. All the members were present, Reeve Casement in the chair. The minutes of the last meeting were read and confirmed. Communications were read from the Chairman of the Lakefield School Board, asking the council to borrow the sum of $150 and place it at the disposal of the Board to pay salaries and current expenditure; from Chairman Finance Committee, City Council, Brantford, asking that the council forward a petition to the Legislature re the granting of bonuses to municipalities, and from S. Sherin asking that his salary as Treasurer be increased to $50. Moved by Councillor Hull, seconded by Councillor Moore,—That the report of the Road and Sidewalk committee be received, and that the following accounts be paid:—

H. Fitzgerald, gravel	$ 62 50
M. Harrigan "	120 22
W. Harper, rope	2 95
D. Smith, repairing fire engine	3 15
Isaac Watson, wages	41 95
D. Smith, repairs	8 25
H. Fitzgerald, clearing snow	6 00

Moved by Councillor Hull, seconded by Councillor Henderson,—That as the Treasurer has requested an increase in his salary, the council grant him an increase to amount of $40, and that in future it be $40 per year with no extras.—Lost. Moved in amendment by Councillor Nelson, seconded by Councillor Moore,—That Mr. Sherin's salary remain as it is, and that his express charges on money to the bank be allowed.—Carried. Moved by Councillor Hull, seconded by Councillor Moore,—That the clerk be instructed to write to the Indian Department concerning deed of Islands in the river, requesting them to be forwarded as soon as possible.—Carried. Moved by Councillor Henderson, seconded by Councillor Nelson,—That the communication regarding better protection for papers and by-laws be referred to the General Committee, also that the consolidation of the by-laws be referred to same committee.—Carried. Moved by Councillor Hull, seconded by Councillor Moore,—That the recommendation of Committee as regards the names of streets be referred to Councillors Henderson and Nelson, and that they have power to act both as regards opening up Water and River Roads-sts., naming streets and procuring map.—Carried. Moved by Councillor Hull, seconded by Councillor Moore,—That the Clerk ask for tenders for plank and stringers.—Carried. Moved by Councillor Morre, seconded by Councillor Nelson,—That the Road and Sidewalk Committee examine the road across Buckley's Lake and report as soon as possible. Moved by Councillor Henderson, seconded by Councillor Moore,—That the verbal communications of Messrs. Strickland & Booth be received and referred to the Finance Committee, and that they bring in a detailed report on the project at the next meeting.—Carried. Moved by Councillor Hull, seconded by Councillor Henderson,—That the Clerk notify the Railway company that they must make an entrance into Mr. Charlton's on Railway-st., as they are the parties that have caused the inconvenience.—Carried. The Road Committee presented the following report:—

To the Municipal Council of the Village of Lakefield:

GENTLEMEN,—Your Road and Sidewalk Committee beg leave to make the following report. Regarding the request of the deputation from the Douro Council, asking for assistance in the construction of a certain road over Buckley Lake, your Committee would recommend that this Council take no action in the matter at present. We would also suggest for your consideration the advisability of procuring a proper map of the corporation with the streets properly named, and not have two or three streets with the same name or two or three names for one street. We would also suggest that the Clerk be instructed to obtain quotations for plank and stringers, plank to be 1½ and 2 inches thick; also for plank ten inches in width, for any new sidewalks that may have to be built. Your Committee would suggest to your consideration the opening of River Road-st. and Water-st.; and to instruct the Clerk to have a by-law prepared to be submitted at the next meeting, for the opening of said streets.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

S. HENDERSON,
Chairman.

Moved by Councillor Hull, seconded by Councillor Moore,—That the report be adopted. The Finance Committee submitted the following report:—

To the Municipal Council of the Village of Lakefield:

GENTLEMEN,—Your Finance Committee beg to report that up to and including the regular meeting in February last, the expenditure was as follows:—

Salaries	$ 79 25
Election expenses	16 00
Postage	1 00
Cartage	9 25
Fire Dept	13 71
Lumber and plank	156 63
Wages	168 24
Gravel	16 40
Stone	177 18
Legal expenses	15 00
Supplies	30 84
Snow plough	11 50
Teaming	17 50
Clearing snow	30 75
Auditors	8 00
Total	$733 97

Of the above amount, $362.19 was paid by the old council, the balance, $151.78, was paid by the present. Balance in Treasurer's hands, $123.77. Of the $600 received from the Government by the old council for damages to certain streets caused by raising the dam here, $375.25 has been expended on the streets, viz: Water-st., breakwater, $265.38; Smith-st., $35.93; George-st., $33.18; Hague-st., $21.25; Park-st. $19. The discharge given by the Council of last year calls for the expenditure of the $600 on the above named streets. Your committee estimate that the sum of $350 will be required to meet current expenditure, and they would recommend that the sum of $350 be borrowed for that purpose; also $150 for School purposes, as requested by the School Board. One of the Treasurer's sureties, Mr. W. J. Wallace, has been absent from this country for upwards of a year. The Government have not yet forwarded deed for the two Islands opposite Mr. Gordon's shop, paid for August 12th, 1884. Your committee would recommend that some protection against fire be provided for the books, paper, &c., belonging to the municipality. The following by-laws are in force and your committee recommend that they be consolidated and printed:—No. 9. To prohibit fast driving, profane language, &c.; No. 18. To license transient traders; No. 22. Livery stables; No. 31. To restrain certain animals running at large; No. 33. To license trading on public streets; No. 34. To license butchers; No. 103. To prohibit the obstruction of the streets and sidewalks; No. 109. To amend by-law No. 9; No. 110. To make provision for the better protection from fire; No. 113. To amend by-law No. 103; No. 122. To provide for the preservation of order and suppressing of nuisances; No. 124. To amend by-law No. 110 for the better protection from fire.

JOHN HULL,
Chairman.

On motion of Councillor Henderson, seconded by Councillor Nelson, the report was adopted. By-law No. 135 to borrow money for current expenditure ($500) received its several readings, passed and was sealed and signed by the Reeve and Clerk. The Council then adjourned.

NEW FLANNEL MILL.—Messrs. Booth & Co. appeared before the Council at its meeting on Monday and stated that the new Flannel Mill was ready to receive the machinery, but they found that they were not in a position to buy the machinery, which would cost $6,000, as doing so would more than absorb their working capital, but that they were in a position to make the following proposition to the Council:—That if the Council would loan them (B. & Co.) their debentures to the extent of $6,000 payable in 15 years then they (B. & Co.) would undertake to give the Council a first mortgage on the property and machinery to secure the payment of the debentures, interest and sinking fund, and would agree to insure the property in favor of the Council to the extent of the loan. The debentures would not be required until the machinery was placed, and the factory in running order.

BUILDING BOOM.—Mr. James McDonald is building a frame house to be occupied by himself and family. Mr. Orlando Rodgers is building a large wing to his house, and putting the main portion of the house in thorough repair.

BIBLE SOCIETY.—The Bible Society committee met in Mr. J. C. Sherin's office on Tuesday night for the transaction of business.

THROWN OUT.—A reverend gentleman has an irreverent stepper. This irreverent stepper upset the reverend gentleman on Sunday last, and left his reverence sitting on a snow bank, while he (the stepper) went home in a hurry to his oats.

OBIT.—Bridget Freeborne, probably the oldest person in the township of Smith, died at her sons residence on the 14th Con. of Smith, on Saturday morning, the 10 Inst. The funeral took place on Monday afternoon. The deceased was ninety-four years of age.

PERSONAL.—Mrs. Le Fevre went to Toronto on Tuesday last to spend two or three weeks with her friends.

REAL ESTATE PURCHASE.—Mr. Wm. Stabler has bought a home in the village from Mrs. Dr. Bell, and has moved into the village. Price paid, $700.

WILL CONTINUE.—Negotiations having fallen through between Miss Ennis and Miss Carvett, Miss Ennis will continue the millinery business at the old stand on Queen-st.

RUNAWAY.—Mr. Cockburn's team ran away on Monday last near Mr. Jas. Jury's. Mr. C. was left with his sheep on a snow bank, while the horses made lively time as far as Mr. LeFevre's place, where they were stopped. The sleigh was badly smashed, but the horses were not hurt.

SCHOOL BOARD.—A special meeting of the School Board was held in the Council Chamber on Monday evening, a short time before the Council met. All the members were present except Mr. Abbott; Mr. Gordon in the chair. The minutes of the previous meeting were read and confirmed. There was no report from the Head Master, he not knowing the Board would meet one day before the regular meeting. Moved by Mr. W. M. Graham and seconded by Mr. R. Q. Dench,—That the communication of Alex. Marling in reference to J. D. Graham's account be received, and that W. H. Casement's account for seat ends, etc., to the amount of $20.31 be received, and an order be drawn on the Treasurer for the same.—Carried. Moved by Mr. Geo. Cochrane and seconded by Mr. W. M. Graham,—That we ask the Council to borrow for the use of the School Board the sum of one hundred and fifty dollars.—Carried. Moved by Mr. D. Smith and seconded by Mr. Geo. Cochrane,—That the account of Josiah Bullock for 17¾ cords of wood be received, and an order drawn on Treasurer for same.—Carried. Moved by R. Q. Dench and seconded by Mr. W. M. Graham,—That this board do now adjourn.

Give them a Chance.

That is to say, your lungs. Also all your breathing machinery. Very wonderful machinery it is. Not only the larger air-passages, but the thousands of little tubes and cavities leading from them.

When these are clogged and choked with matter which ought not to be there, your lungs cannot half do their work. And what they do, they cannot do well.

Call it cold, cough, pneumonia, catarrh, consumption or any of the family of throat and nose and head and lung obstructions, all are bad. All ought to be got rid of. There is just one sure way to get rid of them. That is to take Boschee's German Syrup, which any druggist will sell you at 75 cents a bottle. Even if everything else has failed you you may depend upon this for certain.

WHOLE FAMILY POISONED.

By Drinking Freely of Fresh Buttermilk.

DETROIT, March 24.—Out on Wesson avenue, live August Balske, a laboring man, his wife and five small children. Monday night the father, mother and three children were poisoned from drinking buttermilk, and the mother and two of the children were thought to be dying yesterday. The milk was purchased from Mrs. Wm. Sokolofski, on Joe-st, a Polish woman, who has but one cow. After returning from his work, Balske sent his oldest girl over to the Sokolofski house to see if they had some fresh buttermilk. Mrs. Sokolofski said she had churned this afternoon, and sold the girl three quarts of the fluid. That evening friends of the Balske family called in and drank of it. About an hour afterward they were all taken with fainting spells, and when Dr. A. Bryan called a half hour later, he found every one who had tasted the milk deathly sick, and several were unconscious. Antidotes were administered, and it was nearly morning before the physician and two assistants could bring the mother and the three children out of their comatose state. Samples of the buttermilk and butter were taken to the milk inspector.

Mrs. Sokolofski was found at her house, a small 8x10 shanty on Joe-st. She can speak no English. Through an interpreter she said that she always keeps her milk in earthen dishes, and that the churn was a wooden one. Last Monday afternoon she made three pounds of butter, and nearly all of the buttermilk she sold to the Balske family. "Our cow," she continued, "calved three weeks ago to-morrow, and last Wednesday we sold the calf to the butcher. We began using the milk in the house when the calf was two days old."

Dr. Bryan and Health Officer Duffield are of the opinion that the cream was kept in a warm room, and the poisonous substance came from an "unnatural fermentance." Such cases are on record, but this one is the first occuring in Detroit. Mrs. Wm. Summerfelds and her little girl are also sick in bed form drinking the buttermilk. Those at the house who did not drink the buttermilk were not taken sick.

Killed by a Boiler Explosion.

MCALLISTER, I. T., March 14.—A terrible casuality occurred at Kavanagh, in the Choctaw Nation yesterday, the boiler in Tucker's sawmill exploding and killing one man instantly, while ten others were injured so severely that their recovery is doubtful. The sawmill is a large one, and as its proprietor does an extensive business, furnishes employment for nearly twenty men. They had finished their morning's work and were sitting together eating lunch when the explosion took place. William Paterson, the fifteen year old son of James Paterson, the engineer, was blown through the roof of the building and his body torn to fragments, his head being found nearly thirty feet away, while a portion of his body was carried some distance in the other direction. The boy's father was blown against a lumber pile, which, falling upon him, crushed his arms and limbs, inflicting injuries of which he cannot recover. The other employes were at some distance from the boiler room and were struck by the pieces of flying debris. Geo Walker was badly cut about the head, but will undoubtedly recover.

Hotel in Oshawa Burned.

OSHAWA, March 14.—The Commercial Hotel here was burned between three and four o'clock this morning. The hotel was discovered to be on fire in the east end of the upper storey. The alarm was quickly give, but the building being frame, and in such a howling gale, it was soon a mass of flames and wasina short time reduced to ashes. The boarders was unable to get all their things out and a considerable portion of their effects were consumed, together with a large portion of the furniture of the hotel. If the wind had been from the west or northwest nothing could have saved the principal block of the town. The hotel was owned by Mr. Eastword, of Whitby, brother of the doctor, and was insured for $2,300, Mr. Wood had his furniture insured.

To Improve the Erie Canal.

ALBANY, March 14.—A number of prominent men of this city assembled in the mayor's office yesterday afternoon, in answer to an invitation to consider the wisest course to pursue in order to impress the legislature with the interests of the people of this state, in the improvement of the Erie canal as proposed in the Cantor Gallagher bill now before the legislature, appropriating $1,000,000 for that purpose. It was agreed to call a mass meeting of the business men of the state and to invite Roscoe Conkling, John F. Seymour, Sherman S. Rogers, Henry G. Borlan, Smith M. Weed, Francis Kernan and J. Dowling to address the meeting. It will be held at an early date.

For An Almost Forgotten Crime.

DENVER, Col., March 14.—Sheriff Stoddard, of Rice county, Kansas, arrived here yesterday with requisitions from the governor of Kansas for the arrest of A. C. Myers and Frank West, charged with the murder of Richibald Duglas, a stock man a Lyons, Kan., twelve years ago. The accused are two of the most prominent and wealthy citizens of Durango, Col., both having families and being connected with churches. The sheriff left this morning to make the arrests.

The extraordinary popularity of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral is the natural result of its use by all classes of people for over 40 years. It has proven itself the very best specific for colds, coughs, and pulmonary complaints.

THURSDAY, MARCH 15, 1888.

RECIPROCITY.

Canada has more than once taken steps to renew the reciprocity treaty with the United States, but has not succeeded because the United States refused to again be a party to a reciprocal arrangement. After the abrogation of the former treaty Sir Alexander Galt, on behalf of Canada, made overtures to United States, but they were rejected. Between that time and the appointment of the Joint Commission that negotiated the Washington Treaty other efforts were made, but resulted in failure, and it was only after the United States commissioners had refused to negotiate regarding the fisheries on the bassis of reciprocal trade relations that the arrangement regarding the fisheries embodied in that treaty were made. In 1874 the Hon. George Brown went to Washington, and although a treaty was negotiated with the Government, it was killed by the Senate. The present Government in 1879 placed on the statutes an offer to reciprocate, but the United States made no move in that direction. At the recent fisheries conference the British Commissioners made the following proposal:—

"That with the view of removing al causes of difference in connection with the fisheries, it is proposed by Her Majesty's plenipotentiaries that the fishermen of both countries shall have all the privileges enjoyed during the existence of the fishery articles of the Treaty of Washington, in consideration of a mutual arrangement providing for greater freedom of commercial intercourse between the United States and Canada and Newfoundland."

The Opposition press had urged that the British Commissioners should make just such a proposal and they professed to know that it would be accepted. The offer as made left it open for the United States to propose commercial union, unrestricted reciprocity, reciprocity in natural products or any such scheme that they desired; but they refused point blank to treat on that basis at all and the British or Canadian proposal was again rejected. Yet Sir Richard Cartwright would have the Canadian Parliament, so soon after this rebuff, again approach the United States. Sir Richard should remember his own words, spoken in 1878, when he said:—

"They say we must have reciprocity and we cannot live without it. For the Dominion of Canada I take exception to that statement. While reciprocity is desirable, we are not in such a state of subjection to the United States that we cannot live without it. We have men and ships, and 'will carry the war into Africa.' We will find new markets for ourselves, and cut them out. There is nothing better calculated to prevent the bringing about of reciprocity than to tell the Americans we cannot live without them. It would induce them to believe that they had the power to drive us to their own terms."

Their own terms would be actual or practical annexation, and Canada would accept neither. This country, and its present Government, is still prepared to enter into a fair reciprocity treaty, but while the United States refuses to do so nothing can be done. When that country desires such an arrangement Canada will consider it, of which it has given sufficient evidence, but the United States has not shown—in fact, the indications, such as the reply of Secretary Bayard and his colleagues, are stongly otherwise—that it accept even commercial union, which would be favourable to it and unjust to Canada.

That able and trustworthy newspaper, the Montreal Gazette, has been enlarged, has donned a new dress of type and has added a new fast Hoe press to its mechanical department. Its appearance is improved by the change, and it remains, as before, at the front in the list of Montreal newspapers for news, general, local and commercial, and for political information.

Advice to Mothers.

Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup should always be used when children are cutting teeth It relieves the little suffer at once; it produces natural, quiet sleep by relieving the child from pain, and the little cherub awakes as bright as a button." It is very pleasant to taste. It soothes the child, softens the gums, allays all pain, relieves wind, regulates the bowels, and is the best known remedy for diarrhœa whether arising from teething or otherecauses 25 cents a bottle. Be sure and ask for "Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup," and take no other kind.

ENNISMORE.

Correspondence of the Review.

Month's Mind Service.—The Month's Mind service for the repose of the soul of the late Mrs. Eugene Moloney was celebrated with great solemnity in St. Martin's Church, Ennismore, on Wednesday, March 6th. Vicar-General Brown, of Port Hope, was present, accompanied by Rev. Fathers McEvay, of Peterborough, Kelly, of Ennismore, Connolly, of Downeyville, Sweeny, of Bronly, O'Brien, of Fenelon Falls, McCloskey, of Victoria Road, and McGuire, of Bracebridge. The Requiem Mass was chanted by Rev. Father McCloskey, and a sermon with especial reference to the deceased was preached by Rev. Father McEvay, Rector of the Cathedral and Chancellor of the Diocese. The rev. gentleman passed his boyhood days in Ennismore where everybody loves and respects him. We must not omit to mention that over two hundred people went to confession and communion on the sad and solemn occasion. It is no wonder that Catholics love their priests.

LAKEFIELD.

From our own Correspondent.

Chautauqua.—The Chautauqua class will hold their next meeting at Mrs. Henderson's on Tuesday evening, 27th of March. Subject to be taken up, "Longfellow's Poems." Mr. Wes. Sherin is to read an essay on the foregoing subject. Music provided.

Houses Wanted.—The following is an item clipped from the Lakefield correspondence of the Examiner. Your correspondent might just add that during the last two weeks about twenty different parties were looking for houses and none could be supplied. Mr. R. C. Strickland talks of building ten good houses and Mr. McDonald thinks of building two or three, all this summer. Let some more monied men do likewise and the much felt want will be supplied, and our village will derive the benefit of the increased population:—"If there is one thing Lakefield wants more than another it is increased house accommodation. Scarcely a day passes that you do not hear of parties inquiring for houses to rent, only to be told there are no empty houses in the village; so that they have to go elsewhere, and we lose in many instances those who would make desirable citizens. When the mill and the new woollen factory are started there will be still more urgent need of house room, which it will be impossible to fill unless some of our monied men turn their attention to building the class of houses required. It speaks well for Lakefield that such should be the case, and proves that our village is progressing in many ways, while its natural advantages also make it a desirable home for those who have means to live independent of business cares."

The Exigencies of a Canadian Winter.

The poet who longed "for the days of good Queen Bess, when the floors were strewed with rushes," had narrow ideas of comfort. If he had to put up with the vicissitudes of a Canadian winter on a corn-stock floor his sentiments would be liable to revision—and that speedily. One week's experience would drive him to the golden lion where neat and handsome carpets are readily procurable, and at a wide range of quality and price. Not only carpets but lace curtains, with portiers in raw silk cheniele and tapestry. 'Rah for the golden lion, the arbitrator in housefurnishings and all necessary equipment.

The Debate at Lindsay.

This afternoon three members of the Young Men's Christian Association, including the Secretary, go to Lindsay to debate with a similar number of members of the Association of that town the question, "Resolved, that the right to vote at elections for members of the Dominion Parliament and Provincial Legislature should be extended to women." Mr. J. R. Dundas, ex-M.P., of Lindsay, will preside. The Harmony Male Quartette and Mr. Dixon, ventriloquist, will accompany the debaters and furnish additional entertainment. The Peterborough debaters are resolved to do their best on behalf of the ladies, but as the Lindsay side includes good speakers they do not feel over confident, by any means.

Curliana.

Two rinks from Millbrook swooped up on the 5.15 train on Wednesday evening and after playing they returned home on the 8.50 train. The Millbrook men are only new players and although the Peterborough rinks were not by any means the strongest that the club can turn out, the foreigners had to succumb. The visitors however only came up to get a few pointers as to how the game should be played and our boys did their best to show them the different shots and how to make them. The following was the score:—

Peterborough wins by 26 shots.

On Tuesday next a rink of Lindsay juniors will play at the Lansdowne Rink.

Three rinks under Skips Judge Weller, Thomas Rutherford and T. P. Attrill left for the east this morning. They will play Belleville and Campbellford at the latter place.

To while away the time on Wednesday afternoon a rink composed of Messrs. D. Belleghem, Jno. McClelland, Thos. Rutherford and T. P. Attrill, skip, played a game with two Toronto Granites and two Montreal Thistles. The home men won an easy victory by a score of 20 to 3. These outsiders generally find their match when they tackle Peterborough players, but in this case it must be said on behalf of the foreigners that they never played together before.

Messrs. Jno. Burnham and John Stanger played off their draw in the 13 point game yesterday afternoon. The latter won.

The Fire Hydrants.

The Water Company are having considerable difficulty with the fire hydrants as well as the private water services this season. All the hydrants are inspected every day and if the least sign of freezing is detected the steamer is brought into requisition and the trouble soon remedied. The private services which were laid in tanbark are giving very little trouble and it is probable that during the summer all those, not already laid in it, will be.

Transient Traders.

Of late Peterborough has not been very much troubled with transient traders, but some of the neighbouring towns have. A bill is now before the Ontario Legislature, introduced by Mr. T. D. Craig, M.P.P., Port Hope, dealing with this matter. It provides that transient traders before being allowed to begin operations, will have to make a deposit in cash. If they remain long enough to pay taxes this deposit is to be applied on tax account; if not, it is to be retained as license.

The Chancery Sittings.

The Spring Sittings of the Court of Chancery commence to-morrow at the Court House. Mr. Justice Ferguson will preside. There is only one case set down for hearing, that of the Canada Company vs. Rubidge, an action for ejectment from premises in the Township of Smith. Messrs. Murray, Barwick and Macdonnell, Toronto, are the plaintiff's solicitors, and Mr. F. D. Moore, of Lindsay, solicitor for the defendant.

Ingersoll Answered.

The Bismarck Tribune says:—"That Eli Perkins is a success as a humorous and philosophical lecturer none who have heard him can doubt, and it is with the pleasure that the Tribune proclaims his excellencies. Mr. Perkins separates wit from humor, and shows that while humor is the plain and faithful portrayal of the truth, wit is higher and more admirable as it is the blossom of humor through the creative genius of the mind. In his word pictures Mr. Perkins is vivid and true, and in his mirth-provoking climaxes he has no superior. He gives the most natural and convincing illustrations of the various causes of laughter, from the tiresome syllogism of ancient humorists to the clean-cut conundrum and startling paradox of the present day. Those who go to hear Mr. Perkins may expect to hear a lecture which is not only humorous and witty, but which is filled with solid, irrefutable argument and original illustrations. His answer to Ingersoll is too good for criticism. It must be heard to be enjoyed." Eli Perkins will deliver a lecture on the "Philosophy of Wit and Humor" at the Opera House on the evening of Friday, March 23rd.

FAREWELL SUPPER.

Mr. Robert Hamilton Entertained at Chamberlain's Restaurant.

Mr. Robert Hamilton, who left for San Francisco, California, this morning, was highly esteemed by his fellow-workmen and his acquaintances. We previously recorded the fact the Oddfellows—he being Noble Grand of Peterborough Lodge—presented him with a gold watch, and on Wednesday evening his fellow-employees of the Wm. Hamilton Manufacturing Company entertained him at a supper at Chamberlain's restaurant.

There were about thirty present, and Mr. J. Fraser presided.

After the excellent supper provided had been partaken of, the toast list was taken up. The first toast was, as usual, "The Queen," and it was duly honored.

"The Dominion Parliament and Legislature," followed, and in the absence of members of these bodies Mr. D. H. Moore responded.

"The Army and Navy" having been toasted, Messrs. Wm. Smith and J. B. Hauley responded.

"The Mayor and Corporation" was honored, followed by "Our Sister Manufactures," the latter toast being acknowledged by Messrs. Mulligan McKim, and Fanning.

"Our Guest" was proposed by the Chairman, who voiced the feelings of respect and esteem which all felt for him.

Mr. Hamilton, in responding, feelingly returned thanks for the honor they had done him, and for their good wishes. He hoped that, if any of his comrades should visit the part of the world to which he was going, he would be able to make it as pleasant for them as they had for him here.

Mr. Donovan sang "The Pitcher of Beer," the company joining in the spirited chorus.

"The Press," was toasted, and the honor acknowledged by Mr. Allison.

Mr. Callaghan gave a song, "Money," and the "Trent Valley Canal" was toasted, the work in this undertaking having supplied the Hamilton foundry with considerable work. Messrs. Evans and Hickey responded.

Mr. John Cheer sang "Jemima," and Mr. Callaghan "My Little Stock and Barn."

"The Ladies" was the next toast, and Messrs. Smith, Cheer and Scott gallantly replied for them.

"The Manager of the Works" was drunk in a manner which showed that Mr. Hamilton is highly esteemed by the men.

Mr. Wm. Bowman sang a humorous song.

"The Babies" were honored with a toast, and Messrs. McKim, Hawkins, Matthieson and McMullen, responded for the little ones.

The toast of "Our Guests" was drunk, and Messrs. Moore, McMillan, Allison and Mulligan responded.

Messrs. Emmerson and Evans took the opportunity to say a good word for the guest, Mr. Hamilton, whose departure they regretted.

Messrs. Donovan, McMullen and Fanning sang songs.

"The Host and Hostess" were honored, and Mr. Bowman responded and also sung another song.

The company dispersed at an early hour, sorry to part—especially with Mr. Hamilton, who took with him the best wishes of all.

THE BLOCKADE RAISED.

The Canadian Pacific and Grand Trunk Lines Clear.

The railway blockade which has existed since Monday has been raised and trains are on the way to and from Toronto.

The Canadian Pacific has had a little army of men at work on the immense drift between here and Toronto, which has blocked the traffic, assisted by snow ploughs, and their efforts were successful at about noon to-day. Trains are able to move and one from Toronto will arrive sometime this afternoon.

The Grand Trunk line between Lindsay and Toronto has also given employment to a large number of men in the efforts made to free the track of the snow and ice. At about one o'clock the line was declared clear, and an hour later the mixed started from here to Toronto, and another train left the other end, and is on the way down. Thus the blockade is raised.

BLOCKADE NOTES.

A special train on the Grand Trunk left here at 6.15 o'clock last evening for Port Hope, where connection was made with the east and west bound trains on the main line. Nearly all the snow bound passengers left on it.

The G. T. R. snow plough left the track near Goodwood, between Uxbridge and Toronto, last evening and further complicated the work of clearing the track.

A telegram says that some of the drifts in the neighborhood of Uxbridge were fifteen feet deep, but a large force of men with the assistance of the ploughs accomplished good work in tunneling through them.

Farmers from Monaghan and other neighboring townships inform us that the drifts are the worst they ever saw, and in some localities the roads are impassible The county stages are all delayed, and some of them have been cancelled until the roads are fit to travel on.

This blockade sets people thinking, and many stories are told of the time when we only had one railway. In those days blockades were of frequent occurence, and little was thought of them but now if a man's mail matter is a few hours late he stamps and fumes at a great rate.

A train went down to Port Hope this morning at 6.30, over the Grand Trunk, to make connection for Toronto. Thirty-four passengers for that city went on the train, including two for New York, and another for the other side of the line.

No letters have been received at the post office here from Montreal since Monday.

A large mail was brought up from Port Hope this morning, including Wednesday's Toronto mail, but the direct eastern mail was not received up to three o'clock.

The Grand Junction trains still boom along on time.

St. Patrick's Eve Concert.

Parties holding reserved seat tickets C. M. B. A. Concert and Lecture, on the 16th inst., are requested to get their seats marked at Sailsbury Bros.' store. The regular ushers at the Opera House have been engaged, so that there shall be no confusion. 2d63

Brevities

—There were no cases at the Police Court this morning.

—The West Riding Farmers' Institute is in session at Lakefield to-day.

—Wood is still coming in. There were several loads on the market this morning.

—A case is set down for hearing at the Police Court to-morrow and another for Monday.

—A man with a machine for making mats illustrated how it worked on the streets to-day.

—Saturday will be St. Patrick's Day. The celebration, by a concert and lecture, will be on the previous evening.

—The National W. C. T. U. have named from March 18th to 23rd as a week of prayer, and asks that it be observed by all local branches.

—Mr. H. Corby, of Belleville, is the Conservative candidate in West Hastings, and Dr. Day, of Trenton, the Liberal candidate, Mr. Riggar having declided.

—The Norwood Oddf ellows hada concert on Tuesday night, but will hold another—or the second part of it—next week, when they expect the Peterborough contingent.

—A District Assembly of the Knights of Labor was organized at Belleville on Tuesday. Delegates were present from Prescott, Cornwall, Napanee, Gananoque and Belleville.

—A meeting of the East Riding Farmers' Institute will be held at Keene on Friday, March 23rd. A number of speakers will be present, and music will be provided in the evening.

—The amount expended by Canadian railways each winter keeping their tracks free from snow, reaches a very large sum. The Grand Trunk paid out in round numbers during 1887 for clearing snow $109,945, and the Canadian Pacific, for the same period, some $75,000.

NORWOOD.

Correspondence of the Review.

CHEESE MEETING.—A meeting of the patrons of the Norwood cheese factory was held in the town hall, on March 10th. The following officers were appointed for the current y:—W. G. Paterson, President; Wm. Buck, Salesman and Treasurer, and Geo. Scott, M. Hannan, C. Nicol, J. Murphy, D. Campbell and T. O'Shea, Board of Directors. It was also carried that H. Spence make the cheese for 2 cents per pound, upon the same terms as last year, and that the patrons be divided into 6 shares, and each party to have a certain day in the week as the directors may agree upon.

PARLOR SOCIAL.—The Baptists are making every preparation to entertain their friends at the social to be held at the residence of the Rev. Mr. Peer, on Friday (St. Patricks day.)

NEARLY A BLAZE.—The main corner narrowly escaped destruction on Friday last. It seems the shed used for storing coal oil, &c., in rear of the Mullin's block, took fire from the ash house adjoining. When discovered it was within a few inches of a barrel of coal oil on tap. Had it occurred in the night the whole corner would likely have gone.

IN A TIGHT PLACE.—A Belmont lumberman got his team stuck with a heavy load of lumber at the grist mill crossing on Saturday, just as the express was pulling out of the station. Fortunately the engineer saw the trouble in time to stop. The frantic efforts of the teamster to get the load off the track was quite exciting.

A CORRECTION.—Mr. James Cummings, proprietor of the woollen mill here, desires us to state that the article appearing in Saturday's REVIEW in reference to woollen mills should have read Mr. John Cummings, formerly of Norwood, instead of Cummings Bros. The first named gentleman sold his interest in the Norwood factory some time back, to the present proprietor, who has since bought the real estate and plant from Mr. Buck. Mr. C. does not care to have the impression go abroad that he is leaving Norwood.

ODDFELLOW'S CONCERT.—The terrific storm and snow blockade on Tuesday rather depressed the ardour of those having charge of the decorations for the Oddfellows concert However, when all hope that the Peterborough gentlemen would be on hand was abandoned, the committee with commendable alacrity began to look around for some one to fill their places on the programme. Miss Pringle cheerfully consented to fill Mr. Baguley's with a couple of instrumental pieces, but Dr. Bell's and Mr. Roy's could not be filled, as nobody here could lecture on Oddfellowship and ledgerdemain is also out of the citizen's line, except at election times. The decorations reflected credit upon the good taste and artistic skill of the management. Festoons of flags hung from each corner to the centre, also festoons across the building. Each side of the stage was beautifully curtained, and a large arch was erected in the centre. Immediately over the stage, in large letters, hung the motto "Love, Friendship and Truth," and over the entrance door at the other end the words. "Canada Our Home." Interspersed with the other decorations were large oil paintings, of weird and mysterious subjects, emblems of the Order (I suppose), which gave the whole an impressive appearance. At the close of the programme, which was well rendered throughout, the presiding officer, Dr. Pettigrew, asked Mr. Bewell to address the audience. In response Mr. B. announced that the other part of the entertainment would be given next week. He did not think the audience could get to understand the meaning of all those pictures in one night, therefore he cordially invited them to come again some night next week, when Dr. Bell would enlighten them. He explained that Oddfellowship required to be understood to be appreciated. He hoped, therefore, that quite a number of the male portion of the audience would see their way to joining the order. Several other gentlemen were asked to speak, but they did not care to take the platform and the audience did not want to hear them from the middle of the hall, consequently they were all in turn clapped down. The chairman in closing cordially thanked those who so kindly stepped into the breach and contributed so largely to the success of the evening. Referring to Mr. Bewell's remarks about men joining the lodge, he explained (as he looked admiringly up at a large painting of Rebecca at the well,) that as the goat was properly broken to side saddle they were intending to start a Rebecca lodge here, so that the ladies could join. A most enjoyable evening was brought to a close by the band playing the National Athem.

THE best teacher in the Collegiate Institute says he has not had a cold this winter. And the reason is because he wears a pair of KIDD'S waterproof boots, and it is true too.

The Worth of a Man

To his business—his estate—is the measure of his need of Life Insurance, because he ceases to be worth anything to it when he dies Other brains must direct and other hands perform—if they can—what was formerly directed and done by brain and hands that will be but dust. And as every one works for himself and for his own, even if the work is well done, it is done for the doer and no for the dead. All a man is worth to his business or his estate, is therefore a dead loss when he dies—unless his life is insured. The man who rates his own ability high ought, for this reason, to insure his life for a large amount.

A Famous Doctor

Once said that the secret of good health consisted in keeping the head cool, the feet warm, and the bowels open. Had this eminent physician lived in our day, and known the merits of Ayer's Pills as an aperient, he would certainly have recommended them, as so many of his distinguished successors are doing.

The celebrated Dr. Farnsworth, of Norwich, Conn., recommends Ayer's Pills as the best of all remedies for "Intermittent Fevers."

Dr. I. E. Fowler, of Bridgeport, Conn., says: "Ayer's Pills are highly and universally spoken of by the people about here. I make daily use of them in my practice."

Dr. Mayhew, of New Bedford, Mass., says: "Having prescribed many thousands of Ayer's Pills, in my practice, I can unhesitatingly pronounce them the best cathartic in use."

The Massachusetts State Assayer, Dr. A. A. Hayes, certifies: "I have made a careful analysis of Ayer's Pills. They contain the active principles of well-known drugs, isolated from inert matter, which plan is, chemically speaking, of great importance to their usefulness. It insures activity, certainty, and uniformity of effect. Ayer's Pills contain no metallic or mineral substance, but the virtues of vegetable remedies in skillful combination."

MONA SCULLY;

—OR—

The Bride of an Englishman.

A STORY OF THESE TIMES.

"Yes," with calm surprise. "I—I have heard of Ireland, of course. Indeed, I regard the older accounts of it as very deserving of thought; but I had no idea the more elevated aspirations of modern times had spread so far. So this room reminds you of your uncle's?"

"Partly," says Mona. "Not altogether; there was always a faint odor of pipes about Uncle Brian's room that does not belong to this."

"Ah! Tobacco! First introduced by Sir Walter Raleigh," murmurs Lady Lilias, musingly. "Too modern, but no doubt correct and in keeping. Your uncle, then,"—looking at Mona,—"is beyond question an earnest student of our faith."

"A—student?" says Mona, in a degree puzzled.

Doatie and Geoffrey have walked to a distant slit; Nolly is gazing vacantly through another, trying feebly to discern the landscape beyond. Lady Rodney is on thorns. They are all listening to what Mona is going to say next.

"Yes. A disciple, a searcher after truth," goes on Lady Lilias, in her Noah's Ark tone. "By a student I mean one who studies, and arrives at perfection—in time."

"I don't quite know," says Mona, slowly, "but what Uncle Brian principally studies is—pigs!"

"Pigs!" repeats Lady Lilias, plainly taken aback.

"Yes; pigs!" says Mona, sweetly.

There is a faint pause,—so faint that Lady Rodney is unable to edge in the saving clause she would fain have uttered. Lady Lilias, recovering with wonderful spirit from so severe a blow, comes once more boldly to the front.—She taps her white taper fingers lightly on the table near her, and says, apologetically,—the apology being meant for herself,—

"Forgive me that I showed surprise. Your uncle is more advanced than I had supposed. He is right. Why should a pig be esteemed less lovely than a stag? Nature in its entirety can know no blemish. The fault lies with us. We are creatures of habit; we have chosen to regard the innocent pig as a type of ugliness for generations, and now find it difficult to see any beauty in it."

"Well; there isn't much, is there?", says Mona, pleasantly.

"No doubt education, and a careful study of the animal in question, might betray much to us," says Lady Lilias. "We object to the uncovered hide of the pig, and to his small eyes; but can they not see as well as those of the fawn, or the delicate lap-dog we fondle on our knees? It is unjust that one animal should be treated with less regard than another."

"But you couldn't fondle a pig on your knees," says Mona, who is growing every minute more and more mixed.

"No, no; but it should be treated with courtesy. We were speaking of the size of its eyes. Why should they be despised? Do we not often in our ignorance and narrow-mindedness cling to paltry things and ignore the truly great? The tiny diamond that lies in the hollow of our hands is dear and precious in our sight, whilst we fail to find beauty in the huge boulder that is after all far more worthy of regard, with its lights and shades, its grand ruggedness, and the soft vegetable matter that decks its aged sides, rendering their roughness beautiful."

Here she gets completely out of her depths, and stops to consider from whence this train of thought sprung. The pig is forgotten,—indeed, to get from pigs to diamonds and back again is not an easy matter,—and has to be searched for again amidst the dim recesses of her brain, and if possible brought to the surface.

She draws up her tall figure to its utmost height, and gazes at the raftered ceiling to see if inspiration can be drawn from thence. But it fails her.

"You were talking of pigs," says Mona, gently.

"Ah! so I was," says Lady Lilias, with a sigh of relief; she is quite too intense to feel any of the petty vexations of ordinary mortals, and takes Mona's help in excellent part. "Yes, I really think there is loveliness in a pig when surrounded by its offspring. I have seen them once or twice, and I think the little pigs—the—the——"

"Bonuvs," says Mona, mildly, going back naturally to the Irish term for those interesting babies.

"Eh?" says Lady Lilias.

"Bonuvs," Mona, a little louder, at wh[illegible]dney sinks into a chair, as though utterly overcome. Nolly and Geoffrey are convulsed with laughter. Doatie is vainly endeavoring to keep them in order.

"Oh, that is their name?—a pretty one too—if—er—somewhat difficult," says Lady Lilias, courteously. "Well, as I was saying, in spite of their tails, they really are quite pretty."

At this Mona laughs unrestrainedly; and Lady Rodney, rising hurriedly, says,—

"Dear Lady Lilias, I think we have at last nearly taken in nearly all the beauties of your charming room. I fear," with much suavity, "we must be going."

"Oh, not yet," says Lady Lilias, with the dearest attempt at cordialness she has yet made. "Mrs. Rodney has not half seen all my treasures."

Mrs. Rodney, however, has been foraging on her own account during this brief interlude, and now brings triumphantly to light a little basin filled with early snowdrops.

"Snowdrops—and so soon," she says, going up to Lady Lilias, and looking quite happy over her discovery. "We have none yet at the Towers."

"Yes, they are pretty but insignificant," says the Æsthetic, contemptuously. "Paltry children of the earth, not to be compared with the lenten or tiger lily, or the fiercer beauty of the sunflower, or the hues of the unsurpassable thistle."

"I am very ignorant, I know," says Mrs. Geoffrey, with her sunny smile, "but I think I should prefer a snowdrop to a thistle."

"You have not gone into it," says Lady Lilias, regretfully. "To you Nature is as yet a blank. The exquisite purple of the stately thistle, that by the scoffer is called dull, is not understood by you. Nor does your heart swell beneath the influence of the rare and perfect green of its leaves, which doubtless the untaught deemed soiled. To fully appreciate the yieldings and gifts of earth is a power given only to some." She bows her head, feeling a modest pride in the thought that she belongs to the happy "some." "Ignorance," she says, sorrowfully, "is the greatest enemy of our cause."

"I am afraid you must class me with the ignorant," says Mona, shaking her pretty head. "I know nothing at all about thistles, except that donkeys love them."

"Is this, can this be premeditated, or is it a fatal slip of the tongue? Lady Rodney turns pale, and even Geoffrey and Nolly stand aghast. Mona alone is smiling unconcernedly into Lady Lilias's eyes, and Lady Lilias, after a brief second, smiles back at her. It is plain the severe young woman in the sage-green gown has not even noticed the dangerous remark.

"You must come again very soon to see me," she says to Mona, and then goes with her all along the halls and passages, and actually stands upon the door-steps until they drive away. And Mona kisses her hands gayly to her as they turn the corner of the avenue, and then tells Geoffrey that she thinks he has been very hard on Lady Lilias, because, though she is plainly quite mad, poor thing, there is certainly nothing to be disliked about her.

CHAPTER XXV.

It is ten days later—ten dreary, interminable days, that have struggled into light, and sunk back again into darkness, leaving no trace worthy of remembrance in their train.

To-day is cool, and calm, and bright. Almost one fancies the first faint breath of spring has touched one's cheek, though as yet January has not wended to its weary close, and no smallest sign of growth or vegetation makes itself felt.

The grass is still brown, the trees barren, no ambitious flowret thrusts its head above the bosom of its mother earth,—except, indeed, those "floures white and rede, soch as men callen daisies," that always seem to beam upon the world, no matter how the wind blows.

Just now it is blowing softly, delicately, as though its fury of the night before had been an hallucination of the brain. It is "a sweet and passionate wooer," says Longfellow, and lays siege to "the blushing leaf." There are no leaves for it to kiss to-day; so it bestows caresses upon Mona as she wanders forth, close guarded by her two stanch hounds that follow at her heels.

Over the meadows and into the wood goes Mona, to where a streamlet runs that is her special joy,—being of the garrulous and babbling order, which is, perhaps, the nearest approach to divine music that nature can make. But to-day the stream is swollen, is enlarged beyond all recognition, and, being filled with pride at its own promotion, has forgotten its little loving song, and is rushing onward with a passionate roar to the ocean.

A loose stone that has fallen from its home in the mountain-side above uprears itself in the middle of this turbulent stream. But it is too far from the edge, and Mona, standing irresolutely on the brink, pauses, as though half afraid to take the step that must either land her safely on the other side or else precipitate her into the angry little river.

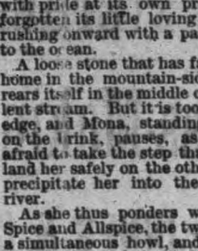
As she thus ponders within herself, Spice and Allspice, the two dogs, set up a simultaneous howl, and immediately afterwards a voice says, eagerly,—

"Wait, Mrs. Rodney, let me help you across."

Mona starts, and, looking up, sees the Australian coming quickly towards her.

"You are very kind. The river is greatly swollen," she says, to gain time. Geoffrey, perhaps, will not like her to accept any civility at the hands of this common enemy.

"Not so much so that I cannot help you to cross over in safety, if you will only trust yourself to me," replies he.



Still she hesitates, and he is not slow to notice the eloquent pause.

THE BONUS-HUNTING EVIL.

HON. MR. FRASER'S BILL REGULATING THE EARLY CLOSING OF SHOPS.

Hours of Work for Young Persons—The Municipal Committee Takes Up Mr. Balfour's Bill Relating to the Bonus Evil—The Scott Act.

TORONTO, March 15.—All the matters which are likely to result in extended debates having been disposed of, the Legislature this afternoon set to work with an evident determination to dispose of as much of the business on the order paper as possible, so as to admit of prorogation next week, as intended. Mr. Fraser moved the House back into committee on his early closing of shops bill, for the purpose of adding another slight amendment.

The bill, as it will become law, contains provisions which may be concisely put in this way:

The council of any city, town or village has power to pass a bylaw requiring shops to be closed during any part of the year or during stated hours during the day.

But before they can pass this bylaw they must be petitioned by three-fourths of those who occupy the shops which are proposed to be closed, and the occupiers of the shops are the ones who shall say when the shops shall be kept open and when closed.

Within a month after receiving the petition the council must pass a bylaw giving effect to the petition.

The bylaw cannot he repealed unless more than one-third of the class of merchants whom it affects are dissatisfied with it, and unless such dissatisfaction is expressed in a petition.

The repeal of the bylaw will not prevent its re-enactment.

Druggists are exempted from the provisions of the act in the event of a sale after the hour appointed by bylaw for closing; but no druggist is authorised to keep an open shop. The same applies to those who sell drugs in connection with another business.

If an infraction of the law is committed by a servant or agent of the storekeeper, the servant or agent shall be liable to the punishment the bylaw imposes.

The second section of the act relates to young persons and the hours they shall be employed, and shall come into effect on Jan. 1, 1889.

No boy under 14 years of age, or any girl under 16 years of age, except drivers of delivery wagons, shall be employed more than 74 hours a week, including meal time, not more than 14 hours on Saturdays and not more than 12 hours other days. An hour is allowed for dinner and 45 minutes for supper. This makes 10½ hours for meals. The number of hours for actual work is thus limited to 63½ a week, or a little above 10 a day.

Employers found guilty of an infraction of this provision are subject to a fine of $20, and parents conniving at such an infraction are subject to a similar fine.

Young women employed in stores shall be provided by their employers with suitable chairs, and shall permit them to use such seats when not engaged in duty.

During the brief discussion on the bill, Mr. Meredith remarked that he considered the measure a return to the methods of the dark ages, and he proposed to place himself on record against it, but his colleague, Mr. Wood (Hastings), differed with him and said he considered the measure a very necessary and beneficial one, and would vote for it. The bill was reported as amended.

Mr. Whitney moved for a return showing the date of appointment of Asa Beach as License Inspector for the County of Dundas, and the number of convictions in the county since his appointment, together with the date of conviction, names of parties convicted and the class of conviction, whether for first, second or third offence.

Mr. Whitney said that the enforcement of the Scott Act in Dundas had been periodical and spasmodic. His object in asking for the return was to get at the ebb and flow of the enforcement in that county.

Hon. Mr. Hardy said it would be unfair to supply the names.

Mr. French said it was notorious that the enforcement of the Scott Act in Ontario counties was a fraud.

Hon. Mr. Fraser—The act or the enforcement. [Ministerial applause.]

Mr. French: I am glad to see that the Scott Act meets with sympathy from the hon. members opposite. As for the act I am convinced that it is a great fraud and the sooner it is repealed from one end of the country to the other the better. I am not afraid to state this in my own county or in my place in Parliament.

Hon. Mr. Hardy did not object to the return without the names.

Mr. Ingram moved for an address to His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor, praying that he will cause to be laid before this House copies of all orders-in-council, correspondence and documents relative to the investigation into the case of and dismissal of Mr. Archibald McIntyre, License Inspector for East Elgin.

The motion was agreed to.

Around the Lobbies.

Among the bills considered by the Municipal Committee yesterday was Mr. Balfour's relating to the bonus evil. The committee, though rejecting the principle of the bill a day or two ago, consented to take it up again, and their labor yesterday resulted in several salutary amendments being made. As the bill now stands, no municipality can give by way of bonus to a manufacturing industry more than ten per cent. of an amount equal to its annual taxation. It also requires that two-thirds of the votes of freeholders on the voters' list shall be registered in favor of any proposed bonus before the amount asked for can be handed over. Besides this, municipalities are not allowed to bonus any industry that has been bonused in another municipality, and no industry can be bonused to compete against another already established within such a municipality. If these provisions are adopted by the House Mr. B. Hunter may take a trip for his health.

At the Public Accounts Committee meeting yesterday Mr. M. H. Totten of the Provincial Secretary's Department was called to give a statement of how the Scott Act was working from a financial point of view. He said that the counties in Ontario had received $124,682.55 in fines during last year and that it cost $87,396.29 to enforce the act. In eight counties the fines fell below the enforcement and in the others the amount collected exceeded the amounts spent. He had received no further order-in-council from the Dominion Government in reference to the Scott Act.

The bill to abolish tollgates was considered yesterday and laid over till next session. Municipal councils and road companies are to be asked for advice during recess.

MR. PLUMB BURIED.

A Large Gathering of Friends at the Old Capital Pay the Last Honors.

NIAGARA-ON-THE-LAKE, March 15.—By common consent this has been a dies non at the old city of the lake. The day was when Niagara was the seat of the Upper Canadian Government and high officers of state lived amongst us by the dozen. Regiments were quartered here and dashing officers abounded in our streets. But in more recent years it had come to be a great honor to the present Niagara to have as her chief inhabitant, domiciled here with his family, interesting himself in all that went on, so eminent a personage as the Speaker of the Senate of Canada, whose sessions are held 500 miles away. The stormy days of political warfare were forgotten, old friends healed, and Mr. Plumb was an accepted neighbor and adviser amongst all classes and conditions of men. His sudden death brought it home to everybody that a light had gone out in the place, never to be rekindled. A link between to-day's doings and the hardly forgotten glories of the past had been snapped, with the chances greatly against a substitute being ever provided in this generation. The town mourned with one accord; and as the time for the funeral approached there was but one vehicle to be seen in the streets—the hearse in which the dead Senator's remains were to be carried to the grave in the yard of the old English Church, where lie so many honored gentlemen and soldiers, whose names are known in Canadian history.

At 12.30 a special train from the Suspension Bridge brought down two car loads of passengers, to join with the residents of the town in paying the last respects to the honored dead. Among them were Senators G. W. Allan, Donald McInnes and Sanford, Dr. Ferguson, M. P., C. Robinson, Q. C., Mr. Chisholm, a delegate for the Conservative Association of Durham, H. O'Brien, T. C. Patterson, J. S. McMurray, V. E. and H. Fuller, Baron V. Hugel, James Macklem, Mr. Clark of Batavia, N. Y., Col. Skinner, W. Nesbitt, W. A. Dickson, Dr. Clarke, R. Miller, Collector Flynn, etc., etc. After a brief visit to the house, where the body lay on view in the drawing-room, the funeral cortege was marshalled in simple and unostentatious style, Mr. Duncan Plumb occupying the position of chief mourner, and the others following on foot in pairs, the procession being supplemented at every street crossing till it formed an almost unbroken line between the house and the church. The local political allies of the deceased turned out in great force, and though the blockade of the Canadian Pacific Railway had prevented from being there such a representation from the Dominion Capital as would otherwise have put in an appearance, there was no lack of attendance. The church was full, even the galleries being crowded. Beautiful floral tributes had been sent by the Senate and by private friends, and the scene in the church as the coffin was deposited by the pallbearers before the chancel was a truly imposing one. The service was read by the Venerable Archdeacon McMurray, assisted by the curate of the parish, and at its conclusion the special train immediately started for the Bridge.

SUPREME COURT JUDGMENTS.

Kneeling On One Knee Held Not to be Irreverent.

OTTAWA, March 15.—The Supreme Court met this morning for the purpose of delivering judgments. The following were given:

Poitras v. Lebeau—In this case the appellant made appeal from a decision fining him for irreverence in a church near Montreal. The irreverence in question consisted of the appellant kneeling on one knee, whereas it was said that the bylaws of the church required his kneeling on two. Chief Justice Ritchie and Justices Strong and Taschereau held that there was no action and the appeal should be dismissed. Mr. Justice Henry in his judgment said that anyone who went into a Catholic chapel would find a picture of St. Andrew with his hand on a staff and resting on one knee, and if it were not an act of irreverence for St. Andrew to be represented in that position he did not see that the appellant acted irreverentially in kneeling as he did. [Laughter.] He thought the judgment of the court should be reversed and a new trial granted. Justices Fournier and Gwynne took the same view, and the appeal was dismissed without costs.

Kloch et al. v. Chamberlin—Appeal dismissed, Mr. Justice Strong dissenting.

Quebec Street Ry. Co. v. Quebec—Appeal allowed with costs, Mr. Justice Fournier dissenting.

Fatal Bridge Disasters.

BERLIN, March 15.—A disaster is reported at Sassid. The bridge at that place was broken by drifting ice, and fifty persons were thrown into the water, many of whom were drowned. Eleven bodies have been recovered.

VIENNA, March 15.—By the falling of a bridge at Hohenau, Hungary, yesterday, twelve persons were drowned.

THE RECIPROCITY DEBATE

HON. MR. FOSTER SHOWS UP THE FAD IN ITS TRUE COLORS.

The Minister of Marine's Masterly Address—Sir Richard a Murky-Fingered Painter of Canadian Retrogression—Unrestricted Reciprocity is U. E. Sugar-Coated.

OTTAWA, March 15.—Continued interest in the Reciprocity debate in the House was manifested to-day by full galleries of spectators and a lively attention to the speeches on the part of members.

Mr. Davies resumed the debate on Unrestricted Reciprocity. He referred at some length to the speech of the Minister of the Interior and claimed that that gentleman had assumed false conclusions from statements made in former years by Mr. Blake and other Liberal speakers. He denied that the proposition now before the House was a new remedy for the evils under which he asserted that Canada was suffering, and that the country was suffering under great misfortunes he attempted to demonstrate.

Hon. Mr. Foster said that he appreciated the grave nature of the issue embodied in the proposition before the House. It involves an almost complete diversion of the import trade of this country. It also involves commercial severance between this country and Great Britain, and a political severance as well. That severance may come soon or late, but it must surely follow commercial separation.

There would also follow an almost total loss of our customs revenue. A new method of taxation would be necessitated. It is impossible for the country to be carried on without a large income from duties, and if not from customs duties then direct taxation must follow. This proposition also involves injury to our large manufacturing interests.

The speech of Sir Richard Cartwright had not proven his case but was full rather of personal asperity—a wealth of assertion only equalled by immense want of fact. In that speech Sir Richard Cartwright eclipsed his record as the murky-fingered painter of Canadian retrogression.

In powerful and vivid language he pictured the progress Canada had made since Confederation by the construction of railways and the improvement of waterways, canalling past mighty rapids and tunnelling through vast mountains. The people of the East left in order to get on broad, free agricultural lands, and until very recently they had not the means of reaching our own Northwest, while the plains of the Western States were easily reached. But the Canadian Northwest had been opened up and the people of the East would hereafter make their homes there.

As regards the statement that there had been a total reduction in volume of trade, Mr. Foster completely refuted the statements made by Sir Richard Cartwright. The trade of the country was not to be arrived at by adding together merely the figures of imports and exports, but the quality of the goods must be taken into consideration, and it must be remembered that in former times manufactured articles were imported, the figures of course amounting to a large amount, whereas now the raw article was being brought in and manufactured in our own factories. He proved conclusively the incorrectness of the statement that there was no interprovincial trade.

It had been alleged there was no adequate return for public works, but he showed from statements of Liberal leaders themselves that this was not so.

The prosperity of the country was conclusively proved by the fact that trade was improving, the manufacturing interests are stable and sound, great railways and canals had been built and were a resource for Canada, bank statements showed that business was good and the people prosperous. These were all reasons why the present relations should not be changed. The gentlemen opposite, however, having repeatedly failed in their efforts to get into power, were now endeavoring to attain their ends by means of this fad.

They had twisted around on Commercial Union—finding it did not go down with the people—and were now coating the pill by the name of Unrestricted Reciprocity. They said this reciprocity would put down the "combines" within our borders, but overlooked the fact that we would be placed under the control of the far worse "combines" that existed in the States.

He considered Sir Richard's proposal of an alliance between Great Britain and the United States an odd one, and the means proposed to secure it still stranger.

It had been said that we had a right to discriminate against Great Britain, that Great Britain had blundered against us, and that there was no time that Canada could not have bettered her condition by joining the United States. Then why not say out-and-out, "Let us link our fortunes with the United States"? The member for South Oxford was afraid of outside opinion and would not proclaim himself by name an Annexationist, though he avowed the principles of one.

In concluding, Mr. Foster moved the following amendment:

That Canada in the future as in the past is desirous of cultivating and extending trade relations with the United States in so far as they may not conflict with the policy of fostering the various industries and interests of the Dominion, which was adopted in 1879 and has since received in so marked a manner the sanction and approval of the people.

Mr. McMillan of Huron followed. His accent is decidedly broad Scotch. The change proposed by the Liberals, he said, would go further to remove the present condition of affairs than all the national policies in existence. Ontario sent $5,000,000 worth of goods to England while her exports to the United States were over $22,000,000. Thus, he argued, trade with our American neighbors would go on increasing despite the customs wall erected between the two countries.

Mr. Porter of Huron followed and replied effectively to the attack of McMillan on the National Policy. Conservatives were not opposed to Reciprocity, but Unrestricted Reciprocity was a different thing, and was nothing less than Free Trade and must be dealt with as such. He quoted freely from statistics proving that the depreciation in the value of land had not been so great as had been alleged, nor did the depression of which so much has been made have any existence in fact. The farmers of Canada were making money, as was evidenced by many of them having large amounts invested in mortgages.

Mr. Charlton moved the adjournment of the debate and the House adjourned.

Mr. Laurier intimated that there was no probability of the debate concluding before Tuesday.

SPRING SHOW OF STALLIONS.

A Grand Display of Clydesdale Horses at the Drill Shed.

TORONTO, March 15.—The second spring stallion show of the Clydesdale Horse Association of Canada was held this afternoon in the Drill Shed, and a great success it was. The greater part of the floor was reserved for the horses, and this was covered with sawdust to the depth of half a foot. There was a large attendance of deeply interested spectators, comprising the leading horse fanciers of the city and province.

The judging in Class I., "Clydesdale stallions foaled previous to Jan. 1, 1885," was commenced at 1.30. Out of nine horses, the prizes were awarded thusly:

Class I.—Clydesdale stallions foaled previous to Jan. 1, 1885; 11 entries—1, Abbot of Renwick, Robt. Beith & Co., Bowmanville; 2, Gold Finder, Jonathan Porter, Oshawa; 3, Richmond, John Palmer, Richmond Hill; 4, Bravissimo, Wm. Rennie, Toronto; 5, Darling's Prince, James I. Davidson, Balsam, Ont.

Class II.—Clydesdale stallions foaled in 1885—1, Granite City, Robert Beith, Bowmanville; 2, Lord Fitzerskine, Robert Beith, Bowmanville; 3, Wellington's Heir, Robert Beith, Bowmanville; 4, Silver Duke, William Rennie, Toronto; 5, Dumbarton Jock, Thomas Meagher, jr., Doncaster, Ont.

Class III.—Clydesdale stallions foaled in 1886—1, Glenorchy, Dundas & Grandy, Yelverton, Ont.; 2, Sailor Prince, Robert Beith, Bowmanville; 3, Mariner, Dundas & Grandy; 4, Pitfour Darnley, A. Russell, Carrville, Ont.; 5, Star of Fintray, A. Russell, Carrville, Ont.

Sweepstakes, all ages—Robert Beith's Granite City.

The Seaman's Act.

OTTAWA, March 15.—This afternoon Messrs. Wright and Jury, on behalf of the Knights of Labor, waited on Hon. Mr. Thompson, Minister of Justice, with reference to the provisions of the Seaman's Act. They asked him to look into the matter and see if the act could not be amended and made less onerous to the seamen. As the law now stands if a man goes aboard a vessel without the order of either the captain or mate he can be tried before a magistrate and sentenced to three years' imprisonment without the option of trial by jury. They asked that this option be extended. Mr. Thompson agreed to look into the question. He explained that the law when first enacted was designed to prevent "crimping," which was a very common offence, and was not intended to apply as it is now being applied.

Correct.

NEW YORK, March 15.—Mayor Hewitt announced to-day that he would not permit the Irish flag to be raised next Saturday on the City Hall. He will see that the American flag is raised in honor of the celebration of St. Patrick's Day, but he has not changed his opinion that foreign flags should not be raised when foreigners are celebrating a foreign festival or commemorating any event not connected with the history or progress of the United States.

Oshawa Good Samaritans.

OSHAWA, March 15.—The woman from Quebec who lost her money, railway ticket, etc., by the fire at the Commercial Hotel yesterday morning is now being cared for by the Town Council. If the railway authorities will not give her a pass it will be made good for her either by the town or private contributions.

Manchester, England, has burst into unwonted enterprise. It has a burlesque of "Buffalo Bill" in one theatre and shows the heathen Chinee in another.

THE LAKEFIELD MEET.

THE FARMERS' INSTITUTE AT OUR NORTHERN SUBURB.

The Most Successful Meeting yet Held. And the Largest Attendance—Interesting Papers on Interesting Topics read by Prominent Agriculturists.

The third meeting of the West Peterborough Farmers' Institute was held at the Council Chamber, Lakefield, on Thursday morning.

Mr. T. E. Fitzgerald, President, presided, and the attendance was not large, accounted for in a measure by the bad condition of the roads.

MR. T. E. FITZGERALD, President, in opening the meeting referred to the fact that Prof. Robertson, of the Guelph College was not able to be present, on account of the snow blockade. He regretted this fact, but he looked forward to a good meeting and he asked those present to exchange opinions on all matters regarding farming interests. He concluded by calling on Mr. F. J. Bell.

STATUTE LABOR.

Mr. F. J. BELL, Clerk of the township of Smith, chose as the subject of his paper "Statute Labor." He considered the improvement of our highways to be a highly important matter, inasmuch as the pleasure and comfort of travelling in vehicles and the cost of marketing produce in a great measure depends upon the state of our roads. He opposed the present system of performing statute labor for many reasons, among which are the following: We do not get value for the amount of tax levied, the tax as levied now does not fall proportionately upon all and it is a source of dispute and illfeeling among neighbors which should not exist. In the first place we do not get value for the amount levied. The present road divisions are too small and the labor under the control of the overseer is not sufficient to complete any particular work, and in consequence a little work is done here and there all over the division and in such a way as not to be of permanent good and in a short time much of the same road requires to be repaired. Again, when the overseer notifies the men in his division to meet on a certain day each man brings a team and more teams are on hand than can be used to advantage. In other cases there are two many men and of course loss results. Some farmers have a good knowledge of road-making and handling men, and know how do good work, while others fail from not knowing these things. The tax is not proportionate. On some divisions the overseer and his men will work well and faithfully, but in other cases the contrary is the rule. The result is that on some divisions the tax is paid at $1 per day, while on others 75, 50 and even 25 cents is the full value of a day's work, and thus all do not pay proportionately. With regard to illfeeling, it often happens that a hard working, conscientious man is appointed overseer, with lazy, shirking men under him. If the overseer insists on the work being quickly and correctly done, the chances are that they will not get on very harmoniously together and one chronic grumbler is sufficient to make a good overseer refuse re-appointment. In the Township of Smith there are 105 road divisions, with an average of about 545 acres to each division and an average of about 30 day's labor. He favored commuting all statute labor in older municipalities at $1 per day, instead of performing the labor—then all will pay proportionately—and have the money expended by commissioners, say not more than five for the township. Select men for these offices who understand road-making and whose system of working would justify them in taking charge of a gang of men. On the Smith roll are charged 3,100 days of statute Labor, this with the young men liable to poll tax, would amount to about 3,500 days, which at $1 per day would amount to $3,500. In addition to this sum, a yearly average of $2,245, for the last four years has been spent on the roads of the township, a total of $5,745, a sum much more than sufficient to keep the roads in an excellent condition, if judiciously expended by commissioners. He failed to see why any farmers should object to this system. If a farmer had not work enough to do himself he could say when the statute labor was being performed he could apply to the commissioner, who would see that he was engaged, if worthy of it. A commissioner could discharge idlers at will and not incur the enmity of his neighbors. He felt satisfied that after five years trial, the system he advocated, would accomplish such good results that few, if any, would be willing to return to the plan now in force.

Mr. JOS. TREENUM found fault that during the winter time it would not be possible to get out the overseers.

Mr. F. J. BELL said that the council could appoint a man to take charge of a certain section of road. It was a disputed question as to whether councils could compel pathmasters to go out in the winter or not.

SENSATION AT MONTREAL.

Supposed Attempt to Destroy Evidence in the Detectives' Case—The Trial.

MONTREAL, March 15.—A sensation was created in Court House circles to-day, by what is thought to be a daring attempt to steal compromising documents filed by the prosecution in the case of the accused detectives, whose trials began yesterday. Last night, when both of the Court House janitors were absent from their apartments, a servant girl heard some one at the door and thinking it was one of her masters she proceeded to open it, but found it fastened from the outside, and on looking through the window saw a man running away. The High Constable was notified and a guard placed over the Court House for the rest of the night. It is believed the scheme was to imprison the keepers in their apartments, proceed to the office of the Clerk of the Crown, blow open the safe and abstract the papers.

In the Court of Queen's Bench to-day the evidence taken in the detectives' case was merely technical. The station agents proved that they had put money in bags and sent them on to Montreal. The employes at the depot stated that up to 6 o'clock Sunday morning the boxes were all right in the vault, but next morning it was found that two boxes had been broken into and their contents stolen.

Gone to Montreal.

Detective Inspector Stark left for Montreal last night to give evidence for the Crown in the Fahey-Naegele case.

LECTURE.—The Rev. Chas. Langford, of Toronto, will deliver a lecture in the Methodist Church on Tuesday evening, March 20th. Subject, "Why I left the Church of Rome."

BIBLE STUDY.—A class is being formed for the above purpose. They are to meet every Sunday morning in the Methodist Church. Mr. Joseph Succee was elected as leader and Mr. Wm. Lenister as assistant.

RUSHING.—Mr. Geo. Bell has erected a large frame building and intends going to Toronto to purchase his machinery. He intends to establish a carriage factory and planing mill to run by steam. We hope he will have much success.

LOST.—When Mr. Con. Riley, of Enismore, was returning home from town last Tuesday evening, while crossing Mud Lake his horse turned with the wind. This caused him to spend a few hours on the lake. Two young men of this village heard him shouting and went to his assistance and brought him to Mr. L. G. Fobert's, where he remained for the night.

THE CITY AND SUBURBS

The Weather Probabilities.

High north and northwest winds; decreasing at night; partly cloudy weather.

A Remarkable Explanation!

A man who has travelled a bit and sees what is going on around him observes that in Peterborough a man is very likely to bump into people when he is walking along in the streets. It would only be a reasonable—in accounting for this—to suppose that pre-occupied people are on their way to the golden lion, to inspect and buy. The good value in dry goods given at fair's is worth thinking over a bit.

They Came.

The long delayed mails were distributed this morning and the merchants and others who had business letters on the way were much pleased, to put it light.

At Norwood.

On Friday evening next, the I.O.O.F. concert will take place, at Norwood. A committee from that village were in town to-day securing talent and they succeeded in getting about the best the town can furnish.

In Town.

Mr. Robert Moore, an old Poterborough boy, now holding a responsible position on the C. P. R. is in town seeing how things look. Although living at Montreal he much prefers the "hub."

Tickled.

Terry Smith's new team are taken out daily for exercise with the hose wagon They appear to take to it just as naturally as if they were drawing in hay, whereat, Terry and the fire fighters are much pleased.

Wound Up.

At the Whitby assizes on Wednesday the Myrtle shooting case and the counter charges preferred by the Scott Act "detectives," came before the Grand jury. "No bills" were found in each case and the consequence is that every person is freed.

All Here.

The entire new and elegant outfit for Hiawatha Encampment of Oddfellows arrived, per express, from the manufacturers to-day, from Mr. C. Lilley & Co, Columbus, Ohio. The encampment will meet this evening to inspect the goods.

St. Patrick's Eve.

This is the eve of the feast of Ireland's Patron Saint. It will be celebrated by a concert in the Opera House, and a lecture by the Hon. Senator Sullivan. Every Irishman should attend and bring his wife and family. 1d64

New Grounds.

A meeting of the directors of the Smith, Ennismore and Lakefield division Agricultural Society, was held at Lakefield on Thursday afternoon. There was a good attendance and it was decided to purchase three and a half acres of land from Mr. P. W. Strickland for exhibition purposes. The price paid was $425 and the plot selected adjoins the skating rink.

Ship Social and Concert.

The great Ship Social and Concert under the management of the Ladies of Charlotte-st. church, will take place next Monday, 19th of March, in Bradburn's Hall Tickets 25 cts. Refreshments 10 cts. extra, to be served from 6 bells to 8 bells. Captain J. R. Stratton, M.P.P., will invite the passengers to the deck at 8 bells to hear some fine seafaring music.

Committed for Trial.

Three barrels of beer belonging to Mr. Calcutt which were placed in a hotel stable in Campbellford for safe keeping were stolen, the stable having been broken into. Mr. Harry Wallace was arrested charged with the theft and on Monday was committed for trial. He was taken to Cobourg, but on Wednesday was released on bail. Others are said to have assisted in taking the beer. Only one barrel was recovered.

Don't Forget to Hear Senator Sullivan's Lecture.

Broke Down.

The Port Hope Times says that on Wednesday night the ten o'clock train on the Midland from the north met with an accident. A journal box burned out, and the front wheel on the left hand side of the engine dropped off just south of the Beamish bridge. The engine was running very slowly or the consequences would have been serious. The engine did not leave the track, and men from Lindsay were sent for. The up express on the main line had been held here for the arrival of the north train, which was the only one that had got through since the snow-storm.

At Home.

An "at home" under the auspices of the Ladies' Aid Society of St. Paul's Presbyterian Church, was held at the residence of Mr. Wm. Walsh, on Thursday evening. The attendance was large, the genial host and hostess being taxed to their utmost to supply accommodation. It was one of the most successful of the series yet held. A long programme was carried out and all who were present were extremely well satisfied. Among those who took part were Mrs. Daly, Misses Fairweather and A Hall, pianoforte solos, Misses Cameron and E. Hall, singing, Prof. Parker, pianoforte and Mr. Mulligan, singing, and Messrs. Scott and Brown, readings. The proceeds were about $40.

THE LAKEFIELD MEET.

Mr. T. E. BELL said that in his opinion pathmasters had a right to order men out in the winter as well as in the summer and that it was his duty to do so.

Mr. F. J. BELL said that a pathmaster's authority was his road list and when the work was performed he returned that list and then his authority ceased. A pathmaster was not personally responsible for damages on a road, but the municipality must pay.

Mr. Jos. TRENNUM pointed out that unless a commissioner saw the work done, a man might lie to him and obtain pay for work he never performed.

Mr. DURY said that he had put in seven days hard work shoveling snow last winter, but the Council of his township refused to pay him for it.

Mr. G. J. GALVIN agreed with Mr. F. J. Bell. If a person takes the position that he will not break a road the municipality would certainly be responsible. One gentleman had referred to the fact that the Douro Council had refused to pay for work performed on the road, on the ground that any person might put in a similar claim and demand pay. There should be a remedy for such a state of affairs, and in his opinion the paper just read provided it. In the early days the present plan was good enough, but now commissioners should be appointed.

Mr. FOLEY, a Douro Councillor, said that if Mr. Dury had applied in the right way he might get paid. Now it was proposed that each of the Councillors should see what roads were kept open in his section and pay for it.

MR. GEO. HILLIARD agreed with Mr. T. E. Bell. He suggested that they discuss a remedy for drifted roads. He favored a temporary sectional fence, like those used by railways. There are only a few places where the drifts are bad. He thought that the man who owned the property where the drifts occured should be paid for pulling down and putting up fences. Some people tore down fences, but that did not obviate the difficulty.

MR. GALVIN held that the council are responsible for the state of the roads and the Douro Council had taken the initiative in keeping the roads clear.

MR. HILLIARD said he had consulted a lawyer, who had informed him that the roadmaster was responsible for any damage resulting from detention by snow.

SECY. BELL could not see it in that light as a rodmaster had no authority to order men out after he had returned his list.

MR. HILLIARD thought that the Councils should take this matter up at once and settle it, if there is no Provincial law governing it.

Mr. F. J. BELL said that statute labor was a part of a man's taxes and when he performed it the taxes were paid and it was not fair or lawful to make a man do work before the taxes were due or the assessment taken.
